STUART R. PADDOCK

San Miguel de Allende, Mexico

The annual celebration in San Miguel of the first Friday in March by the conchera dancers could be likened to an extravaganza in a major city theater. We had heard so many stories of the beauty of the costumes and the unusual dance rhythms that many of us skipped a class in order to see them. They danced in the atrium of the huge Catholic cathedral and then with tom toms beating, entered the edifice and knelt before one of the altars. Returning to the plaza in front of the church they continued many forms of dance for an hour.

The wearing of masks in religious festivals has continued from the time of the Aztecs down to the present time. Their costumes are almost indescribable. The dancers features are subordinated to the materials of their costumes. One finds in them the same plastic vigor as in the best and most primitive examples of old religious practices. The present day natives are motivated in their use of masks by the same reasons as their ancestors—magic and the desire to achieve a facial expression for which they feel their own features inadequate.

"Time" is one thing of which there is plenty down here. Nobody knew exactly the hours that the dancers would appear except that a school bulletin read: "Late morning and late afternoon.' We were on hand at both times waiting for the appearance of the dancers. We doubt if any whirling dervish group ever displayed greater movement—some with a dance rhythm and others in wilder abandon. The dancers included both men and women and a number of children as novices wearing costumes somewhat patterned after those worn by the adults.

The headgear of the dancers included massive plumes and other headgear that our Mexican history lecturer had displayed on the screen the previous day as exemplifying the ritual of their Aztec ancestors, before the conquest of Mexico 500 years ago. With shells around the ankles, the dancers kept time with the weird music from instruments that were unknown us.

The dancers were two groups —one from San Miguel, the other from Guerrero. The late afternoon event was enlarged by a native band. Preceding the dancers were men carrying trays eight to ten feet long to which were fastened cooked bread in the shape of lambs, fish and other figures with religious significance.

We were not successful in securing for this column the real purpose of the event. No one seemed to be in agreement. We shrugged our shoulders to the claim that it was in celebration of the departure of the Moors from Spain years ago. Our inquiries met with so many Spanish words that we have thrown up our hands. We have not learned the disposal of the many loaves of bread that had been brought to the church. In all fairness, we think they should have been given to the dancers—they earned them.

It's Election Time

Park Board Vote Coming Tuesday

The first in a series of quick-succession elections will be decided by voters Tuesday.

Balloting to fill two six-year terms on the Arlington Heights Board of Park Commissioners will take place Tuesday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at polling places in Pioneer and Recreation Park Fieldhouses.

Candidates for the posts are:

ORVILLE V. Anderson, 701 S. Walnut Ave.; John C. Edwards, 1612 N. Ridge Ave.; John E. Gessert, 929 S. Chestnut Ave.; S. Frederick Marks, 520 S. Mitchell Ave.; Arlene Ruth Tina, 22 N. Salem Ave.; and Douglas Thomson, 802 Catino, an incumbent.

Other elections in the next three weeks include those on Saturday, April 13 (District 25 and 214 Boards of Education, Township School Trustee), and Tuesday, April 16 (Village Trustees, Police Magistrate and Library Board of Directors).

Park board terms are for six years.

THE HERALD was able to contact four of the six park board candidates this week. Anderson was reported out of town and Mrs. Tina could not be reached.

Edwards, 34, is a department manager for U.S. Gypsum Co. and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

"There is not enough cooperation between the various functioning village bodies such as the school board, village board and park board," he opined.

"A COMMITTEE should be formed to study the projected needs of the district. Duplication of programs should be elminated."

Gessert, 33, is a certified public accountant and attorney employed by Libby, McNeil & Libby. He is also a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

"The board should be better informed and should establish a master plan for future growth," he said.

"THERE IS a real need for greater control over the district's expenditures. There are ways and means of reducing spending."

Marks, 46, is controller of Newark Electric Corp., a certified public accountant and a lawyer. He graduated from the University of Illinois and DePaul University.

"Biggest problem in the district is making the greatest possible use of facilities for youngsters and restricting use of facilities to district residents," he noted.

"COMPETENT evaluation by qualified persons of all the various facts and attitudes is necessary."

Thomson, 42, is regional sales manager for a division of American Cyanamid Co. and a graduate of Cornell University.

"Growth is the district's biggest problem," he observed. "There must be recognition of future major and neighborhood parks.

"OURS IS A long-range project which cannot be accomplished overnight. Keeping up with the growth will be done in cooperation with the village government."

Pioneer Park is located at 500 S. Fernandez Ave. Recreation Park is at 500 E. Miner St.

Village trustee and school board candidates' answers to questions posed by the Herald will be published next week. Articles pertaining to the Township School Trustee and High School District 214 elections are found inside this edition.

STACKING PAPER this week in anticipation of their paper drive Saturday, April 6, are (l. to r.) Jane Nichols, Barb Koyut, Dianne Schreiner, Jan Monahan and Sue Morrow, all members of Girl Scout Troop 504. Residents are asked to place newspapers at the curb or deliver them to the municipal building. For pickup before April 6, residents may call CL 3-4878.

Budget's Message Welcome

Hearing Set Monday Night

It appears certain the Village of Arlington Heights will cut its tax rate next year.

Homeowners will likely receive a bill for $51 on a house assessed at $10,000. That's one cent (.01) less per $100 of assessed valuation than was required on the 1963 tax bills.

This year's village share of the tax pie was $52, so a net reduction of $1 is in the works.

SUCCESS OF this program hinges on what happens Monday night at a public hearing on the village's 1963-64 budget, a well-constructed document calling for expenditure of $1,518,210 in the next fiscal year.

The hearing will be conducted as a part of the village board of trustees regular meeting on the second floor of the municipal building, 33 S. State Road. The session begins at 8 p. m.

A copy of the proposed budget is on file in the village clerk's office.

In his annual budget message, Village Manager L. A. Hanson notes, "The dollar cost of village government is of vital concern to our citizens. We believe this proposal . . . indicates a continuous effort to provide adequate services at minimum cost."

THE NEW BUDGET of $1,518,210 appropriates $162,100 or 12 per cent more than the $1,356,110 budget for 1962-63.

The increase is attributed to the addition of fire and police personnel, salary adjustments, and the purchase of new fire and police equipment.

Significant, too, are expenses incurred in the construction of the $450,000 municipal building and the $3½ million storm sewer network.

The hike in expenditures is offset by a $10 million increase in the village's assessed valuation, Hanson points out. Last year's assessed valuation was $109,143,136. This year's is $119,000,000.

"THIS MEANS we've got that much more property against which to assess taxes," Hanson said. "The individual burden is reduced because it's being spread among more people."

The 1963-64 budget provides for:

—Three additional policemen, giving the village 32 for 35,000 residents.

—Updating of water and sewer atlas maps at a cost of $7,332 plus a vehicle.

—$10,000 for providing "a firm foundation" for a civil defense program.

—INCREASED custodial service for the municipal building.

—Continued study of mechanization in office procedures.

The budget has been prepared by the board of trustees under the leadership of William Sauer, chairman of the board's finance committee, Hanson and various department heads.

Final approval of the budget is expected April 15.

In concluding his budget message, Hanson said:

"A CRITICAL review of this budget has been made by the president and finance committee of the board of trustees as it was being formulated.

"I believe that our approach is financially sound, and is also well balanced in terms of meeting the needs of not only the fiscal year 1963-64, but also provides a sound foundation for long-range community needs."

Special Committee Reports

Hasbrook Asks School Bd. To 'Reconsider' Boundaries

A special committee of the Hasbrook Civic Association requested Monday that the High School District 214 Board of Education reconsider its decision to temporarily transfer Hasbrook students to the new Wheeling High School.

In a seven-page report presented to the school board, the association's Special Education Committee asked that the northern boundary of the Arlington High School attendance area be moved from Thomas Street north to Palatine Road.

THE SCHOOL board accepted the report, but took no action to implement or reject its prime suggestions.

"The committee tried to emphasize the long-range aspect of this problem," explained George C. Beacham Jr., association president.

"We sincerely attempted to point out that topographical barriers will make it nearly impossible for Hasbrook students to attend any school north of Palatine Road at any time."

THE REPORT pointed to Palatine Road Junior Expressway, Rand Road and relocated Route 53 as physical barriers to students' ready access to schools north of the Hasbrook Subdivision.

The eight-member committee stressed that many area school districts consider topographical barriers in establishing school boundaries.

Cited as examples were school districts in Proviso Township, Niles Township, Maine Township, Lyons Township and the City of Chicago.

THE SPECIAL committee was organized earlier this year after the high school announced the northern boundary of the Arlington High School attendance area would be placed at Thomas Street in order to accomplish redistricting necessitated by construction of the Wheeling High School at Route 83 and Hintz Road.

Placement of the boundary at Thomas would mean all Hasbrook students would have to make the long haul to the Wheeling school. They are within walking distance of Arlington High School.

"WE FEEL the establishment of the boundary at Thomas Street presents us with a formidable problem," the committee said.

"Presumably within the years 1966 to 1968 another high school will be located within walking distance (north — across Palatine and Rand Roads) of the Hasbrook community.

"The topographical barriers that now, or will shortly, exist on three sides of us will make pedestrian traffic to and from such a school considerably difficult and extremely hazardous.

"THE LOGICAL solution to this type of situation would be to include us in an attendance area in which no barriers exist. This could only be the Arlington High attendance area.

"We fully appreciate the board's concern in attempting to equalize enrollments at the several schools in the district.

"We cannot, however, agree that the greatest public interest will be served by the periodic shuffling of a particular community from one attendance area to another and back again.

"WE FEEL IT unfair to the citizens of our region to sever them from a school to which their children can easily walk; a school which is located in the municipality toward which both their civic and social lives are oriented; and a school whose name is suggestive of the reasons for which they chose Arlington Heights as their home."

Members of the special committee were:

Andrew R. VanSickle, 1533 N. Patton, chairman; George R. Bastien, 1818 N. Patton; Harley M. Drake, 1836 N. Ridge; Lawrence E. Frazee, 1520 N. Patton; Mrs. Edith Jolly, 1543 N. Kaspar; Brice L. Miller, 1617 N. Chestnut; Carl H. Pasquale, 1850 N. Walnut, and Robert M. Sheahan, 1610 N. Chestnut.

Conditional Zone OK for Restaurant

The Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals gave its conditional approval Monday to the construction of a pancake restaurant on the northeast corner of Evergreen Avenue and Miner Street.

Builder Ben L. Mammina, 409 W. Miner St., asked the board to waive zoning regulations which required him to provide 37 off-street parking spaces.

IT WOULD BE a hardship to provide more than 30 spaces, he argued. The board agreed, voting 6-0 to grant a variation.

The restaurant, consisting of 4,286 square feet of floor space, will be one of seven of its kind to be built in Illinois by Perkins Pancake House, a nationwide chain.

Lee Vance of Barrington has been named franchised operator of the Illinois restaurants.

CONDITION of the board's approval for the local facility was Mammina's presentation of proper showing of ownership of the building site at 203-205 N. Evergreen. This was to have been presented Tuesday.

The local restaurant will seat 169 persons.

Mammina was joined Monday in the plea for a variation by Norman Faber, who said he represented owners of property in downtown Arlington Heights.

To Screen TV Film For Civic Leaders

The Arlington Heights Inter-American Friendship Program Committee has mailed letters to all village organizations inviting their members to see the film, "The Other American."

The film, produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System for television, depicts squalid living conditions in the community of Comas, Peru.

Through the urging of the committee, the Village of Arlington Heights acted in 1961 to "adopt" the Peruvian community as a sister city.

THE FILM will be shown this Monday at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez Ave. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Since its formation 17 months ago, the committee has shipped 57 barrels of clothing, medicine, school supplies and tools to organize a dispensary, school room and credit union in Comas.

"While we know we have accomplished a great deal, we are in dire need of more physical help to accomplish more," said Anthony F. Biancardi, 412 N. Drury Lane, committee chairman.

Elks Lodge To Install Officials

The first public installation for officers of the Arlington Heights Elks Lodge will be held at 3 p.m. this Sunday at lodge headquarters, 2323 N. Wilke Road.

The following officers will be installed:

Robert Warnecke, 834 N. Dryden Place, exalted ruler; Ted Gregg, 2 S. Waterman Ave., leading knight; James Kelly, 1416 N. Vail Ave., loyal knight; William Wuestenfeldt, 615 Rand Road, Mount Prospect, lecturing knight.

AND RAYMOND Froula, 615 S. Dunton Ave., trustee; Robert Hutchinson, 1218 Woodford, treasurer; Raymond J. Driscoll, 728 S. Vail Ave., secretary; Norbert West, 520 S. Rammer, esquire; John Slezak, 923 N. Ridge Ave., chaplain, and Norman Christensen, 29 Reuter, inner guard.

The lodge is located one-half mile north of Palatine Road on Wilke.

Village Budget Hearing Monday

First public hearing on the 1963-64 municipal budget will be held Monday as a part of the regular meeting of the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the municipal building, 33 S. State Road.

Youths Chased From Home Site

Three 14-year-old Arlington Heights boys were warned by police Sunday to refrain from playing in a house under construction at Sigwalt Street and Kaspar Avenue.

A neighbor reported the youths playing in the house.

Grant Delay In JP Writ

The Cook County State's Attorney's office Tuesday was granted a one-week extension of the deadline for answering a Writ of Mandamus filed last week by the Wheeling Township Committee for a Special Election.

The writ asked the Superior Court to order County Clerk Edward J. Barrett to call a special election to fill a justice of the peace vacancy in the township.

A representative of State's Attorney Daniel Ward asked Superior Court Judge Donald S. McKinley to extend the deadline for answering the writ from Friday, March 29, to next Friday, April 5.

JUDGE McKINLEY approved the request over the objections of John F. White, 1026 N. Gibbons Ave., attorney for the special election committee.

White told the Herald the state's attorney requested more time to study the question.

One of Wheeling Township's two JP offices was vacated last November when Walter P. Dahl, 416 S. Windsor Drive, was elected a judge of the Superior Court.

THE COMMITTEE maintains state law requires the county clerk call a special election to fill the vacancy. Barrett has refused to order the election, pleading lack of funds.

Eugene F. Schlickman, 712 S. Fernandez Ave., a member of the committee, pointed out this week that the 1963 budget for the county clerk's election department provides the following:

$150,000 for salaries and wages for extra employes and overtime, $25,000 for special work in the election department, $1,500 for judges of elections, and $64,620 for 13 voting machine servicemen.

"AS FAR AS we know, no county-wide elections are scheduled this year," Schlickman noted.

He suggested the county clerk's budget, therefore, was sufficient to offset the cost of the JP election.

Prairie Fires

Arlington Heights firemen doused prairie fires of unknown origin over the weekend at the rear of Westgate Shopping Center, 705 S. McKinley, 905 and 627 E. Davis, 1118 E. Thomas, and 1123 N. State Road.

'Adults' Ticketed For Reckless Spree

Two suburban men were ticketed for reckless driving by Arlington Heights police early Sunday morning.

They are Neil W. Livingston, 50, of 1429 St. James Place, Arlington Heights, and Robert L. Schmidt Sr., 44, of 411 W. Rand, Mount Prospect.

According to police, Livingston began to chase south on St. James after Schmidt's auto as Schmidt returned Livingston's 15-year-old daughter to her home following a Saturday night dance.

The Livingston girl reportedly attended the dance with Schmidt's son.

Livingston forced Schmidt's auto onto the parkway in front of 1425 St. James, police said. Livingston then bumped his car into Schmidt's, lost control himself and rammed into the house owned by Richard Heidenson, 1421 St. James.

Parkways at 1423 and 1425 St. James were torn up by Schmidt's car driving across them. Livingston's car was rendered inoperable, and the house was damaged considerably, police reported.

Officers Norman Busse and Jay Plaisted issued reckless driving tickets to both adults.

New Lease Terms Sought

Sanitary District Getting More Rent for Its Lands

Sanitary District Trustee Marshall Korshak has renegotiated a lease with a firm on district land for four times the money the firm had been paying.

In commending Korshak, one of four new trustees, Supt. Vinton W. Bacon cited the case of a lease the district has with the Hughes Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Sinclair Refining Co., 155 N. Wacker Drive. This firm leases 7.9 acres of district land along the north bank of the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal, between Cicero and Laramie Avenues.

Bacon said until Korshak obtained a new rent schedule from Hughes, the firm had been paying $840 a year for its lease. But starting on Aug. 1, Hughes will pay a rental of $4,000 a year, or four times what they had been paying.

Similar actions will be taken with other firms and individuals leasing district land, Bacon said.

In the Hughes case, Bacon said that G. E. Stocking, president of Hughes, realized that his rent was much too low for the property he leased, and initiated a "more realistic rental" with the district.

LAST DECEMBER, Stocking contacted Edmund T. Karolewski, the district's acting real estate administrator, and indicated he would be interested in adjusting his rent schedule.

The board of trustees appointed Korshak to enter into renegotiations with Hughes, Bacon said.

Korshak said he would recommend approval of the new Hughes rent schedule at the Feb. 15 board meeting, the trustees approved a new rent schedule for WHFC/Inc., the L. and B. Broadcasting Co. located at 33rd Street and S. Kedzie Avenue on district land.

KORSHAK SAID WHFC had been paying an annual rental of $1,500, but beginning July 15, will start paying $4,000 a year.

"We have about 167 long-term leases," Korshak pointed out, "and the board wholeheartedly agrees with Mr. Bacon, that by re-examining leases, we might be able to realize thousands of dollars in additional rentals."

Korshak said that in 1962 the district received $277,369.78 for rent on 167 leases. He indicated that this amount was low for the valuable property owned by the district.

"Some leases will be renegotiated for higher rentals," Korshak said, some probably will be cancelled, and others might just be broken, depending on legal technicalities involved."

Bacon indicated that a number of firms with leases on district property probably will voluntarily seek to have their present rent schedules adjusted "more realistically." (B8

Great Books Panel Topic Is Voltaire

"Candide" by Voltaire will be discussed by a northwest suburban Great Books panel Sunday at 7:30 p.m. over radio station WNWC-FM.

"Candide" has been described as a rollicking satire in which Voltaire—disgusted with human stupidity and cruelty—has in mind a single objective: to make fun of man's aberrations and heap sarcasm on them.

Frank Friday will moderate panelists Ersalene Hubbell, Philip Hubbell, Donn Jennings, and Harold Wenzel. (B8

Cut Electric Charges By $2,700,000 A Year

The Illinois Commerce Commission has announced that the Commonwealth Edison - Public Service Company will reduce its charges to customers for electricity by about $2,700,000 a year beginning this month.

The $2,700,000 savings now announced will bring to approximately $7,000,000 the reductions in charges for electricity made by the system in the last 12 months. On March 5, 1962, the utility adjusted several of its residential and commercial rates resulting in a lowering of annual revenues by more than $4,000,000.

James W. Karber, ICC chairman, said the new $2,700,000 reduction will be made under the utility's fuel adjustment clause which automatically passes on to all of the utility's 2,150,000 customers the effect of changes in the most of fuel for generating electricity.

THE UTILITY'S fuel adjustment clause has applied to all of its rate schedules since 1954. The present fuel adjustment of 2 cents per 100 kilowatt-hours, which has been in effect since February 1958, will now be lowered to 1 cent per 100 kilowatt-hours to reflect declining fuel costs.

"Commonwealth Edison," said Karber, "has informed the Illinois Commerce Commission that it expects further reductions in fuel costs over the next three or four years. Such reductions will result mainly from two long-term coal contracts involving the use of integral trains."

THE UTILITY recently announced arrangements with two coal companies and two railroads for use of complete trains made up of specially built cars to haul coal on a shuttle basis to its State Line station near Hammond, Ind., and its generating station at Joliet.

"Commonwealth Edison expects to reduce its fuel costs by an additional $5,000,000 annually when the new integral train arrangements are in full operation," Karber said. "This $5,000,000 savings also will be passed on to the company's customers through the fuel clause."

Four Suburb Youths Set for Boys State

Representatives of Arlington, Forest View, Prospect and St. Viator High Schools met Tuesday with Arlington Heights American Legion Post officials to map plans for sending local boys to Premier Boys State.

According to William Griffith, post spokesman, four boys — one from each of the four schools — will be selected by school authorities to attend the week-long conclave in Springfield.

REPRESENTING the high schools Tuesday were W. John Rowe, assistant principal at Arlington; Thomas Shirley, assistant principal at Forest View; Robert Haskell, assistant principal at Prospect, and Rev. Patrick Cahill, CSV, student counselor at St. Viator.

These men will be responsible for selecting boys of outstanding qualifications in leadership, character and service, Griffith pointed out.

Boys State, intended to teach "constructive attitudes toward the American form of government," will be held this year from June 23 to 29 at the Illinois State Fair Grounds.

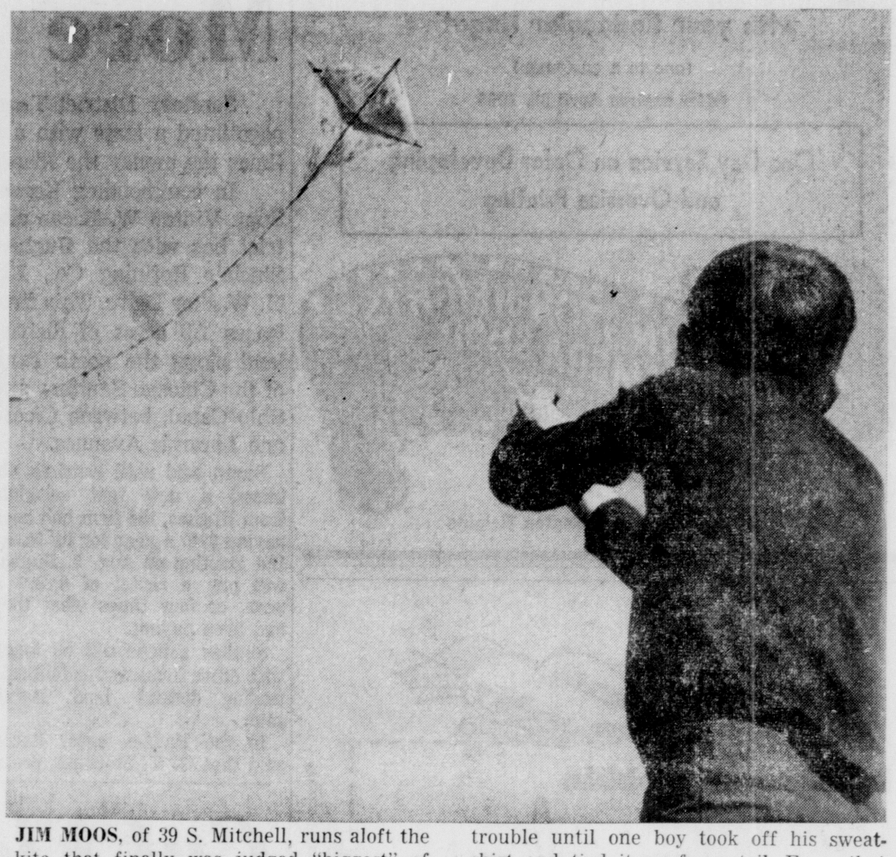
Kites Fly High Over Village Saturday

HAPPY FELLOW with a trophy is Dave Woods, 726 S. Dunton Ave., whose kite was judged prettiest. He credited Danny O'Keefe and Ray Munro as his co-builders.

CORKY MIRS, of 932 N. Ridge, has a tangled tail problem but his countenance doesn't indicate he is too worried about having his entry back in action. Kites in the Karnival ran a gamut from six-footers to tiny five-inch kites entered for the "smallest kite" trophy. There was the usual run of snarls in trees, crossed strings, and runaways. (A

FATHER-AND-SON teams were not uncommon at the annual Kite Karnival sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park District Saturday at Pioneer Park. Don Eells, 523 S. Fernandez, lets out the string as his son, Earl, spots the kites through binoculars in a try for the "highest kite" award. (A



JIM MOOS, of 39 S. Mitchell, runs aloft the kite that finally was judged "biggest" of the Kite Karnival. This one measured close to six feet and its size gave its handlers trouble until one boy took off his sweatshirt and tied it on for a tail. From that point the giant kite stayed up long enough to cop the trophy. (A

Forum Hears Debate On School Treasurer

The township school treasurer and school trustees hightlighted a public school election forum meeting at Wheeling's London Junior High Monday, sponsored by the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Elementary School District 21 PTA Council.

Three of the four candidates for the Wheeling Township Board of School Trustees parried questions from the floor during a spirited 45-minute question and answer period. Incumbent candidate Clarence Hendrickson did not attend.

At one time during the "limited question period," William Harper, former District 21 board member and panel moderator, found it necessary to bang his gavel for an end to a heated session between Wheeling District 21 Elementary School Board member Caroline Hanks and township trustee incumbent August Stavros, candidate for a six-year term on the Wheeling Township Board of School Trustees.

Stavros' remarks were prompted by some jabbing comments by Mrs. Hanks following the candidate's response to duties and responsibilities of the school trustees and treasurer.

MRS. HANKS asked Stavros "if the trustees appoint the treasurer and is the 'watchdog' over the treasurer — what is the treasurer doing?"

Stavros explained that with the current workload there are plenty of checks to sign, and cited figures of the various operating budgets of the various school districts to prove his point. He stated that if the treasurer's office was eliminated in the face of the present work load, "the districts would have to employ a full-time treasurer—and at twice the salary the present township treasurer receives."

He added, "If this were done, the treasurer would be selected by the school district superintendent," and implied that if such occurred, "some superintendents would have their pet projects."

Stavros noted that each school district would have to bond its own treasurer, and said this would mean the cost of bonding would then be spread over five offices instead of the present one.

"It's not easy to get bonds on individuals who do not have property," he said.

STAVROS POINTED out the duties of the township treasurer are set by state statute, and "if you have any argument with the township, I suggest you go down to Springfield and change the statutes."

He emphasized the amount of check signing required of the treasurer, and when queried on why the treasurer does not have a signature plate made to facilitate the apparent large number of checks to be signed, Stavros declared: "For the simple reason we don't know where the plate is going to be."

All in all Mr. Stavros had his hands full defending the township treasurer as a necessary check and balance on the expenditure of funds by school districts.

He received some help from Gerald A. Moe of Buffalo Grove, also a candidate for a six-year term.

Moe commented that the office of school trustee "is very little understood," and an effort should be made to foster open meetings and better communication to everyone concerned.

"WE WILL have the office of school trustees and school treasurer regardless of the past word," Moe declared. He has promised to "thoroughly reassess all functions of the township school trustee system," and has stated his one major concern "is for every dollar being spent by the trustees — the taxpayer should receive the education in dollars."

Mrs. Lucille Gallagher of Arlington Heights, another candidate for the two-year term as school trustee, stressed "the need for active interested trustees to see if the treasurer's work is justified." She told the audience she "is deeply interested in having the best good possible" and if elected "will not let a page go unturned until a thorough investigation is made of the office of school treasurer."

Along with other candidates on the panel, Mrs. Gallagher, Stavros and Moe were asked, "What is your stand on federal aid to education?"

THE REPLIES were as follows:

Gallagher: "For, if it helps."

Moe: "Against."

Stavros: "Strictly against. If we accept, there will be strings attached which will devour our local government."

Moe and Stavros are competing for the six-year term, and Mrs. Gallagher and Hendrickson are vying for the two-year term.

The school trustees will be elected in balloting Saturday, April 13. The system of electing three school trustees in each township was initiated in Illinois in 1785. It has been abolished in all counties except Cook ished in all counties except Cook.

To Screen Two Films At Church

The Youth Fellowship of the Prospect Heights Community Church will sponsor the showing of two films on Saturday and Sunday, April 6 and 7, it was announced this week by Art Blair, secretary of the organization.

Blair said that "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" will be featured at 1:30 p.m. on April 6 and that "The Mouse That Roared" will be shown at 8 p.m. on the same date and again at 7:30 p.m. on the following day The public is invited to attend, and admission for each feature will be 25, 50, and 75 cents, he added.

BOTH FILMS are full-length colored features which have received wide acclaim in theatres across the nation, Blair noted. He said that "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" is the fanciful and swashbuckling tale of the fabled voyage of the mythical hero of ancient lore and that "The Mouse That Roared" is a hilarious satire on the political and international affairs of the modern era.

The Community Church is located at the juncture of Elmhurst and Willow Roads in Prospect Heights, about two miles north of the Randhurst Shopping Center. (ACM

Alex MacArthur To Address YR's

The Wheeling Township Young Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting next Thursday, April 4, at 8 p.m. at the Old Orchard Country Club, Prospect Heights.

Featured speaker will be Alexander MacArthur, Republican committeeman in Palatine Township and chief deputy to State Treasurer William J. Scott.

According to Bruce Ladd, club program chairman, MacArthur will discuss Scott's record of increased earnings on invested monies, budget reductions, patronage cuts and the treasurer's "war" with the West Side Bloc in Chicago.

"MacARTHUR will shed light on the significance that Bill Scott's excellent record in office will have on the 1964 elections," Ladd explained.

Joseph Tolson, co-chairman of the club's Teen-Age Republican program, reported the next TAR meeting will be held Wednesday, April 10, at 4:30 p.m. at Republican headquarters in Arlington Market Shopping Center, Arlington Heights.

All meetings of the YR club are open to the public. Membership chairman is Gerald A. Moe, LE 7-2598. (ACM

Wheeling Township Air Map Approved

Wheeling Township residents attending the annual township budget hearing Tuesday voted to authorize $8,550 for an aerial survey of the township.

Officials point out the survey will result in the addition of new properties to the tax rolls, possibly netting the township as much as $200,000 in additional tax revenue.

The survey, consisting chiefly of photographs taken from an airplane, will be conducted by Sidwell Studio Inc. of West Chicago.

Other action taken at the budget hearing is as follows:

—Extra $2,500 appropriated for assistance for the township assessor and $90 for a map viewer.

—$20,000 transferred from the General Town Fund to the General Assistance Fund in the event an emergency arises in the latter fund.

—$1,600 TRANSFERRED from the General Town Fund to the Cemetery Fund to offset a projected deficit of $1,495.

—$18,191 released from the highway commissioner's new equipment fund to the general Road and Bridge Fund.

—$6,808.59 loaned to the highway commissioner from the General Town Fund, to be repaid in May when tax monies are distributed.

The 1962-63 township budget, as approved by some 25 residents at the hearing, breaks down into $155,794.22 in the Town Fund, $20,340 in the General Assistance Fund, and $2,950 in the Cemetery Fund. Total: $179,084.22.

The budget wil be subject to final voter approval next Tuesday at the annual town meeting at 8 p.m. in Miner Junior High School, Dryden Place and Miner Street, Arlington Heights.

ALSO TO be taken up by residents are two petitions, one concerning distribution of excess township funds to local school districts and the other regarding appropriation of not more than $10,000 for distribution to "certain organizations which operate activity and guidance centers for the older inhabitants of the township."

The first petition bore the signatures of Kenneth F. Gill, superintendent of Wheeling - Buffalo Grove School District 21, and 14 other District 21 residents.

The second petition was presented by William J. Moore, an Arlington Heights village trustee, and 14 other residents of Arlington Heights. (ACM

Social service and charitable work is a major part of the wmen's program.

Headquarters for the Democratic Women's Organization is at 111 E. Davis St., Arlington Heights. (ACM

Jenks' Work Performed In Evanston

Charles D. Jenks, assistant choral director at Prospect High School, was honored by having one of his choral arrangements performed in Evanston Saturday.

Entitled "Festival of Folk Tunes," this work was written for a mass chorus of 800 voices and two pianos. Saturday's performance was the Tenth Annual District 65 Music Festival held at Evanston Township High School.

Jenks was commissioned to write the arrangement for the festival.

In addition to his duties at Prospect High School, Jenks is organist at the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights and has contributed to music literature published by Summy-Birchard Publishing Company and the American Singer series.

BEST OF TV VIEWING

by ED LANDWEHR

Customers are amazed at the brilliant viewing of newly installed picture tubes. They compliment our services greatly because of it.

Of course, we appreciate these compliments because we always do our best in TV servicing. But there is another reason why new picture tubes look so clear and sharp.

Your old tube wears out so gradually over the years that you never actually notice this fading process. You just get accustomed to it and squint away from day to day.

So, if your TV tube hasn't been replaced in the last couple years, better give LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights a phone call at CL 5-0700, and we'll put you back on the beam of good viewing. Call today.

Pupils at 14 Schools To Get Tests for TB

Tuberculin testing for detection of tuberculosis (TB) germ infection is slated for selected grades of 14 schools in Arlington Heights Monday and Tuesday.

On the first day, Dr. Julius B. Novak, medical director of the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County will administer the Mantoux arm skin test at the following 11 schools:

Olive, State and Olive; Wilson, 15 N. Palatine Rd.; Patton, Maude and Patton; Ridge, Vine and Fernandez; North, 410 N. Miner; Kensington, 201 S. Evanston; Dryden, Dryden and Rockwell; Park, 306 W. Park; Westgate, 1211 W. Grove.

ON THE SECOND day, Dr. Novak will give the tuberculin to the following three parochial schools: St. Peter Lutheran, 111 W. Olive; St. James Catholic, 823 N. State Rd.; and Our Lady of Wayside, 432 S. Mitchell.

Only the pupils of the selected grades who have parents' approval will be given the test.

Two days later, skin reactions will determine if the TB germ is present in the body. All those with "positive" showings will be given a chest X-ray for detection of the disease. The chest films are read by physicians of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

DR. NOVAK stressed the fact that a child reacting "positive" to tuberculin does not mean he is ill with the disease.

It does mean, however, that at some time he has been exposed to TB germs and regular precautions should be taken. (A

$150,000 Awarded By Jury

A jury Friday awarded $150,000 to a 37-year-old Chicago man who was injured in 1961 in a three-car accident at Rand and Wilke Roads north of Arlington Heights.

John A. Doyle, 501 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights, attorney for Steve Caras of Chicago, said his client suffered facial cuts and fractured ribs, arm, hip and foot in the June accident.

"It is a very rare case when a jury awards the exact amount sued for," Doyle explained. He said his client's suit called for $150,000 damages.

DOYLE, FORMER city attorney in Rolling Meadows, said Morris Gosenpud of Chicago, driver of one of the three autos involved in the accident, was found guilty of negligent driving by the jury.

A third motorist was found to be not responsible.

It was Doyle who successfully represented a client earlier this month in the first jury trial to be held in the new municipal building in Arlington Heights.

The earlier victory carried an award of $150. (A

To Clarify Water Main Replacement

Village Manager L. A. Hanson was working this week on wording of a resolution which will clarify responsibility for replacements of inadequate water mains.

At the March 18 meeting of the village board, Trustee Eugene Schlickman asked for a statement of policy for the benefit of homeowners.

He said there are currently 3,000 to 4,000 undersized water mains in the village's older residential areas. He referred to the length of pipe running from street water lines to individual homes.

VILLAGE Attorney Jack Siegel volunteered it is the responsibility of the homeowner to replace lines from street mains.

Commented Trustee William Sauer, "I have never heard of a utility line being paid for under these circumstances by anyone other than the property owner."

Hanson said it would cost the village "about $200,000" to replace the inadequate lines. "This would mean we'd have to raise water rates to get the money," Hanson noted.

The manager was instructed to prepare the clarifying resolution for presentation to the board April 1. (A

Former Buddhist Guest Speaker In Arlington

Mrs. Clara Matwoni, a French teacher at Wheaton Academy, will be guest speaker at the April 2 meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Matwoni, a former Buddhist, was for 25 years the head of a private Buddhist girls school in Ceylon. During the summer of 1960 Mrs. Matwoni came to the United States for the first time and took a summer course at Wheaton College. She was subsequently converted to Christianity.

The Missionary Education Committee of the WMS has planned this meeting which they feel will be of special interest and which is open to all women in the area. (A

Scouts Win Badges, Promotions Here

Advancements in rank for 16 Boy Scouts in Arlington Heights' Troop 57 were announced Monday during the troop's quarterly parents' night at South Junior High School.

According to Scoutmaster Richard N. Bergstrom, promotions, earned by more than a third of the 44 boys currently registered in his troop, are the result of special skills and study in the Scouting program.

Boys promoted and their new ranks are: Chuck Hennig, Life; Keith Oas, Star; Tom Barkulis, Jim Bergstrom, Keith Hurley, George Pedersen and Steve Whittier, all to First Class; Ricky Clarbour, Bob Gleichman, Jack Guilfoil and Bill Murphy, all to Second Class; and John Hoover, Alan Isaacson, Glenn Pierre, Andy Plesko and Gary Prochaska, all to Tenderfoot.

MORE THAN 100 parents, brothers and sisters attended the Troop 57 program which featured a demonstration of first aid skills by one of its patrols in last week's Blackhawk District First Aid Meet.

At that event, the Flying Eagle patrol captured a blue ribbon, while the Flaming Arrow patrol took home a red ribbon.

Troop 57, one of 27 active Boy Scout units in the Blackhawk District, is sponsored by the South Junior High PTA. (A

Auto Racing Is Stopped By Zoning

The Village of Arlington Heights earlier this month put a damper on four residents' plan to operate an electric auto racing concession in the vacant store at 10 W. Campbell St.

According to Harold Best, building commissioner, a quartet of Arlington Heights men asked for a certificate of occupancy to operate five tables of "amusement devices" consisting of model racing cars.

The request was rejected, Best explained, because the zoning ordinance does not provide for an amusement business of the type proposed.

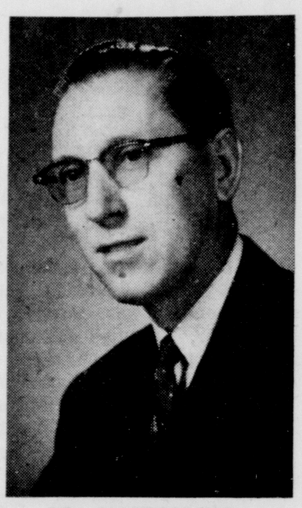
The vacant store was formerly occupied by Shelkop Television, now located on east Northwest Highway. (A

Minister Chooses 'Good News' Topic

The fifth of the series of Sunday evening Lenten programs at Arlington Heights Methodist Church will feature as guest speaker Dr. Clyde R. Funkhouser, superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Southern Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church. His sermon topic will be "Great Day! Good News!"

The program begins at 5:30 p.m. with a snack supper in the Fellowship Hall.

At 6:15 p.m. all go to classes, nursery through adult. At 7:15 p.m. the adult and youth groups gather in the sanctuary for a worship service and guest speaker, with the entire program concluding at 8 p.m.



DR. FUNKHOUSER

DR. FUNKHOUSER was born in Mill Shoals, and attended school there. He attended business college in Evansville, Ind., after which he was in the retail grocery business for 14 years. In 1943 he entered the Methodist ministry and attended McKendree College, graduating in 1948.

He did graduate work at Concordia Seminary in Clayton, Mo., and received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from McKendree College in 1958, where he has served on the board of trustees for several years.

He has been very active in Southern Illinois Conference work, having served as conference youth director and was a member of the Conference Board of Evangelism, and as chairman of the Conference Board of Education for four years.

DR. FUNKHOUSER'S pastorates have included Herrick, Caseyville, First Methodist at Murphysboro and St. John's Methodist Church in Edwardsville. He was appointed as superintendent of the Harrisburg District in May, 1961.

Dr. Funkhouser and his wife, Esther, have two children, Paul, 14, and Bonny, who is married to the Rev. Philip Gardner. (A

Arlington Greens

A general meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held at Olive School April 2, at 8:30 p.m. A program planned for the evening's entertainment includes Jim Hallett, State, Junior National and International Baton Twirling Champion and other members of the Talented Teens. Chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. Elsie Roby, will present the slate of officers for the coming year. All Greens residents are invited to attend.

Men's bridge games for March were played Thursday evening in the home of A. J. Tomaso, 635 E. Clarendon Ave. High scorers were Gary Waffle, 5870; Dick Sims, 5440; and Ron Lundell, 4530. Jerry Kluball joined the group as a regular and Gordon Baer was guest player for the evening.

The George Kellers, 1155 N. Douglas, were joined by the O. J. Baileys and Zeke Taylors of Clarendon Avenue for dinner and a tour of the Flower and Garden Show at McCormick Place last week Sunday.

THE DAVID Bartletts, 1217 N. Hickory, returned mid-March from a two-week trip to Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic. Traveling by freighter from New Orleans, they spent the first week at San Juan; then on to Santo Domingo for the second week.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Len Hauskey, 1112 N. Haddow Court, beginning last Friday were the senior Len Hauskeys of Minneapolis. They plan to visit until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roby, 1149 N. Beverly Lane, hosted a dinner party Saturday for the Don Schreiners, John Mundells and the Ken Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Brune, 1110 N. Dryden, motored downstate to Canton on Saturday to attend the wedding of a cousin, Mary Evelyn Walljasper, and Donald St. Clair. Following the ceremony they joined other guests at the reception held in the Charles Walljasper home.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sims, 636 E. Clarendon, were the Al Loos family of Milwaukee, former Greens residents. Home from classes at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., was son, Keith. Sunday afternoon guests also included the Walt Brown family of Dryden Avenue.

JOHN PARKIN, 1151 N. Beverly Lane, student at Southern Illinois University arrived home last week for a few days' visit with his family.

Another Southern Illinois student enjoying spring vacation at home is Miss Jeane Stewart, 1166 N. Beverly.

The Tony Tomaso family, 635 E. Clarendon, enjoyed a Sunday motor trip to Ottawa, where they met the grandmother, Mrs. A. F. Ourada of Streator. They also visited the Wayne Gleim family in nearby Grand Ridge.

Nine-year-old Kathy Lindsey, 1121 N. Douglas, celebrated her birthday Sunday afternoon with Judy Lasher, Margaret Thielander and Barbara Sadowski.

Another birthday celebrant last weekend was 6-year-old Laura Helbling, 601 E. Clarendon. Guests at her Saturday luncheon party included Susan Kay Lebsock, Audrey Wirtz, Mary and John Lockhart, Caroline Delaney, Carole Loechel, Mary Ellen Dougherty and cousin, Cindy Ducey. Sunday her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Helbling of Spring Grove, were guests at the birthday dinner party for Laura and her mother. (A

Readers of Mysteries Travel to Far Lands

by BETTY AINSLIE

Because mystery stories are such popular fiction among young adults borrowing books from Arlington Heights Memorial Library, here are listed a few more new ones possibly you fellows and girls have missed reading.

A prophecy made 30 years ago has a possibility of coming true in the book, "The Puzzle Box Mystery," by Jane Flower.

An Oriental puzzle box is the final climax to this mystery tale which has a ringing phone and a weeping girl as part of the mysterious ingredients to make a good and exciting tale of fun.

A BOOK with plenty of black and white illustrations to liven the pages and make the story more interesting is "Blue Bay Mystery" by Gertrude Warner. Here the Alden family goes on a trip to a supposedly uninhabited island in the South Seas only to find that someone else is there too and has already planned danger and excitement for the family.

This is one of a series of books which the author has written about the same family, so she will not be new to many readers, but her fast moving and well-plotted stories will be a favorite with the new reader too.

Another book with illustrations and also a new one in a well-liked series is called "Emil and the Three Twins" by Erich Kastner. Once again we find Emil and his detective friends out to solve another mystery.

BUT THIS time the threesome is busy solving the troubles of an acrobat. The author was the winner of the Hans Christian Andersen prize in 1960 for an earlier book and this one is now eagerly awaited by his readers. It is funny and fascinating and will be enjoyed because it is different.

"The Secret of Saraband" by Mordie Floyd is another fast-moving mystery tale. This time about an island which is called Saraband and off the coast of Florida.

A mysterious island dominated by the huge mansion that was called Branch house and which rightly belonged to the heroine of the story. How she finds the fortune left there and wins over her Aunt and Uncle makes an interesting tale and one that you won't put down until you finish.

A DIFFERENT, and I'm sure will-be favorite mystery now on the shelves, is "Baffling Affair In the County Hospital" by Dorothy Deming, R.N. This author is well-known for the books she has written on nursing as a career and she is widely read by girls everywhere.

Her latest is this tale of a young graduate nurse who finds herself involved in the mysterious disappearance of a priceless ruby ring which belonged to her patient who is a beautiful Indian princess.

Here the author makes use of her knowledge of hospitals and nursing and spins a charming story about a nurse and her fight for her career. A hospital story is generally enough to have many readers, but combine that with a mystery and it is bound to be a popular book.

THE YOUNG readers enjoy their mystery stories too, and something new for the grade school age is a book called "The Garret of Greta McGraw" by Mary Francis Shura. This is the story of an old victorian mansion and the people who live in it, especially a once famous actress, and Greta and Peter.

There is also an animal called Caliph the Persian cat and they are all gathered into a story which has fun and laughter as well as mystery.

Friendship, and along with friendship, trust and respect are the unusual clews in solving the mystery of the book called "Secret of the Tiger's Eye" by Phyllis A. Whitney. This author enjoys trying to have her characters of different races and religions grow to understand each other.

IN THIS book she takes her characters to Africa and can show her readers the continent and the people. She has her different people learn to respect and understand each other and thus bring about a solution to the South African mystery in the story. She has traveled in Africa and met many people there and so brings this country vividly to the readers.

"The Great Gold Piece Mystery" by Elizabeth Honness is the story of a girl who wishes that something exciting would happen to her and really gets her wish when the little round window in an empty house winks at her.

This is only the beginning of a series of adventures and fun that makes this book interesting reading for the young mystery fan. (A

Parent Teacher News

OLIVE SCHOOL

An organizational meeting of a Parent Teacher Association for Olive School will be held at Olive School at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 3.

Speaking to the group will be Mrs. Arnold LoMar, district director; Mrs. John Lindstrom, council president; and R. E. Clabaugh, superintendent of schools.

By-laws and the nominative slate have been sent to all parents of children presently enrolled at the school and to parents of next year's kindergarten children. "Of special interest to this latter group will be the presentation of a film, 'The Time of Their Lives,' which depicts the types of school experiences their children will have next year," commented Mrs. LoMar.

GOLDEN JUBILEE SCHOLARSHIP

The Scholarship Selection Committee of PTA District 21 of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers met Wednesday, March 27, in the home of the district director, Mrs. Arnold LoMar, Evanston.

The Golden Jubilee Scholarship Program was established by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers in 1950, to commemorate its 50th anniversary. Each of the 33 districts in Illinois is to select an outstanding high school senior who desires to become a teacher. Purpose of this scholarship is to promote interest in the teaching profession. Although financial need is not a prime factor, it provides financial assistance to interested and outstanding students who wish to take teacher training.

APPLICATIONS from every public high school within the state of Illinois are submitted to the district directors before March 15 each year. Applications are available at all public high schools. A committee composed of an equal number of educators and lay people, with the district director as chairman, review the applications. The identity of the applicants is known only to the district director who does not cast a vote.

Each year one scholarship of $250 is awarded to one public high school graduating senior in each of the 33 districts of the Illinois Congress. Each scholarship is renewable for three succeeding years, providing the student's grades meet the standards established by the state scholarship advisory committee. Therefore, each total scholarship established shall not exceed $1,000.

A REAL effort is made to keep these scholarships in use at all times. Golden Jubilee Scholarships are supported by voluntary contributions from Congress units, Councils, and individuals. A recipient of the scholarship agrees that within five years after the completion of his teacher education he will teach as a fully qualified and certified teacher in an Illinois elementary or secondary public school one semester for each year of scholarship award.

The 1963 Scholarship Selection Committee included David Whiteside, Arlington High School; James Kunnen, Prospect High School; Martin H. Plate, Palatine Junior-Senior High School; Mrs. John Lindstrom, Arlington Heights Council; Mrs. Charles Nelson, Randhurst Council; and Mrs. Robert Oakley, president-elect, Northwest Suburban Council.

Police Destroy Raccoon, But Avoid Skunk Issue

Arlington Heights police disposed of two animal complaints in the past week, one involving a skunk and the other a raccoon.

A large skunk was reported Saturday cowering in the back yard of Larry Johanneson, 516 E. Euclid Ave. When police arrived, the skunk was being "guarded" by four neighborhood boys.

Police decided to let it leave of its own accord because of the closeness of houses, the number of children in the area, and lack of information concerning the skunk's deodorization.

The animal moved on under its own initiative.

Waino Sarvana, 731 N. Harvard Ave., reported a raccoon in his garage Monday. Police found it sitting on a rafter. It was destroyed (A

BOB'S TEXACO TOPICS

by Bob Bentz

ALWAYS OVER-INFLATE

Often, drivers ask us at BOB'S TEXACO AUTO SERVICE to bleed-off excess tire pressure caused by long distant travel.

It isn't easy to explain that the reason for most of the high pressure is that the tire was too low to begin with. It was the over-flexing that caused the build-up of pressure. If the pressure would have been high enough, or even several pounds over the recommended pressure when it was cold, the build-up pressure would be slower and the tire would have had less wear and strain.

Auto racers use terrific pressures in their tires to prevent flexing and blow-outs.

SAFETY LANE TRUCK TESTING

Next time drive in at 1604 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, before your trip and let us check your tires a little over the recommended pressure. You'll be safer. And never bleed your tires of excess pressure, or you might have flat ones when they cool off. Phone CL 3-9746.

Parents Program At Church

The Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church Bible School will present the annual Parent -Teacher Night Sunday at 7 p.m.

The program, theme of which is "For Times Like These," is intended to help parents gain a better understanding of the workings of the bible school.

The band, under the direction of Douglas Hillis, will begin the evening's program, and will be followed by the presentation of teacher training certificates to those teachers who have completed advanced courses in teacher training.

THE FEATURE of the evening will be a sound - slide program which has been prepared to show classes as they are actually conducted. Pastor Harry L. Evans will conclude the program with a short talk.

At the conclusion of the program, a tour of the building will be conducted to acquaint visitors with the facilities of the various departments, to meet the superintendents and their staffs, and to view displays which have been set up.

Grant Wallhoff, Bible school superintendent, extends a cordial invitation to all friends and visitors to attend this presentation, and the social hour which will follow. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Sure signs of spring include the sight of Mrs. Burton Soderberg, 436 S. Phelps, pedaling her bicycle to Mount Prospect to do her shopping.

When Mrs. Hubert Mertes' brother, Albert Fetting, married Miss Judy Thompson on March 16, the reception was held at the Mertes home, 529 S. Phelps. Between 55 and 60 guests attended. Both the bride and groom are from Des Plaines where the wedding took place.

Carlene Schmidt was wished a happy 10th birthday Saturday at an afternoon party attended by 11 schoolmates, as well as sisters, Barbara and Patricia. Some of the games were played outdoors, to take advantage of the first taste of spring. Carlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt, 515 S. Gibbons.

STEVE POST, 10 March 19, was showered with congratulations at a family dinner at home, 2105 E. Park. His brothers and sisters, Bobby, Jimmy, Laura, Karen and Nancy, were joined in well-wishing by his friend, Johnny Kruse, who was also an overnight guest.

Because of illness, Cindy Christiansen, 428 S. Waterman, was unable to celebrate her sixth birthday March 21 in a fitting manner. However, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Christiansen, brothers and sister, Jack, Dickie and Linda, and Grandma Christiansen were parties to the blowing-out-the candles ceremony at a family dinner.

JIMMY CHAPPELL, 440 S. Forrest, became a teenager last Monday and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chappell, and sister, Patty helped him celebrate at a family dinner.

Along with robins and spring fever, this time of the year brings vacations for the college group. Among those home for a week are Susan and Margaret Marshall, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest. Both girls attend Northwestern and plan on visiting friends and catching up on rest before returning to school for the spring quarter.

Friends and neighbors of the John (Pat) Collins family, 413 S. Forrest, were shocked to hear of the death of Pat March 19 in Holy Family Hospital. Deepest sympathy is extended to Kay and their sons, Jimmy and Michael. (A

Retailers To Discuss Promotions

Retail members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce will be meeting Wednesday, April 3, to initiate plans for additional promotions for the rest of the year. The announcement was made by Don Hess, executive manager of the Chamber.

"The 1963 program is concentrating on just five promotions for the year," said Hess, "with one of them already past history."

Retailers will be discussing plans for Mother's Day, the Sidewalk Days event July 18-19-20-21, and Christmas.

Retail meeting will be held at Paddock Publications' office.(A

March hostess for the monthly coffee of neighborhood women on Lafayette Street was Hazel Dallstream, 2305 Lafayette. Enjoying the first official evening of spring with coffee and dessert were Ann Smisko, Merry Kay Karr, Mrs. Bonnie Galvan, Mrs. Carol Coffman, Mrs. Janice Miller, Mrs. Ruth Murray, Mrs. Adele Stroz, Mrs. Marie Mikols and Mrs. Elaine Ledebuhr.

March was a month of birthdays at the Dan O'Neill home at 1316 Plymouth Court. Michael, son of Dan and Kay O'Neill, celebrated his seventh birthday on March 17, with his brothers and sister, Danny, Timmy and Peggy, and several neighborhood boyfriends. Michael's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson and Mrs. Agnes O'Neill came from Chicago for the occasion.

SIX ON MARCH 22, Peggy was also joined by her grandparents and family, as well as neighborhood girlfriends for the event.

Appropriately, the first Sunday of spring meant a spring fashion showing for several of the women in the area.

Attending the March 24 luncheon and showing of seasonal styles, sponsored by the St. Thomas of Villanova Women's Club at the Villa Venice, were Jean Munson, Helen Schwartz, Renee Goedert, Mickey Vrabec, Betty Daulton, Lorraine Sutherland, Marie Mikols, Adele Stroz and Jeannie Stroz. (A

A SPECIAL HERALD REPORT

Homeowner Leaders Oppose Tax Cut Plans

Executives of Arlington Heights homeowner associations were asked by the Herald how they felt about President Kennedy's proposed personal income tax cut, considering an evident loss of homeowners' mortgage interest deductions.

Richard Blaisdell, president of the Scarsdale Property Owners Association, spoke in favor of the tax cut.

"Personally I'm in favor of it on the basis that it would be refreshing after all the tax increases we have had to get a reduction. It would be a psychological stimulus to move people into spending a little more money.

"Actually it would serve to give us an economic shot in the arm if several million people were able to spend a little more."

Jerry Church, head of the Windsor Heights Association, differed radically with Blaisdell's opinion.

"I FEEL THAT a good majority of my association would agree that such a cut would be a detriment to home building and buying. There would be far reaching consequences that would affect lumber, building and manufacturing production all over the country.

"We would be defeating one of the purposes of the cut by increasing unemployment in industries relating to home building. Would the trend take us back to a rental system with a central type landlord?" asked Church.

"A homeowner assumes a risk when he purchases a home and property. I feel the government should recognize his risk and encourage building and the buying of homes.

"Let's have additional information on the subject. Clean cut facts are needed.

"TODAY I WOULD think twice if I were thinking of taking on any size mortgage," Church concluded.

Mrs. Norma Damm, a member of the executive committee of the Arlington Park Manor Association, indicated the general feeling of the group was against a change.

"I feel that the proposed changes would effect home buying by offering less incentive for people to move from an apartment to their own home. A prospective buyer will now have one more expense to contend with in his immediate future.

"It is my opinion that many people would think twice before they would consider buying a home."

B. L. GAY, president of the Greenview Estates Civic Association, said his group would discuss the problem at a future meeting.

However, he did offer his personal opinion in short, terse remarks.

"I'm not in favor of the tax cut in any way, shape or form. I don't feel we need a tax cut.

"As it stands now a $20 or $30 cut won't make much difference."

Anthony J. Tomaso, president of the Arlington Greens Association, praised a recent Herald editorial on the tax cut.

TOMASO SAID, "A true tax cut would be wonderful. I don't feel the proposed cuts will benefit the average wage earner. The only way to fairly handle the matter would be to raise the deduction allowance for individuals.

"Most local home owners can not afford to maintain large mortgages. We look on home owning as a form of saving which we pay for through the period of our mortgage.

"I'll have to disagree with the Administration's present proposals for a cut," concluded Tomaso.

Most of the home owners association executives indicated they had read previous Herald coverage of the subject "with interest." All felt that the subject should and would be brought before their memberships in the immediate future.

Almost a Fourth

Three Seek Two Spots

Three candidates will seek election to the two available posts on High School District 214 Board of Education.

For a brief period it was assumed there were four candidates.

A chain of misunderstandings and errors caused the nominating petitions of the fourth candidate to be thrown out.

Candidates are Arthur E. Aronson, 2818 N. Schoenbeck Road, Wheeling area; Mrs. Margaret Marble, 604 W. Shabonee Trail, Mount Prospect; and Dr. Frank J. Smith, 1523 Kaspar Ave., Arlington Heights.

The "almost" candidate was H. W. Armstrong, 920 Tower Dr., Mount Prospect.

ARMSTRONG, president of the Forest View High School Booster Club, circulated his nominating petitions on Saturday, the last date for filing.

Final time to file petitions, which require 50 signatures, was noon.

Armstrong personally submitted two sheets of the nominating petition shortly before 11 a.m. The sheets had not been notarized, but custom in the past has been for the petitions to be notarized at the school office. Armstrong apparently was reassured of this Saturday morning.

Monday morning, retiring board member George Laubenheimer of Mount Prospect saw the petitions at the school office. Through some error they had not been notarized. Laubenheimer insisted the petitions were not in order. School District Attorney William Engelhardt backed up Laubenheimer and the school board in a special session Tuesday night threw out Armstrong's petitions.

A THIRD SHEET of nominating signatures submitted on behalf of Armstrong about 11:30 a.m. was notarized and found valid, but did not contain the required 50 signatures in itself.

Armstrong told Paddock Publications Monday night he felt an honest error had been made in the handling of the petitions, putting the blame for the foul-up on his inexperience with political procedures.

He stated he would not conduct a write-in campaign, but expressed appreciation to the people who had helped him in his very brief candidacy.

The remaining three candidates in the school race present differing backgrounds.

ARONSON, the only incumbent seeking re-election, is manager of standards and cost analysis for the A. B. Dick Co., in Chicago. He lectures on industrial management frequently at mid-western universities. He is a past president of the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers and a former vice president and director of the national organization.

Last year he won the Chicago Technical Societies Council merit award. The award is given annually to prominent scientists from the Chicago area on the basis of their professional achievements and contributions to civic betterment.

Aronson is a past president of the Arlington Teacher-Parent Council and the Arlington Area School Board Association. He served as president of the Wheeling elementary school district board from 1957 to 1959, during which period three new schools were built by the district. He aided in setting up a special program for blind children of the area to attend schools with sighted children of their age.

In addition to his school interests Aronson helped to organize a park district for Wheeling and served as a commissioner for 1961-62. He has been awarded the 'Outstanding Alumni Award" from Augustana College.

MRS. MARBLE presently is completing a term as a member of the Mount Prospect District 57 school board. She was elected to the post in 1960, winning one of two available posts in a field of five candidates. Although she announced her intention in December to seek re-election to the District 57 board, lack of backing by the school caucus apparently brought a change.

She has served on both the education and safety committee of the grade school board.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Mrs. Marble majored in sociology with additional training in child guidance techniques under the tutelage of a psychiatrist.

She is a member of the American Association of University Women. She has been active in both Girl Scout and Boy Scout programs.

DR. SMITH is a psychologist and director of employe attitude surveys for Sears, Roebuck and Co. He currently is heading the 1963 Cancer Crusade for the Northwest Suburban area.

A graduate of the University of Illinois and Iowa State College, Smith received his doctorate at Illinois Institute of Technology. He belongs to numerous professional societies. He has written a number of articles for professional journals.

Dr. Smith has been active in the Hasbrook Civic Association. He is now president of the Arlington Heights chapter, Northwest Mental Health Association.

Safety Boys Honored for 1962 Record

The Chicago Motor Club, which pioneered the school safety patrol movement in 1920, announced this week that 11 schools in Arlington Heights whose patrol units have maintained perfect accident - free records during 1962 have been presented special certificates of achievement.

Those schools receiving motor club awards are Dryden, St. James, Miner Junior High, North, Our Lady of the Wayside, Park, St. Peter, Ridge, South Junior High, Wilson, and Windsor.

"This impressive record of traffic safety proves again what our Patrol boys and girls are capable of, especially when they are given encouragement and guidance from their principals and teachers, and when they receive the cooperation of their classmates," said J. J. Cavanagh, president of the Motor Club. (A

Mild Weather Brings Sprouts of Tulips and Birthdays

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

The weather can change radically from the time of this writing until the Sidelights gets into print; it always does if any favorable comment is made about it so there will be no mention made here of the beautiful, summery, totally delightful Saturday and Sunday Arlington Heights enjoyed. However, lots of birthday parties and tulips have been sprouting up lately.

Last Tuesday when Linda Wieditz was 9-years-old, there was enough left-over sickness at 1241 N. Walnut to postpone birthday party plans. Everyone was healthy a week later so five of Linda's friends were her Tuesday after-school guests for a swim session at the "Y" and supper in the Wieditz home. It was worth waiting for.

Linda Jack's birthday slumber party Friday night is the man-bites-dog kind of news. She and her six guests slept! Everyone had a good time anyhow. Mr. and Mrs. Jack are modest about their part in the phenomenon saying only, "When we told the girls it was time to quiet down, they did." Linda was 13 Tuesday when a family celebration at 642 S. Evergreen marked the day.

A FAMILY dinner party in the Clarence Loechl home, 1213 N. Dunton, celebrated three in-rapid-succession birthdays within the family. Mary was 14 last Thursday, Christine was 12 last Friday and Mom was young as ever Monday.

Joan Pagliai's Sunday birthday was convenient for a party so she had two of them. In the afternoon she entertained eight young school and neighborhood friends, and in the evening she received family congratulations at a second celebration.

Among her night time well-wishers were her Grandfather and Grandmother Pagliai of Chicago. Her other grandparents, the George Piemonts of Elmwood Park, were here last Thursday to give the birthday girl their good wishes. Joan was 7.

Mrs. Arthur Ekberg Sr. of Mount Prospect observes a March 19 birth date and traditionally shares birthday congratulations with her son at a family party in his home, 2108 N. Chestnut. This year's celebration Saturday night was on the host's birthday.

Michael Blohm's grandmothers, Mrs. Lawrence Richard of Plymouth, Ind. and Mrs. Herber Blohm of Neenah, Wis., arrived here Saturday bringing fair weather and the promise of a fine birthday celebration for him. Michael was 4 yesterday and Grandpa Blohm came from Wisconsin to join the family party at 429 S. Highland. His wife and Mrs. Richard remained here to complete their week's visit with Michael and the rest of the family.

Ken Gabrielsen was 13 Monday and celebrated in advance with three buddies Saturday afternoon. Lee Howard, Jerry Smith and Andy Crowley were Ken's guests, first at a birthday luncheon in his home, 705 S. Chestnut, then at local bowling lanes where the exercise revived their appetites.

Suzanne Barnett was one year old Friday, reason enough for a family celebration at 321 N. Harvard. She might have been a bit uncertain about the "why" of all the fuss, but not about her enjoyment of it.

Among recently returned winter vacationers who claim to have brought the fine weather with them are the William Trudes, back home at 801 S. Dunton as of Saturday. They've been frost-free in Tucson for six weeks.

THE EARL Rileys, 738 S. Mitchell, came home Saturday, too, to weather almost as pleasant as they left in Los Angeles. They had 10 days on the west coast, attending a convention and visiting their daughter and her husband, the Tom Gores.

Mother's Day came early for Mrs. George Peak, 1104 W. Sigwalt, who weekended on the campus of Hanover College in Madison, Ind. Moms were honored there with special events Saturday and Sunday, events that were extra - special to Mrs. Peak. Social chairman of the Mother's Day activities was her daughter, Lynda.

Mrs. Carl Reitmeyer and Susan came home to 227 S. Mitchell Saturday after a 2-week visit in Erieville, N. Y. with Mrs. Reitmeyer's mother, Mrs. Edward Slocum.

MRS. ANTHONY Willows, 635 N. Belmont, were among several hundred Chicago and Suburban families who hosted Negro couples Sunday as part of an inter-faith program to improve race relations. Several local firends of the Willows joined them to greet Mr. and Mrs. Theo Lavisso of Chicago, and enjoy with the Lavissos an afternoon of frank discussion and, Mrs. Willow says, "a just plain good time."

Mrs. Lavisso is in social work in Chicago and her husband is a psychiatric worker in Hines Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Willow are members of St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights. A Catholic lay organization, Friendship House, was co-sponsor of Sunday's exchange, with the Church Federation of Greater Chicago and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Miss Anne Heuer is home at 302 W. Euclid for her spring vacation from the University of Colorado. She'll return to Boulder in time for Monday's classes.

THE WESTFALL coeds, whose names and choices of college make foreasyinstantconfusion, will not spring vacation at home together this year. Carroll of Lawrence College and Nancy of Carroll College have 10-day vacations, but Carroll's (the girl) ended Sunday and Carroll's (the college) won't begin until the end of next week. Nancy (she's the one in Carroll College) is expected home at 843 S. Highland next Friday or Saturday. Carroll the coed returned to Lawrence Sunday.

Dawn Marie, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cary, 14 S. Evergreen, was baptized a week ago Sunday in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church and the center of attraction later at a family celebration in her home.

Among the 15 guests at a buffet supper party were Dawn Marie's godparents, her uncle, Larry Weidner, home from Northern Illinois University for the occasion, and Miss Fran Friedrichs of Arlington Heights; her grandparents, Mrs. Cary of Chicago and the Richard Weidners of Arlington Heights, and great-grandfather Raupp who makes his home with the Weidners.

THE CHARLES Pratts, 705 Mayfair, are home after a month's vacation in Mexico and Central America. In Mexico, they met Scarsdale friends, the Byron Sayers, with whom they spent two weeks at resorts in Taxco, Mexico City and Acapulco.

Leaving Mexico, the Pratts went on alone on a tour of Central America countries, including El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua, where they visited the native villages of Santa Tecla, Santa Ana, Tegucegalpa and Managua. Returning home, they stopped for a short stay in New Orleans.

Mrs. John R. Grayson, 768 S. Belmont, spent two weeks in California visiting her father, Robert Lane, and sister, Mrs. Ray Rasch.

The junior Peter V. Toffolis, 358 S. Dryden, asked 20 friends to join them for cocktails and dinner at their home Saturday to celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary. Also attending the party was their daughter, Ann, home on spring vacation from Ripon College.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Faner, 615 Mayfair, their son, Rick, and daughter, Sally, spent last weekend in Madison visiting the University of Wisconsin campus.

CHRIST NYGAARD of Kristiansund N., Norway, is visiting here until fall with his daughter and family, the Richard Lillebergs, 314 E. Rockwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Colburn, 535 S. Burton, have as their houseguest for a month, her father, Frank E. Lonergan of Braintree, Mass.

Miss Linda Jungbluth returned to Monmouth College Monday after a 10-day stay with her parents, the Kenneth Jungbluths, 346 S. Burton.

The annual Scarsdale Bridge tournament dinner dance will be held Saturday, March 30, in Rolling Green Country Club, and league winners and grand champions will be named.

Miss Susan Ferry, a sophomore at DePauw University, will come home April 5 for a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ferry, 637 Bristol. The Ferrys' younger daughter, Jan, plans to enroll in Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis., in the fall.

ROBERT HUGHES, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes, 848 S. Belmont, marked his ninth birthday March 16 with a luncheon for 10 boys, after which they attended the movies.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Skinner, 721 S. Beverly, are home from Omaha where they spent a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roeder. Mr. Skinner's sister, Mrs. Mabel Miller of Chicago, arrived here Sunday to stay for several days.

The Stanley Normans, 634 S. Dryden, look forward to an Easter reunion with their college son and daughter, Judy and Stan. Judy, who attends Adolphus Gustavus College, will bring home a classmate, Bruce Fahlberg, and Stan will be home from the University of South Dakota. He plans to enter the University of Minnesota Medical School in June for his final two years.

TOM LILLEBERG, who will be 16 next weekend, will mark the event by going alone by plane to Northfield, Minn., to spend the weekend with his sister, Karen, at St. Olaf College. Tom and Karen are the son and daughter of the Ralph Lillebergs, 322 S. Derbyshire.

Susan Kramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kramer, 1717 Kensington, celebrated her 13th birthday Saturday with a slumber party for six friends.

Another member of Stonegate's younger set to have a birthday over the weekend, was Stephen Jurco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor. He and three friends attended a performance of "Lawrence of Arabia."

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fairchild, 1311 Woodford, were in Chicago Saturday for the wedding of her cousin's daughter, Miss Holly Gerbing to David Harrington of Lansing, Mich., and a reception and dinner which was held at the Pantry in Park Ridge.

MRS. RICHARD Malcomson and her infant daughter, Kimberly, are here from San Diego for a 2-week visit with her parents-in-law, the R. J. Malcomsons, 727 S. Belmont. Mrs. Malcomson and her husband, Lt. (j.g.) Malcomson, who is stationed with the Navy in San Diego, plan to return to live in the Chicago area in the Fall.

Mrs. Hosmer Grosvenor of Hamilton, Ohio, a former Scarsdale resident, has returned for a visit with former neighbors. Mrs. Grosvenor is the former Mrs. Earle Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumann, 421 E. Orchard, returned Sunday from a week's motor trip through the South. Accompanied by Mrs. Baumann's sister and brother-in-law, the Gust Carlsons of Sister Bay, Wis., they drove to Alabama visiting places of interest along the way, and were guests of their nephew, Dr. Conwell Anderson in Marion, Ala., and of Mrs. Baumann's brother and family, the Elmer Andersons of Fairhope, Ala. Returning home they stopped to visit other relatives, the Maurice Joneses in Johnston City, Ill. (A

Despite the current difficulties of Kaspar Street parking, David Grandt welcomed his grandparents and uncle to a family party in honor of his 11th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bentz and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Grandt, Billy, and Jimmy, were guests of David's parents, the Roger Grandts at 646 N. Kaspar. David also entertained Jon Roesler, William Lussman, Allen Goebbert and Robert Bartz at dinner.

David has been busy with musical activities. Sunday he played the trumpet in a school contest, and was one of those selected to compete in the regional district contests this weekend. Recently he played in a Lutheran youth orchestra concert in Melrose Park.

William Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kunberger, 926 N. Kennicott, was christened recently in St. James Church by Father Lane. Godparents are his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kunberger of Philadelphia, but as they were unable to attend, the baby's father and sister, Lynn, acted as proxy godparents.

FIRST OF THE college students home for spring vacation have been Trilla Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avon Reeves, 816 N. Kaspar, who returned Monday to Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, and Mark Hannum, son of the William Hannums, 1020 N. Fernandez, home from his freshman studies at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

"It's hard to say," ponders Virginia Bartik, "which Johnny liked better." Johnny, son of Jack and Virginia Bartik, 643 N. Kaspar, enjoyed the Shrine Circus in Chicago recently. Another big thrill was his first visit with Daddy to the office, via his first train and bus ride.

Recent theatre-goers were Newman and Dorothy Cryer, 1007 N. Kennicott. They enjoyed dinner at the Press Club with Dr. and Mrs. Ewing Wayland of Mount Prospect and then saw Anna Maria Alberghetti in "Carnival."

LEE KOENEMAN, 908 N. Fernandez, has had a busy week. She and Herman attended the St. Patrick's party at the Elks. Later she went to Mayor Daley's reception at the Morrison and to a fashion fair at Villa Venice.

Jeff Lauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lauer Jr., 1020 N. Kennicott, was 2 on Monday. To help him celebrate, his grandparents, the Gene Mestons, came from Indianapolis for the weekend. Other guests included his uncle's family, the Jim Mestons of Northbrook.

Happy anniversary wishes go to John and Liz Oertel, 708 N. Salem, whose 19th anniversary was Monday (A

The "World of Dance" presented by Orchesis Friday and Saturday nights at Arlington High School will have Suzanne Anderson and Yvonne Hartwig, both of Beverly Lane, in the cast. Besides appearing in several numbers, the girls were required to choreograph one dance. In the "Themes of Primitive Man" Suzanne did the choreography "On Death" and Yvonne is responsible for "Around the World." Suzanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Anderson of 614 N. Beverley and Yvonne's parents are the Adwalt Hartwigs of 728 N. Beverley.

Since Mr. and Mrs. William Richter of N. Dryden have returned from their southern trip, they have been guests of the William Shusters of Des Plaines at their 35th wedding anniversary celebration. This past weekend the Richters attended the 83rd birthday party for friends and relatives of James Bornhoff of Park Ridge.

ON THE RICHTERS' recent 2-week trip they first visited with their son, Bill, in Denver where he is attending Denver University. From there they went to San Antonio, and came home by way of New Orleans where they arrived in time for the Mardi Gras. Besides seeing the parades, they visited Bourbon Street and particularly enjoyed a 7-hour boat trip that took them into the bayous.

Birthday girl on March 15 in the Edgar Neas' home was their youngest daughter, Betsy. On that day she was eight years old and entertained after school for 10 other second grade classmates from Windsor School.

Visitors this week in the Leon McKnight home on Brighton Place are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McKnight, and their brand new daughter, Kimberly Ann. The junior McKnights, who live in Evanston, are staying in Arlington for Rogers' between quarter break from Northwestern University. Mr. McKnight has just returned from a 2 week business trip to New York in time to enjoy his son's family's visit.

THE SPORTS of golf and bowling have been keeping busy both Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hawley of 502 N. Beverley Lane. Mr. Hawley has just recently returned from a week's golf outing at Pinehurst in North Carolina, where he met and enjoyed several rounds of golf with Arlington Heighters, Sue and Jim Murphy and Mary and Joe Sweeney. Olive Hawley, who is secretary for the Rolling Green bowling league, is busy making plans for their bowling banquet at the club on April 6.

Beside golf and bowling, another hobby of the Wallaces' is coin collecting, and they recently visited the coin show at the Morrison Hotel where they were particularly interested in the gold collection. After the show, along with friends, they enjoyed dinner at Armando's on Rush Street. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

It was "Sentimental Journey" time for Beverly and Clayton Bergdahl as they journeyed to Detroit last weekend for the 10th graduating class reunion of Beverly's high school, Cooley High. In addition to visiting and renewing old friendships with the 168 people present, the trip also provided the Claytons with the opportunity to visit Beverly's aunt and uncle, the Donald Houghtons.

Upon their return to 1426 N. Race, the Claytons hosted a family party for Cricket, who celebrated her second birthday Tuesday night.

Sunday afternoon several Terrace residents participated in and attended the St. Thomas of Villanova's fashion show and luncheon at Villa Venice. On stage and modeling were Karen Murphy and Valerie Good. Valerie appeared in five different daytime outfits, while Karen was fittingly attired in "waiting game" fashions. Those present included Audrey Ostler, Marlowe Sorensen, Adele Yore, Arlene Lagerhausen, Irene Pedersen and LaRue Reed.

HIGHLIGHTED by a merry-go-round cake, Scott, son of Ralph and Shirley Landes, 1251 N. Chicago, celebrated his fifth birthday Saturday afternoon. Having a circus of a time were his brothers, Steven and David, along with Kenny Koenig, Ronnie Rogers, Tony Rogers and David Rix.

Equal parts of birthday and basketball were savored and enjoyed at the Charleston household, 1333 N. Chicago, last weekend. Jimmy started his fifth birthday celebration Saturday afternoon with a party attended by his sister, Jean, and playmates, Doug, Lori and Beth Martin and Wayne and Glen Eisenhuth. Saturday night Jimmy was again honored, this time with a family party hosted by parents Jim and Mary Lou, and attended by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fenlon of Chicago, in addition to 30 members of his mother's family. Time out for basketball on Sunday morning, when Jim, as a faithful and elated alumnus, and the family joined the big throng of well wishers at O'Hare who greeted the new NCAA basketball champions of Loyola University. Meanwhile, back to the birthday boy, Jimmy, he wound up his party siege with a second family get-together Sunday afternoon attended by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Charleston, and 20 members of his father's family.

WHEN JAY, son of Jay and Myrna Dittmer, 1218 N. Race, celebrated his first birthday last Friday, on hand to share his festive cake were neighbors, Peggy MacMillan and sons Robert, David and Donald.

"Birthdays of Yore" described the week's activities at the home of Adele and Michael Yore, 1260 N. Illinois. First party was held for Patricia, who was 14, and her dinner guests included Ruthie Broderick, Kathie Nitch, Nancy Sullivan, Eileen Meindel and Patricia Couvoisier. Following dinner Patricia and her sister, Sheila, along with her guests traveled into Chicago for a session of ice skating at Rainbo Gardens. Danny's birthday was celebrated Thursday afternoon with a party attended by Mike Moustakis, Mark Moustakis, Kathy Roden, Kathy Zare, Judy Lindholm, John Husted, Larry Van Der Berkt, Linda Kenny and Bobby Blomquist.

Amid games and a sing-along, Robby, son of Bunny and Art Salzman, 1215 N. Wilke, celebrated his fourth birthday Saturday afternoon. Guests included Michael Trees, Robbie MacMillan, Kevin Francis, Jimmy Sadowski, Kenny Elsner of Palatine and former Terrace playmate, Steven Kanouse.

Cynthia, daughter of Hal and Marguerite Cates, 1334 N. Yale, hit teensville Saturday night with a platter party—both pizza and records. On hand to help celebrate were Shelia Yore, Bonnie Kivland, Judy Ulmdale, Margaret Hetzel, Melinda Smith, Margie Lawler, Kay Wahl and Jeanette La Blac. Also present was Cindy's sister, Nancy, who is presently part of a large cast. She hopes to have it removed, and her broken ankle mended by Easter Sunday.

IT TOOK THREE parties to officially launch a fourth birthday for Jean, daughter of Carol and Edward Davies, 1114 N. Race. The first was a family get-together attended by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters, and her uncle and aunt, the Marvin Peters. The second, held Thursday afternoon, included Sara and Brian Martin, Susie Denson, Lori Bartel, Kim Merckx, Billy Sommerfield, Thea Larson and April Krug. Sunday Jean shared birthday honors with her grandmother, Mrs. Angela Davies, at a family dinner. Also included were Grandfather Davies and aunt, uncle and cousins.

The immediate family was on hand at 1310 N. Illinois when Johnny, son of Valerie and Fred Good, celebrated his first birthday March 20.

Two Terace youngsters, Linda Fluhrer and Debby Husted, enjoyed an additional bonus during their confirmation class trip, with the confirmands of the Arlington Heights Methodist Church last Saturday. In addition to scheduled stops at various church affiliated institutions, the girls had the opportunity to see President Kennedy from a Michigan Avenue vantage point, as the President's motorcade was en route to the airport after his visit here. District 25 Board Takes Annual Tour

Four members of Arlington Heights District 25 Board of Education made an annual tour of the district's school buildings Saturday.

Beginning with a briefing session at 9 a.m., board members toured the South Junior High School, Windsor School, Miner Junior High School, North School, Wilson School, Ridge School, Westgate School and Park School.

MAKING THE tour to see recent improvements and individual school needs were board members George Harris, Harold Sortor, Victor Meyer and Joseph Faner, president.

According to Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh, 1962 assessed valuation for the district is $120,880,090. This represents an increase of $65,000 over the previous year. (A

Vocalist

Shari Crittenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crittenden, 311 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, was the featured vocalist for the "Nautical But Nice" review presented by the Hemophilia Pioneers of Chicago Saturday.

Miss Crittenden was invited to participate through her piano teacher, Max Loick of the Arlington School of Music, who is the musical arranger for the Pioneers' shows. (A

WHEN A STRANGER COMES TO YOU, reports The Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, you must be cautious when dealing with these door-step salespeople. Here is part of their warnings.

1. Don't be in a hurry to buy or sign. Be sure the written terms are the same as those given orally.
2. Beware of statements that, "you are selected" to get something for nothing, or they just want your name for advertising purposes.
3. Don't accept blindly the story that the sales person was referred to you by a neighbor. Check the neighbor first.

BE CAREFUL ABOUT HEALTH PRODUCTS.

If any pedlar attempts to advise you about how to treat your ailments by using the vitamins he wants to sell you, call your physician first. If they want to sell you health foods or dietary aids, ask the local Better Business Bureau about them. A telephone call may save you future trouble and money, for they may have little value.

WHY GAMBLE WITH YOUR HEALTH.

When you need any medicines, health-aids, vitamins or sickroom needs, depend on us your local pharmacy, for safety and integrity.

County Sets School Bike Safety Program

The 1963 bicycle safety training program for elementary school children of Cook county outside of Chicago opened Friday, March 22, County Board President Seymour Simon has announced.

Entering its ninth year, the program is directed by the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission, an arm of the county government. This year it expects to train 27,000 children in both public and parochial schools.

"In the past five years, not one child who has had the opportunity to take the training and who has passed our safety test has been a bicycle fatality," declared Simon.

THE TRAINING consists of a lecture, the showing of safety films, an inspection of the bicycles to determine if they are in safe operating order, and then the actual riding of the bicycles through an obstacle course that simulates traffic conditions.

Those passing the tests are granted membership in the Bicycle Safety Club that now numbers over 213,000 youngsters in Cook County.

In further explanation, Simon said:

"When the county started the program as a one-man operation in 1954, 14 children were killed while riding their bikes. But since the program has developed, with 16 men in four teams working with the children, the fatality rate has dropped steadily, this in spite of a huge increase in school population.

"All of us connected with the training program owe our thanks to the school officials, Parent - Teacher and civic groups, police of the communities, and the school children, themselves, for their excellent cooperation."

JOHN J. McCleverty, director of the safety commission and director of the program, said:

"It may come as a surprise to some, but we have learned from a survey that in the areas in which the program is conducted, bicycles outnumber automobiles two to one.

"We also have learned that these children who take our bicycle training program, will, in later years, become the best automobile drivers."

So far, 174 elementary and junior high schools, two Scout troops, and one group of youngsters sponsored by the Lions Club have signed up for this year's training. Northwest suburban schools participating and the dates for testing are:

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: April 4, Miner Junior High and South Junior High; April 5, Park and Dryden Schools; May 1, St. Peter Lutheran School; May 6, Our Lady of the Wayside School; May 7, North School; May 8, Wilson School; May 10, Kensington School; May 13, Westgate and St. James Schools; May 14, Ridge School; May 15, Windsor School.

ELK GROVE: April 22, Ridge and Rupley Schools; April 24, Clearmont School; April 26, Queen of the Rosary and Grove Junior High School.

HOFFMAN ESTATES: March 25, Blackhawk School; March 26, Fairview School; March 27, Hoffman and Lakeview Schools; March 28, Twinbrook School.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS: May 15, North and West Schools.

SCHAUMBURG: March 25, Campanelli School; March 26, Hillcrest School.

Citizens' Committee Seeks Moe Election

Formation of a Citizens for Moe Committee was announced this week by James F. Pfister, 367 Bernard Drive, Buffalo Grove, chairman of the group.

The committee has been organized to promote the election of Gerald A. Moe, 337 Rosewood Ave., Buffalo Grove, to the Wheeling Township Board of School Trustees.

Moe, a 31-year-old project engineer for Bell & Howell Co., is one of four candidates for two trustee posts to be filled Saturday, April 13.

"WE HAVE more than 60 members on the committee, most of whom readily volunteered their help when Mr. Moe's candidacy was first announced March 7," Pfister said.

As representative of the committee's members, Pfister released the following names:

Charles Mihalek of Wheeling; Idyll Nipper of Wheeling Township; John G. Woods, Arlington Heights village president; William Farrington, Buffalo Grove village president; Albert C. Peters, Wheeling Township supervisor.

ALSO, O. J. "Bud" Chiappe, candidate for village president in Buffalo Grove; John J. Walsh Jr., candidate for Arlington Heights village trustee; Harold Rueckel, candidate for Buffalo Grove trustee; Eugene F. Schlickman, an Arlington Heights trustee; Curtis Bauer, former Buffalo Grove police magistrate; Robert H. Bukowski, former Arlington Heights trustee, and James Gillen, former Buffalo Grove trustee.

Among other names released, by community, were: Arlington Heights — Lester Ploetz, Mrs. Bruce Ladd, Thomas Hanlon, Thomas Novotny, Patricia Stockdale, George and Ramona Coker, Charles and Ellie Raths, John F. White, Joseph Tolson, Frank Kams, Glenn Carlson, Robert and Nancy Elder, Robert and Sally Lollar, Richard Cowen, William Platte, Richard Ley, Margaret Schlickman and Helen Kilfoy.

MOUNT PROSPECT — Raymond Stevenson, Mrs. Frank Kolerus, and Franklin Friday. Prospect Heights — Mrs. William K. Andrew and Henry Hipps. Buffalo Grove — Harold Bluhm, Patrick Martin, Fred Parsegian, John and Linda O'Grady, Jack and June Lane, Robert and Jacqueline Sell and W. W. and Darlene Oslund.

In an address Monday before the PTA candidates' forum in the Village of Wheeling, Moe pointed out that possible inadequacies in the school trustee-treasurer system should be attributed to the trustees, not to the treasurer.

"Since when have appointed officials taken precedence over elected officials?" he asked.

"IF SALARIES are too high and if the work performed is not proportionate with funds expended, then the trustees should be held accountable.

"Furthermore, I believe any meeting where official business is to be discussed should not only be open to the public, but should be prefaced by a public announcement." (B8

Healing Power Is Subject of Public Lecture

PAUL SEELEY

How to apply God's healing power to solve problems of everyday living will be the topic of a public lecture to be given here April 7 at 3:30 p.m. by Paul Stark Seeley of Portland, Ore.

Seeley, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in Prospect High School Theatre, 801 W. Foundry, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arlington Heights.

HIS SUBJECT will be a lecture on Christian Science entitled "The Origin and Power of Thought." The lecture is free, and local members have invited the public to attend.

Seeley has been prominent in the Christian Science movement for many years. He has served as Associate Editor of the Christian Science religious periodicals, and as President of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. He has lectured to audiences throughout the world.

A member of the Bar in New York and Oregon, he is a graduate of Harvard Law School and Princeton University. Prior to devoting his full time to the practice of Christian Science, he was associated with an engineering firm in the Northwest. (B8

Suburb School Revenue Needs Outlined

Begin Series Of Articles

This is the first in a series of five articles by William Urbanek. Purpose of the series is to inform readers about school revenue.

According to Urbanek, the problem of supporting our schools is becoming more and more critical and the articles will attempt to illustrate the problem.

The first article is concerned with the local school revenue picture. The following articles will be on how schools are supported in Illinois, sources of revenue, cost of education and the role of the grass-roots citizens.

WILLIAM URBANEK

The articles are being written in conjunction with a series of revenue workshops sponsored by the Illinois Education Association (IEA), Parent-Teacher Associations (PTA) and the Illinois Association of School Boards. Information concerning the workshops may be obtained by calling Urbanek at LA 9-7411.

THE FIRST of the area workshops will be held at Schaumburg Junior High School on Tuesday, April 6. Another workshop is planned for Saturday, April 20, at Paddock School in Palatine. Other workshop dates will be announced later.

Urbanek is the Legislative Chairman for Section 1, Lake Shore Division, IEA, representing about 1,600 teachers in Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg Townships. He has been working on the division Legislative Committee for more than a year.

Urbanek is aware of the problems of school finance firsthand as a classroom teacher for seven years and a building principal for four years. He currently is principal of Lake View School in Hoffman Estates.

RECENT ACTION by the Illinois Budgetary Commission has denied additional state equalization aid to schools. This is of concern to all responsible citizens. Some may deny the concern on the basis that this equalization aid isn't needed in their district.

This is an unrealistic viewpoint.

It does not consider the ultimate cost to our society of the unproductive versus the productive citizen. A great concern in Illinois is the ever-mounting cost of public aid.

Properly educated citizens do not need nor do they seek public aid.

Without increased equalization aid, education has two alternatives. Local property taxes may be increased to meet the rising school costs, or the educational standards may be lowered.

Either alternative is distasteful to tax-burdened, but responsible home owning citizens.

In certain districts where the maximum educational tax rate is already being levied, the citizens do not have even this poor choice to make. Their situation is obvious — educational standards will be forced downward.

WHY IS state educational equalization aid generally accepted as a sound principle?

If equal educational opportunity for all is to be realized, equalization aid is necessary. The best single criterion for measuring the ability of a district to educate is the number of dollars of assessed valuation per pupil it possesses.

Assessed valuation per pupil varies greatly from district to district. Based on 1961 valuations the poorest elementary school district in Cook County had an assessed valuation of $7,960 per pupil while the wealthiest had $236,352 per pupil. Disregarding any state aid either may receive, a school levy of a $2.00 per $100.00 valuation (a substantial effort) would raise over $4,600 per student in the case of the wealthy district, but less than $160 per student in the case of the poorer district.

THE IMPLICATIONS to equality of educational opportunity are obvious. The actual expenditures of the two districts per pupil were $402 by the wealthy district and $352 by the poorer district. Effort of the poorer district, even after state aid was received, was more than three times greater than the effort of the wealthy district. The total school levy of the poorer district was $2.034 per $100 assessed valuation. Taxpayers will pay a levy of only $.656 per $100 in the wealthy district.

In comparing the eight elementary districts of the northwest suburban area, it is found that a greater disparity in abilities to support schools exists than might be assumed.

This includes schools in Palatine-Rolling Meadows, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Feehanville, Schaumburg - Hoffman Estates and Elk Grove.

Without reference to the identity of the districts, a comparison of these districts as to assessed valuation per resident student, operating expenditure per pupil, and total school tax levy is shown in the accompanying table. The districts are listed by order of their ability to support their schools. Figures shown represent the 1960-61 school year — the last year for which coordinated figures are available.

IT CAN be seen in the comparison that the amount of effort the several districts exert does vary. It can be seen that the least able of these districts can raise $180 per pupil less than the most-able district even though its effort is equal.

Whether equal educational opportunity can exist considering the differences is a serious question.

Even the most able of these districts is concerned about the rising costs of education. This means that even though this district is in a seemingly good position, they are not really wealthy.

A school official of this district recently noted, "We have the same problem of meeting rising costs that the others do. The difference is merely relative." (B8

Alexian Brothers' Leader Pays Visit to Chicago Area

BROTHER HERMAN JOSEPH, CFA, superior general of Alexian Brothers (center), recently visited Chicago on a special inspection tour of the new site for Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village. During a dinner in his honor he met a group of hospital supporters including Mrs. Harold A. Thompson, chairman of the Elk Grove Village Women's Division in the fund drive; Gayle Bantner (right), chairman of the speaker's bureau; James Gibson (left), president of Elk Grove Village and associate general chairman of the fund drive; and Rev. J. Ward Morrison, paster of Queen of the Rosary Church in Elk Grove. (A-14

Brother Herman Joseph, C.F.A., Superior General of the Congregation of Alexian Brothers, has just completed an official visit to the Chicago area.

Brother Herman Joseph is the Superior for all three Provinces of the Congregation—The United States of America, Britain-Ireland and Europe. World headquarters of the congregation is located at Signal Mountain, Tenn. where it was moved from Germany shortly before World War II.

One of the primary purposes of the Superior General's visit to Chicago was to view the progress and plans for the proposed new $7 million, 220-bed Alexian Brothers Hospital. Construction of the hospital in Elk Grove Village is slated to begin this summer.

At a dinner held recently in his honor, Brother General said, "After an extensive study by the Hospital Planning Council of Metropolitan Chicago, coupled with the fact that on state records, Northwest Area Number 3 is listed as the 'most critically' in need of hospital beds in the Chicagoland area, the Brothers decided they could best serve the hospital needs of Metropolitan Chicago by locating our modern new inter-community hospital at the corner of Biesterfield and Bisner Roads in Elk Grove Village. This central location will enable us to serve a wide inter-community suburban area. Those townships in the primary service area of the proposed new hospital include: Barrington, Elk Grove, Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling, and Bloomingdale and Addison townships in Northern DuPage County."

Brother Herman Joseph added, "As some of you know, the Congregation of Alexian Brothers have been serving the hospital needs of the Chicagoland area for over 96 years, caring for all patients regardless of race, religion, creed or ability to pay. Present records show that in the City of Chicago, the Alexian Brothers Hospital has given free medical care to over 65,000 patients."

ATTENDING the dinner held for the Superior General were Brother Arthur, C.F.A., head of the American Province of the Alexian Brothers; Brother Flavian; C.F.A., Superior; Brother Gregory, C.F.A., Administrator; and Brother Roderic, C.F.A., Secretary to Development Committee; all of Alexian Brothers Hospital.

Key leadership from the Alexian Brothers Hospital Building Fund Campaign included James J. Brennan, Acting General Chairman and Assistant General Solicitor, Prudential Insurance Company of America; James R. Gibson, Associate General Chairman and President of Elk Grove Village; William W. Shields, Hospital Employees Chairman, Personnel Director of Alexian Brothers Hospital; Fred H. Groen Jr., Area Chairman and President of Groen Manufacturing Company; Mrs. Harold A. Thompson, Elk Grove Village Women's Division Chairman; Gayle B. Bantner, Chairman of the Speakers Bureau and Manager of the Suburban Drug Company, Elk Grove Village; Frank Flick, Chairman for Bensenville and President of Flick-Reedy Corporation, Bensenville; and Anthony P. Ross, Addison Chairman and President of Addison Savings & Loan Association, Addison.

Other prominent guests were the Reverend J. Ward Morrison, Pastor, Queen of the Rosary Parish, Elk Grove Village, and Mrs. Richard McGrenera, President of the Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary in Elk Grove Village. (A14

Cured of Cancer; Arlington Boy To Head Crusade

A six-year-old Arlington Heights boy who has been cured of cancer will be one of two featured guests Monday at the 1963 Crusade Kickoff luncheon of the American Cancer Society's Illinois division.

Chosen as "Little Mr. Cancer Crusader of 1963" is Daniel Ondracek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ondracek Jr., 1000 Rand Road, Arlington Heights.

He will be introduced to 400 volunteer Crusade leaders at the Sherman Hotel luncheon by A. E. Patton, chairman of the Illinois division's board of directors.

SHARING BILLING with the boy will be Danley P. Slaughter, M.D., vice chairman of the division board and a clinical professor of surgery at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Young Ondracek is a living example of the hopeful side of cancer made possible by research, it was pointed out by Mrs. Frank Kolerus, executive secretary of the society's northwest suburban chapter.

"DANNY WAS cured of cancer at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago," Mrs. Kolerus said. "He heads the army of cancer volunteers all over the state."

Danny has an older sister, Cynthia. He attends kindergarten in Prospect Heights. His favorite pastimes are collecting insects and fishing.

Slogan for the 1963 Crusade is "Fight Cancer with a Checkup and a Check." (A-14

'Home' for 7 Police Target

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Seven children, the oldest of whom is 14, were found by police last Friday in an "unspeakably filthy" home. Several were coughing. Some had no shoes or insufficient clothing.

Their mother was found two hours later in a tavern.

Two knives were found near a crib, police said. Two boys were playing outside—one with no jacket and the other with no shoes—when officers arrived to investigate a shoplifting complaint.

Five of the children, the youngest of whom is 1 year old, were in charge of an 8-year-old girl who was truant from school. The two older children were missing.

THEY SAID they often fix their own meals because their mother sleeps until noon and sleep four or five in a bed because they don't have enough blankets.

Two of the children said they would like to be placed in a foster home because their mother, who said she worked, "does nothing for us kids." Welfare authorities took no immediate action. Police said they had received complaints about the house before but it was not thought critical enough to warrant any action. (A-14

Legislators Play Football With Public Aid Measures

From United Press International

The old political football of public aid is causing most of the fireworks as the Illinois legislature nears the end of its third month in session.

Center of attention is birth control, which has turned out to be the most politically-explosive item in the always-controversial aid program. IPAC Chairman Arnold Maremont successfully pushed for a commission-backed birth control program to try to stem the tide of illegitimate children who add to the Illinois relief rolls.

The program is slated to go into effect April 1, but an Illinois Senate committee took the first step in cutting the ground from under the program last week when it sent to the Senate floor a measure to bar birth control information and devices from all but married recipients.

MAREMONT has said that the married recipients make up only a small proportion of the recipients he wants under the program.

The aid program is also in the news on other fronts. One measure being considered would require that recipients have lived in Illinois for one year continuously and three of the previous nine years before getting aid.

Other bills would forbid taverns to cash public aid checks or sell liquor to recipients.

THE HOUSE of Representatives is considering a measure to appropriate $51.1 million to get the IPAC through the end of the fiscal two-year period June 30, but Republicans have said they want to lower the amount at least $4 million.

The IPAC, in an unprecedented session Monday, voted its opposition to proposals to put a ceiling on aid payments.

"Eight persons cannot live as inexpensively as four," the board of directors of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago chimed in as they announced their opposition also.

STATE Treasurer William J. Scott was the only IPAC board member favoring the ceiling.

Executive Secretary Harold O. Swank said aid ceilings would force the taxpayers to "pay an inevitable toll in later years in increased medical costs."

Maremont has termed the proposal "punitive" and "designed to injure the public aid program."

Reviewing other pending legislation, Swank pointed out that efforts to lengthen the residence requirement for reliefers would disqualify Illinois for Federal grants.

COMMISSION members clashed over a proposal to require caseworkers to report crimes directly to law enforcement officials. But they agreed to recommend a watered down version that would allow such reports via the commission chain of command.

Deerfield attorney Daniel Walker said he opposed laws "to turn caseworkers into law enforcement agents."

The commission was unanimous in opposing a bill sponsored by four House Republicans that would prevent reliefers other than the blind from voting.

"We as human beings should be outraged at this," Maremont said.

THE IPAC also announced this week the hiring of an education consultant firm to conduct a survey of adult education.

Secretary Swank said the Commission will pay about $9,000 or $10,000 to study the Cook County program and the possibilities for adult education down state.

"Our main concern is basic literacy," Swank said.

Purpose of the program would be to help reliefers become employable and independent of aid payments, he said. (A14

IEA Plans Annual Election of Its Division Officers

The annual "stockholders" meeting of the Lake Shore Division of the Illinois Education Association (IEA) is scheduled for Saturday, March 30.

Included in Section 1 of the division are about 1,600 teachers from Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg Townships.

HIGHLIGHT OF the meeting will be the election of division officers for 1963-64.

All members of the IEA and their guests have been invited to the meeting at the expense of the Lake Shore Division.

"This meeting offers the members an opportunity to see how the organization works to serve each teacher" was the comment of Miss VeVe Reich, program chairman for the division and a teacher in Mount Prospect School District 57.

SEEKING ELECTION to leading Lake Shore Division offices are two candidates from Section 1. They are Chester Raasch, principal of Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Naomi Allen, a classroom teacher in Mount Prospect.

Raasch is a candidate for president of the division. Mrs. Allen is seeking election as chairman of the division Welfare and Ethics Committee. (B8

Weller Creek Bill Prepared For State Assembly Action

by MELDA LYNN
Staff Writer

A bill to be presented to the current session of the General Assembly for ways and means of improving Weller Creek is being prepared as an outgrowth of the formation last week of the Weller Creek Action Council.

The council was formed Wednesday evening, following a meeting Tuesday called by the Metropolitan Sanitary District and attended by representatives of Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Rolling Meadows, as well as various county, state and private agencies concerned with solving creek problems.

President of the council is Des Plaines Mayor Herbert H. Behrel. Two Mount Prospect officials are vice presidents, Village President C. O. Schalver and Charles W. Payne, president of the Mount Prospect Park District.

OTHER OFFICERS include Vinton Bacon, superintendent of the sanitary district, first vice president; Harvey Klehm of the Weller Creek Drainage District, vice president; Justin Nelson, Arlington Heights village trustee, secretary and John J. Woods, mayor of Rolling Meadows, treasurer.

A not-for-profit corporation will be formed to handle the business of the council. The legal work of forming the corporation and for drafting the bill is being done by Jack M. Siegel, Arlington Heights village attorney.

Directors of the corporation will include the presidents of the four villages involved, Payne of the park district, Klehm and Bacon.

EACH OF the groups represented will be asked to contribute $250 annually for the work of the organization.

One objective of the council, as set forth in the by-laws which are under consideration, would be to "disseminate information and to promote public understanding of the problem of storm water drainage in the area."

(This has been one objective of Paddock Publications in trying to get the matter into the open for public discussion.)

EACH OF the public bodies which are members of the council will be permitted to appoint two members to represent it and will be entitled to two votes in deliberations of the group.

Objective of the legislation being drafted will be to approve and appropriate money for stages 2, 3, 4 and original stage 5 (which did not include covering a portion of the creek in Mount Prospect) of the state waterways plan for improvement of the creek to avoid flooding.

The park district has stated that its main interest is to see that its property, which consists of the entire reach 1 of stage 5, is not flooded. Their consulting engineer, William Bauer, has been asked to prepare recommendations so that this part of the job will not be simply widening, deepening and removing restrictions.

BAUER believes that beautification and actual improvement of the golf course and Weller Creek Park sections of the creek are possible.

The park board has stated that it recognizes and is completely willing to cooperate on the over-all flooding and health problems, but intends to protect the special interest of the park district taxpayers too.

Bauer said he would like to see the objectives of the council broadened from the development of Weller Creek as a storm drainage facility to both storm drainage and recreational or conservational use, with due attention being given in channel design to preservation or enhancement of existing aesthetic and recreational values.

BEHREL indicated to the Herald Monday that he was not too well pleased with the association of Bauer with the work of the council. He said there was "bad blood between Casey and Bauer and that the two were not getting along well."

Thomas B. Casey is chief waterways engineer for the state department of waterways.

Behrel said he believed the Mount Prospect Country Club made a natural retention basin for flood water.

BAUER, WHO made a report and plan for flood control for the Cook County Forest Preserve, has suggested a retention basin be made from land on the north side of Central Road where Weller Creek comes into Mount Prospect.

The land is owned by Salvatore DiMucci and earmarked for future development for light industry. (A&K

'Y' Extends Day Camp Program 2 More Weeks

Len Adams, director of Northwest Suburban YMCA Day Camp, announced this week that the "Y" Day Camp program will be extended from six weeks to eight weeks this summer because of the large attendance over the past several years.

Northwest Suburban "Y" Day Camp, now in its 10th season, has met the rigid camp standards of the YMCA as well as those of the American Camping Association, and its mature staff assures parents of the finest supervision possible in any program offered in this area.

IN SPITE OF its large size, day camp groups are kept small for better control and learning experience. Yet, the large camp enrollment provides many additional features which a small camp cannot.

The "Y" day camp is available for boys and girls 7-12 years of age and operates in 2-week periods four days per week (Tuesday through Friday) beginning June 25 and running through Aug. 16.

A special trip and dip program is also available on Mondays for those interested in a 5-day program.

CAMPERS ARE picked up by chartered bus each morning at points close to their homes and are taken to Deer Grove for outdoor activities. After lunch in the woods, the youngsters are brought to the "Y" for an afternoon of swimming and other activities, such as trampoline, archery, gym sports and rifle shooting. Here, there is never a worry about "weather."

The "Y" is backed by 79 years of experience in the camping field. Its day camp program is a stepping stone to resident camping, where children can spend a week or more away from home. Of these, Northwest suburban youngsters are welcome to attend either Hastings YMCA Camp at Lake Vilia or Kroehler YMCA Camp at Hayward, Wis.

The "Y" camping program is geared for each child's age and experience levels. Information on camping may be secured by calling the "Y" at CY 6-3376.

Reveals Unique Firefighting Plan

One of America's most unusual hospital fire-fighting and fire prevention plans was revealed at Lutheran General Hospital this week.

Lutheran General has been open since 1960. It is a modern, fireproof structure, but hospital spokesmen point out the danger of fire always exists.

Under the direction of Fire Chief Norman A. Brown of Park Ridge and in cooperation with the hospital administration, plans have been made to keep potential fires under control and to keep patients safe.

The plan differs from most hospital fire-fighting plans which call for a complete evacuation of patients.

"Our plan calls for keeping the patients in their rooms. We have found that this is the safest spot for them," explained Robert Hampton, personnel director, who helped set up the plan.

HAMPTON NOTED that in many hospital fires, more patients die from smoke and gas than from any other causes.

"At Lutheran General, each room is equipped with its individual ventilating system. By closing the fireproof door on each room, the patient is safe in his room," Hampton said.

Classes are conducted regularly for all employes of the hospital by Chief Brown. Since the hospital never closes, Brown is able to conduct classes at all hours of the day and night to help train employes. Each employe gets six hours of training a year.

In case of fire, the head nurse on each floor assumes command. Each employe who is on the floor at the time—whether this is his regular place of duty or not—remains where he is.

"OUR INSTRUCTIONS are basically simple," Hampton said. "They are designed to be as close to instinctive reaction as possible.

"It will take the Park Ridge fire department about three minutes to get to the hospital. Our fire-fighting is designed for these first few minutes."

The hospital has its own trained fire fighters. Under the direction of chief engineer Tom Smith, the hospital's "three-minute men" are equipped to handle fire-fighting duties until the fire department arrives.

Park Ridge firemen have gone through the hospital and are familiar with the layout of the corridors and rooms and with storage areas for chemicals and gases. (B8

THIS SCENE WILL be repeated seventy times in five states — since 71 institutions will receive gifts of radios from WLS, the result of thousand's of listener's contributions to the radio station's Christmas Neighbor's Club. Accepting radios on behalf of Maryville Academy, North River Road, in Des Plaines, from WLS president Ralph Beaudin, who resides at 301 N. Elmwood Lane, Palatine, are Palma Nesmith, 10, and Mark Wangler, 10, while Maryville Superintendent Rev. George C. Halpin, looks on approvingly. Started in 1935, more than $700,000 has been collected by WLS, with the funds used to purchase medical and recreational equipment for hospitals, children's homes, orphanages, etc., distributed to more than 1,000 institutions in seven states. All administrative costs in the 27-year-old program have been absorbed by WLS. (B8

School Honor Society Sets Initiation Fete

The Robert Frost Chapter of the National Honor Society of Forest View High School will hold its first initiation ceremonies Tuesday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Forest View Theater, according to Robert Staley, chairman of the faculty sponsors.

Receiving full membership certificates and pins will be 32 juniors. Also, 16 sophomores will be granted probationary membership and thus may apply next year for full membership in the society.

Talks from four Forest View faculty members will highlight the Tuesday evening program: Thomas Shirley, assistant principal, will speak on "Character;" Richard Stanowski of the guidance department will speak on "Service;" Miss Jane Mahin, head of the English department, will speak on "Scholarship;" and William Beckman, athletic director, will speak on "Leadership."

A RECEPTION for candidates and their parents will be held in the cafeteria after the initiation ceremonies. Refreshments will be served.

The National Honor Society is a student organization sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. It serves to honor those students who have shown outstanding traits in scholarship, character, leadership, and service. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are eligible for membership. (ACM-E

Ticket Driver After Mishap

A Wheeling man received a traffic ticket for following too close Friday after his auto crashed into the rear of another car at Foundry Road and Douglas Avenue, Arlington Heights.

According to Arlington Heights police, Ronald W. Robacki, 24, of 254 E. Wayne Place, Wheeling, drew the ticket when he rammed the stopped vehicle of Amelia D. Herigodt, 53, of 513 Shadywood, Elk Grove Village.

Both vehicles were westbound on Foundry. No injuries were reported. (ACM

Berlin Musical Based on 'Nothing'

In view of the pedigrees of most modern musical comedies, "Call Me Madam," the Irving Berlin hit presented by the Prospect High music department at the school's Little Theatre, April 4 - 6, is something of a rare bird.

Its story of the hilarious diplomatic career of a feminine ambassador to a European country of modest acreage is an original one — and based on absolutely nothing at all, director Sterline Mische points out.

It was written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse without adaptation from any previous novel or play — a distinct switch from the now usual practice of making musical comedy libretti from already established works of fiction in other forms.

Such notable hits of recent years as "Oklahoma," "South Pacific," "Carousel," "My Fair Lady," and "Carnival" were musicalizations of previous stories of long-standing popularity.

"Kiss Me Kate" was an adaptation drawn from Shakespeare, and based on his "Taming of the Shrew."

It is notable that "Call Me Madam" is based on a "real" rather than fictional incident.

Most observers feel the plot parallels the career of Perle Mesta, popular Washington D.C. hostess of the Truman administration, whose talent with the punch bowl won her the ambassadorship to Luxembourg.

Director Mische says Friday and Saturday performances are sold out, but good seats are still available for Thursday, April 4. Curtain is at 8 p.m. (ACM-E

Commission Will Study Annexation

Arlington Heights trustees last week referred to the plan commission a request to annex 100 acres of land located east of Buffalo Grove Road and south of Palatine Road.

Trustee Samuel Wit asked if it would be desirable for the village to annex land in this area.

VILLAGE MANAGER L. A. Hanson said the acreage "was in our plans" for eventual annexation. He noted the property owners have petitioned for annexation.

The board approved referring the matter to the plan commission 5-0. (A

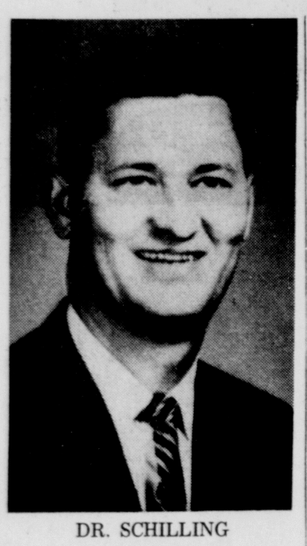
College President to Address YMCA Meeting

The Northwest Suburban YMCA will hold their 10th annual meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the YMCA building on Northwest Highway just east of Mt. Prospect Road in Des Plaines.

Dr. Arlo Schilling, president of North Central College will be the guest speaker for the evening, it was announced by Stephen Jurco, chairman of the annual meeting committee.

The meeting will also include the election of new officers and directors for the coming year and a 30 minute presentation of a regular YMCA radio show which is produced twice weekly over station WNWC-FM. Entertainers who will participate in this show include "The Tune-Ups," a barber shop quartet, Kim Schmidt, pianist, Karyl Jacobsen, singer and Walt and Dardanelle Hadley, who will sing and provide other novelty acts.



DR. SCHILLING

OTHER INTERESTING features of the program include a tribute and awards to the Women's Auxiliary and awards to Board of Directors who have completed ten years of service. These honored men include: Thomas M. Blake, Cleytus Day, Floyd T. Fulle, Walted Hansen, Charles Hodlmair, James R. Lawrence, Leonard Manuel, Kenneth G. Meyer, Harold Slichenmyer and Richard C. Wessell.

Stanley C. Amren, vice president of the Chas. Bruning Co., will retire after this meeting after three years of service as chairman of the YMCA Board of Directors. Membership has grown tremendously under his leadership.

"The Northwest Suburban YMCA started as a 'storefront' YMCA in October of 1953 and has grown to the largest full privilege membership branch YMCA in the world," said Charles McClellan, Executive Secretary.

The 'Y' building was opened in January, 1961. Expansion plans are being considered at the present time by the board of directors and will also be given some attention at the annual meeting.

"Those interested in attending this occasion are welcome," said McClellan. (B8

10 Persons Hurt in 3-Car Smash on Northwest Hwy.

A three-car collision late Friday evening on Northwest Highway near the CMA store resulted in injuries to 10 people.

Injured in the accident were: Ann Force, 18, of Frost and Ela Road, Palatine, pains of the left elbow; Michael Newcomb, 19, of 1818 N. Verde St., Arlington Heights, cut forehead, pains in arm and left side; Susan Field, 18, of 162 S. Benton St., Palatine, bump hematoma on forehead; William Maddocks, 17, of 1357 Virginia St., Palatine, lacerations to the face which will require plastic surgery.

ALSO, RICHARD Jamieson, 17, of 66 E. Heron Drive, Palatine, internal injuries, cracked rib, neck and shoulder pains; Rod Goben, 443 Basswood St., Hoffman Estates, bruised right elbow and abrasion of the right knee; Susan Hosimer, 18, of 506 Hilltop Road, Palatine, whiplash injuries; Judy Hosimer, 18, of 506 Hilltop Road, Palatine, whiplash injuries; and Belle Heinrichs, 18, of N. Oak St., Palatine, whiplash injuries.

All the injured were taken by ambulance to Northwest Community Hospital where they were treated and released with the exception of Jamieson.

Michael Newcomb, driver of a 1958 Chevy convertible which set off the collision was charged by Palatine police with reckless driving.

Police explained an Oldsmobile driven by Merle L. Hosimer, traveling east on Northwest Highway, slowed down with its left-turn signal on to turn left and go north on Hilltop Road. A 1958 Chevrolet convertible driven by Michael Newcomb also was traveling east on Northwest Highway in the outer lane. It swerved into the center lane to pass a car, not noticing the Hosimer vehicle. The Newcomb vehicle hit the Hosimer vehicle on its left rear side in a glancing blow, wrapping round the Oldsmobile. Losing control but still going forward, it went into the westbound lane to hit head-on a Ford convertible driven by Ann Force.

The force of this impact caused the car to spin out between the Force and the Hosimer vehicle, police surmise. In trying to avoid the Hosimer vehicle again, Newcomb hit Hosimer's Oldsmobile, straightened, and hit the Force convertible, according to police reconstruction of the accident.

Police suggest the Newcomb vehicle went into a double spin during the collision.

HOSIMER TOLD police he was going east on Northwest Highway and pulled into the inner lane to make a left turn at Hilltop Road. While waiting to turn onto Hilltop with his turn signals flashing, he heard tires squeal and was hit.

Newcomb told police he had attended a dance in Palatine and was headed for McDonald's hamburger restaurant. He was following a blue Oldsmobile for a short way as he traveled east slightly under 50 miles per hour. He decided to pass and went into the inner lane, saw a car stopped in front of him, and stepped on his brakes. The car started to slide and he hit the Hosimer vehicle.

Miss Force told police she was driving west on Northwest Highway after stopping at McDonalds. She had just passed two cars so was in the inner lane. Seeing the car going east with its turn signal on, she slowed down to make sure it did not turn in front of her. A car came around this vehicle and then hit her head-on, she said.

Three witnesses who were driving their cars in the immediate vicinity witnessed the accident. Three Palatine police cars responded to the accident call: Officer Frank Incaprero with an auxiliary, Robert Burris; Capt. Donald Foxworthy with Robert Lampert, an auxiliary; and Officer Gordon Moseby. Rolling Meadows police also were on the scene.

INJURED IN three-car collision last Friday on Northwest Highway await an ambulance to be taken to Northwest Community Hospital for treatment. Most seriously injured were William Maddocks, 1357 Virginia St., Palatine, being placed on a stretcher and Richard Jamieson, 66 E. Heron Drive, Palatine, lying covered with dark blanket. (A

School Site Up for Sale

High School District 214 (Arlington, Forest View and Prospect) wants to sell a 40-acre tract at Hintz and Buffalo Grove Roads.

The school board has decided it will not use the site for the building of a high school.

Located at the northwest corner of Hintz and Buffalo Grove Roads, the parcel is in the northern part of the district. At the time of purchase several years ago the school board felt a future school would be needed in this area. With the purchase of two additional sites north of Palatine Road, the board would like to have another school located farther to the west.

THE NEW Wheeling High School is being built at the corner of Hintz and Route 83. This is about one mile from the Buffalo Grove site.

The district also is buying a site at the corner of Dundee and Arlington Heights Roads.

A price of at least $5,000 per acre has been set on the property. The 40 acres in the parcel is the suggested size for all high schools built in the district.

By state law, the property must be sold at auction.

The school administration indicated there has been a show of interest in the property in the past few weeks.

The district also owns 66 acres in the Wheeling Industrial Park area which is also for sale.

DAMAGE TO TWO CARS involved in a three car collision last Friday night on Northwest Highway shows severity of the accident. Car on left, a Ford convertible driven by Ann Force, Frost and Ela Roads, Palatine, was hit head-on by the Chevrolet cenvertible, right, driven by Michael Newcomb, 1818 N. Verde St., Arlington Heights. (A (H

Local Musicians Win Honors in State Meet

High School District 214 students competing in the Illinois State Music Contest recently at Elgin High School won 13 superior awards.

Prospect High School had six entries earn the top award. They were flutists Sue Williams and saxophonist Cheryl Watson; a woodwind quintet (Sue Williams, Judy Henderson, Judy Junkunc, Mark Yount, and Dan Albano); a brass sextet (Don Feige, Bob Koopman, Mark Yount, Wayne Karge, Merrikay Borman and John Higgins); and a drum quartet (Bob Rush, Tom Davis, Bob Gottschalk, and Bob Keck).

Arlington's "superior" awards went to baton soloist Jim Hallett; a woodwind trio (Sandra Schultheis, Nancy Ervo, and John Colombe); a woodwind quintet (Martha Sorgatz, Nancy Ervo, John Colombe, Rita Sauve, and Terry Sesterhenn); and a baton ensemble (Joan Kastning, Kathy Kastning, Nan Rathsam, and Karen Lawler).

THREE Forest View entries were adjudged "superior" also. They were Paul Ukleja, trumpet solo; Bill Fredler, trumpet solo; and Ruth Clifford, clarinet.

"Excellent" awards went to Prospect students Dave Marcy, trumpet; Dave Summers, trombone; Wayne Karge, trombone; Bob Rush, snare drum; Norman Schmidt, baritone horn; Judy Henderson, oboe; Gayle Travers, piano; and Cathy Tarrant, clarinet.

Ensembles including Mike Embry, Bob Johns, Albert Worrell, Norman Schmidt, Dave Summers and Warren Rogers (brass sextet); Cheryl Watson, Bobbie Kijak, Earl Quist, and Bob Mott (saxophone quartet); Debbie Larson and Judy Vlcek (flute duet); and Cathy Tarrant and James Brasic, (clarinet and flute duet).

ARLINGTON students winning "excellent" awards were Peggy White, cello; Larry Bulinski, French horn; Diane Jaques and Rae Sanders (baton duet); Bob Schuldt, Leanna Davis, Sue Bauer (saxophone trio); and Dennis Sullivan, Tom Garasha, Bruce Yates, Mack Borgen, Rita Suave, Larry Bulinski, Tom Dunham, Bill Sturtevant, Bill Faust, and Terry Sesterhenn (brass choir).

Also "Excellent" were Forest View students Abby Carter, flute; Ann Brace, Beth Peebles, and Abbye Carter (flute trio).

Trustee Hopeful Says

Local Retail Trade Benefits Community

Residents' full support of local businessmen might result in a $100,000 increase in village income, it was pointed out this week by John J. Walsh Jr., 404 E. Marshall St., a candidate for village trustee.

"Not all citizens realize that their support of Arlington Heights businesses is directly related to the quantity and quality of village services," Walsh said.

Last year over $1½ million in sales tax was collected here, the village receiving $200,000 as its share, Walsh noted.

"ABOUT 25 per cent of the village budget is based on expected sales tax revenue which comes from the business volume of local merchants," he added.

Walsh is a member of the five-man Caucus Party ticket. The Caucus is unopposed for the April 16 village election.

Other trustee candidates are Eugene F. Schlickman, 712 N. Fernandez Ave., an incumbent, Carl F. Mees, 408 E. Euclid, and George C. Beacham Jr., 1516 N. Kennicott Ave.

CAUCUS CANDIDATE for police magistrate is Robert Buckley, 222 N. Derbyshire, who is seeking re-election.

Walsh is president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Northwest Firestone Store, 630 W. Northwest Highway.

He said an increase in sales tax revenue would permit a great many more village improvements "without raising real estate taxes and submitting bond issues."

HE CONCLUDED: "Not only will an increased sales volume add to the tax funds directly available to the village, but it will also aid expansion of existing businesses and attract new businesses which will increase the total assesed valuation.

"The broader the asessed valuation, the narrower real estate tax bills we'll have." (A

His Boss Gets A Big Surprise

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

When the draftsman submitted his resignation, his employer found he was the vocalist he had been listening to on his morning drive to work in the Loop.

Tony Giamberdino, known professionally as Tony Dino, of 221 Western St., Hoffman Estates, recently became staff singer on the Mal Bellairs Show on WBBM radio station. Giamberdino sings on the show at 7:15 a.m. and 7:40 a.m.; on the "Joe Foss Show" at 7:30 a.m. and on "The Music Wagon" at 9:10 a.m. This show is one of the two live shows done on radio in Chicago.

Giamberdino got the job as staff vocalist after an open audition at WBBM. The vocalist who sings popular songs learned about the audition through a mention in a columnist's column. "I really didn't feel like going to that audition but I went, admitted the singer.

Giamberdino taped two songs twice, once with piano and once with band accompaniment. Before the final decision to hire him was made, Giamberdino appeared on the live show for three days.

"What Kind of a Fool Am I" and "Long Lost Love" were the two songs Giamberdino used in his audition.

THE RADIO singing job has meant the young singer is able to be in the singing field on a fulltime basis.

Besides his radio singing job, Giamberdino sings with a band at Al Farber's Tree room on has been a featured vocalist for a year. He has appeared with the Lou Diamond and Lou Brese orchestras as well as with Buddy DeCore.

Always interested in music, Giamberdino got his real start in the service when he was taken out of the infantry and put in the special services division to entertain at camps in the Pacific. Prior to his military service, he had been a pre-dental student studying at Wright Junior College and the University of Illinois' Navy Pier branch.

WHEN HE decided to try for a musical career, Giamberdino studied music at the Chicago Conservatory under Dick Marks' coaching.

The vocalist considers the radio job "the most significant break" he has had but he also got a push when he won a week's engagement at the Chez Paree and a trip to Hollywood as a result of winning on the Mike Douglas Showcase talent show. "That meant a lot of interviews on shows and got my name more well known," Giamberdino commented.

Giamberdino cut a record under a Dot label using songs which a songwriter friend, Eddie Mascari, who also lives in Hoffman Estates, wrote for him Wednesday evening where he

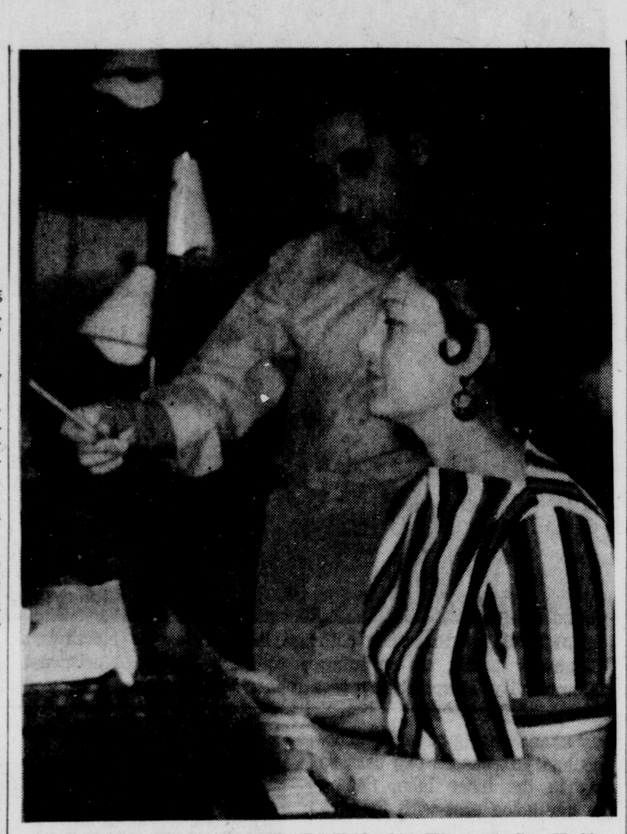
The father of three children, he practices at home as well as at his studio. His wife, Renee who is a coloratura soprano for the Chicago Municipal Opera works with him. "We both benefit from each other's criticism," said Mrs. Giamberdino. She pointed out "Tony's greatest forte is singing as an entertainer and he can help me with my musical comedy engagements."

"THE MORE you do the better it is and you should try different things," advocated the dark-haired singer. He hopes to do more recordings, some musical comedy, and other club engagements. To further his musical study, he would like to take piano lessons.

Because of his family Giamberdino has avoided road singing engagements. "I enjoy my family and children too much," he admitted. He has never considered moving to New York City and decided West Coast opportunities would not be much greater than those in Chicago.

"Chicago is a hard place to break into because bands become fewer every year and supper clubs tend to choose female vocalists or use a band member doubling as male vocalist," Giamberdino said.

While his neighbors know he is singing for a living, they do not urge him to entertain them at parties, Giamberdino said. At a dance where there is a band "I'll get up to do a few numbers," he added. But on Western Street he is just a neighbor with great interest in music.



VOCALIST TONY GIAMBERDINO, 221 Western St., Hoffman Estates, who recently took a step upwards on the ladder of success with a staff singer job on radio station WBBM, practices with his wife, Renee who is a coloratura oprano. The couple thinks each gets value from the other's musical skill. (A14

Long Grove Plans Letter Campaign

Some 200 Long Grove residents filed into Kildeer School gymnasium Monday night to view maps of proposed alternate routes of Illinois 53 expressway which will pass through the village.

President Robert Coffin sketched the lines on maps after studying the various routes being considered by the state highway department.

The Long Grove master plan called for the expressway to be routed east of Arlington Heights Road, along the village and school district boundaries.

Early plans of the highway department indicated the road would closely parallel Illinois 83, west of Arlington Heights Road. When the state officials included a number of alternate routes in their studies, including several through westerly portions of the village, residents protested.

The final highway department recommendations will be revealed at a public hearing, expected to be held within the next few weeks.

Meanwhile, Long Grove residents plan to push for a preferred route with a concerted letter writing campaign to senators, representatives and highway department officials. (B8

Seek to Extend Coverage Of Fair Employment Law

by BERNARD PESKIN
State Representative
Sixth District

An amendment to the Fair Employment Practices Commission Act should be called up for a House vote within the next few weeks. It was approved by the Executive Committee two weeks ago after a lengthy hearing.

When we passed FEP two years ago, a compromise was worked out with regard to the size of the employers who would come under the law. It was decided that initially, only those who employ 100 or more people would come under FEPC. Then on Jan. 1, 1963, the figure would be reduced to 75. And on Jan. 1, 1964 it would be reduced further, to 50, and remain there.

The sponsor accepted this as a compromise, because for 18 years we had been trying to pass the basic law and had been unsuccessful. Illinois, the home state of the Great Emancipator, FEP. The last of the industrial states to adopt the principle of FEP. The las of the industrial states to say that a man has a right to be judged on his ability rather than the color of his skin or what church he attends.

THE NEW amendment seeks to bring under the Act all employers of 10 or more people. Many proponents attended the committee hearings. Representatives from virtually every religious denomination approved the bill. Many social and welfare organizations spoke for it.

Two opponents testified. The State Chamber of Commerce and an attorney representing several other segments of the business and industrial community.

They said no case had been made out showing the need for the reduction. They said it would be expensive. In saying both of these, they contradicted themselves.

IF NO GREAT need exists, there will be no large increase in the caseload. Therefore, the few additional cases of discrimination can be handled at no great increase in cost. The large cost increase would come about only if there is a substantial caseload increase. This in itself will be proof of the need.

But the important feature is this. The State Chamber of Commerce has done a magnificent job in cooperating with the Commission. The Chamber has itself undertaken the burden of educating its membership. The member companies of the Chamber themselves have been more than cooperative and deserve high commendation.

There have been no cases of harassment by the Commission. Out of over 100 cases to date, all but one has been disposed of through the conference procedure. There has been voluntary compliance in all these cases. This is indicative of acceptance of the principle of FEP by virtually everyone in Illinois.

BUT IF discrimination is bad then it is as bad when practiced by an employer of 10 or 20 or 30 people as when it is practiced by an employer of more than 75 people. This is the crux of the problem. If we are against it, then we should be against it —and not conditionally.

It is the philosophy of our times that discrimination is bad. That discrimination is responsible to a large degree for our swelling public aid rolls. It is my philosophy too.

A little discrimination is like being a little bit pregnant. Either you are or you aren't. Either you discriminate or you don't. Either you are against discrimination or you are for it. Either you want to let a man hold up his head and be judged on his merits or you don't. This is the issue. There is no other. (B8

Not Career-Minded

Educated Women Still Want Marriage: Study

THURS., MAR. 28, 1963

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—A recent study indicates that the goals of most scholastically able women have not shifted from marriage to a career as popularly believed, a University of Wisconsin counselor said recently.

Prof. Lewis E. Drake, director of the UW Student Counseling Center, said the study showed only a small percentage of women entering the university chose career goals that would challenge their potential ability. For example only five per cent picked medicine for a career and only one per cent law, he said.

DRANKE SAID this indicates women are not as career-minded as was believed and are not utilizing their full capacities.

Dranke said the study also showed that more "low potential" women finished college than men of the same probable ability, even though tests showed that among the students surveyed, both sexes were of about equal mental ability.

Dranke said the survey showed only 16 per cent of the women entering college came from the lower half of their high school graduating class, and 58 per cent came from the top quarter of the class. By contrast, the percentages for men in the same categories were 37 and 32 per cent respectively, he said.

THE SURVEY was conducted through an examination of records of 7,481 young men and women who entered Wisconsin colleges in the fall of 1952.

The survey is contained in a recently published book entitled "Promise and Performance: A Study of Ability and Achievement" by John G. Darley, Center for the Study of Higher Education, University of Wisconsin. (A14

Tax Lid, Judicial Reform Among Hot State Issues

From United Press International

After a bitter floor fight, the Ilinois House this week beat back an attempt to bring a bill to place a property tax ceiling on the Chicago corporate tax rate from the committee to the floor for action.

Leading the losing faction which tried to discharge the municipalities committee from further consideration of the bill was first-term Rep. Raymond J. Kahoun, R—Chicago.

He said real estate taxes have risen in Chicago forcing industry to locate outside the city limits.

The judicial reform amendment—or rather the implementation of the amendment—continued to stir the lawmakers.

THE HOUSE judicial committee postponed consideration of bills to get salaries of appellate and circuit court justices under the new judicial article at the State Constitution.

Postponement came after a sharp exchange of words between acting committee chairman William E. Pollack, R—Chicago, and Rep. Paul Elward, D—Chicago.

Pollack asked for a one-week postponement because he said he had received a call from Rep. Peter Granata, R—Chicago, who said some judges wanted to testify in connection with the bills.

ELWARD THEN said, "It is significant that the judges should choose to remain anonymous when this matter affects their pocketbooks."

An amendment to a bill prohibiting election of police magistrates in cities of 10,000 or less was beaten down in the House.

The amendment, proposed by Republican whip Ralph Smith of Alton, would have included only cities of 7,000 or less in the bill.

A BILL to provide that each of the state's 235 lawmakers be paid $2,500 each regular session for expenses was introduced. The money would be for hotels, meals, secretarial services and other expenses.

The total bill is for an appropriation of $587,500. Gov. Otto Kerner in 1961 vetoed a bill which would have given legislators pay raises of $2,000 each.

The House passed controversial bills to extend the Fair Employment Practices Act to take in all employers hiring 10 or more workers and to prohibit integration of fire and police departments.

Both bills go to the Senate where they are expected to run into stiff opposition from Republicans.

THE MEASURE to lower the limitations of the FEPA passed by a vote of 100-49. The law in effect covers firms with 75 or more employees, with the limit scheduled to drop to 50 in 1965.

The measure to prohibit police-fireman integration affects only downstate communities with populations of 12,000 or more.

In other action the House sent from first to second reading a bill forming a state crime commission and sent from first to second reading a GOP bill to place a legal ceiling on payments to relief recipients.

OTHER measures introduced this week were bills to:

—provide that regular primary election days be legal holidays;

—authorize local governmental bodies to construct and maintain community mental health facilities and authorize the extension of a tax of .1 per cent to cover the cost, subject to referendum;

—allow permanent assignment of automobile registrations and provide for the use of decals as evidence of annual registration;

—extend the social security insurance program to state employees;

—prohibit the use of trading stamps, coupons, or certificates in connection with the sale of any goods.

To Raise Employment

Attack on Illiteracy Urged by Gov. Kerner

(UPI)—Gov. Otto Kerner said Saturday Illinois must increase efforts to raise employment by reducing illiteracy.

"It is shocking that illiteracy stands as a serious, major problem" at a time of universal free public education, Kerner said in remarks prepared for delivery at a governor's conference on literacy and learning in Chicago.

"So acute is the dependence of employability on the possession of basic educational skills," Kerner said, that the state must intensify training not only of school dropouts but also of "educationally deficient adults."

KERNER said: "Our schools have been overburdened. They have been asked to do an impossible job. . . . we are here at this conference to assist and supplement the work of our school system in motivating and educating the youth who have failed to attain literacy and basic educational skills."

The governor called for more person - to - person teaching and deeper personal relationships between educators and dropouts as a means of combating illiteracy.

Kerner said recent studies have shown "the rate of delinquency among dropout youth is at least 10 times higher than among the large majority of youth who stay in school."

Kerner said a "two-fold strategy" is required:

1) "We must have the realistic possibility of jobs for our disadavntaged youth if they are to be motivated to stay in school or return to school."

2 "We must give these young persons the basic educational skills if we are to make it possible for them to acquire and hold jobs." (A14

Thinks Dental Drill Will Become Obsolete

NEW ORLEANS, (UPI)—The fearsome dentist's drill may one day be only a bad memory, an Illinois dentist said Saturday, for dentists eventually will eliminate tooth decay through preventive medicine.

In the future, said Dr. Maury Massler of the University of Illinois Dental School, more emphasis will be placed on diseases of the gums and more perfect development of the teeth.

Eventually, the internationally known expert on childrens' dental care said, the dentist will be able to put aside his drilling equipment.

BUT DR. MASSLER did not imply that the drill was an instrument of torture.

"Drilling has been painless for years. If there is pain, it is in your mind," he said.

He added that his profession has not yet learned to solve one of its major problems — fear of the dentist. He said such fear in adults generally could be traced to childhood.

Dr. Massler said children should be brought to a dentist about 2½ to 3 years of age, before there is any need for drilling, "and they will have no fear of the dentist.

"Take him in after there is a need for drilling," Dr. Massler said, "and you make a sufferer out of him." (A14

Leaders Show More Tolerance: Study

MADISON, WIS. (UPI)—A recent study by the University of Wisconsin Survey Resey Research Laboratory has indicated that community leaders are more tolerant to unorthodox and unpopular ideas, less authoritarian, more anti - segregationists and less likely to feel that textbooks should be screened for communist ideas than the average citizen, the university reported Monday.

Under a grant from the UW urban program, Profs. Harry Scoble, political science, and Robert Alford, sociology, conducted the study in Green Bay, Madison, Kenosha and Racine.

WHILE 80 per cent of the community leaders voted in the April, 1962, city election, the report said, less than 50 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots in the polling.

The leader groups proved more likely to perceive conflict in both city government and school affairs, possibly because they were better informed and more active in these areas, the report stated. (A-14

From Clara Comstock, Sparks, Oklahoma: I remember when we were in the "little room" of Uniontown (Ark.) school, all of us lined up outside the door, ready to march in when the bell rang. Prim Miss Tessie stood at the door to see that we behaved, her white waist with a gold watch pinned on her bosom, and a black skirt almost touching the floor, her hair upswept (bet she had a "rat" in it) and her starched petticoat's "swishing" as she walked.

"Let's see, we're starting fractions today," she'd say as she halved and quartered an apple to explain them. Each grade would march up to the front seats to recite, while the other grades studied. She'd have us stand in a line to spell, and if you could spell a word after someone missed it, you could move ahead of them in the line. When you reached the head of the line, you were given a "tally" and started again at the foot of the class. Miss Tessie gave prizes for the most "tallies" at the end of the week. It was usually a silk hair ribbon for the girls, a pocket knife for the boys. I treasure among my souvenirs a frayed red flowered ribbon I won.

Miss Tessie would get up little "plays" for every occasion. We had little red hatchets for George Washington's birthday, and made little log cabins for Lincoln's. Everyone became quite anxious when she began picking children to be in one of her "plays."

WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY
My "retirement years" are just what I always hoped they would be. I knew that complete idleness would not bring contentment for me and I hit on the idea of making a paying proposition out of my hobby. I ran a small Want Ad in Paddock Publications announcing my skills at woodworking. Thanks to that ad I have all the jobs I can handle. My wife keeps reminding me that I'm supposed to be retired, and I tell her I am enjoying life and that is what retirement is supposed to mean. It is true "Want Ads Are For Everybody."

Money that stands up to be counted

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically—and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put so much of their savings in the hands of our government, in U.S. Savings Bonds.

This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion—an all-time high.

And because savers can get their money back, with accumulated interest, when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of U.S. savers and their families.

Your dollars in U.S. Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted — by freedom's friends and foes alike — as a measure of the strength of our country and our people. Help keep yourself and your country strong by regular buying of U.S. Savings Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from your bank.

Quick facts about U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

• You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bond matures • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed • You can get your money anytime • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

For S. Belmont Ave. Block:

Bad Street Shoulders Can't Be Helped, Says Contractor

Until nature takes its course, residents in the 1400 block on south Belmont Avenue will have to endure muddy street shoulders and a less-than-perfect roadway.

Paddock Publications last week received reports from homeowners who complained their mail service was being stopped because of the condition of the street's shoulders.

They also complained of the status of the street itself.

"This situation cannot be helped," explained John W. Reddy of Nottingham Developers, Inc., the building firm which dug up the street last fall to install sewer lines.

"Our responsibility was to put the road back into its original condition. We have accomplished this.

"The halting of mail delivery was prompted by the muddy condition of the road shoulders —not the condition of the street. We acted last week to correct the shoulder situation."

REDDY SAID his contractor relocated mail boxes on Belmont, moving them closer to the center of the street to make them accessible to mailmen.

He pointed out that dirt fill in the road's shoulders must be allowed to settle. In another 30 days, he estimated, he will dump more dirt onto the shoulders. After further settling, he will provide still more fill.

"We've done everything it is possible to do to alleviate this condition," Reddy said. "Now it's a matter of time."

HE NOTED THE sewer lines were placed 26 feet underground, and that "all you can do is put the dirt back in and give it a chance to settle."

Rolland Bradley, Elk Grove Township highway commissioner, said he intends to resurface the street this summer when all settling is complete.

The 1400 block of S. Belmont is not within the bounds of Arlington Heights. It is an unincorporated area.

Now residents will have to wait for appropriate settling of the street and shoulder fill. But they have the builder's and highway commissioner's promises that the street will be eventually returned to its original condition. (A & (E

Easement Request Denied by School

A request for a storm-sewer easement along the south property line of Forest View High School was denied by the school board of High School District 214 Monday.

The request was made by the Village of Arlington Heights on behalf of Carl Klehm who has property to be developed in the area adjacent to the school.

THE REASON cited for refusing the easement was the concern of the board that the proposed 42-inch storm sewer would drain into the school's storm drainage swail and retention basin. The swail and retention basin around the perimeter of the school property were constructed last fall as a temporary measure pending an area-wide drainage solution.

The swail and retention basin were not designed to permit excess waters from other properties to flow into the swail, board members indicated. At present there is no outlet for the retention basin. Board members pointed out any excess flow of water into this basin would mean a chance of overloading the system and flooding the school area.

The board stated the matter would be reconsidered after a solution is found for the disposal of storm water in the drainage swail.

COMPOUNDING THE PRESCRIPTIONS NEWS

A speech specialist says that if someone won't listen to you . . . don't talk. If the other person isn't lending you an ear, you might just as well be trying to use a pitchfork to fill a pail with water. In other words, it's useless. The way this word juggler sees it, when we talk we're usually trying to "sell" something to the other fellow. And we're so busy plugging what we want him to believe that we're ignoring his side.

Conversation is a two-way street, this expert reminds us, and "the only way to get something across to someone who won't listen is to listen to him." That sounds diplomatic . . . and it sounds like common sense. When we know what the other fellow wants and what he's thinking, then we know how to approach him. Maybe that's why we have two ears and only one mouth.

A tired looking fellow dropped in to say, "A conference is a group of people who can do nothing individually, but who meet collectively to agree unanimously that nothing can be done."

Our claim is "SOMETHING CAN BE DONE" in the way of giving our customers the best possible health service in compounding your prescriptions. YOUR interest is OUR prime concern.

Houser Names Captains-at-Large

Thomas J. Houser, Wheeling Township Republican committeeman, announced this week the creation of three new positions to supplement the regular precinct captain organization.

Appointed as precinct captains-at-large were Greoge Coker, Bruce Ladd and Joseph Tolson, all of Arlington Heights and all presently serving on the Committeeman's Advisory Staff.

Coker, of 1611 N. Ridge Ave., is president of the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club and is campaign chairman for the Cook County Young Republican Organization.

LADD, OF 815 N. Dunton Ave., is a member of the board of directors of the Wheeling Township Regular Republican Club, vice president of the YR club and chairman of the YR program committee.

Tolson, of 1830 N. Kennicott Ave., is immediate past president of the YR club and co-chairman of the Teenage Republican (TAR) Club in the township.

"The at - large captains will serve in specific areas as the need arises," Houser said.

'Music Man' Production Is Marked by Excellent Voices

by JIM PHILLIPS
Drama Critic

Talk about obstacles.

The Illinois and Indiana State basketball championships were on TV. So were the Black Hawks. (These facts aren't conducive to guaranteeing a full house of male theatregoers.)

Meredith Wilson's "Music Man" has become as well-known as "greasy kid stuff." Forest View High School's theatre is a new experience for the Music On Stage, Inc. organization. "Music Man," despite its simplicity of plot is a tough banana to peel from the technical standpoint. In the minds of thousands, Robert Preston is the Music Man.

Nevertheless, MOS, stage sword in hand, took to the frightening forest of "Music Man's" challenges last Saturday evening, and slew the dragons—but didn't come out of the fray without sporting some nasty gashes here and there.

TAKING EVERYTHING into consideration including the surprise of having a good crowd out front, it was one of those screwball nights again. Some things were so good, you kept wondering why other things should be so bad.

MOS's "Music Man" was a great success from the vocal standpoint, thanks to the fine voices the company continues to possess. LaVerne Juhl and Robert E. Clarke were well-chosen for their roles, although Mr. Clarke would do better to keep his ad-libs at a minimum "Pat Conway, John Philip Sousa and Liberace!"). Miss Juhl has a facility for keeping herself natural and appealing.

For this reason, "Goodnight My Someone" and "My White Knight" were a pleasure to listen to. Mr. Clarke succeeded in making much of his audience forget Bob Preston. And that's quite a feat.

DICK BLAKE'S Mayor Shin was in good taste, but I noticed he couldn't keep himself from sounding like Paul Ford.

Ironically, this seemed to be to his favor. Sally Rose Hausman was hilarious as Mrs. Shin, but she needed more volume to reach those in the back rows of the theatre. Vel Harris was a warm and convincing Mrs. Paroo. Miss Harris made excellent use of Irish brogue, but the make-up department could have made more use of the age factor with few added wrinkles here and there.

As Marcellus Washburn, Jack Wassmer was relaxed and funny, and when it came time for "Shipoopi" he had it wrapped up in the palm of his hand.

I found Beth Vandenboom and Dave Lindemann delightful and Pat Ryan thoroughly hissable, as well he should have been.

In the barbershop quartet department, Lee Hanson, Dan Depert, Bob Altergott and Hal Fredericks did their best to overcome the "Buffalo Bills" reputation, and although they didn't really sport a true cornblend of barbershop, their voices seemed well-matched to the task at hand. "Lida Rose" was their best effort.

MOS'S CAST and chorus and dancers were much improved in this show, probably because they enjoyed what they were doing. And that brings us to a big trouble spot.

Again—the orchestra, which, like in MOS's last show, just couldn't handle the score. The strings were not in tune, the trumpets tried to hit notes that they obviously couldn't hit, and I'm still wondering why, in general, the orchestra is composed of all that brass, with just three violins and only one reed.

Surely, there must be enough talent in the Paddock area to fill the orchestral part requirements, as well as create an instrumental balance. Conductor William Cotsakis and his pianist, wife Pat, will continue to get neuritis of the arm and chipping of the fingernails respectively if they aren't given more enthusiasm and cooperation in attempting to interpret musical scores.

At this point, since Music On Stage schedules only one show per year, I would suggest that the orchestra be rehearsed on the music (without regard for the technical aspects of fitting the score to the play) an entire three to four months before actual line rehearsals begin.

IN "MUSIC MAN" there was a noticeable fear of musically speaking out during "Seventy-Six Trombones," and the complete inadequacy of the orchestra during the "Marion, the Librarian" number contradicted the fine choreography and splendid cooperation of the performers (especially Miss Juhl and Mr. Clarke). The overture to the show was as dead as the finale was bewildering.

In the costume and scenery department, MOS continued to shine brightly. There's a lot of sewing and painting talent in the production staff.

In general (so who needs to be specific at this point?), this show has to be considered an improvement for Music On Stage. It is a continual mystery to me, however, how a group with so many fine singers and dancers (and I'm sure capable musicians if and when they let loose!) has so many unsolved problems.

Stage Director Tom Ventriss did an exceptionally fine job in organization and staging, which shows that the MOS group will work for a single director toward a single goal. But too many unnecessary bugs keep crawling out of the production woodwork—and the mystery is not where they come from, it's why.

ONE FINAL, fleeting word. I'd be missing the musical boat if I didn't usher in a few happy words about two members of the cast: Julie Cassel (Amaryliss) who was a real charmer and an excellent student of piano-faking.

And Gary Douglas (Winthrop), who in the middle of "Gary, Indiana" ran into a bit of lyric-remembering trouble, but nevertheless, picked himself up like a real trouper and came forth with even more vocal fervor to finish his bit in true professional style. Julie and Gary can be very proud of their performances. (Bill

Masque and Staff to Give 'The Rainmaker'

Comedy, drama, romance — all can be seen in "The Rainmaker" which opens this week under the auspices of the Elk Grove Masque and Staff drama group.

The three-act play by N. Richard Nash will be presented at Dempster Junior High school on March 29 and 30 and April 5 and 6.

The story of "The Rainmaker" concerns the Curry family, the father and his two sons and daughter, who live on a ranch in the west during a time of severe drought.

The daughter, Lizzie, faces the prospect of becoming an old maid, despite the many attempts of her family to correct this situation, until a "rainmaker" appears on the scene.

A FAST-TALKING con man, the rainmaker is also a dreamer and philospher whose insight into Lizzie's predicament has a profound effect on the life of every member of the Curry family.

The play has been directed by Shirley Johnson, who with her husband, Bob, was one of the founding members of the Elk Grove Village community theater group. This play marks the eighth production she has directed for Masque and Staff.

Producer of the play is Liz Brodersen who has had the responsibility of overseeing all the technical and promotional aspects of the production.

DEMPSTER Junior High school, where all four performances will be held, is located on Dempster Street one - half mile west of Route 83. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained by calling HE 7-2228 or at the door.

IN THIS SCENE from Masque and Staff's production of "The Rainmaker," a self-proclaimed rainmaker with a glib tongue tries to convince his unwilling hostess, Lizzie Curry, that her family should accept his deal — to bring rain for $100 — while the rest of the cast listens to his spiel. The cast includes (l. to r.) Bob Johnson as Noah Curry; Fred Brodersen, Jim Curry; Sollace Hotze, Lizzie Curry; Guy Marsh, File, the Sheriff's assistant; Jim Spahr, the rainmaker Bill Starbuck; Guy Kowalski, H. C. Curry; and Earl Marshall, the Sheriff. Bill

Band Ready For Spring Rehearsals

"We have a new conductor, modern and new rehearsal facilities, and we have put together an excellent band. With the fine start we've made, we anticipate an excellent season," stated Paul P. Siegert, 258 N. Lytle Drive, Palatine, in reference to the Palatine-Northwest Community Band.

Spring rehearsals for the group began March 20 at 8 p.m. in the Forest View High School band room under the conduction of Fred O. Elliot, band director at Forest View, explained Siegert, president of the group.

THE BAND, composed of 40 members, has been active in the northwest area for the last five seasons.

Rehearsals will be held each Wednesday in preparation for a series of Friday evening concerts during the summer in Palatine Park.

Junior Play Is April 5, 6

"The Curious Savage" by John Patrick, junior class play of Lake Park High School, will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6, in the school's auditorium.

Cast members for the 3-act comedy include Linda Schimmel, Rose Ann Spiezio, Mike Thomas, Judith Bieschke, Donna Hayden and Richard Canady. Also Nick Esser, Charles Proesel, Carrol Auriemmo, Mike Hovde and Diann Quatraro.

Kathleen Krieger is the stage manager. (Bill

Irish Artist Will Talk on Portraits

Vincent L. O'Connor, portrait artist from Ireland, will give a demonstration and lecture on portrait painting at the next meeting of the Countryside Art Center, according to Helen Anderson, program chairman of the art group.

The meeting will be held Thursday, April 4, at 8 p.m. in the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse in Arlington Heights.

O'Connor received his art education at the National School of Art in Dublin, Ireland, and studied under Sir William Orpen, English portraitist, and Sir James Ward, colorist.

HE HAS spent his lifetime teaching—in Ireland, at the University of Notre Dame, and in the Chicago public schools. Although he is now retired, he continues to teach in his own studio and at the Palette and Chisel Academy in Chicago.

In addition to oil painting, O'Connor also works with watercolor and pastels, doing portraits, landscapes, and still-life scenes.

His work has been exhibited widely and has been shown at the Hoosier Salon, All-Illinois, and the Palette and Chisel Academy where he recently received a silver medal for his pastel work entitled "Monsier."

NOW A RESIDENT of Elmhurst, the Irish artist has given many demonstrations and lectures on portrait painting.

The Countryside Art Center meeting featuring O'Connor will be open to the public. Pioneer Park is located at 500 S. Fernandez St. (Bill

Church Choir to Sing Brahms Work

Brahm's choral work, "Ein Deutsches Requeim" (a German Requiem,) will be presented at 8 p.m. April 10 at the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, 302 N. Dunton Ave.

Mrs. Paul J. Roy and Richard Schreiber will appear as soprano and baritone soloists, with the Presbyterian chancel choir of 50 voices, and an orchestra composed of some 20 musicians from Arlington Heights and neighboring communities.

The public is invited to attend this Lenten communion service and share in hearing the English version of the century-old Requiem, which is regarded as an outstanding masterpiece in choral music.

MRS. ROY, who was a past winner of both the Society of American Musicians contest and the National Federation of Women's Clubs contest, lives in Rolling Meadows and is a member of the St. Raymond's choir.

She has appeared as soloist in a performance of Honegger's "Jeanne de Arc," with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the De Paul Chorus at Orchestra Hall in Chicago, and in the premiere performance of Alexander Tcherepnin's "Christmas Cantata" at the Goodman Theater in Chicago.

The Requiem will be conducted by the Rev. Isaac Strain, who has been the minister of music of the Presbyterian church since October, 1962. The Rev. Mr. Strain received a bachelor of music education degree, with a major in vocal music, from the Indiana University School of Music in 1955.

HE LATER received a Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School in Berkeley, Calif., and is at present a doctoral candidate at the Divinity School in the University of Chicago, working toward a Ph.D. degree in the field of church history.

Mrs. Strain, who is organist for the Presbyterian church, has a B.A. degree, with a major in music education, from Sioux Falls College. (A

REHEARSING FOR the April 10 presentation of Brahm's "Ein deutsches Requiem" are (l. to r.) Rev. Isaac Strain, conductor and minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Paul J. Roy, soprano soloist, and Mrs. Strain, organist. The Requiem will be presented in the church, 302 N. Dunton Ave.

Christian Church To Dedicate Organ

An organ dedication service will be held in the new Christian Church of Arlington Heights Sunday, April 7, at 4 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bryson presented the organ to the church in memory of Olaf Polky and Mrs. Rae Bryson.

The service will consist of a concert of sacred music presented by Dr. Robert D. Wolff, organist at Our Saviour Lutheran Church, and selections by Christian Church's choir under the direction of Mr. Bryson.

Following the dedication service from 5:30 to 7 p.m. and again Monday, April 8, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. there will be an open house and reception. On tours through the church visitors will see the many facilities provided as well as exhibits illustrating the work of the various departments.

Joseph Barthel of Arlington Heights is chairman of the Board. Guy McCord, Des Plaines; Donald Walsh, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Pete Peterson, Mount Prospect, are respectively chairman of elders, deacons and deaconesses.

Pastor is the Rev. Don L. Jones, who with his wife and two children lives at 306 N. Stratford Road, Arlington Heights. (A

Ready-Mix Hassle Is in Final Round

The village's eight-year legal fight against Consumers Co., a ready-mix concrete business at 301 W. Northwest Highway, has apparently entered the final round.

Jack Siegel, Arlington Heights village attorney, and Harold Best, building commissioner, both acknowledged that groundwork has been prepared for the company to cease its operation here on July 17.

The collapse of the company's conveyor a month ago gave the village an opportunity to reaffirm its opposition to the ready-mix business, Siegel said.

THE VILLAGE has argued in and out of court since 1955 that the present location of the business contributes to a hazardous traffic condition on Northwest Highway and that the business is not in harmony with the surrounding area.

"We issued a permit for Consumers to repair its conveyor system on the understanding that business would halt July 17 and all equipment would be removed by August 17," Best explained.

He said the company intends to do business in the future from a location in the Village of Palatine.

Attempts by village trustees in 1960 to move the cement plant to the village's inoperative sewage treatment plant were strenuously resisted by homeowners on the east side.

Chooses 'Miss Poppy'

Sharon Lee McDonald, 1627 N. Evergreen Ave., Arlington Heights, was recently selected by the Portage Park American Legion Auxiliary to represent its junior auxiliary in the forthcoming "Miss Poppy Contest."

Miss McDonald will appear in costume March 31 at the 9th District Junior Model meeting being held in Chicago.

She has belonged to the Portage Junior Auxiliary since her first birthday in 1954, and is at present auxiliary coupon chairman. (A

Honors Pecoraros Foresters Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott Ave., Arlington Heights, were honored last week for their contributions to the Arlington Heights lodge of the Independent Order of Foresters, an international fraternal organization.

They were recognized by B. C. Hallum, an official of the order.

Pecoraro recently completed a year as chief ranger (president) of the local lodge. His wife, Ann, completed a year as senior woodward (program chairman).

THE ORDER is chartered as a non-profit organization. Its activities include sports events, dances, parties and picnics for families, a program for orphaned children, aid to elderly people in their retirement years, projects for the sick, and programs to advance the welfare of the community.

Information concerning the order may be obtained by calling Ralph Simmons, Chicago district manager, HU 9-2644 or YO 5-2668. (A

Chemist Pleads for Common Sense in World

Dr. Pauling, Wife Address AFS Group

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

That "common sense will take over the world" was the hope expressed by Dr. Linus Pauling, chemist and 1954 Nobel Peace Prize awardee, in an address at the Pick Congress Hotel in Chicago March 17.

Pauling, author of "No More War," and his chemist wife, Ava, spoke to over 1,000 in a special appearance arranged by the American Friends Service Committee.

"I have had a wonderful life; I have loved living — and I want the world to keep on living," he began with the exuberance for which he is noted.

"Everyone has said that disarmament is the goal . . . then why don't we make some progress toward this.

"War and militarism — not communism and capitalism — are our enemies. It is the military-industrial complex" that is the enemy of the U.S.

"We (the general public) must work together" to bring about an immediate agreement to end nuclear bomb testing, Pauling emphasized. "I believe that we can show our government" that the world wants peace.

PRIMARY PROBLEM of today is "to overcome immorality of nationalism" and other immoral human behavior, he stated. The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and other like organizations are the "most immoral" organizations in the world.

The United States is no more or less "immoral" than other nations, Pauling indicated. He cited a study by the Friends Service Committee which he said "showed" that all nations have equal penchants for breaking treaties and exercising deceit.

Public opinion for peace is not strong enough at present, according to the peace crusader. "We must search for truth" in the world and in our own lives.

REFERRING TO THE stalemate between the U.S. and Russia in test ban negotiations, he stated that a group of eight neutral nations are currently working out a compromise.

"It is our moral duty to put as much pressure on our government as possible to accept a compromise."

There is "some risk" in a bomb test agreement with Russia, "but a far greater risk in testing," Pauling quoted Secretary of State Dean Rusk as saying.

Pauling gave a resume of the nuclear power status of the world today, the peril of war and fallout from tests, nuclear politics, lampooned the idea of "clean" nuclear explosions, and answered questions from the audience.

IF 2,000 MEGATONS of nuclear bombs were exploded over the U.S., half of the people here would be killed. Of that number, half would be killed by radiation, half by heat and fire. "It would be the end of the U.S."

At present the U.S. has a stockpile of hydrogen bombs equal to about 3,000 times all the explosives used in World War II, according to Pauling's calculations. The U.S. has about 240,000 megatons stockpiled, "maybe more now," and the U.S.S.R. has about 80,000 megatons.

The U.S. has 1,600 bombers that can carry 50 megaton bombs, he quoted Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara as having stated. There are also "tens of thousands" of other U.S. aircraft that can carry smaller nuclear bombs, Pauling added.

One estimate is that the U.S. has the potential to obliterate Russia 25 times over, and Russia has an "overkill capacity" sufficient to eliminate the U.S. eight times.

A TOTAL OF about 600 megatons have been detonated in nuclear bomb tests conducted both by the U.S. and Russia," or 200 times the amount of explosives used in World War II."

(Although the U.S. has set off about twice as many nuclear devices as Russia, Russia has concentrated on "bigger bombs," and therefore has detonated about twice as many megatons, according to Pauling.)

Radioactive fallout from these explosions will eventually be responsible for 16 million babies born in the world with gross mental and/or physical defects, one per cent of that number in this generation. "Any additional burden of suffering (in the world, however insignificant) is cause for concern."

The government agency which stated that there would be 16,000,000 malformations, also stated that this number could be five times too high or low, Pauling continued.

BUT HE HAS calculated that this number could be "50 times too low."

"Clean bomb" tests are a myth, he stated. Actually, although they produce less of some forms of fallout, they produce more radioactive carbon 14, which remains potent for several thousand years, and therefore over a period of 300 generations could produce greater genetic damage.

By taking potassium iodide and calcium pills daily, people could limit to some extent their intake of radioactive iodine and strontium 90. (When not needed by the body, these elements will pass through. Otherwise the radioactive trace elements are utilized in the body processes as are their non-radioactive cousins.)

"But that (taking pills) is not the way to meet the problem. The way to meet it is to stop bomb tests."

PAULING QUOTED the federal government as releasing a statement that the "safe levels" of fallout should not be "exceeded without careful consideration of the reasons for doing so."

He questioned whether there is any "safe level" for radiation. Stray cosmic rays cause genetic mutations, he said, and the more radiation, the more mutations — which are usually harmful.

"Government double talk" that there can be a set line for a safe range of radiation is a "clear indication of the immorality" of government, the scientist said.

THREE FACTORS make a bomb test ban more feasible, Pauling pointed out: (1) There are 2½ times less earthquakes in Siberia than formerly thought, eliminating that chance of confusion in detection; (2) there have been great technological advances in blast detection instruments; (3) and President Kennedy has said that only a series of bomb tests could produce any significant data, and there is little likelihood that a series could go undetected.

Kennedy, in a March, 1961 speech, called for a world agreement to end testing, cessation of manufacture of armaments, and gradual elimination of all arms, Pauling noted.

But the president then "turned around" and increased the military budget by $2 billion, and belligerently handled the Cuban situation.

There was no emergency in Cuba that could not have been handled by the United Nations, Pauling stated. "The American people were misled, were lied to" about the Cuban crisis.

International law is necessary, Pauling said, and complete disarmament should only follow a world treaty.

COMMENTING ON the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), "we can't trust the Russians, but it looks like we can trust the Germans."

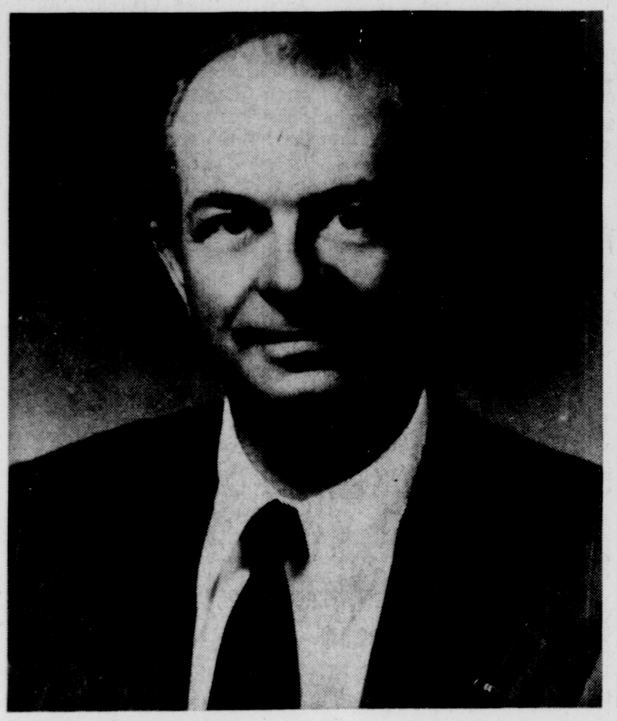
"I don't trust the Russians," Pauling added, "and I don't trust the Americans."

He questioned whether the U.S. would react as rationally to a demand from Russia to remove U.S. bases from Turkey as Russia did to the Cuban blockade.

He spoke of the possibility of the development of a "huge bomb" that could destroy a whole continent, and said the cold war is an "economic necessity" in the present economy of the U.S. Take the profit motive out of war, and peace would result.

PAULING IS currently a professor of chemistry at the California Institute of Technology, and was chairman of the CIT division of chemistry and chemical engineering from 1937-58. He has been a visiting professor at several universities including Illinois.

In 1948, he was awarded the presidential medal for "exceptional meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services to the U.S. of America from Oct., 1940, to June, 1946." He has 16 honorary degrees from some of the world's leading universities, and was vice president of the American Philosophical Society from 1951-54. (A14



NOBEL PEACE PRIZE winner in chemistry and a crusader for peace, Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology, and his chemist wife, Ava, spoke at a public meeting March 17 at the Pick-Congress Hotel. The special visit here of the Paulings was arranged by the American Friends Service Committee of Chicago. The Paulings have four children and 12 grandchildren. (A14

Suburbanite Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- Everyone should take time out for relaxation, fun and exercise, whether they participate in picnicking, golfing, fishing, hunting, camping, cycling, skiing, sliding, boating, games or sports, yet accidents can and do happen even during these activities. Drowning, which is covered by the policy, is the cause of many deaths not just during vacation time but throughout the year. Many homes now have swimming pools that can be a hazard for small children who frequently escape the watchful eye.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

Illinois Town Center Of Wildcat Oil Boom

Around Johnsonville, Ill., the center a few years ago of a well-remembered downstate oil boom, the big news today is a new wildcat hit currently producing, under "choke, over 450 barrels of oil per day.

The well — biggest "hit" in Illinois in the last fifteen years — is located on the Bosley farm in Wayne County, about two miles southwest of Johnsonville. Known as No. 1 Ogie Bosley, it was drilled by the Falese Oil Company, exploration and operating firm which headquarters in Dundee, Illinois.

MAJOR REASON for the widespread excitement in the oil-wise downstate community, is the potential production for the new strike, as indicated by the initial test made before the natural flow was choked off.

Flowing naturally and without treatment, the new "hit" made 56 barrels of oil an hour for three hours under test — a rate equivalent to 1344 barrels per day with free flow. It flowed 23 barrels an hour through choke, then 250 barrels in twelve hours. On final test, under choke, it made 23 barrels an hour, equivalent to over 450 barrels per day.

Production of the No. 1 well, from the Rosiclare sand, is from pay at 3178-83 feet. The hit is about two miles east of what is known as the old Johnsonville West Pool, which has produced 39 million barrels of oil since 1941, and is still producing.

In prompt and successful offset operations, the Falese Company has set casing at 3177 feet at No. 2 Ogie Bosley, just south of No. 1. A drillstem test at 3274-84 feet gassed to surface in two minutes, flowed oil in 11 minutes. Recovery was 2430 feet of oil and no water on breakdown.

To the east, in the next section, the Falese Company has also hit with its No. A-1 Ogie Bosley, with production approximating No. 1. Immediately north of the original hit, Hill Production Company has now brought in its No. 1 in Section 19, with production about 200 barrels a day.

THE PURE OIL Company has contracted for all the Falese production and is nearing completion of two miles of new pipeline to the wells.

With 10 consecutive "wet" holes to their credit, the Falese organization is becoming known as a "hot outfit" in downstate oil circles. Heading the firm and its backing group if investors from the vicinity of Dundee and Sleepy Hollow, are two brothers, Floyd and Tom Falese. Floyd, well - known residential builder and developer, is Mayor of Sleepy Hollow. Younger brother Tom is Postmaster of nearby Carpentersville. The company now has over 2000 acres under lease downstate, and the enthused investors plan a stepped-up program in all phases, including exploration, testing, completion and operation.

Johnson Promoted by Lawson

The election of Charles W. Johnson to the position of Vice President-Operations for Lawson Products, Inc., has been announced.

CHARLES W. JOHNSON

For the past five years Johnson has been serving as director of operations for the company, distributors of fasteners for the transportation, construction and electronics industries.

IN HIS NEW position Johnson will be in charge of all warehouse operations at Lawson of Illinois at its Wilmot Street plant, Chicago, and Lawson of California at its Vernon area plant on Hampton Street, Los Angeles.

Johnson joined Lawson Products in 1958 from the Chicago Carton Co., where he was manager of production planning.

Prior to joining Lawson, he had been with Kraft Foods, also in Chicago.

He is a native of Springfield, Illinois. He attended high school and junior college there before moving to Chicago, where he continued his academic work at De Paul University and received his bachelor of science degree.

During World War II, he served with the Navy and was recalled in the late 50's to do a further tour of duty at the U. S. Naval Station at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

Shortly after his return in 1958, he joined the administrative staff at Lawson Products.

Johnson is married and lives with his wife, Evelyn, and their two children, Mark, 12, and Mary Anne, 8, at their home on 1101 Alder Lane, Mount Prospect.

Elk Grove Chef Prepared Meals 'Fit for a King'

Chef Pat Foster has cooked for royalty, some of the top stars in Hollywood and even a former president, but he gets a bigger kick cooking at the new Hyatt Chalet Restaurant in Elk Grove than any other place he has practiced his culinary art.

"I like it," he said, "because our patrons enjoy their food so much. Many are businessmen staying at the Hyatt Chalet Motel next door. They are experienced travelers who appreciate fine food. It is a pleasure to watch them eat."

The chef's face breaks into a smile when he talks about "good eaters."

"VICTOR McLAGLEN, the actor, was one," he reminisced. "He was a big man with a big appetite. I can still remember him striding into the old Bon Aire Country Club, now the Chevy Chase, slapping a riding crop against his leg and sitting down to a big dish of corned beef and cabbage."

Another good eater in Foster's estimation was Princess Margaret for whom he cooked when she visited Chicago and stayed at the Palmer House.

"Her favorite dish," he said, "was a delicately seasoned creamed chicken in patty shells combination."

While at the Cameo Club, now the home of the Playboy, many other celebrities enjoyed Chef Pat's cooking.

"Buddy Rogers, the silent movie star," he remembered, "was a delicate eater who favored sliced white chicken. Sonja Henie, the skater, on the other hand, was a hearty eater for such a small woman. She was especially fond of bone marrow."

ONE OF PAT'S favorites was comedian Joe E. Brown who when he appeared in a play in Chicago went to the Cameo every night after a performance for a late snack of hot apple fritters smothered in cream.

Pat began his career at Halperin's Restaurant at Milwaukee and North Avenues. He later served at the Bon Aire and the Cameo before joining the staff of the Palmer House where he remained for 12 years until World War II.

Personal chef of the commander of the First Army's Third Armored Division, Pat is a veteran of six campaigns in France, Belgium and Holland. He carries a silver plate in his left leg as a constant reminder of the time he was wounded.

IT WAS DURING one of these campaigns that he cooked for the then General Dwight D. Eisenhower who had flown to the front on an inspection tour.

"Dinner that night wasn't fancy," Pat recalled. "You don't have time for that during a battle, but the general seemed to enjoy the meal."

After the war Foster returned to the Palmer House and then went to the Lilac Lodge in Hillside. When presented with the opportunity to take over the Hyatt Chalet's kitchen, he jumped at the chance.

"I have to admit I had a secret motive," Pat joked. "The Chalet is close to Arlington race track and I'll have an opportunity to see my old friend George E. Jessel."

THE CHEF explained he and Jessel used to spend hours at the track talking while the famed after-dinner speaker enjoyed spareribs from a buffet Pat prepared.

It was at the track that Pat met one of the few "bad eaters" in his long experience.

"That was the horse player, Willy Shore" he said, "who would rather make a bet than eat. Thank goodness, there are none like him at the Hyatt Chalet." (BB

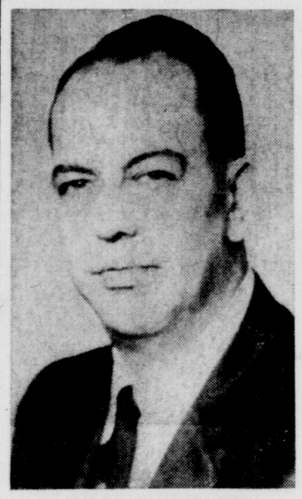
Milwaukee Road Promotes Cowling

The Milwaukee Road recently announced the election of P. Laurin Cowling to the position of vice president and general manager of the Milwaukee Motor Transportation Co., a subsidiary of the railroad, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill.



P. LAURIN COWLING

Cowling, a native of Tacoma, Wash., started with the Milwaukee Road in his home town in 1941 in the operating department. His railroad career was interrupted by service with the Army Transportation Corps from the summer of 1943 until January, 1946, when he returned to the railroad in Tacoma. After service in Great Falls, Mont., he returned to Tacoma, was appointed city freight agent in Seattle in 1950, traveling freight agent in San Francisco in 1953, and district freight and passenger agent in Sacramento in 1955.

On July 1, 1959, he was promoted to assistant to vice president—traffic, and appointed assistant to president on July 1, 1961. He will continue to serve in the latter capacity in addition to his new assignment.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowling live at 282 Maywood Lane, Roselle, Ill.

Vacation Policies Get More Liberal

For the eighth consecutive year, the Dartnell Corporation poll has found a liberalizing trend in vacation policies. The findings are in line with the move toward shorter work weeks and work-days.

Vacations are longer, length-of-service required is shorter, and there are less restrictions on when they may be taken.

In the 152 firms—with a total of more than 450,000 employees—reporting, 36 per cent allow a week's vacation after only 6 months' service for salaried workers, and 22 per cent do so for hourly-rate employes.

NINE PER CENT of those on salary and 2 per cent paid by the hour get three weeks off after just five years. Ten years' seniority entitles 30 per cent of the salaried and 26 per cent of the hourly-paid people to three-week vacations; 29 per cent of the former and 31 per cent of the latter get that much vacation after 15 years.

After 20 years, four weeks off is earned by 17 per cent of the employes on salary and 8 per cent of those paid by the hour.

For the sixth year in a row, the over-all plant and/or office shutdown is declining. Only 18 per cent of reporting firms plan a vacation shutdown this year. In 1953, 45 per cent closed for all-at-once vacations; 23 per cent did so in 1960.

THREE reasons were given for this trend: (1) more companies are letting employes take vacations any time during the year; (2) shutdowns are hard to administer; (3) morale is better when people may choose their vacation period.

Two-thirds of the firms said that employes may go on vacation any time, subject to management approval. Only 23 per cent permitted year-round vacations 10 years ago. (BB

Sales Psychology Course Scheduled

Creating professional salesmen is the goal of the Institute of Sales Psychology, a new concern in the Palatine area begun by two businessmen.

An educational program of classroom training is designed to enable salesmen as well as those in almost any field to utilize their talents in a career of salesmanship the institute directors say.

Courses accommodate both individuals and groups and special courses are tailored for companies and their own personnel.

PRSIDENT of I.S.P. is Tony Livingston, who has a background of 14 years successful experience in sales, management, promotion, merchandising and sales instruction. In addition, for the past seven years he has conducted sales programs, training conferences and sales seminars on a national scale for two Chicago corporations. The Milwaukee born president, who attended Marquette University is married and has five children.

More than 12 years of varied experience in selling qualified Bob Stark for his position in I.S.P. as vice president. (BB

Lawyers Associated

Houser and Bickley To Open Office in Arlington Heights

Thomas J. Houser of Arlington Heights and John H. Bickley Jr. of Mount Prospect this week jointly announced their association in the practice of law.

Both practicing attorneys, Houser and Bickley will open an office in the new building at 103 N. State Road, Arlington Heights.

Houser said he and Bickley intend to celebrate the opening of the office with a housewarming open house the afternoon of Saturday, April 6.

BICKLEY POINTED out the two attorneys will engage in the general practice of law, and that office hours will be maintained locally on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, all day Saturday and by appointment.

Houser, 33, of 416 S. Waterman Ave., Arlington Heights, is Republican Committeeman in Wheeling Township. He is a trial attorney for the Burlington Railroad.

THOMAS HOUSER

A former college football star, Houser graduated from Northwestern University with a juris doctor of laws degree, is active in the work of the Christian Church of Arlington Heights, is married and has three children.

BICKLEY, ALSO 33, lives at 612 S. George St., Mount Prospect, and is a member of the Mount Prospect Board of Trustees. He is a partner in the Chicago law firm of Peterson, Bogucki and Bickley.

He graduated from Chicago Kent College of Law, is a former assistant U.S. District Attorney, and is credited with the 1957 conviction of Paul "The Waiter" Ricca. He and his wife have three children.

The association of Bickley and his firm with Houser will begin April 1, it was announced.

Both lawyers expressed the hope that their practice in the suburbs "would grow along with the surrounding communities." (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

PRUNING SHADE TREES, SHRUBS, AND GRAPE VINES: Contrary to popular belief, shade trees are easy to prune, since you need only to follow their natural form.

For example, the elm tree's natural form is vase shaped. So do not cut its top because that will make it more bushy than upright. On the other hand, weeping willow are bushy trees. Prune them to give a bushy, full appearance, and not an upright shape.

When beginning to prune, first remove all dead and broken branches. Then thin crowded wood. These two steps will give the tree more vigor. In American elms, it will also help the trees resist Dutch elm disease.

As a final step, prune any straggly branches that detract from the tree's natural appearance.

During the past winter, many trees may have suffered storm or wind damage. If you have such trees and aren't sure how to prune them you may benefit in the long run by contacting a licensed tree expert. Let him do the pruning, or ask him for advice.

WOODY SHRUBS: Prune all late blooming woody shrubs now. For early blooming shrubs wait until after they have finished blooming, or pruning will remove all of the flower buds.

When pruning woody shrubs, trim either to enhance their natural appearance or to formalize their appearance. For example, prune forsytria according to its natural form. But trim hedges to give them a formal appearance. Cut the plants to the desired height and shape. Make all cuts at the same level. When pruning hedges, shape them so the top is narrower than the base. This allows sunlight to reach the bottom growth.

To create an informal appearance, prune back tall canes or branches to the lateral side growth. Do not make all cuts at the same level.

Regardless of how you prune shrubs, always remove dead and broken branches.

Thin out woody shrubs by cutting back older wood at the base. This cutting permits new shoots to rise, giving the plant a youthful and vigorous appearance. If older wood is not thinned, canes become so tall that they shade out lower later a l growth.

Pruning shrubs will vary with the kind and type of individual plants. But limited space prevents a discussion of these differences here. For more specific information, contact our offices at 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, Ill., and request the circular, "Pruning, Trees, Shrubs and Roses."

TOM PETERSON

Perfect Grade For Prospect Hts. Student

A Southern Illinois University junior who said he "grew up" doing a hitch in the U. S. Marine Corps, made the perfect 5.0 average during the fall term.

He's Tom Peterson of Prospect Heights, who twice before has made a five-point average during a term and who has a 4.7 over-all mark.

An economics major, Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peterson, 612 Greco Court, Prospect Heights.

PETERSON reported that during his high school days he was in the "lower third" of his class. He then served three-years in the Marines following high school graduation. Peterson entered Southern following his service discharge with the rating of lance corporal. He explained his fine record at SIU by saying "I grew up in the Marines."

Here, where he has been on the dean's list every term, he was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary scholastic fraternity.

He plans to enter graduate school after getting his bachelor's degree. (CC

At Grinnell

John F. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Miller, 919 S. Hi-Lusi Ave., Mount Prospect, has been elected president of his residence hall at Grinnell College for the coming year. As hall president, Miller will serve on the council of house presidents, a group composed of presidents of all the men's residence halls and will also be a member of the Student Government Association.

Miller, a junior at Grinnell, has served as social chairman and intramural sports chairman of his residence hall.

Miller, an economics major, is a 1960 graduate of Arlington High School in Arlington Heights. (CC

SUSIE SCOUT Says

Eleanor Rives — CLearbrook 5-2280

NORTH PALATINE

Twelve girls received the coveted Scout and Church Award on Girl Scout Sunday, March 10, at their respective churches. Receiving awards from Rev. Robert C. Sauer of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church were Linda Frank and Eileen Mollenkamp, Troop 221. Rev. Wilbur M. Childress, First Methodist Church, presented awards to Janet O'Leary and Linda Hamilton of Troop 221, and Barbara Letham, Troop 492.

Rev. John C. Talbot, Presbyterian Church, made the awards to Candy Johnson and Connie Quade, Troop 221, and Karen Edwards, Delores Gowen, Lynn Leimbach, Susan Leimbach and Valerie Worman of Troop 247. He was assisted by Senior Scout Pamela Van Boxtaele of Mariner Ship 334.

To obtain this award, these Girl Scouts worked for a period of two years in the over-all programming of their churches.

SOUTH PALATINE

Troop 820 has been working on its Hospitality Badge. With Mrs. Earl Stiegemeier as badge consultant, the girls entertained their mothers March 17 with a tea at Mrs. Stiegemeier's home. At the tea the girls practiced all the things they had learned and gave a skit, "Good Manners."

A fascinating sidelight of this badge was a trip to Mr. Wenzel's jewelry shop in Barrington where the girls saw silver flatware and were shown its correct use in table settings. Leaders of Troop 820 are Mrs. Walter Lethem and Mrs. Warren Gieffers.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Troop 565, Mrs. C. Jouse's seventh graders, repeated their Rally performance, this time for children at Chicago State Hospital, March 16. They portrayed the American Indian by doing lemmi stick rhythms and then dancing to the beat of tomtoms. The patients enjoyed it and were given candy, ice cream, cake and birthday presents from the Prospect Heights Woman's Club, under the supervision of Mrs. W. Kuhns.

After having worked on this project, Troop 565 set out last Saturday on a day of pleasure, touring Chicago and Chinatown with the Greyline Bus Co. Highlight of the event was lunch in Chinatown.

Troop 23, fifth graders led by Mrs. R. Knutson, is setting the pace of making shut-ins happy over the Easter holiday by making scrapbooks for the Retarded Children's Home in Palatine. Several troops are planning Easter projects to be sent to Chicago State Hospital. Any troop wishing to contribute to this cause may turn in its project and usable clothing to Mrs. C. Jouse, 304 N. Elmhurst Rd., Prospect Heights.

MARINER SHIP 65

Readers are asked to save their newspapers for this troop's paper drive April 5, 6 and 7. For all pickups on these days, or for special arrangements, readers may call Janet Evans, LE 7-1061, or Kathy Appleton, CL 3-6495.

Linda Harig and Kathy Turner, along with leader Mrs. R. Balkey, attended the third annual Mariner Skipper School in Milwaukee March 23.

HOFFMAN ESTATES

Meeting only since Christmas, Troop 914 has completed many projects. Investiture on March 14 climaxed weeks of preparation for the 35 fifth and sixth graders led by Mrs. R. Daulton and Mrs. G. Van Auken. As a service project, they collect cancelled postage stamps for the local Woman's Club.

They presented the colors at a rally March 21, using a Girl Scout flag they made themselves and an American flag they bought with trading stamps. Trading stamps also purchased their first-aid kit and will next be used to obtain troop outdoor equipment.

Troop 648 chose the Girl Scout birthday for its candlelight investiture. Leader Mrs. R. Cassidy presented pins to 24 fourth and fifth graders. Mrs. J. Holbay will become co-leader when she completes training.

A March 22 investiture welcomed eight new members into Brownie Troop 861. Receiving pins from Mrs. R. Semmens, Mrs. M. Fry and Mrs. L. Hippensteel were Pam Schank, Vickie Traudt, Lynn Middleton, Cathy Hafer, Debbie Idle, Linda Debowski, Susan Akers and Patty Boyle.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Brownies, older Scouts, brothers, sisters and friends are invited to see "Gidget Goes Hawaiian" at the Prospect Theatre April 15. Both performances, 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., are sponsored by the Girl Scouts of North and South Mount Prospect. Tickets may be obtained through all Scouts. Younger children are encouraged to attend the morning show.

Troop 597 Intermediates have been making candy and cookies at home. The girls will sell them at both performances.

Last night, March 27, Senior Troop 499 privately toured the Countryside Art Gallery, Arlington Heights. Mrs. D. Morris, gallery publicity chairman, acted as guide for the current drawing and sculpture show.

Teracita Solano, Panama exchange student, visited Troop 212. Troop 703 sang Spanish songs and gave the Girl Scout Promise in Spanish for this miss.

Used costume jewelry has been collected and mounted by Troop 703 Intermediates. It will be given to Cook County Hospital to be used as game prizes in mental therapy. This troop held a novel Juliette Low ceremony. Each girl measured her waistline and contributed a penny per inch.

At a Court of Awards March 19, 17 badges of various kinds were awarded to Troop 179 seventh graders.

NORTHEAST ARLINGTON

Brownie Troop 749 chose the Girl Scout 51st anniversary, March 12, for its fly-up ceremony. Seventeen girls completed Tenderfoot requirements and received Girl Scout and World Pins as well as wings from their leader, Mrs. Donald Thomas. The troop committee served refreshments for mothers and other family members who attended.

Senior Troop 21 spent the March 1 weekend at Thunderbird Lodge, just over the Wisconsin border. Weather conditions were ideal for ice skating and tobogganing. Leaders are Mrs. E. G. Kreusch and Mrs. A. Basil.

The first year for Brownie Troop 63, with Mrs. William Schingen as leader, has been an active one. A fall trip to the forest preserve and a winter ice skating outing were two of the highlights. Mrs. Richard Root, co-leader, gave the girls skating instructions.

For the father-daughter banquet, the girls chose Spain as their theme and they are working it into a World Friendship program. Mrs. Ralph Lane, mother of Mrs. Robert Corey, co-leader of the troop, had a display on Spain and described to the girls her recent trip there.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

Adult volunteers are urgently needed for the June and July Day Camp sessions. Mothers who can help should call Mrs. W. Hagenback, CL 5-6489. Volunteers may bring younger children to camp with them. Senior Scouts who wish to be sitters should get their applications in early.

Some Virtuoso Acting Seen in 'Separate Tables'

by JOAN METTE
Drama Critic

"Separate Tables," the Des Plaines Theatre Guild's latest offering, provides unlimited opportunities for virtuoso performances.

The play, a skillfull blending of two one-act plays employing identical setting and many of the same minor characters, in itself is an example of playwright Terrence Rattigan's own virtuosity.

And certainly the lead roles are actors' dreams—dual roles of contrasting personalities in divergent situations.

BOB HOUSE, in the male lead, took full advantage of the challenging roles open to him and delivered a truly brilliant performance. It was the best I've ever observed in amateur theater.

Dual roles naturally are subject to comparison. And it is to Howe's credit that his portrayal of the disgraced politician and the sexually maladjusted ex-soldier did not overlap.

Phyllis De Laugh, the female lead, was quite simply outclassed by Howe. Her technique wasn't really bad, but she lacked the fire which molds realism. Of the two roles, the first, as the aging fashion model, was more convincing.

BUT AS THE reclusive spinster, her mannerisms of fear and inhibition became barriers between her performance and the audience. To her credit, however, it is to be noted that each character was distinctly identifiable.

In supporting roles as residents of the English seaside hotel where both plays occur, Hazel Peck and Jacqueline McDermott were stand-outs. Miss McDermott's portrayal of an aging woman—who really seemed old—was particularly welcome. Too often an audience can be all too aware that an actor is merely pretending.

As other hotel residents, Mary Fisk, Jim Fisk, John Edgren and Catherine Edgren presented more uneven performances—although the edge in skill would have to go to the Fisks.

NANCY RAUS, saddled with an almost impossible role as the hotel manager, was appropriately sweet and noble even though the character was too saccharine to accept as being real.

Too often in amateur productions the minor roles of waitresses and servants are weakly cast. But the Guild didn't fall in these evil ways. As the young waitress, it had a real find in high school sophomore Carla Isbell. And wonder of wonders—her low class English accent sounded like a true speech pattern instead of the usual burlesque.

In the smaller role of the cook, Jane Clark was properly astringent.

Don Baylor's direction can be paid the real compliment. The audience was unaware of it. His leadership didn't smack you in the face with brilliance that distracts rather than enhances the production. He provided the appropriate seasoning. (Bill

Outdoor Art Fair Planned at Elgin

Area artists are invited again this year to participate in the fourth consecutive "Art Showcase," an outdoor art fair to be held May 11 and sponsored by the Elgin branch, American Association of University Women.

The event is scheduled for the Elgin High School Park, but in case of rain will move indoors to the Elgin High School gymnasium.

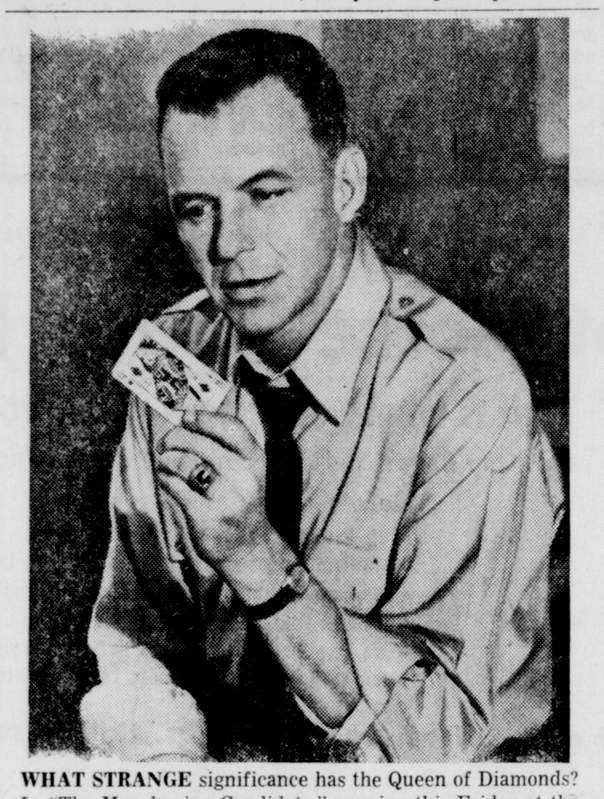
Several of the features which proved popular in the past will be repeated, such as silk-screening demonstrations by high school students, "live" demonstrations by area artists, and the Sunday Painters corner, as well as the artists and their work.

THE FAIR will also highlight a drama group, modern dance, and strolling folk singers.

A coffee shop will be another feature for those who wish to rest their feet and gaze while seated.

The committee for the fair is as follows: Mrs. H. R. Heinicke, chairman, Mrs. C. J. Doane, Mrs. R. J. Schenck, Mrs. Theodore Iverson, Mrs. Louis Uresk, Mrs. R. A. Rieckman, Mrs. F. A. Nelson, Mrs. Henry Boss, Mrs. W. T. Evans, and Mrs. Carl Krause.

Entry blanks are being printed and will be available shortly.



WHAT STRANGE significance has the Queen of Diamonds? In "The Manchurian Candidate," opening this Friday at the Mount Prospect Theatre, Frank Sinatra and Laurence Harvey find its bizarre influence the key to a fantastic adventure. Janet Leigh also stars in the film version of Richard Condon's controversial novel. (Bill

Business Building Improving

OLDER MARRIED couple "on the brink of a split" is played by Kathryn Darrell of Evanston and Edward Albrecht of Villa Park in the stage production of Tennessee Williams' comedy, "Period of Adjustment." The play opened Tuesday for a four-week run at the Country Club Theatre of the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, Prospect Heights. (Bill

Vanishing Bowling Pins

Pranksters tried to turn north State Road into a bowling alley last Saturday.

Robert J. Adams, 560 Corrinthia Drive, Elk Grove Village, told Arlington Heights police he was driving south on State just north of Rand Road when he was forced to swerve his car to avoid hitting several bowling pins standing in the road.

When police investigated they found no sign of bowling pins.

Comedy Film Stars Tony Curtis

Tony Curtis' latest and most joyously venturesome production, "40 Pounds of Trouble," opens Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre.

Curtis, who has had his share of heavy drama in recent film roles, makes a welcome return to comedy with a daring trip to Disneyland with Suzanne Pleshette and Claire Wilcox.

PHIL SILVERS as "Bernie the butcher from Chicago" romps thru the film in his first screen role in 10 years.

As an added treat for children, the Golf Mill will show a one-hour cartoon carnival Saturday matinee at 1 p.m. followed by the regular feature film attraction. (Bill

KIRK DOUGLAS plays the role of a rugged outdoor individualist at war with the regimented jet age as he stars in "Lonely Are The Brave," which also stars Gena Rowlands. Opens Friday on the Wide-Brilliant screen of the Des Plaines theatre with the co-feature "40 Pounds Of Trouble."

Oils and Pottery Shown at Gallery

The Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner, Arlington Heights, is presenting oils and pottery by gallery members and a guest potter from March 31 through May 2, with a reception Sunday, March 31, from 1 to 4 p.m.

This is the sixth show in this non-profit art room and membership in the sponsoring organization, the Countryside Art Center, Inc., which now represents 28 suburbs and Chicago.

In this exhibit, the work of seven stable gallery artists will represent Patricia Amlin of Chicago, Rachel Burgess of River Forest, Darrill Connelly of Arlington Heights, John Doyle of Chicago, Barbara Schlenker of Deerfield, and Hedvic Vlasak of Mount Prospect.

DON JOHNS of Elgin, also a stable artist, will have pottery in this show, as will Nicholas Prokos, guest potter, of Highland Park.

Regular gallery hours are Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is free. Evenings and other hours may be arranged by calling 255-9718.

The Countryside Gallery is located in the center of Arlington Heights, just off Northwest Highway. (Bill

Hold 'Auntie Mame' Tryouts April 1-2

Arlington Heights Village Theatre this week announced April 1 and 2 as tryout nights for "Auntie Mame," final show of the current season. Reading sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the multi purpose room at Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights.

The cast for "Auntie Mame" is unusually large, with a variety of walk-on and minor speaking parts for those who wish to combine stage work with crew duties.

Director Richard Tyler urges all Village Theatre members to read and also invites local residents interested in theatre to try out.

TYLER especially invites young people over 18 years of age to participate in the precasting readings.

Based on the best-selling novel by Patrick Dennis, "Auntie Mame" was adapted for Broadway by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. The comedy traces phases in the life of zestful Auntie Mame from New York party days in the twenties to her international outlook in contemporary times.

The show is scheduled for Prospect High School on the nights of May 29, 30, 31 and June 1. (Bill

CAUGHT AT LAST, and of all places, the Disneyland parking lot! Summons servers catch up with Tony Curtis after he and child newcomer Clarie Wilcox have led private detectives on a merry chase extending from a swank Nevada hostelry and casino, which Tony manages as his screen role, to its culmination at Disneyland. In color and Panavision, it opens Friday at the Arlington Theatre.

Notice of Public Hearing

Public notice is hereby given that the Plan Commission of the Village of Arlington Heights will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, April 17, 1963 at 8:00 P.M. in the Municipal Building at 33 South State Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois to consider the following proposed amendments to the Zoning Ordinance and the Subdivision Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights:

(1) To amend Section 11.4-4.2 of the Zoning Ordinance to permit attached garages to be built at a distance of not less than 3 feet from the side lot line where such garage is an accessory use to a single family dwelling built pursuant to a building permit issued prior to December 21, 1959 if such garage could have lawfully been erected in that location at the time the permit was issued for the principal building; provided, however, that a side yard of not less than 10% of the width of the lot shall be required on reverse corner lots.

(2) To amend Section 14.4-3 of the Zoning Ordinance by adding the requirement that in granting variations the Board of Appeals shall require evidence that (1) the property in question could not yield a reasonable return if permitted to be used only under the conditions allowed by the regulations in that zone, and (2) the plight of the owner is due to unique circumstances, and (3) the variation if granted will not alter the essential character of the locality.

(3) To amend Section 14.4-3 of the Zoning Ordinance by requiring the concurring vote of four members of the Zoning Board of Appeals and requiring findings of fact specifying the reason or reasons for the making of variations.

(4) To amend Section 5.4 of the Zoning Ordinance to authorize the Building Commissioner to issue permits or certificates of occupancy for residential structures erected on lots having less than the required width and area when lots are part of a subdivision approved by the President and Board of Trustees, if the width and area is no less than 90% of the ordinance requirements.

(5) To amend Section 3 of the Zoning Ordinance to define "garage attached" to be a private garage adjoined to a dwelling at one or more sides by a party wall or walls.

(6) To amend Section 2.1 of Section 12A of the Zoning Ordinance to provide that Office & Research District tracts shall abut a business or industrial district or a designated thoroughfare.

(7) To amend the Zoning Ordinance by adding thereto a Section 12B to create "P—Off Street Parking Districts," to impose general conditions on P Parking Districts, enumerate permitted uses in such districts including municipal parking facilities, public parking areas and private parking areas and to impose yard requirements upon such uses.

(8) To amend Section 8-332 of the Subdivision Regulations Ordinance of the Village by permitting the Plan Commission to make recommendations for variations and the Board of Trustees to grant variations from the minimum lot width and area requirements of the Subdivision Ordinance if none of the lots so authorized shall have less than 90% of the minimum lot width and area requirements imposed by the ordinance.

All persons desiring an opportunity to be heard on any or all of the above proposals shall be given an opportunity to be heard.

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS to ascertain the just compensation for private property taken or damaged for curbing, grading, paving and otherwise improving Douglas, Hickory Avenue and other streets, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, as hereinafter described and what property will be benefited by such improvement and the amount thereof.

It appearing in this cause and the files herein, and the affidavit of ownership filed therein on the 14th day of March, 1963, that there are certain defendants designated as "ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN," who upon diligent search cannot be found so that personal service of process cannot be had on said persons.

Notice is hereby given to said defendants designated as "ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN" and to all other persons and parties named in the report and assessment roll of the Commissioners filed in this cause in this Court against whose property benefits have been assessed therein, to pay the cost of the improvement hereinafter described; that on the 25th day of January, 1963, said Village of Arlington Heights filed its petition in said County Court of Cook County, praying that steps be taken to ascertain the just compensation to be made for private property to be taken or damaged for the improvement known as "IN THE MATTER OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT TO PAY THE COST OF CURBING, GRADING, PAVING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING DOUGLAS, HICKORY AVENUE AND OTHER STREETS, IN THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS," the nature, character, locality and description of which improvement is as follows:

That the roadway of Douglas Avenue from the north edge of the existing pavement in Euclid Street to the north street line of Hawthorne Avenue;

And the roadway of Hickory Avenue from the north edge of the existing pavement in Euclid Street to the existing pavement at a point 285 feet more or less south of the south street line of Frederick Street;

And the Roadway of Beverly Avenue from the north edge of existing pavement in Euclid Street to the existing pavement at the north street line of Frederick Street;

And the roadway of Hawthorne Street from the west street line of Dryden Avenue to the east edge of the existing pavement in Haddow Avenue;

And the roadway of Frederick Street from the existing pavement at the east street line of Hickory Avenue to the west edge of the pavement in Beverly Avenue hereinabove proposed;

Be improved by grading and by constructing combination curb and gutter, sidewalks, pavement base course and surface course, storm sewers, drainage inlets, catch basins, connection pipe to sewers, sanitary sewer services and water services under proposed pavement to lots not now having such services, together with all necessary adjustments, alterations and appurtenant construction and to ascertain what property will be benefited by such improvement and the amount of such benefit, and to levy a special assessment upon all the property benefited by said improvement to pay the cost of said improvement in accordance with the terms and provisions of said ordinance and in the manner provided by law; that the summons in said cause is made returnable on the 22nd day of April, 1963, to said County Court, to be held in the Courthouse in the City of Chicago, County of Cook, and State of Illinois, and that the pieces and parcels of property sought to be taken for said improvement are described as follows, to-wit:

The East 33 feet of the South 132 feet of the West ½ of West ½ of Northwest ¼ of Northeast ¼ of Section 29, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

The West 33 feet of the South 201 feet of the Northeast ¼ of Section 29, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

That the total cost of the said improvement as shown by the estimate and report herein, is the sum of $240,215.89, that a special assessment has been made to raise the cost of said improvement, and that the Commissioner's Report and Assessment Roll therefor was filed in the office of the Clerk of said County Court of the said Cook County in the Courthouse, in the City of Chicago, County of Cook and State of Illinois, on the 14th day of March, 1963, and the said proceedings therein are now pending.

You are hereby notified that the summons in the said cause is made returnable to the 22nd day of April, 1963, of the said County Court, to be held in the said Courthouse of the City of Chicago, when and where you may appear and defend if you see fit to so do.

Blame Fire Damage on Neighbors

GRAND LODGE, MICH., (UPI) — Leo Huhn might still have had a home last week if some of his neighbors hadn't been content to let the other fellow do it.

Firemen received a call at 6 a.m. about a blaze at the Huhn residence. The location of the home was not clearly identified, so fire trucks were delayed in reaching the scene. The home was a total loss.

A number of neighbors told officers they noticed the fire about 5 a.m. but everybody assumed someone else had already called the fire department. (A14

Dedication Marks New Suburb Era

O'Hare Airport Future Outlined by President

By DON HEINE

Staff Photographs by JOE REECE

O'Hare International Airport was dedicated Saturday by President Kennedy as jets roared a song to the past, present and future of northwest suburbs.

The Chief Executive saluted O'Hare as "The Gateway to the World," yet he noted that a half million persons live near the field.

On their behalf, he promised to seek support of government and private agencies in searching out ways to reduce noise from airplanes. His own voice at times was drowned out by the roar as he stood on the platform with Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, Governor Otto Kerner, U.S. Senator Paul H. Douglas and other public figures.

AN AIRLINE passenger overhead could have seen more than the crowd of 6,000 persons or so watching the dedication. He could see, across the countryside, evidence of what northwest suburbs have gained since O'Hare was opened to domestic air traffic in 1955.

Many of the new homes in all suburbs house the families of the 13,000 persons who make their living from O'Hare.

Many of the other homes have been selected by their occupants because of proximity to O'Hare, permitting a man to catch an 8 a.m. plane for New York, attend a business meeting and be back with his family for the evening meal.

DOZENS OF industrial plants in the Centex development and elsewhere stand within a few minutes driving distance of the airport.

Along Mannheim Road, "The Strip" stretches out, including, by one recent count, 21 motels as well as many night spots.

Another survey reveals that 14 motels in the O'Hare area have quarters for business conferences and conventions. No longer is it necessary to go to the loop to attend a business meeting in Chicago.

THE AIR traveler who does want to get to the loop can do so in 30 minutes by the Northwest Expressway or in 11 minutes by helicopter.

The full extent of O'Hare's impact on northwest suburbs is hard to measure, except in terms like the $200-million spent on the airport, or the 13.5 million passengers who moved through it last year, or the 416,976 aircraft which landed.

A few other 1962 statistics are 99 million pounds of regular mail, 65 million pounds of express packages, 251 million pounds of freight deliveries.

BACK IN 1942 the federal government paid $450 an acre for 1,000 acres of land for an airstrip for the Douglas Aircraft Company, on the present O'Hare site. Land there now has been valued at 100 times the figure of 21 years ago.

With facts and figures like these in mind, J. Patrick Dunn, Chicago deputy commissioner of aviation, who is in charge of O'Hare's day-by-day operation, this week said the roar of jets is "music to my ears."

Dunn, however, said the airport authorities recognize the landing and take-off noises are a source of annoyance to many suburbanites.

HE SAID President Kennedy was speaking in realistic terms when he called for continued efforts to reduce the noise over the suburbs.

Dunn said substantial progress has been made already through changes in plane design, such as in the fanjet which the airlines are getting in increasing numbers. He said noise also has been lessened through changes in airplane holding patterns and in increases in the altitude at which planes approach and leave O'Hare.

O'Hare, busiest airport in the world, ranks second in size. Its 7,200 acres compare with the 9,000 in the Dulles International Airport serving Washington, D. C.

Space at O'Hare is supposed to be adequate to serve needs of Chicago until 1980, if present projections hold true.

PRESIDENT Kennedy, in his dedication speech, said "Commercial aviation in the jet age, far from standing still, is looking forward to the supersonic age—to the day when commercial transports traveling three times the speed of sound will carry us to any spot in the world in a few amazing hours. The United States—which now leads the world in the production and sale of commercial airplanes—intends to be a leader in the supersonic age as well."

The President, after his speech, left the stand to lay a wreath at the foot of a bronze plaque commemorating the deeds of Lt. Comdr. (Butch) O'Hare for whom the field was named. O'Hare won the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1942 after shooting down five Japanese planes in combat. He later was killed in action.

From the airport, President Kennedy moved down the Northwest Expressway as thousands of persons watched. He returned to Washington Saturday afternoon.

MAYOR DALEY, a candidate for re-election, was praised by the President "For keeping various interests working together until the job was fully done" at O'Hare.

Dedication activities were concluded Monday night, with the formal opening of the Seven Continents Restaurant, in a new circular glass building costing $5-million. In keeping with the note on internationalism, every waiter is required to speak three languages. The jobs were filled by single young men from Europe.

A VITAL LINK IN THE future of the growing northwest suburbs was formally dedicated Saturday by President John F. Kennedy who saluted O'Hare International Airport as "the gateway to the world." In his dedication address before more than 6,000 persons, the President said: "Chicago has always been a crossroads of American transportation. That has long been a major cause of its growth — and a reason for its very existence. Now Chicago is becoming a crossroads for the world as well. Chicago, Illinois — long the gateway to the great Middle West — is now gateway to the world." Sharing the speakers' platform with Kennedy was a sister (right) of the late Lt. Comdr. Edward H. O'Hare, World War II hero for whom the airport is named.

YOUNG CAMERA fan waits his chance to photograph the President during Kennedy's airport dedication visit Saturday.

AS A NAVY BAND played "Hail to the Chief," onlookers craned necks to see President Kennedy arrive at O'Hare Field for the formal dedication. The colorful ceremony took on the trappings of a country fair, carnival, and political rally all rolled into one.

"WE LIKE KENNEDY" was a feeling much in evidence Saturday among the thousands of onlookers who jammed O'Hare Airport for a glimpse of the President during his dedication visit to northwest suburbs. Preparing to hold aloft their "sign of support" is a nun and her pupils from St. Peter School in suburban Antioch.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC crowd swirled about President Kennedy Saturday upon his arrival at O'Hare Airport for dedication ceremonies. He is shown above working his way through the throngs of outstretched hands and smiling faces which greeted him outside the terminal building. Accompanying the President (at right) was Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley.

PATIENTLY AWAITING arrival of President Kennedy are two young "readers" who came early in order to command a front-row view of the President. Hundreds of children attended the airport dedication in order to see Kennedy.

Among northwest suburban families preparing to seek fun and leisure this spring via the mobile route is the John E. Gross family, 121 Kennicott, Arlington Heights, shown above hitching the new sailing snipe they recently purchased to a 1963 model car.

Children watching their daddy make necessary adjustments are Jackie, 10, and Nancy, 9, while Bobby, 4, mugs for the camera. Mrs. Gross is occupied with the family dog, Ruffy.

The mobility offered by automobiles and the recent construction of expressway routes throughout the Midwest give families easy access to weekend recreation resorts and vacation spots.

In this issue dedicated to the conveniences cars offer us, the reader will find such articles as:

— The average investment a family has to make to purchase a boat and equipment to haul it, by Martin Klingman, DuPage County reporter;

— Writer Tom Tully reports on how Arlington Park race track accommodates the terrific crush of motorists during the racing season and how this flow will be expedited by construction of the Euclid Ave. cloverleaf;

— There is also a story on the spots to visit around Lake Michigan for the ambitious motorist, following the route French explorers once took by canoe;

— Palatine News Editor Joan Lorensen writes on resumption of the horsepower race among automobile manufacturers, and how buyers often regard horsepower more in term of status than performance;

— Special Assignments Writer Bill Halls notes that a grand old lady of the road — a pre-war 12-cylinder Packard limousine — residing on its laurels in a northwest suburban auto dealer's showroom still is the center of verbal admiration;

— Wheeling Editor Tom Edwards tells how the auto industry is beginning to cope with the problems of air pollution by devising new exhaust systems;

In addition, there are stories like the one by Elk Grove Editor Bob Setlik about the man who started this revolution in mobility — Henry Ford — and an up-to-date report on the current controversy raging over whether to retain driver education programs in the high schools, by Mount Prospect Editor Melda Lynn.

The reader will also find the latest information on the 1963 models featured at area auto dealers.

Driver Training Debate Rages On

by MELDA LYNN

Last year 395 Illinois youths, from 16 through 25 years of age, were killed in automobile accidents and 25,695 injured, according to statistics compiled by the Illinois Insurance Information Service.

While speaking to a civic club recently, a representative for the organization asked his audience, "What does it profit to provide a boy or a girl with the best possible education in the arts or sciences only to have that boy or girl end up as a statistic in a street or highway crash — simply because his education did not include the basic rules for driving?"

The information service, most insurance companies and an overwhelming number of parents and teachers have been dismayed by the current attempt to discontinue the driver education programs now carried on in the high schools of the state.

GOVERNOR Otto Kerner has voiced his opposition to any change in the present driver education program and has said he will veto any bill that will take away the funds needed to continue it.

The Illinois Revenue Study Commission recommended that the program be eliminated as an economy measure and the money now used for the program be put into the general revenue fund of the state.

The commission, in attempting to draw up a new revenue article, voted 9-5 to propose that the state drop its support of the driver education program.

It followed this first proposal up with a recommendation that the complete $3 fee charged for a driver's license be put into the general revenue fund. The general assembly voted in 1957 to increase the then $1 fee to $3, with the additional $2 going into the driver education fund. tion fund.

Now, in seeking ways to come up with additional sources of revenue, the commission is contemplating putting that $2 into a fund and in effect, expecting parents of youthful drivers to see that their children are properly taught to drive, or leaving the entire burden of expense and decision up to the individual school districts.

When the commission first made the proposal to eliminate the state aid Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier also condemned the idea.

ing as such, but feels it is not

The purpose of the program, he said, is to reduce traffic fatalities and injuries. He also pointed out that the sole purpose of the increase in fee was to establish the education program and never intended for general revenue purposes.

A SURVEY of the present driver education program has, according to those favoring its continuance, established without a doubt that more than a half million teenage drivers in the state who have had the driver training in the schools have had far less accidents and convictions than those who have not had the training.

The study was made at the request of Gov. Otto Kerner from the files of the secretary of state's office. It also showed that records of male drivers in the 16 to 20-year-old group who had had the training had 505 fewer convictions and/or accidents per thousand drivers than those who had not had the training.

Others lining up in a solid front for the continuance of the program include Supt. of Public Instruction Ray Page, Asst. Secretary of State Robert Cronson and all members of the governor's traffic safety co-ordinating committee.

However, despite the fact that the overwhelming majority of state taxpayers are willing and eager to be taxed the extra $2 for the driver education, there is opposition to the program.

One such figure is Rep. John Parkhurst, R—Peoria, one of the three legislators who are sponsors of the three-package proposed legislation.

HE SAYS he doesn't see any evidence to support the position that the training program has contributed to the traffic safety. He reported he feels the secretary of state could accomplish the same thing by tightening driver licensing standards.

A member of the government economies committee which is now studying the bills and one of the sponsors of the legislation package is Rep. Warren L. Wood, R—Plainfield. He reports he isn't against the driver train- a subject for school.

He adheres to the "old fashioned" ideas of education without frills.

The third member of the general assembly who introduced the three bills is John N. Erlenborn, R—Elmhurst. He is chairman of the government economies committee.

The three bills are interrelated. Known as House Bills 470, 471 and 472, they amend present legislation which sets up the program and the method of financing.

To date the bills are still being studied. If they are reported out of committee, (and since two sponsors of the bills are members of the committee, there is a good chance that they will be) then they will be voted upon by the entire general assembly, according to the processes of all legislation.

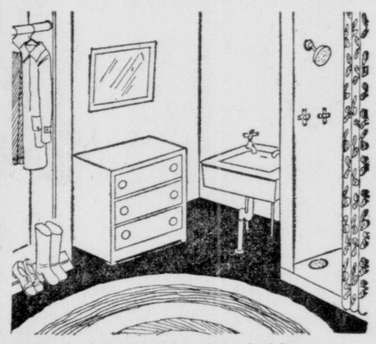
In the present driver education program, students spend 30 hours in it, 16 hours of field training, (or behind the wheel driving) and the remainder in class study.

MOST OF the teachers are men who have physical education training and have taken special, extra training for the driver education work.

Most insurance companies offer from 10 to 20 per cent discount on premiums for auto insurance to motorists who have teenagers who have taken the training.

BECKY DAESCHNER, an Arlington High School student, practices shifting gears under the supervision of the driver education teacher from the school, Robert Eckert. Legislation to provide driver eduction in the schools is in danger due to the fact that some legislators feel the money could be put to better use elsewhere.

IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS



Many new homes are equipped with a "bonus" room, a real time-saver for the busy housewife. Also called a "mud room" it has an outside entrance, either side or rear of the house. During rainy or inclement weather, family members use this entrance, depositing their soiled or wet apparel here before tracking through the rest of the house.

In some older homes, wasted space may be converted into a "mud room." The ideal "mud room" has both a lavatory and a shower, hanging space for soiled or wet garments, as well as clean ones, a place for dirty and clean shoes or slippers, and a chest for under clothing.

While not a necessity, the shower allows a complete "clean-up," quite an asset in the family where there are a number of small children.

Roto to Celebrate Ninth Anniversary

Roto Mercury, 1410 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, proudly announces its ninth anniversary and proclaims April as the month to celebrate by offering better than ever deals on all of its cars.

As Richard Roto, 34, owner of the automobile operation, said "We intend to celebrate our largest anniversary yet in the automotive business."

ROTO SAID that there will be helium balloons for the children and some of the most fantastic deals on new automobiles for the adults.

The feature car of the Mercury operation is the 1963½ Mercury Marauder, equipped with a 390 V-8 engine and an optional engine which raises 427 horse power.

The car highlights a "Fast-Back" rear window, which is a sloping type rear window.

Roto added that 1962 was their biggest and best year of their more than 45-year history in the automotive field. However, he pointed out, only nine years have been spent in Arlington Heights, and as a token of appreciation, Roto Mercury hopes that everyone will enjoy the celebration.

THE PHILOSOPHY of Roto Mercury is best explained by their unique used car operation which they prefer to call "The Pre-owned Centre."

Roto said, "We feel that by offering a better pre-owned car (used car), this breeds confidence on the part of the public and when they are ready for another car, either new or used, they will come to Roto Mercury first.

Firm Moves to Suburbs

Martin J. Kelly Oldsmobile Company, car dealer for 43 years, relocated in Arlington Heights a year ago, moving from downtown Chicago to the suburb.

"We are endeavoring to grow with the community," said William Kelly, general manager and vice president of the firm, who manages the business with his father.

MARTIN J. KELLY recently moved his Oldsmobile dealership from downtown Chicago to Arlington Heights to "grow" with the expanding suburban community.

THE KELLYS have invested approximately half a million dollars in their Arlington Heights firm in land, building, cars and equipment. Martin Kelly, company president, has been selling new and used cars since 1919.

His son has 15 years experience with the business.

Kelly Oldsmobile, in addition to new Oldsmobiles, has 60 to 75 used cars on hand which are located in a roof-covered outdoor area. The firm's showroom is completely carpeted.

THE KELLYS have invested some $300,000 in their service department which occupies 24,000 square feet. Twenty-two service personnel are on hand in addition to five salesmen and sales manager Hal Green, who has worked in the northwest suburbs for the last seven years.

The Kellys are members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and various other civic organizations.

Studebaker Wagonaire Sports Sliding Roof

The new "Sliding-Roof" Wagonaire model of the 1963 Studebaker line of station wagons includes a unique roof panel, which can be readily operated to permit carrying of high-standing cargo, adding to the flexibility of the station wagon's many uses.

When parked at spectator events, the sliding roof permits a better viewpoint.

THE FOUR-DOOR model "Wagonaire" has increased dimensions, a new side-glass design, and a one-piece tailgate, with roll-up rear glass, manual-operated, standard; electrical-operated, optional. A "foldaway" tailgate ladder is also available as an option.

In addition to the sliding-roof model, the Studebaker line of Wagonaire station wagon models has been expanded to include a new "standard Series," adding a lower-priced fixed-roof four-door "Wagonaire" line in Standard, Regal, and Daytona lines.

CHOICE OF EITHER six-cylinder or eight-cylinder engines is available. Features of all Wagonaire models included a padded dash, direct-reading instruments, positive crankcase ventilation; reinforced coil-spring seats, two-color vinyl upholstery.

The 113-inch wheelbase is used on all Wagonaire models; one model is priced $75 less than the former 1962 models.

Arlington Motors, 1020 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, is the local Studebaker dealer.

Car Makers Resuming Horsepower Race

Link Appeal To Prestige

by JOAN LORENSON

Experts in the auto field are predicting a return to a horse power race by automobile manufacturers.

In 1957 the car manufacturers declared a moratorium on the race for increasing horse power. In July Ford publicly announced it was breaking its agreement not to advertise horse power.

At race tracks around the country it is acknowledged that for the past two to three years car manufacturers have shown increasing interest in racing which is linked with speed, endurance, and horse power.

The new car buyer now has a wide choice of options on engines he can get. For example, he can get an engine for a Chevrolet which will give him 195 horse power or one up to 340 or 400 horse power. A 425 horse power engine is available for drag racing only.

ONE OF Detroit's 1963 offerings is a "police engine" which will give the owner about 370 horse power.

The National Safety Council is not worried at this point that the horse power race is on for good. Though Ford made its announcement it was breaking its ban horse power agreement in July, it has not advertised horse power but durability in connection with racing, said Ray Ellis, of National Safety Council's Chicago office. The renewal of a horse power race "is something the newspapers are emphasizing," Ellis maintained.

One mechanic pointed out the industry does not need to advertise horse power as such because "this is the thing the buyer looks into anyway." He suggested it was a sign of status with many people, pointing out they were not interested in the horse power as such since they negate much of its effect by piling extra equipment on their cars.

Not all the increase in horse power is going into speed since only about 50 per cent reaches the rear wheels. Automatic transmission, for example, cuts greatly the effects of increased horse power. The National Safety Council spokesman pointed out that horse power has tripled in the last 15 years but the speed attainable is only about 10 miles greater.

The general public watches the stock car races at tracks like Daytona Beach. Car owners then like to identify themselves with the winning cars, as a matter of prestige.

For example three years ago, a radio announcer at Daytona 500 stock car race commented he wished he were sponsored by Pontiac because it was going to sell a lot of cars. Pontiac came into the winner's circle that year. His prediction came true when Pontiac sales increased measurably. On the stock car circuits Pontiac and Ford have battled for first place on the National Association of Stock Car Racing grand national circuit. Ford's win at Daytona in February may affect its sales.

THE PUBLIC'S looking for increased horse power also seems to be borne out in their asking for the smaller compacts with increased horse power.

How much horse power is necessary? The Volkswagen gets along with 40 horse power which allows it to be driven at 70 to 75 miles per hour. A car with twice the horse power is the Chevrolet Corvair with 102 horse power which will go about 85 miles per hour. The horse power was increased about 2½ times but speed increased about 10 per cent. Horse power seems to depend on what the car buyer wants.

Probably a horse power race will not be carried on like it was in the years prior to 1957 but rather in a cautious way. It has been pointed out that while some auto executives would like to get back into racing where power and speed are trademarks, they recognized that congressmen who attribute more traffic accidents to higher power have their eyes on the manufacturers.

VW Sales Continue To Soar

Volkswagen produced a record total of 1,184,795 vehicles during 1962, an increase of 17.6 per cent over its 1961 production.

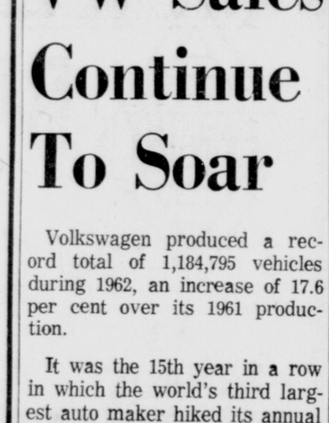
It was the 15th year in a row in which the world's third largest auto maker hiked its annual output, according to officials of Doyno Motors, 530 W. Northwest Highway, Mount Prospect, northwest suburban Volkswagen dealers.

Especially impressive, they note, is that the total VW export during 1962 was 681,319 vehicles, equal to 57.5 per cent of the company's production.

Volkswagen's biggest export customer continued to be the United States, Doyno officials report. U.S. sales during the year approached 230,000 vehicles. The 685 authorized dealers, making up VW's U.S. dealer complex, sell one of every two vehicles imported into the U.S.

DAILY Volkswagen production is about 5,000 vehicles, and breaks down to 3,300 passenger cars, 700 trucks and station wagons, and 1,000 Volkswagen 1500s.

The 1962 production equals the total of all VWs manufactured from 1945 through 1955. One out of every two passenger cars produced in West Germany today is a Volkswagen, company officials point out.



"Fortunately I wasn't in my jacket when it went through the corn grinder."

The Volkswagen is the one in black.

These cars look alike to a Volkswagen mechanic. They have the same engine, the same transmission, and the same chassis.

But the one on the bottom got mixed up with an Italian who thought the Volkswagen would make a sexy little runabout: Ghia of Turin.

The car's the VW Karmann Ghia.

Its special body takes so much hand work that Volkswagen farms it out to one of Europe's greatest custom coachworks, Karmann of Osnabruck. Every seam is welded, ground down, filed and sanded by hand. (It's been mistaken for everything from a Ferrari to a Lancia.)

Yet VW parts are all you need. You get the VW's legendary mileage. VW's air-cooled engine. And the famous Volkswagen traction in snow and sand.

Along with a gee-gaw or two. A defroster for the back window. Acoustical soundproofing. Adjustable bucket seats.

The price is quite a coup for a coupe like this. Hardtop, $2384, Convertible, $2584.

Air Pollution Problem Faces Auto Industry

Devices Developed To Cut Car Fumes

by TOM EDWARDS

Air pollution has resulted in demands on the automotive industry to eliminate car exhaust fumes — which have been cited as a primary source of contamination.

Industry finally responded in 1963 with "blow-by" devices to cut down on the fumes from the crankcase.

But this is only a beginning toward solving the problem of auto exhaust — a problem in which each individual seems to share a proportionate responsibility with industry and government.

First, how important is the problem; second, what has been done; third, what remains to be done.

"QUITE obviously, increasing atmospheric pollution is lowering our vitality and our enjoyment of life," was a statement released Sept. 7 by Cook County Board President Seymour Simon. He was introducing a proposed air pollution control ordinance, passage of which is still pending.

". . . our clothing, our skins and our lungs are contaminated; metals corrode, buildings decay; vegetation is stunted and blackened; valuable sunlight is lost; germs multiply; our natural resistance to disease is lowered," Simon's statement continued.

According to health columnist, W. W. Bauer, M.D., air pollution is one of the most important, perhaps the most important public health problem facing us today . . .

"Civilized man's greatest achievement, the city, seems to kill everything but man and rats, and maybe flies," Bauer wrote. Pollutants in the air "increas. our susceptibility to inflammations and abnormalities of the breathing apparatus, ranging all the way from the simple cold to, possibly, cancers of the lung."

Of course, motor vehicles are only one of many agents contributing to air pollution. But with their increasing number and the congestion in the cities, they are one of the foremost contributors.

IN ADDITION, auto exhaust is a source of contamination that can perhaps be dealt with more easily than other sources.

California, which has had the most trouble with air pollution, has as a matter of need, taken the lead in dealing with the problem.

In 1960 the California legislature passed a law making exhaust fume elimination devices mandatory a year following official approval of two such devices by the state.

Two blow-by (crankcase ventilation) devices were approved and must be standard equipment on all new cars sold in that state by next month. A New York state law will make the same devices mandatory in June.

Two cities, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia, have been requiring exhaust purification devices on all city vehicles.

But only about 30 per cent of car exhaust fumes are affected by the blow-by devices, that is, only those fumes that would otherwise be released through the "breather" usually found on one side of the engine itself.

No practical, effective means has yet been found to render harmless the fumes that issue from the tail-pipes of cars, according to the October issue of "Consumer Reports."

One has been produced that is now undergoing extensive testing by California, the magazine reported.

A cost of "about $100 each would be a fair guess" for the devices to be eventually marketed to purify all engine combustion fumes, the report stated.

BUT "DEVICES" themselves may not be enough. "Consumer Reports" pointed out that the U.S. Public Health Service is recommending design changes in engines for more complete combustion.

The blow-by devices return to the gases that are blown by the piston rings into the crankcase to the combustion chambers. Most of these gases are consumed by the engine the second time through, it is related.

Individuals can help in efforts to abate air pollution by buying only cars with available exhaust control devices on them,—or by having them installed on their present autos. (And by avoiding smoky furnaces and not burning rubbish in the backyard.)

Total cost for installation of the blow-by devices is from $13 to $20, according to "Consumer Reports." Installed at the factory, the cost is about $5.

They should be serviced between every 5,000 to 10,000 miles.

FROM EXHAUST pipes of automobiles comes a significant contribution to air pollution concerns of civilization. Attempts are being made to eliminate these exhaust fumes. (SS

Auto Becomes A 'Mule'

Used for Hauling Boats

by MARTIN KLINGMAN

The growing trend in American families is the use of their cars for practically every family function; perhaps it can be called the "spirit of togetherness."

An intereting use which cars are now being subjected to is use as a mule.

The family auto is loaded with all the necessary picnic, fishing, and outdoor living paraphernalia and hitched to the car is a boat and trailer.

Suddtnly the family is transformed from average ex-urban type people into adventurers, explorers, and pioneers.

The largest growing sport and family pastime in the United States is boating and water sports.

MORE AND more families throughout the country own boats but not all families can afford the fee required for membership in a yacht club or other boating facility.

This fact gave rise to trailers with families taking their boats to the water for a day's pleasure sailing or boating.

As soon as the subject of boats is discussed, the first question is: Well, isn't that expensive and therefore, beyond the average families' reach?

The indications from boating and trailer manufacturing companies indicate just the opposite.

For instance if a family, of moderate circumstance, wanted to purchase a 16-foot sailboat complete with sails—and trailer, the total price would be about $1,789.

The trailer itself, which is custom designed for the particular boat it hauls according to the quoted price of a manufacturer, Lofland Sailcraft Inc., of Kansas, with a branch office in River Forest, Ill., is $189.

This total cost of slightly more than $1,600 is far from an exorbitant figure and certainly within the reach of the average family, who wants to make sailing or boating a hobby.

The trailer itself can be stored in a garage or even in a backyard when not in use.

IT IS DESIGNED so it is easily attached to the back of a car and may be pulled with complete safety at any speeds.

When arriving at a boating area, the driver only has to back it down the launching area, slide the boat into the water, and he is set for a day on the lake or river.

The boat is just as easily replaced on the trailer at the day's end.

Trailers are built for all types of boats; however, the usual boats, which are hauled are "run-abouts," the smaller sailboats, and outboard boats.

The larger boats are stored in shipyards when not in use and then taken to the launching place by some other method, such as a truck.

MANY OF the championship sailboat racers trail their boats to the various races and even trail to their own club because of the shortage of mooring.

Automobiles again prove to be an able partner in family fun and an interesting companion to boats and trailers. (SS

Dauphine Adds Luxury To Its Economy Cars

The big news in the Renault Dauphine for '63, according to Harry Ganey, head of Ganey Motor Sales, Arlington Heights, "is the multitude of engineering improvements and touches of luxury that have been combined to give Americans just the car they want."

A fully-synchronized, three-speed transmission and "Aerostable" suspension system makes this 32-horsepower, 40-mile-to-the-gallon economy sedan more durable than ever before.

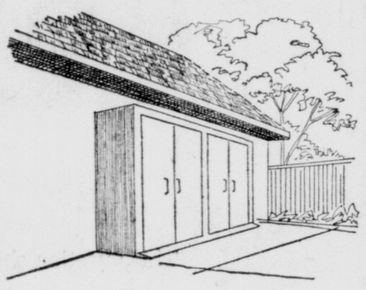
Four-wheel Lockheed hydraulic-type brakes, rack and-pinion steering with return springs, and anti-corrosion battery terminals are a few of the additional features of the new, '63 Dauphine.

"The new Dauphine is tougher and more rugged than ever before," according to Ganey, who said that one example of this new ruggedness is the Dauphine's Aerostable suspension system. Two atmospheric cushions and four shock absorbers in four coil springs automatically smooth out rough driving conditions.

"THIS CAR was designed for the person who wants an attractive and reliable four-passenger, four-door sedan at a reasonable price," says Mr. Ganey, whose dealership is located at 1824 W. Northwest Highway, near Wilke Road, Arlington Heights.

Over a quarter of a million of these little, rear-engine French cars have been sold in the United States.

IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS



If the location of your home, whether it be new or old, doesn't permit you to have a basement, you need some form of outdoor storage for lawn furniture, garden tools, mowers, toys and bicycles.

If you have a garage, your problem is partly solved — if the garage is large enough to accommodate all tools, toys and miscellaneous items and still leave some room for the family automobile during inclement weather.

If the garage is too small, or if you have only a carport, then you need storage space. A unit of the type shown above can be constructed inexpensively by the do-it-yourselfer or the professional carpenter.

If there is room under carport, place unit beneath overhang, giving it some protection from the weather.

Regardless of whether unit is under carport or attached to back of garage, choose quality, weather-resistant materials for construction. Ask your lumber dealer for recommendations.

75 Per Cent Motor Here

by TOM TULLY

Horseplayers coming to Arlington Park this summer will applaud the construction taking place at Euclid Avenue and Northwest Highway. Two-headed Charley and his friends have found in the past that their autos can't cover that first mile and an eighth in anything resembling the pace set by the four legged wonders inside.

Although nameless, the construction could aptly be named the Euclid Cloverleaf. It will provide the racing addict with much quicker access to Route 53 and the Northwest Tollway.

The only problem is that construction plans label the completion date as two or two and a half years in the future. In the meantime, a half hour to an hour and a half, depending on where you get your information, is needed to release the area of traffic congestion.

ARLINGTON draws 14,000 to 15,000 fans through the week, with an additional four or five thousand showing up on Wednesday for the Stakes races. Saturday lures about 25,000, and a holiday may draw 40,000.

Of these numbers, 75 per cent come by car. On an average day this means 5-7,000 cars, but the track parking lots holds 12,000 cars and, on big days they fill it.

Park PR man Harry Sheer estimates that 80 per cent of these cars are still in the lot at the end of the ninth race, or approximately 5:45 p.m.

There are five gates, and Sheer says that most fans, being repeaters, seek parking positions close to a gate that will release them to their routes quickly.

To aid traffic, there are 10 to 15 park-employed officers on duty within the park premises. On busy days a helicopter is employed, and, with the aid of a walkie-talkie, directs the flow and routing of the traffic.

OUTSIDE THE lot, the park employs policemen from the neighboring towns. Most of these men are school crossing guards on vacation. These men regulate traffic at residential corners.

The key intersections, Central and State for example, are manned by regular policemen employed during their off-duty hours.

According to Arlington Heights Police Chief William Calderwood, the tollway has already helped alleviate the problem. Where Arlington used to furnish as many as 16 policemen, the figure was down to about a dozen last year, and Calderwood sees another decrease this season.

The final measure in dispersing traffic is handled by the police departments of the surrounding villages. Included are Arlington Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, and even Mount Prospect.

The chief function of these on-duty officers is the manual regulation of lights at busy corners on route 14. The local policeman is there to protect the residents coming home from work. For example, a string of 40 or 45 cars will be stopped to allow a single car through from the side street.

On the other hand, the traffic moves faster because the light does not turn red unless a car approaches on the side street.

Lattof Ranks Third In Customer Service

In 1936 Nicholas Lattof opened a Chevrolet dealership on State Road in Arlington Heights.

"We had one mechanic and half a salesman," he recalls.

Today, Lattof Chevrolet has 70 employes and the largest automobile and truck facility in the northwest suburbs.

LAST YEAR, the firm doubled the size of its body shop, increasing its service department by 100 per cent. The expansion included an addition to the truck display department.

Of some 150 Chevy dealerships in the Chicago metropolitan area, Lattof ranks third in customer service. But Nicholas isn't resting on his laurels.

On the drawing boards are plans for expansion of the auto display showroom, and another addition to the body shop which will again increase truck repair facilities.

The firm also operates a car and truck rental service, offering leasing pl[illegible] by the day, week, month—or even up to two years if desired.

LATTOF'S MECHANICS are qualified to repair any make or model on the market, including the complicated sports cars, and foreign makes.

Now in its 27th year, the firm is the oldest continually operating new car and truck dealership in Arlington Heights. It moved to the present location, 800 E. Northwest Highway, in 1954.

Before that, Lattof sold automobiles at 32 S. Evergreen, and State Road.

Nicholas remains president of the firm. His son, Warren Lattof, is vice-president.

Local Firm Expands Its Radiator Shop

Winkelman's, a firm which which has been in Arlington Heights since 1930, recently expanded its radiator shop to the extent that owner Elroy Winkelman says confidently, "No job is too big or too small."

A big hydraulic lift capable of hoisting 750 pounds has been installed to accommodate caterpillar tractors and heavy duty trucks and equipment.

Also in the new 30 by 30-foot radiator shop is a 68 by 68 inch boil-out tank, a huge vat in which dirty radiators are "cooked clean."

A NEW FLUSH booth through which renovated radiators pass [illegible] also been installed.

"We have three full-time radiator men on duty and offer pick-up and delivery service," explained Elroy Winkelman, Jr., who runs the business with his father.

The younger Winkelman said the firm has a complete line of new and rebuilt radiators for cars and trucks in addition to heaters for vehicles.

The firm, at 115 E. Davis St., also sells and repairs lawnmowers and bicycles. The elder Winkelman started the firm when he was 18 years old. A year ago, March 24, he became a grandfather.

What happens when you hit 90 mph in a Volvo P1800?

For one thing, you use no more gas than you would in a Volkswagen at 70 mph. For another, you haven't reached top speed. For still another, you relax because you're driving a car that Road & Track magazine describes like this, "The P1800 is a very civilized touring car for people who want to travel rapidly in style, a Gran Turismo car of the type much in the news these days—but at a price that many people who cannot afford a Ferrari or Aston Martin will be able to pay." One more thing: you don't have to drive a P1800 90 mph in order to enjoy it. Any legal speed limit will do. Come in and see what we mean.

Engine Whisper Quiet

Grand Lady of Road Still Draws Glances

Touring Car Bears Years With Grace

by BILL HALLS

Next to the glossy black German limousines and the slick-swift British sports cars, she looks a bit outdated perhaps, but the 1937 Packard touring limousine bears her 26 years with dignity.

The eyes of customers browsing through the Mark Motors showroom, 2020 East Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, are quickly attracted to the newer, flashier models, but it isn't long before their attention is diverted to the grand lady in the far corner.

Her tasteful maroon coat is worn a bit higher at the windshield, and the lines are cut straighter than today's fashion, but the top is real (if reconditioned) leather, and the hood ornament, a graceful swan, is the final stamp of unmistakable elegance.

AFTER 78,000 miles she can still hold her own with the newer models.

"We had her out the other day, and she was up to 85 in no time," beams Bill Hudgins of the Mark sales staff. "That engine is whisper quiet."

Hudgens is a salesman—true enough—but one detects an added lilt in his voice as he talks about this machine.

The V-12 cylinder engine pulls 6,000 pounds on a 144-inch wheel base. The tires would fit a large truck.

The plush rear seat is still covered with the original luxurious upholstery, and flanked by two small cabinets, each containing a lady's vanity. There's a two-way radio. The chrome microphone is concealed in a handy sidecover, sewn into the armrest.

An AM radio is close at hand, and a small clock is centered above the window partition which separates the rear seat from the chauffeur's compartment.

The same plush upholstery engulfs the front seat. The dashboard would put a DC-6 instrument panel to shame.

Hudgins said Mark Motors picked up the Packard in a straight trade for a 1963 Mercedes Benz. The former owner is Charles A. Jurack of McHenry. The firm's asking price for the Packard is $2,000.

"I COULDN'T drive it enough to justify keeping it," explains Jurack, who owned the car for 11 years. "An automobile like that needs use. The oil has to permeate the engine parts."

Jurack, who purchased the car from the original owner in 1942, declined to disclose the name of the man from whom he bought the suave limousine.

But he did say the original dealer's price was $10,000 and that less than 20,000 of the autos were manufactured on and off from 1916 to 1938 when the line was discontinued.

Packard, for a brief period for 1926 to 1933, did not build any V-12 cylinder cars.

Although the original ownership remains anonymous, one can imagine a Gustave Swift or Mayor Ed Kelly sinking back into the luxurious upholstery as the car sped down Michigan Avenue for an important conference.

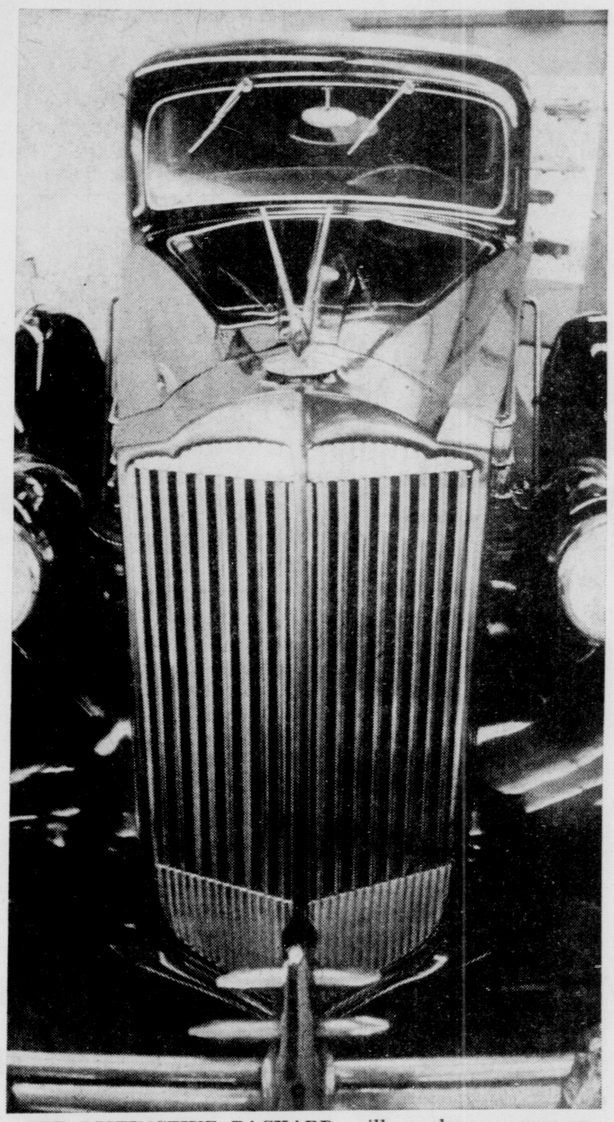
Jurack said the car averaged about 10 miles to the gallon, a fact which no doubt influenced his use of the machine. He drove the car about once a month on the average, primarily as a hobby.

AN INTERESTING feature about the car was that the doors on the driver's side were sealed tight.

"It was primarily a chauffeured car," explained Jurack. "The chauffeur would exit from the passenger side, and open the doors."

There was a sad note to Jurack's voice as he spoke of the car, as if it were a former lover.

"I hope they sell it to someone who will take pride in the car as I did," he said simply.



THE DISTINCTIVE PACKARD grill, no longer seen on American highways, provided the owner of the V-12 cylinder Packard Touring limousine with a special elegance. The vertical grill vents, which could be opened or closed by use of a dashboard switch, helped control the engine and interior temperatures. (SS

Volvo Safety Belts Standard Equipment

A unique three-point safety belt is being included as standard equipment on all new Volvo automobiles, according to Marvin Pollard of Pollard Motor Co., Elmhurst, dealers for the Swedish-made cars in the western suburbs.

Pollard said it's the first time that any automobile manufacturer has offered safety belts as standard equipment in all models of its line.

THE SPECIAL belt is a combination lap and chest type with a three-point attachment. It consists of a single band extending diagonally downward over the chest and across the hips. The band is anchoraged to the car at three separate points — on the door pillar at a height above the shoulder; on the floor below the door; and on the drive shaft tunnel where the single catching device of the belt locks into place.

Pollard said the three-point belt is the only one of its kind in the world, exceeds maximum medical and technical safety requirements. Its patented locking device can be engaged or disengaged with one hand in a matter of minutes.

WHEN NOT in use, the belt hangs at the door pillar so that the strap does not touch the seats or floor of the car.

Describing the three-point belt as "an adavncement in automobile safety," Pollard said it was a significant addition to other safety devices offered in Volvo cars. Among these, he noted, are a padded dashboard, padded sun visors, safety steering wheel, collapsible steering column, safety windshields, and safety tubeless tires.

Volvo cars available in the U.S. include the P1800, sports styled car of the Grand Turismo type; the 544, Volvo's all time best seller; and a new 122S series consisting of two-door sedan, a four-door sedan and a four-door station wagon.

Import sales of Volvo cars in the U. S. last year totaled approximately 13,950 units — an increase of 26 per cent over 1961 unit sales. Since 1960, Volvo has jumped from tenth to fourth place in the ranking of top selling imported cars. (SS

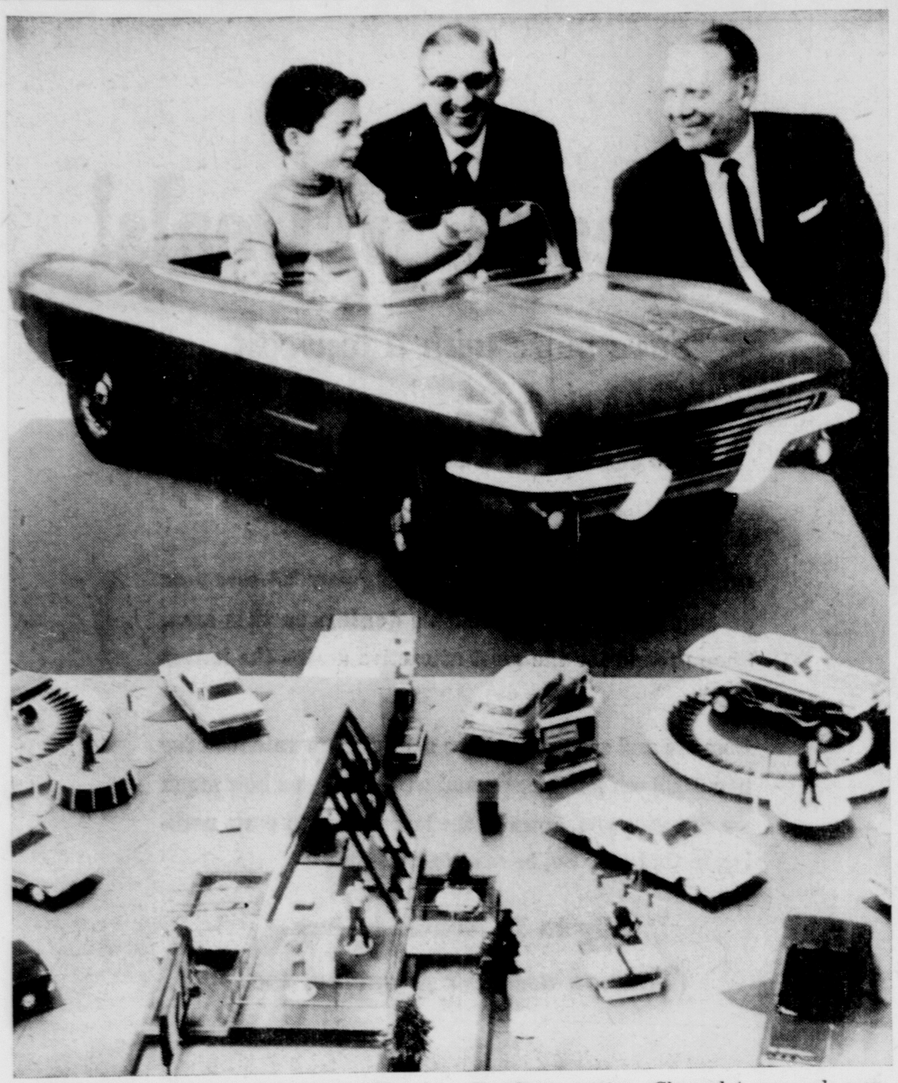
Popular Lake Auto Trip Once Made by Canoe



A MINIATURE electric-powered replica of the popular new Corvette Sting Ray was one of the features in Chevrolet's exhibit at the 55th annual Chicago Automobile Show held in February at McCormick Place. Bruce Sorrentino, 11-year-old from Detroit, examines the little car with Semon E. Knudsen, center, Chevrolet general manager, and Larry Averill, general sales manager. Slightly over 6½ feet long, the little Sting Ray has a molded fiberglass body exactly along the lines of the Chevrolet sports car which has won the 1963 Car Life Engineering Excellence Award. (SS

One of the most popular, if not the biggest favorite, of automobile trips in the Chicago region is a tour that was first made by canoe.

It is the automobile trip around Lake Michigan to see the sights viewed by Joliet and Father Marquette and other explorers (mostly French) 300 years ago or more.

It is a tour that will take the Illinoisan into three other states, and constantly remind him of the historic importance of the French missionary explorers to his own particular part of the Middle West.

IT IS ALSO a tour that will remind him that, although his state has endless miles of cornfields, it is also a land of water—big water.

Supposing we make our tour in a clockwise direction. No need spend much time in North Chicago or Waukegan,—we're out for bigger game.

North we go, past Kenosha and Racine—no, not past Racine. We must pause in Racine for at least a few minutes to glimpse the unique headquarters building of the Johnson Wax Co., designed by the great architect Frank Lloyd Wright.

Then it's northward-bound again, for Milwaukee. Now, what do we do in Milwaukee? Why, visit the breweries, of course.

The breweries are famous for their hospitality, and after showing a visitor how beer is brewed, they offer him some refreshment before sending him on his way.

Thus refreshed, the motorist is ready to head north again, this time for the Door Peninsula, one of the most attractive of all Lake Michigan areas.

The Door Peninsula stretches about 90 miles out into Lake Michigan. It got its name from the channel which separates the peninsula from Washington Island, which lies beyond its tip.

THE FRENCH called this dangerous channel Porte de Morts, which can be translated as "Death's Door." Thus the name "Door Peninsula."

It is one of the biggest cherry-growing areas in the nation, and a Cherry Blossom Festival is held each spring in the town of Sturgeon Bay.

If you feel you must visit Washington Island, a ferry will take you there. The island has two fishing villages and one of the largest settlements of Icelanders in the United States.

Beyond the Door Peninsula is Green Bay, home of the Packers and lots and lots of cheese.

Smaller, but perhaps more interesting, is the nearby town of Oconto, which was founded in 1669 as a mission by the French.

Near Oconto are the "Copper Culture Mounds," which contain the remains of a village believed to be 7,000 years old.

The traveler around the lake will leave Wisconsin and enter Michigan at the Twin Cities of Marinette (Wisconsin) and Menominee (Michigan), which are separated by the Menominee River.

When the Indians said "Menominee" then meant "place of the wild rice," but today the word suggests smelt fishing to sports lovers.

Both the cities on its banks sponsor smelt festivals in the spring, when buckets and buckets of the little fish are caught and a Smelt Queen is crowned.

FILL UP THE gas tank, and away we go, along the shores of Lake Michigan toward Escanaba and Manistique.

Here the travelers will see reminders of the Upper Peninsula's days of glory as first a lumbering and then a mining center. Now the peninsula hopes to regain that glory with the help of the Mackinaw Bridge, largest in the world, which we cross to get to the Lower Peninsula.

Now we're back in cherry country. So much so, that Traverse City has not one, but two, cherry festivals each year. One is the Blessing of the Blossoms in May and the other is the National Cherry Festival in July, when the fruit is ripe.

Traverse City is also the gateway to the Leelanau Peninsula, which might be considered Michigan's counterpart to Wisconsin's Door Peninsula.

Here are the Sleeping Bear Dunes, site of dune skiing, glider launching, and trips in the specially-built "dunesmobiles."

Although the Sleeping Bear area seems to have the most sand of any place, the whole Michigan shore of the lake is famous for its dunes and sandy beaches.

As the lake circler heads southward, he will find no lack of beaches. And if the "big lake" is too cold for him, he can swim in the warmer inland lakes.

FISHING IS good, too. Streams like the Boardman River and the Manistee River are among the most famous for trout fishing.

Homeward bound now, the traveler comes to Holland, Mich., and if he hurries, he'll be there in time for its well-known Tulip Festival.

The last lap of the trip around the lake takes the weary circumnavigator to Indiana. The smokestacks of Gary and the refineries of Whiting will provide ample evidence that home is not far away. Maybe you'd prefer taking the trip counter-clockwise and get them out of the way at the beginning.

Either way, it's a fine trip, full of things to see and do, and proof that some of the finest parts of America are just a few short hours by automobile from Chicago.

PROMONTORY; a high point of land or rock projecting into the sea. "A promontory on the mainland served as a guide to the sailors."

APPROBATION; approval; sanction; commendation. "When he made his announcement, he received the approbation of the assembly."

PANSOPHIST; a pretender to universal knowledge. (Pronounce pan-so-fist, accent first syllable). "The bombastic and somewhat dubiously qualified professor was accused of being a pansophist."

Ford's First — A Success

BILL COOK BUICK CO., Euclid at Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, has added a greatly enlarged facility for display of used cars. The area, shown here, is just west of the main office and plant, erected in 1960. A new office is being completed, designed for the convenience of used car customers. Carefully-planned lighting includes 1200 bulbs brilliantly illuminating the spacious lot. (SS

"A pleasing prospect it is that rises before us in contemplating this array of horseless vehicles. From the gradual displacement of the horse in business and pleasure will come economy of time and practical money-saving. In cities and towns the noise and clatter of the streets will be reduced, a priceless boon to the tired nerves of this overwrought generation.

"Then there is the humanitarian aspect of the case. To spare the obedient beast that since the dawn of history has been man's drudge . . . will be a downright mercy. On sanitary grounds too the banishing of horses from our city streets will be a blessing. Streets will be cleaner, jams and blockcades less likely to occur, and accidents less frequent, for the horse is not so manageable as a mechanical vehicle."

So harkened the "Horseless Age" in its first issue in January, 1896.

What that overwrought generation didn't know!

"We had to talk like that in those days," said one automotive pioneer, in retrospect. "We weren't any too sure of putting horseless vehicles over. People didn't like the notion."

They "put them over," and the way they did it makes interesting reading.

The life of Henry Ford, the most important of the automotive pioneers, is explored thoroughly in the over 1000-pages written by Allen Nevins and Frank Ernest Hill, "Ford: The Times, The Man, The Company," and "Ford: Expansion and Challenge."

The beginnings were simple. Ford's first engine, built after months of tinkering in his spare time, was tested in the kitchen of his home.

The engine, a small and crude affair, was mounted on a board and clamped to the sink.

He asked his wife Clara to splash the gasoline into a metal cup which acted as a crude carburetor, and feed it into the intake valve by turning a screw according to his instructions.

She dripped the first installment, and twisted the screw. Henry spun the flywheel. This action sucked a mixture of gasoline and air into the cylinder, and a spark was delivered. The engine coughed, another spin and it began to whirl, with flames coming from the exhaust valve and the sink shaking.

That was the ony time Ford tested his initial engine; it worked, and he was going on to better things.

He built his first large engine from an article on gasoline engines, accompanied by detailed drawings, from The American Machinist of Jan. 9, 1896.

It was a four cycle motor with two cylinders of two and a half bore and six inch stroke. The engine generated from three to four horsepower.

The engine provided for two speeds, one ten miles per hour and one twenty miles per hour. There was a neutral gear, but no reverse. Changes in gear were effected by a clutch lever which tightened or loosened a belt. The driver pulled back the lever to put the car in low, left it erect for neutral, and pushed it forward for high.

During the building of the engine and first car, the Ford family was hardpressed. His wife wrote that the materials for the car ate up all the family's surpluses above expenses.

Ford's first horseless carriage, a "quadricycle," was completed around 4 a. m. June 4, 1896.

But, alas, he had built the machine in the shed. Now that it was finished, it was too big to go through the door.

Ford did not hesitate; he seized an ax and knocked down a sufficient part of the brick wall. Mrs. Ford came out with an umbrella, for it was raining. And, a helper rode ahead on a bicycle to warn drivers of horsedrawn vehicles, if any were in the streets at that hour.

Ford put the clutch lever in neutral and spun the flywheel. When the motor came to life, he climbed to the bicycle seat, seized the steering rod, put the car in low, and started off.

The car drove a short distance, and then stopped.

He and his helper discovered that a spring actuating one of the "ignitors" had failed. They went to a nearby plant and got a new one. Ford and his helper, putting in the new spring, started the car, leaving a startled knot of spectators behind.

They drove back home, went to bed for some sleep, and reported to work as usual. Ford was satisfied that his first experiment was a success.

From that humble beginning, an empire was built.

IN THE TOP-OF-THE-LINE Ford Galaxie, the aerodynamically styled fastback sports hardtop shown here offers an optional 427-cubic-inch engine, most powerful ever produced by Ford. (SS

After Chicago Vote

Senator to Renew Fight For Death Penalty Halt

From United Press International

The emotion-packed issue of capital punishment, responsible for legislative soul-searching for almost a decade, will be introduced in the Illinois General Assembly "as soon as the Chicago mayoralty race is settled," advises Sen. Robert McCarthy.

But McCarthy, D-Lincoln, who has four times previously backed measures that would place a moratorium on the death penalty in Illinois, this time is taking a slightly different stand.

"I don't mind telling you," he said, "10 years ago I came down here as a wild-eyed liberal. But some persons have conscientious scruples against allowing hired assassins to escape the death penalty. Others feel the same way about thugs who kill policemen.

"I THINK if I exempted those categories, I could get the 30 (Senate) votes needed for passage. And that wouldn't really change the intent of my bill."

McCarthy said Rep. Abner Mikva, a Chicago Democrat, would join him in holding a news conference to help kick off their campaign for the bill. But he emphasized that they would hold off on the introduction of the measure to keep it from getting involved in the race for mayor of Chicago.

Neither McCarthy nor Mikva is planning to introduce measures that would place an outright ban on the death penalty. They would simply halt it for six years to determine how Illinois would fare without it.

McCarthy argues that it is a fallacy to hold that the death penalty acts as a deterrent to crime.

"A non-capital stage, Michigan, has a homicide rate less than Illinois," he said. "Non-capital Rhode Island has a smaller rate than Connecticut."

IN THE PAST, strong opposition to McCarthy's bills has come from police organizations and law enforcement groups. McCarthy is hoping that his decision to exclude "cop-killers" from the moratorium will stifle some of this opposition.

In 1961, when McCarthy last introduced his moratorium bill, there had been only one execution in Illinois in 12 years.

However, the question boiled up three times last year. In March, Vincent Ciucci, convicted of killing his wife and family, was put to death for the murder of his son after a long series of legal maneuvers to evade the electric chair. In August, James Dukes, was executed despite vigorous organized protests up to the very moment of his death.

Shortly before the Dukes execution, Gov. Otto Kerner issued a precedent setting commutation of sentence to condemned killer Paul Crump.

Five other men, all convicted of murder, now are awaiting execution in Cook County. If McCarthy's bill would pass, there would be tremendous pressure on Gov. Otto Kerner to spare their lives.

"The governor's with me on this," McCarthy said. "Every governor is. Then they wouldn't have to make the final decision on each man."

THE COMET SPORTSTER, a new hardtop version of Mercury's Comet luxury compact, is offered in the Custom series and the S-22 bucket seat series. Addition of this model raises the total number of Comet models to 14. (SS

TWO NEW FASTBACK hardtop models — the Mercury Marauder and Mercury Marauder S-55 — went on sale at Mercury dealerships in early March as mid-year additions to the Mercury series. The Maruader, above, has as standard equipment a 390-cubic-inch displacement V-8 engine. The Marauder S-55 features bucket seats and console-mounted gear-shift. (SS

YMCA Names Area Women to Council

The annual meeting of the Illinois Area Council of YMCA's, including delegations from YMCA's of the entire state, will meet in Peoria April 4, 5 and 6 in the Pere Marquette Hotel, according to Clifford E. Schneider of Peoria, President of the Council.

Attending the Area Council as delegates of the local Northwest Suburban YMCA will be Mrs. William J. Busse, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, Arlington Heights.

Over 200 delegates, including both 'Y' laymen and staff, meet annually in the Illinois Area Council. Delegates act cooperatively on inter - association goals, projects and concerns, making recommendations to local associations who in turn give consideration and act as they elect on these recommendations.

The Area Council program will feature such outstanding YMCA speakers as Dr. Paul Limbert, recently retired as Secretary - General of the World's Alliance of YMCA's in Geneva, Switzerland; J. Clinton Hawkins, former chairman of of the board of the National Council of YMCA's; Phil Hopkins, executive for field services of the national board, and Dr. Thomas Bennett, director of graduate studies, George Williams College.

The program will also include discussion groups on topics of current concern to local YMCAs.

Circulate 3 Sets Of Park Petitions

Plans for the formation of a park district being made by the Elk Grove Playground and Recreation Board came to a sudden halt last week.

The board is holding up further action because of the following developments:

1. Residents of the Village of Schaumburg, upon learning part of Schaumburg would be included in the proposed Elk Grove park district, began circulating petitions for their own district.

2. Necessary signatures were gathered and the Schaumburg petition filed March 18 at 9:02 a.m. with the county judge.

THE SCHAUMBURG petitions propose a park district which will follow closely Schaumburg village boundaries, including the western part of the proposed Elk Grove Park District.

The Township of Schaumburg meanwhile passed its own petitions around. The township petitions were filed one-half hour after those of Schaumburg Village.

Both Schaumburg groups beat Elk Grove to the punch.

Elk Grove Trustee Gene Keith is having another petition circulated, this one calling for the formation of a Park Commission, rather than a district.

RETIREMENT DAY PRESENTS THREE LONG-PANTS PROBLEMS

THERE are three problems every man and woman must face when they retire. They are long-pants problems—big and serious. They cannot be compromised with. They cannot be dodged. You must face them and whip them before you get on with your business.

The first is your concept of retirement.

In the main, your concept of retirement is negative—if you are like most people.

If you think of the tomato, you can perhaps find the right attitude on retirement.

The tomato was not always beautiful, red, and good to eat. It was poison, people thought, and therefore ugly.

Eventually they learned better.

Retirement is that tomato. It's a beautiful red, and good enough to eat. People just haven't learned it yet.

When you go into retirement, you have 60 to 65 years of living packed in your chest. You are a good physical package, or you would not have lived so long. You have good mental equipment or you would not be walking around free. You have freedom that will not end again, unless you choose it.

Your concept must be that you are graduating, not from something but to something.

The second problem of retirement is money.

There is simply no way around it—you must have some. But you don't need much.

You can live in Tucson, Arizona for less than $200 a month for man and wife. The Sunshine Club will tell you how. You can live in Florida, as a couple, for $200 a month. The Chamber of Commerce in whatever town you choose can give advice. You can live in the middle belt of the South, in small unpublicized towns in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas for less money than anywhere else.

In any of these places, you will live among at least a few people who have the same income you have. This is important. If you remain in the city where your salary has been four times what your pension is, and where people you know knew you when you made four times as much, you would be wise to find a job.

That will not be easy at your age, but it can be done if you will go to some small company and offer the talent you know best for a small salary. You may have to try and try again. It can be done if you will apply in enough places for a menial job.

The third problem of retirement is loneliness.

People you have known on your job will not have time for you after you retire. This is invariably true. Old friends, though they love you still, will drift away. Even your children will find less glamor in you.

Loneliness is a disease of retirement, and is no respecter of persons, positions or worth. Believe that. Then argue with yourself until you believe it that you MUST go out after retirement to grow a garden of new people to love you. There is no other way to escape loneliness.

Rambler Classic Line Features A New Model

S & H Rambler Motors, 500 Northwest Highway, Palatine, is now featuring an additional model in the Rambler "Classic" line of its very popular 1963 models.

The new 198-hp. V-8 engine is available in both sedan and station wagon models, and adds extra performance with economy.

Classic models in both 6 cylinder and V-8 models also offer a wide choice of options. Improved unit construction in Classic and Ambassador models incorporates new one-piece outer "unisides," replacing former multiple components with single stampings, for greater structural rigidity and quieter car operation.

WEIGHT IS REDUCED approximately 150 lbs.; precision fitting of doors is also another result of the new design. Curved side-glass windows, framed in anodized aluminum, add the attractive styling of these models, and also reduce wind noise.

The popular Rambler American model now includes additional new "hardtop" models for 1963, in addition to the two-door and four-door sedans and station wagons. A new "Twin-Stick" floor-shift transmission, with overdrive, offers five forward speeds, is available with the "American" models, as an option.

THE RAMBLER line for 1963 was awarded the "Car of the Year" Award, by Motor Trend magazine, after comparative analysis of the styling design and mechanical features of these American Motors Corporation cars.

S & H RAMBLER Motors, Palatine, is now featuring this additional model in the Rambler "Classic" line of its 1963 models. The new 198-horsepower V-8 engine is available in both sedan and station wagon models. (SS

School Bus Tax Boost Proposed

Taxpayers in Elk Grove School District 59 will vote in two weeks on a transportation tax rate increase from two to six cents.

The school board March 18 adopted a resolution establishing the referendum for April 13, same date as the school board election.

THE TAX increase is designed to offset a deficit in the transportation fund.

The rate increase will bring $34,558 more into the transportation fund, it was pointed out by board member Robert Palmer. (B8

Say 'Grand Prix'

2 Words of French Get You Anywhere

Do you know the two words of French that will take you anywhere you want to go and make you perfectly understood?

Well, Ridge Motors, 1588 Miner St., Des Plaines, will tell you the words are "Grand Prix," the name of Pontiac's most individual model.

When you buy a Grand Prix, it's understood you've selected a magnificent driver's machine.

A 303 horsepower engine from Pontiac needs no further explanation. And it's apparent you appreciate "Grand Prix" performance . . . meaning characteristics of ride, cornering and steering others know little about.

AT THE SAME time, your choice of a Pontiac Grand Prix indicates a sharp eye for understated beauty — beauty of form and line rather than for what automobile designers call "skinkle." But there's one thing about a Grand Prix only its owners understand.

Compared with the one or two cars that might be considered in its class Ridge salesmen say, the cost of a Grand Prix is a pleasant surprise.

Ridge Motors will let you put a Grand Prix to the test whenever you say.

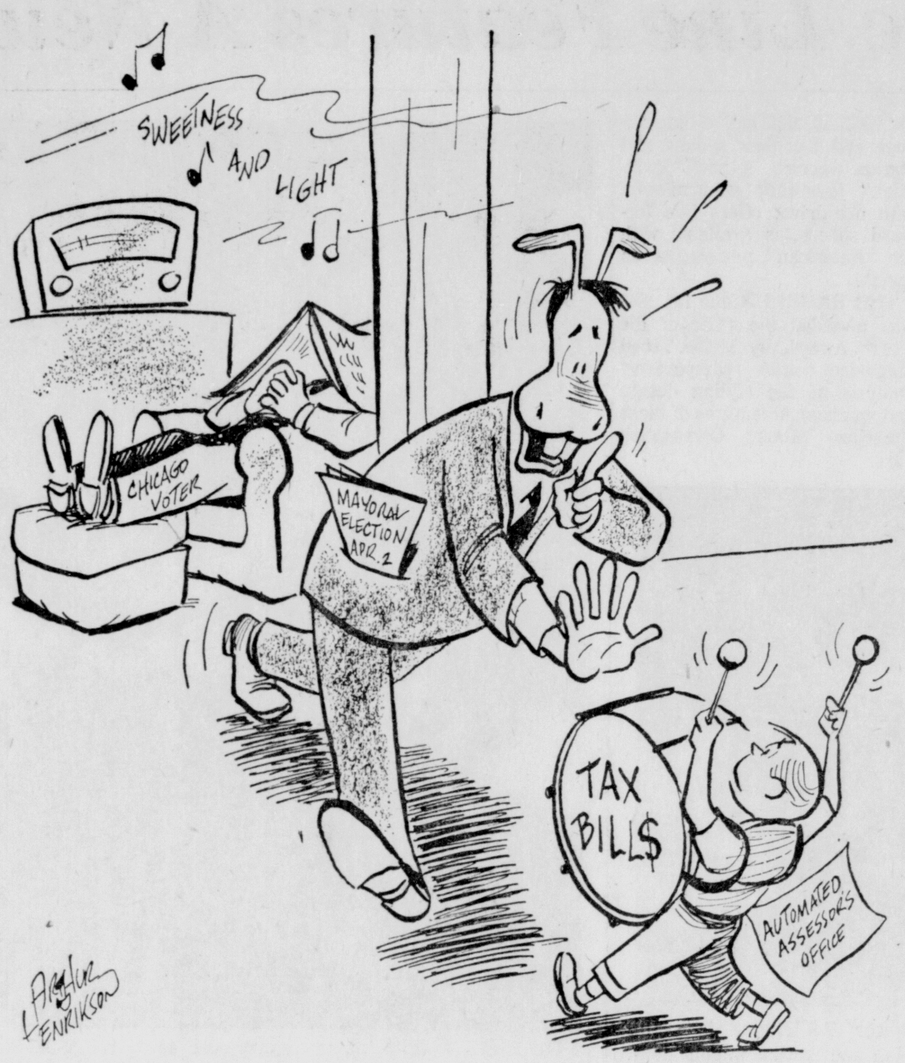
"Shh! Not Till Later!!"



The Way We See It

A Costly Election

Cook County officials, from the assessor to the clerk to the treasurer, have been blaming largely "mechanical" obstacles for the fact that the tax bills will not be out on time this year.

The more cynical political observers see something more deliberate about the delay. They believe the bills are being held up until after Chicago's mayoralty election is decided April 2.

Whatever the reasons, the results are damaging to school districts and municipalities which will be paying interest on tax anticipation warrants that much longer. In addition, building programs are postponed because bond issues are delayed until assessed valuation is determined and the tax bills are out.

It appears now that the bills may be as late as 30 days, and not mailed until April 10. Last year the 1961 tax bills were out on time, and the distribution of $100 million in tax money by a May 1st penalty date resulted in the savings of $2 million in interest fees on tax warrants.

County Treasurer Bernard J. Korzen, in seeking re-election to the post he was appointed to last year, introduced this fact into the campaign, noting that the tax bills were on time because of the ability of his office, which had been streamlined by automation, to make a prompt distribution of tax money after the bills had been mailed.

Korzen, however, points out that his office is the last one on the "totem pole" in terms of processing tax bills. After the assessor makes the tax assessment, the county clerk, who has in his possession estimated appropriations for all governmental agencies, determines the tax rate to charge based on the assessment.

The county's Central Services then applies the necessary multiplications and delivers the bills to the treasurer for mailing. The treasurer begins distribution after the tax bills have been mailed and the taxpayer begins responding.

The hitch this year, officials claim, is that there was an unusual number of division orders, i.e., subdivisions which were resubdivided so that the altered lots had to be reassessed. Urban renewal projects and condemnation for new expressways also forced assessors to work overtime, it was explained.

The fact that a reassessment of 25 per cent of Cook County land was undertaken this year was also blamed for the delay. The new law divides county reassessments into four areas. Previously, all real estate had been reassessed in a single quadrennial (four-year) reassessment. (For 1962, the reassessment included the Chicago township of Jefferson and the suburban townships of Hanover, Schaumburg, Elk Grove, Maine, Leyden, Proviso, River Forest, Riverside, and Norwood Park).

However, county tax experts at the time of the change to the four-area reassessment were quoted as saying that the change, plus the use of modern business machines, should eliminate costly delays of the past in assessing real estate.

It is possible that county officials overestimated the new procedures and office automation. It is also probable that their enthusiasm with improvements might have spilled over into some campaign oratory of their own.

It is true that taxpayers get an inkling of probable increases in their tax bills by noting the appropriations budgets government agencies are obliged to adopt beforehand. They also see what the tax rates of many agencies are before receiving their tax bill. This cannot be compared to their response upon actually opening their tax bill in the morning mail.

It appears that whatever breakdowns in tax machinery might have occurred, Chicago officials still are ultrasensitive about what the taxpayers may do.

Mayor Daley saw a bond issue he personally pushed go down in defeat in April of last year, and the setback was largely interpreted as a "taxpayers' revolt."

This faith in a taxpayers' rising, in fact, is the appeal around which Daley's GOP opponent in the mayoralty contest, Benjamin Adamowski, has built his whole campaign.

A Daley task force recently completed a study showing how tax rates in some suburban communities were climbing faster than the city's.

So it appears that the officials in power are extremely sensitive to the possible effect this year's tax bills will have on the public.

If the delay can be attributed in part to political caution, Chicago's mayoralty election will prove costly to many school districts and municipalities throughout Cook County.

Children's Agency Needed

A series of 21 bills to create a new Department of Children and Family Services has already received the approval of the Illinois House of Representatives and the Senate's public welfare committee.

The proposal faces two more tests: sanction by the Senate appropriations committee and by the Senate as a whole.

The bills represent the recommendations of the Legislative Commission on Services for Children and Their Families, a body composed of 10 legislators, three members from business, a clergyman and a county judge.

The plan would separate the nonpsychiatric services now handled by the Department of Mental Health, such as those provided for dependent and physically handicapped children, and give this responsibility to a new code department for children services.

The proposed department would act as a child protective agency, investigating cases where children might appear in school bruised, poorly clothed or underfed. It would provide a homemaker service where if, for instance, a mother was confined to a tuberculosis sanitarium and the father could not afford a housekeeper or relatives were not available, a homemaker would be obtained. (This would be considerably cheaper than the alternative of placing the children in a foster home, backers of the plan point out.)

Day care centers for working mothers and family counseling services would also be provided by the department.

An important element of the proposal is that families would pay a sum for the services geared to their income to help finance the department and to encourage a sense of responsibility on the part of the families.

Opposition has crystallized over creation of a new government agency and the expenditures it would take to support it. Others object to it on grounds that the logical agency for providing such services is the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

Unfortunately, children have often been shunted from one agency to another in an attempt to fit them in with the qualifications demanded by a particular organization, often without success.

The proposal seems to be a departure from the old methods the state has unsuccessfully employed in the treatment of mental illness and delinquency by institutionalizing the problems, locking them from sight.

The goal of the proposed department would be to keep families together instead of separating them by packing youngsters off to become institutional wards of the state.

We think the plan has merit and represents a sound investment.

Critic's Corner

World Orbits Toward...?

by TOM EDWARDS
Wheeling News Editor

The way the world is orbiting, it appears:

—The rule of "survival of the fittest" is still operating, and the "fittest" will finally prove to be the slimy molds from which life first dawned.

—Often overlooked is that the "fittest" and the "best" are not one and the same. Therefore, in the gutters of the city exist sparrows, starlings, rats and people. In the meadows and forests there are orioles, meadowlarks, clear streams and people — but the people slash aside the forests, burn the meadows and pollute the streams.

— Progress is continuing at a rapid rate. Page 8 of a March 24 daily newspaper announced that the U.S. has developed and is installing in 54 locations intercontinental nuclear missiles "1,200 times more powerful" than the Hiroshima bomb—but that Russia still has bombs nearly twice as powerful as ours.

EDWARDS

—(The striking force of a missile is referred to as "payload." What else in a monetary society?)

—Those in peace movements are making the blind error of all altruistic, life saving efforts. They fail to adequately consider what life is going to do with itself after being saved. Overpopulation is as great a threat to world peace as insular nationalism invested with thermonuclear weapons.

—Dualism rules the world: Either-or; Republican - Democrat; pro - con; conservative - liberal; Christian - heathen; Communism - Capitalism; male - female; Red - dead; annihilation - overpopulation . . .

—The greatest is often the simplest — and the simple thought underlying the world peace movement is perhaps the greatest offering of the age. It is: Why be "dead or Red," or a combination of the two? Why not take the alternative and be neither if one desires—and leave it for the people to choose, by reason rather than force of arms, their destiny?

—ANOTHER ERROR of peace movements: They fail to recognize that man must appreciate and assume a responsibility for all life, not just humanity, for all life is interrelated, and comes from the earth in proportion to its fertility.

—The results of present educational systems and the development of the mind of man have accurate gauges. Some are what the propaganda machines of Hitler and Stalin wrought, and the influence of advertising on the decisions of Americans. (President Kennedy has evidently recognized this—exhibited by the manipulation of news and greater emphasis on secrecy being condoned by him.)

—The rigidity of human thinking is reflected by its obsolete grammatical rules, where the form is hallowed and the function ignored. Unless the trend changes (as it is somewhat), eventually there will be a written and a spoken language, with the written language becoming deader than Latin—and the living language of the tongue again becoming the language of the pencil.

—The mind of man is also reflected by his upkeep of his roadsides, lawns, and fields adjacent to his communities. Everything is mowed short.

—To read without thinking is as bad as thinking about nothing, and learning can never be measured in the number of books read.

—Criteria of morality vary with societies and time. Example is the different attitudes through the ages toward infanticide — with the acquittal of the Belgium family which took the life of their thalidomide baby indicating another reversal in attitude is coming about.

—BOXING is "barbaric" and "contrary to natural principles," Pope John was quoted as saying March 24. Since the CYO is a prime sponsor of amateur boxing in the U.S., can a radical change be expected in the sport here?

—(Speaking of natural principles, this is also the Catholic Church's reasoning against birth control. Following this line of reasoning, then not to breast feed infants should be a sin, Christian Scientists are correct in their moral code on medicines and surgery, nudists have a point, the Amish have the right ideas on farming, and man should uninhibitedly give vent to his natural sexual instincts.)

—A coarse, vulgar environment can be expected to mold similar forms of life.

—Christianity is in error: The correction: Faith, Hope and Charity—and the greatest of these is Love.

The Death of Youth

Moments of Nostalgia

By BOB CUMMINS

The other day my daughter asked about the origin of the rather old-fashioned term, "ice box."

So I told her how people used to have these wooden boxes in their kitchens. The boxes had shelves and a compartment for a cake of ice.

I told how the cake of ice was supplied by a man with a horse-drawn wagon, who came down the street every day.

CUMMINS

The iceman gave my mother a card, which she would put in the window. The card was divided into quandrants, and each one had one of these figures: 25, 50, 75 and 100.

If we needed 50 pounds of ice, my mother would place the card so that the figure 50 was on top. Then the ice man would chop off a 50-pound chunk of ice, grab it with his tongs, and tote it into the kitchen on his dripping wet shoulder.

The different ice companies would maintain gloomy big warehouses, often near a lake. In the winter, their employes would cut ice from this lake, and store it in these dark, cavernous warehouses, insulating it with layers of sawdust so it wouldn't melt when the weather turned warm.

Some of these ice houses are still standing. I don't know what they are used for. But I do know that one in Nashville was still on its feet a couple of years ago, because I was twisting the radio dial, and unexpectedly picked up the broadcast of a baseball game between Nashville and Birmingham.

I tuned in just as a home run was hit.

"There it goes!" cried the announcer. "Going, going, gone. Up against the ice house!"

It seemed that home runs hit over the right field fence at Nashville banged against the massive wall of the old ice house.

My daughter was amazed that I should have such a clear memory of these "good old days." So was I.

All the talk and reminiscence stimulated feelings of nostalgia, but obviously there was nothing to mourn in the passing of the ice box.

It was inefficient, a nuisance, time wasting, expensive and its replacement by a plug-in electrical appliance was a boon.

So it is with most feelings of nostalgia. They aren't valid. The afflicted person is not mourning the passing of the ice box or the Model T, but rather the passing of his youth.

Very few worthwhile things of the past have been lost. A great many poor things have been eliminated or improved, however.

A couple of decades hence, a few of us will recall the 50-mile hikes and "The Beverly Hillbillies" and exclaim, "What a great year 1963 was!"

It will be a silly emotion, and I am sure the feeling will pass quickly.

Sociological Drama

An Assault on Being

by MARTIN E. MARTY

This spring you can treat yourself to a witty, suspenseful, irritating, clever, angry little paperback for $.95.

From the list of adjectives which we have strung out in the first two lines you may feel it is a book of humor or drama, mystery or biography.

Without doubt, such a book will provide the paperback cover artists with all kinds of possibilities: some lush design will almost force you to grab it off the bookrack at airport or drug store. Let's see what title some genius gave it.

The title of the book in question is "Invitation to Sociology: a Humanistic Perspective." The author is Peter L. Berger (Doubleday Anchor Original).

But now that we have plunked the title on the table, we may have lost the majority of our intended readership.

MARTY

Sociology? Ugh! Isn't that the discipline where scholars are suspicious of everyone else; isn't that where they sort of look through you; where they treat people like bugs and count, count, count?

Don't sociologists act as if things are true or right if the majority of people do them? Aren't sociologists the kind of people who treat others like fruit flies, mounting specimens?

WELL, THEY CAN be and sometimes are. But despite the direct but unfortunate title, Peter Berger shows that sociology is more than this, other than this.

Berger is a young Connecticut professor whose specialty is sociology of religion. Here in the suburban churches we wince when his name is brought up. Not that he is anti - religious or anti - Christian; anything but that.

But he is critical of most institutional forms of religion today. He is also, perish the thought, anti-clerical. He has to be reckoned with, however, and this book shows why.

"Invitation to Sociology" begins with a quiet invitation to face the study of man as a hobby, an individual pastime. The author warns that it is not a game for everyone. It has its appeals: you can justify all kinds of interests as "social research;" sociology has about it an element of professional peeping-Tomism.

But it is also a discipline demanding hard work and one will not get far in it, even as a pastime, without some significant effort. Berger further shows how it is a form of consciousness, a way of looking at life or through it.

THE AUTHOR'S basic vision is one which finds the whole social fabric to be a drama. To escape from bewilderment, anarchy, and chaos, we form or see formed social groupings: schools, families, churches, nations, clubs.

We develop ideologies or idea-patterns to justify them. We take these ideologies for granted as being true; to question them becomes an assault on our very beings.

Yet the sociologist does question them; he wants to see behind the curtain and behind the scenes of the social drama.

Berger's clue to authentic life in the fiction, the drama, the comedy of social life appears in a short chapter on "How to acquire scruples and keep on cheating."

He defines the kind of humor, the kind of cheating, the kind of ploying necessary for one who wants to keep his integrity.

YOU COULD borrow my copy, except that it is scribbled full; its witticisms are underlined, its outrageous moments faced by my own scrawled arguments.

Well, for $.95 you can't go wrong; don't let the dull prose of the title throw you off the trail of a potentially exciting endeavor.

Now Biennial

Annual Legislative Sessions Needed to Conduct Business

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

In 1839—124 years ago—the Sagamo Journal of Springfield published a letter of one of the state's leading businessmen, Thomas Hinde, written to Governor Thomas Carlin.

The letter read:

"When the Constitution of Illinois was adopted, I approved of the biennial session; I am now convinced by the great changes produced by our vastly enlarged and extended population, that annual sessions of the Legislature indispensable."

After 124 YEARS we still do not have the reform he suggested, and our state today really has a vastly enlarged and extended population. At the time he wrote that letter, for example, the Chicago population was 4,800. According to the 1960 census the Chicago population was 3,550,404.

What happens now is that the legislature meets for six months every two years.

Between those sessions, legislative commissions work preparing legislation for the next session, special sessions are occassionally called by the governor—and an election takes place.

The legislature is the board of directors of the state. It would be ridiculous for a one million dollar business not to have a board of directors meeting except every two years—and the state of Illinois is a three billion dollar business — more than 3,000 times as important in the lives of many citizens.

Now we must guess how many students there will be in the schools three years from now; sometimes we have guessed correctly, sometimes incorrectly. In the field of Public Aid it is impossible to predict the employment picture more than two years ahead of time, and yet that is the way we have to make up our appropriations.

Perhaps even more important than the budgetary field, there are laws passed in each session that clearly must be revised.

Open Season On Walkers?

I am reluctant to write this letter because of some uncomfortable results of previous efforts to halt "progress." But my better judgment is overcome by the recollection of my pedestrian attempt each morning to cross Northwest Highway at Dunton to catch the 7:20 a.m. train to Chicago.

Progress calls for the traffic signal to stay green on Northwest Highway while the gates at the railroad crossing are down as the train arrives at the station. Human nature tells me to cross the highway because, who knows, the train may leave without me - me with hungry mouths to feed.

AND SO THE game begins trying to outwit the drivers who have the right of way and know it. The diesel truckers I respect and avoid but it is discouraging to find that a tired looking 1936 jalopy two blocks away is actually a souped up job that is suddenly upon me, eyeball to eyeball. I also wish to cry "foul" on those cars that seem to be heading for me with malice aforethought and then at the last second switch on their right turn signal and try to clip some happy soul who has managed to make it across ahead of me.

I know I am wrong to cross against the light, but it is not clear to me why the lights (which I help pay for) are set to favor through traffic (which doesn't.) All I ask is for a little old fashioned traffic signal that changes from green to red to green every few minutes or so.

Series Focused On Unfortunate

Your excellent series on the migrants entitled, "Harvest's End," has been brought to our attention. You are to be congratulated for so vividly spotlighting the problems of these unfortunate people.

Only through your kind of excellent journalism can we make people aware of the conditions under which so many farm workers live in the midst of our abundant society.

Scout's Mother Says Well Done

As the mother of a Cub Scout —may I say thank you for your coverage of our Den's Totem Pole project in your February 28 issue. We enjoyed the picture and accompanying article tremendously.

As a Girl Scout Leader for the past five years—may I take this opportunity to thank you for the fine coverage you have given our activities both in the Susie Scout Column and on special events.

As an eight-year reader of the Mount Prospect Herald—may I also take a few more minutes of your time to tell you some of the thoughts that have crossed my mind during the years.

I LOOK TO the Herald to keep me posted on "local" events. I do not care to "re-read" items that have already appeared in my daily Chicago papers. To me, and to many others with whom I have discussed the matter, the Herald is our source of information on issues directly concerning our community and the activities of its people. This is what we look for in a local paper.

You have a fine Women's Section and a Sports Section, now how about a YOUTH SECTION. There are many, many of your readers like myself who are pries'cativitiesofourconyou gpeoe marily interested in the young peoples' activities of our community, Scouts, Camp Fire, Y.M.C.A., Little League, Book Fairs, etc. Having these events grouped together instead of scattered throughout the paper would be greatly appreciated.

A common criticism seems to be that there is just "too much" paper and many find it difficult to locate items of particular interest to them. I have several neighbors who have discontinued purchasing the paper for this reason. It just became too big.

DO I SEEM overly critical? I really have enjoyed the Herald, and I do feel it presents a very fair picture. However I did want to pass on to you some of the things that have come to mind in eight years of reading the Herald and discussing it with neighbors and friends.

Thanks for listening, and may I wish you continued success.

Patient Likes Hospital Care

Having recently been a surgical patient at Northwest Community Hospital, I would like to express my appreciation of the excellent care given me during the course of my enforced stay.

The entire staff, including nurses, nurses aides, orderlies, volunteers and candy-stripers, were very dedicated in their efforts to alleviate, insofar as they could, the pain and discomfort of all the patients, including myself.

Despite overcrowded conditions, and lack of a full staff at times, none of the personnel showed any tendency to skimp on the normal duties required in a surgical ward.

I WOULD also like to thank the many friends and clients who went out of their way to find the unusual and pertinent greeting cards which also made a hit even with the blase doctors and supervisors.

An apology is in order to some of my clients, due to the failure of the editor to use a news release sent in long before I went into the hospital. From what I hear now, many clients had an unnecessary trip to my closed office, and this could have been avoided if the news editor had used the news item sent to him.

One final word of appreciation to the groups and individuals in the community who brightened my post-surgical convalescence by various tokens of friendship and concern.

Civil Defense Not a Disease

What is CD? A disease! No, CD stands for Civil Defense, a word which to Americans should be as common as fire department.

WD, of course, is for Wood Dale, and you know all about Wood Dale. About a month ago you read Wood Dale had a Civil Defense director. Big Deal! Who's that, or what's that? Well, a director of Civil Defense is someone who is not only bossy, but nervy and imposing. A director is also responsible for organizing and educating people on Civil Defense.

So what is happening in WD to CD?

WELL, SINCE the appointment, the Director has been calling, coaxing, and finding out almost everyone is aware of C.D. and really was only waiting to be asked to participate. All the ground work has been laid for State's approval of the Wood Dale Civil Defense Program. Almost 32 people are involved already and many more are needed. Again C.D. is important to everyone and not only in case of enemy attack but also Acts of God or village emergencies such as fires, explosions, plane crashes. States approval should be coming soon and at that time a grand meeting on C.D. will be held.

Remember C.D. is for everyone and everyone should be for C.D.

Critic Looking For Riposete?

After reading Bob Setlick's column "Critic's Corner," in the March 14th edition of the Enterprise, I can't quite shake the feeling that he's "putting us on." His column is so unbalanced in the picture he presents against the HUAC, that it almost seems like a gimmick to engage some spirited riposete with Mr. Pederson.

Personally, I think it's fun to read an exchange between contributors to the "Fence Post" and their critics, and I'm looking forward to this one. In charity to Mr. Setlik though, I almost wish he hadn't left himself quite so unprotected.

Lauds Suburban Living Award

On behalf of Eli Skinner Chapter, NSDAR I should like to extend our heartiest congratulations upon the award to you for the J. C. Penney prize. Our chapter appreciates the fine editorial know-how you have shown in our Suburban Living section.

Our news has been accepted and edited in such a way that the true story of the DAR program has been brought forth during the past two years. We appreciate the fact that through your efforts on our behalf very little if any news has been deleted from our articles. This is a great satisfaction to our press chairman. The most discouraging thing that can happen to a press chairman is to see her articles scalped so much that the message does not get across.

WE APPRECIATE your understanding and sympathetic attitude toward our Society, and trust your experience at the honors conference and workshop has been a happy one.

Thank you so very much for the good spread and excellent picture of our "Flapper" and the horrified brides of yesteryear. The Pageant "Whigs to Wigs" was a success and Mrs. Oster caught the feeling set by ton all over the stage, much to thanks for the nice article you the amusement of the audience, and was rewarded with the topmost applause. Legion Post Defends House Un-American Activities Unit

We believe Bob Setlik's comments about the House Committee on Un-American Activities deserve an answer. Although his personal opinions are of interest, he seems to rest his case against the HCUA on whether it accomplishes its "primary function" of "holding hearings for legislative purposes"? In answer we quote from the first chapter of "The Committee and Its Critics — A Calm Review of The House Committee on Un-Amrican Activities" entitled "The Committee and Its Critics" and written by William F. Buckley, Jr:

"It is not a necessary function of a House Committee to draft legislation. A House Committee may, without drafting a single piece of legislation, occupy itself usefully in overseeing the operations of government, or in examining attempts to influence government, or in apprehending the need for legislation - and needs no other warrant. But in fact, HUAC has created a considerable body of legislation, including the omnibus Internal Security Act of 1950." Mr. Setlik "may not consider this an important act of legislation. But the Communists do, and have fought it bitterly for years. It is, for all its shortcomings, an extremely ambitious attempt to hinder the activities of professional subverters with minimum molestation to the freedom of nonconspiratorial dissent."

BETWEEN 1941 and 1960 HCUA made 96 separate legislative recommendations to Congress. Thirty-five of these were passed by both the House and Senate and are today a part of the law of the land. These include five basic enactments:

The Smith Act of 1940, the Internal Security Act of 1950 (of which the Subversive Activities Control Act Comprises Title I), various provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 (the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act), the Communist Control Act of 1954 and the Espionage and Sabotage Act of 1954. When our President took office eight more bills embodying recommendations made by HCUA had been passed by the house (tho the Senate had not acted on them). During his first session, legislation on more than 30 separate matters involving HCUA recommendations by HCUA which cover executive policy matters rather than legislation. All other committees of Congress draw on the work and experience of HCUA and its staff when touching upon problems that relate to subversion as do individual congressmen (about 2,000 requests for information each year).

FURTHER AS Mr. Buckley says "the Committee on Un-American Activities is responsible for the development of more serious information, of a didactically useful kind, than the typical department of political science in the typical university—The scope is astonishing—Hundreds of hearings, a thousand publications, a library of expert testimony, qualify the work of the Committee as a supremely valuable repository of expert knowledge on the scope and meaning and particularities of the Communist enterprise."

Copious additional data on legislation can be found in the above described book which includes a minutely detailed "Record of the Committee's Work." As to answers to Mr. Setlik's contention concerning the danger of "a pathetic and defeated band of American Communists" and his opinion regarding the Committee's "infringing upon Constitutional liberties" we again commend the careful consideration of "The Committee and Its Critics" to the interested public (even Mr. Setlik). All the important criticisms of the Committee are taken up. Mail Doesn't Get Through?

Since it was necessary to dig up our street for new storm sewers, we, the residents, faced many inconveniences. Not only how do we get our cars in and out, but what about the many delivery services we take for granted?

May I present a verbal bouquet to the many dairies who service our homes, the garbage men for faithful pick up, the newspaper delivery men, United Parcel, various diaper services and even a furniture delivery when it was necessary to carry a chest of drawers from the corner!

The only service denied us was the United States Post Office Parcel Post of Arlington Heights! Apparently their motto should be changed to read "The mail must not go through! Our parcel post was put aside in the post office marked "Road Closed" and forgotten about—apparently to be delivered after all work was completed.

THE PARCEL post man must have felt that carrying a package from the corner would have been an unnecessary strain and if I had not known the package was due and called the post office about it, who knows what would have happened to it as he didn't even feel it necessary to send a notice by the daily delivery man to let me know it had arrived.

When, if ever, are we going to have a post office in Arlington Heights that carries out the function for which it is intended?

DON'T BE CORN-FUSED

Lots of people get confused when it comes to writing a classified ad. Do you? If so, here are a few simple rules to make ad writing easy. A good ad is just conversation in print. So when you're preparing to place an ad, just write it the way you'd tell your neighbors about it

Avoid Abbreviations

Ready to write the ad? Please, no abbreviations. Studies of advertising show that abbreviations decrease readability. You want people to read and understand your message. Make it as easy for them as you can.

Why Leave Them Guessing?

What do you want to sell or buy? If it's an appliance, what's the brand? What's the size or capacity? Model? Year? Any accessories included? Does it need repair, or is it ready to use? Now put yourself in the buyer's position. If you were reading this ad, what would you like to know? Price? By all means, put that in. In nearly every ad, price is the most important information. Anything else missing? If so, fill in those blanks, too. All clear now? OK, just a few more little points.

Don't Cut Off Your Own Nose

Once this ad has been completed, read it over. It's fine to eliminate a word here and there, but don't "edit" it to the point where the reader may have to guess at the meaning. You might save a few pennies and lose dollars in results.

Ordering Is Easy

Just write, phone or visit Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

The Heck With It

If any of this seems complicated, don't lose your grip. You can still place your ad. Just pick up your telephone and call. We have 16 trunk lines to serve you with an experienced ad writer on each one waiting to help you.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

THE MONSTROUS MUSHROOM made its debut last weekend as the site of the high school basketball championships in Illinois.

No longer staged in cozy Huff Gymnasium, the prep cage spectacular was played for the first time in the University of Illinois' beautiful Assembly Hall on the prairie south of Memorial Stadium.

Sixteen thousand fans are able to witness the state tournament now instead of the 6,000 who had to be literally packed into Huff Gym.

But this new Assembly Hall, certainly one of the world's finest facilities for basketball, takes getting used to. Anyone who was in attendance in Champaign for the schoolboy finals would probably admit that the tourney lost some of its flavor when it moved from Huff Gym to the Assembly Hall.

There was a whole new atmosphere to the tournament. As one reporter commented, "It was something akin to replacing an old rocking chair with beautiful but angular modern furniture."

Several fans expressed preference for Huff. We certainly aren't in that group.

"Competition between fans has almost been ruined in the new hall," one observer commented. "I know of several people who were seated on top who wanted to cheer for their teams but couldn't because of lack of communication between the sections.

"It was too impersonal for such an emotion-packed tourney as the state finals."

Huff Gym rocked with excitement during the previous state tournaments. High school rooters were packed together so closely that excited fans could barely move without starting a mass movement by a whole section of people.

Pandemonium bounced and reflected off the walls as over 6,000 vociferous fans roared their approval—or their wrath—at the action on the court.

An atomic blast would be needed to shake the Assembly Hall or at least something stronger than two widely separated rooting sections.

We had excellent seats and could follow all the action but admit missing being able to distinguish expressions on the faces of players and coaches.

Al Willis of the Illinois High School Association said, "Games in the Hall appear more like stage productions."

As one member of press row commented, "Progress can be painful at times, and transition can be traumatic, but the overall good is what must be kept in mind."

No truer words were said at the tourney. Don't forget there's no nostalgia for the youngsters who make up the bulk of the crowd.

They didn't see the tournament in Huff Gymnasium.

WE CERTAINLY SHOULD HAVE learned a lesson on forecasting schoolboy basketball games after watching our choice, Rockford Auburn, stumble in a first round contest.

But we'll undoubtedly be back at the guessing game about this same time next year.

Our spouse tabbed Carver while we tabbed Rockford. Needless to say, our face was red both Friday afternoon when Auburn was eliminated and Saturday evening when Carver copped the big prize.

WE'RE VERY MUCH IN FAVOR of eliminating the third place game in the state tourney.

Give the schools identical trophies and save Saturday evening for the championship contest.

The boys reach an emotional peak in the semi-finals. A loss drains them emotionally.

Take this year's tourney, for example. Peoria Central took Carver into overtime and Springfield Lanphier gave Centralia fits before falling.

Both clubs could just as easily been playing in the championship game, and they had to knock heads in ragged battle for third.

IN SUMMARY OF A VERY ENJOYABLE weekend in Champaign-Urbana, Carver just had too much muscle for the Orphans of Centralia.

In a battle of raw ability against sheer power, power won out.

Prospect's Bogart Flashes To Double Win at Evanston

Speedster Larry Bogart flashed to victories in both the high and low hurdles last weekend, carrying Prospect High's indoor track team to a sixth place finish in the 10th annual Evanston Relays.

The swift junior, who recorded the fastest high hurdles time in the state two weeks ago in the Interim League meet, duplicated his effort in the 60 yard high hurdles, hitting the tape in 7.7 seconds.

He came back to take the low hurdles in 7.2 seconds to become the only double winner in the Evanston meet, considered one of the toughest prep indoor track events in Illinois.

BOGART ALSO ran a leg on the Knights' four-lap relay team—which finished in a tie for fourth place—to account for most of Prospect's 17 team points.

Terry Sietmann finished right behind Bogart in the high hurdles. John Carsello, Dan Johnson, and Jim Renner made up the rest of the relay squad which tied Maine West.

Bogart's feat is even more impressive because he defeated Bill Stange of Evanston, Suburban League high and low hurdles champion, and one of the leading prep runners in the Chicago area.

Evanston's overwhelming depth powered the Wildkits to 74 points for the team title. Neighboring New Trier was second.

Arlington Trackmen Drop Pair

Maine East wrapped up a double victory over Arlington High School Tuesday in an indoor track test at the Park Ridge fieldhouse.

The varsity Blue Demons posted a 60-31 decision, and the frosh-sophs dumped the visitors 69-30.

Arlington picked up four firsts in the varsity competition thanks to Bob Splitberger in the 440 yard dash (:53.9), Robin Auld in the mile run (4:44), Dan Bedford in the 50 yard high hurdles (:06-.7), and Bill Truax in the shot put (48-6).

Junior Bill Baumgart claimed seconds in both hurdle events in the varsity Cardinals' first dual of the 1963 cinder season.

Arlington registered three firsts in the younger division with Scott Stegall in the 50 yard dash (:05-.8), Phil Morris in the mile run (5:02), and a relay team.

Coach Russ Attis' Cardinals will be idle now until hosting Glenbrook North next Wednesday afternoon, April 3, in the outdoor opener.

South, Miner Finish 1-2 in Grade School Tourney at Prospect

South Jr. High School of Arlington Heights, coached by a former Arlington High wrestling standout, captured team honors in the recent VFW Post 981 Grade School mat tournament held in the Prospect fieldhouse.

Bob Schulze, who was a varsity wrestler for the Arlington Cards, saw his South Jr. High matmen roll up 112 points for an easy team victory.

Miner Jr. High finished second with 77 points and Jack London and defending champion Dempster tied for third with 71. Grove rounded out the team finishers with 31 markers.

A record number of competitors vied for individual honors in the tournament with 242 wrestlers according to tourney director Dick Mudge.

JR. VICE Commander Irv McDougall of Post 981 awarded patches to the individual winners and the trophies to the top teams.

Mudge of Prospect High, who served as tourney director, asserted that the 1964 meet will be held at Forest View in Arlington Heights.

"We plan to start rotating the trophy within the district," Mudge said. "Forest View will host the meet next year and then Arlington, the new Wheeling school, and so forth."

Mudge also stressed that

Top Field in Indoor Meet

Palatine, Prospect to Send Entries to Relays

by BOB FRISK

One of high school track's greatest shows, a sparkling climax to the indoor season, will be staged Saturday as the finest schoolboy performers in Illinois display their talents in the 33rd Annual Oak Park Relays.

Over 1300 competitors representing 77 high schools will convene at the Oak Park fieldhouse for the cinder spectacular that has attracted national attention through the years.

The record-breaking number of teams and athletes will vie for both individual crowns and team titles in three classes with the proceedings slated to get under way at 12:30 p. m.

PRELIMINARIES in the pole vault and high jump will kick off the Relays with track events opening at 1 p. m. The evening's finals will begin at 7:15.

Area schools Palatine and Prospect will both send entries to Oak Park and appear capable of picking up some points in the rugged Class A competition. The team title, however, should belong to defending champion Chicago Phillips.

In addition to claiming the Oak Park crown last winter, Phillips also annexed the coveted state championship and the Public League powerhouse is back almost intact this spring.

ROCK ISLAND, always a track power in the northwest and entering for the first time, Alton and Evanston may challenge Phillips for the Class A crown.

Riverside-Brookfield and Chicago University High, champions of Classes B and C in the 1962 Oak Park Relays, will be back to try to repeat and both boast formidable outfits.

Prospect's best bet for points rest with hurdler Larry Bogart who has been a standout thus far in the indoor campaign. Bogart has a snappy :07.7 clocking in the 60 yard highs, fastest in the state, and :07.2 in the lows, another swift effort.

HOWEVER, BOGART will be faced with a rugged field that includes both the Illinois and Indiana state champions in the lows and Illinois' third best in the highs.

In an interesting test Alton's Andy Johnson, who topped all Illinois low hurdlers last spring, will battle Crane Tech's Bob Hubbard, who ruled Indiana's preps over the low sticks. Hubbard transferred to Crane Tech and moved out to a fast start with a victory in the high hurdles in the city league indoor.

Whipping Hubbard in the lows at the city league indoor was Eddie Federick of Lane Tech, and Federick could be a factor in both hurdle events Saturday. He finished third in the 120 yard highs and fifth in the 180 yard lows as a junior in the state finals.

PROSPECT WILL also enter Terry Sietmann in the high hurdles and Tom Bremner in the lows. Sietmann finished behind teammate Bogart in the highs at the Evanston Relays.

The Knights' Dick Calisch also plans to enter a four-lap relay team of Johnny Carsello, Dan Johnson, Bogart, and soph Jim Renner, author of an Interim League record at 1:16.2, and a medley relay team of Renner, Carsello, Johnson, and Gary York.

Palatine's Pirates, third in the Naperville Relays, boast some possible point-getters, and coach Joe Johnson will have several entries in the Oak Park test.

DUANE BROOKS, the highly regarded junior sprinter and recent victor in the Naperville Relays, will get his severest test of the young season in the 50 yard dash.

Possessor of a fancy :05.5 clocking in a recent dual at Maine East, Brooks will run into some fast company Saturday in Harvey Blair of Chicago Phillips, state 220-yard dash

Cards to Open 1963 Baseball Slate at Home

Arlington to Launch League Play April 10

Hopeful of improving on last season's 7-10 record, Arlington High School's varsity baseball Cardinals will kick off the 1963 campaign on Thursday, April 4, with a home contest against Niles East.

Coach Bob Baker's outfit will tackle two non-league opponents before moving into West Suburban Conference warfare on Wednesday, April 10, at York.

The Cards will journey to Glenbrook on Monday, April 8, in preparation for the loop lidlifter.

BAKER'S varsity outfit will engage in 16 games this season in addition to the playoffs leading to a state tourney berth. Arlington will hook up in 14 league games with four doubleheaders against Downers Grove, Hinsdale, Riverside - Brookfield, and LaGrange.

Arlington posted a 6-8 record in West Suburban baseball in 1962. Glenbard West (12-2) won the conference flag with LaGrange (9-5) second and York (8-6) third.

Baker lost several key performers by graduation, including his top battery of right hander John Lane and catcher Ross Retterer and all-league outfielder Ray Miller. Lane also earned all - star honors last spring.

A COMPLETE rundown of personnel on the 1963 edition of the Cardinal varsity will be presented in next week's sports section on the day of the season opener with Niles East.

Arlington's frosh - soph Cardinals, guided by "Buss" Ormsbee, will journey to Glenbrook on Monday, April 8, in their opener and will tackle 14 games this season.

The plebes of coaches Art Brownell and Bob Emmons will journey to Glenbard West on Friday, April 5, in their opener. The initial encounter will be for the "A" squad only.

Pro Golf Lessons Offered at Park

The snow is gone, the weather is getting warmer, and this is the time to start thinking about your golf game if you have one or not.

For this purpose the Arlington Heights Park District is sponsoring a series of professional golf lessons.

The sessions will be conducted on Wednesday evenings at 7:15 and 8:15 p.m. and also on Thursday mornings at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. There will be eight one hour lessons for a small fee of $7.00.

The classes will start on Wednesday, April 3, and Thursday, April 4, at Recreation Park fieldhouse.

During the course of instruction, golf professional Sam Rauworth will cover the golf grip, stance, all phases of the swing, putting, chipping, equipment and golf etiquette. Sam will also make use of a driving net for proper practice.

So don't spend your summer chasing your mistakes around the golf course, call the Arlington Heights Park District at CL 3-0620 and sign up now.

Life Saving Course Now Offered at 'Y'

A 10-week Sr. Life Saving course is offered at the Northwest Suburban YMCA in Des Plaines beginning this Saturday, March 30.

The course will consist of the latest life saving techniques with one hour of classroom theory followed by one and one-half hours of life saving techniques in the water.

For further information call the 'Y' at CY 6-3376 or stop in and register at the front desk.

How Did They Do It?

How do you explain a game in which the obviously inferior team wins?

If you have the answer to that one, then you know something that 16,000 plus hadn't figured out when they filed out of the Flash Gordon structure known as Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois.

ONE THING COMES immediately to mind, that of course, being superior coaching. But, you have to be pretty naive to accept that explanation. A man doesn't reach the finals of the state tournament unless he is a good — make that great — coach.

It helps considerably to have the horses. There is little doubt that both Centralia and Carver were blessed in this department. The difference is, the Orphans' equines appeared to be of the thoroughbred variety. In comparison, Larry Hawkins athletes looked like they would have done a good job on the front of a plow.

If this sounds like an opinion, rest assured I had backers. The men in the know, those who control the flow of green, had a similar notion. The line I heard, and this was quoted in the hall ten minutes before tipoff, offered you 10½ points if you liked Carver.

MAN FOR MAN there is little comparison between the two teams. The only accomplished player on the Carver team is sophomore Ken Maxey, a 5-7 deadeye who played very well in the final. But, he had been overmatched in the afternoon by Peoria Central's guards. And, when you get right down to it, he didn't belong on the same floor with either of Centralia's backliners, Don Duncan and Ron Johnson.

Up front, Carver's best is a 6-6 monster named Joe Allen. An overenthusiastic Chicago press has made an All-Stater out of him. His talents are two. His brute strength makes him a vicious rebounder, and he will make a jump shot from the free throw line if no one has a hand in his face. But he has the speed and ability of a baby elephant and you have to feel an adequate man his size will stop him.

Ah yes, Centralia had a big boy in Cliff Berger, a 6-7 junior. But, Berger was terrified in the championship game. Maybe it was the importance of the game, maybe Allen is better than he looks, but Berger didn't look much like the kid we had seen in the first two rounds and heard so much about previously.

BERGER WAS SO TIGHT, that Allen was driving the baseline without so much as a headfake. Once he turned off the high post and nonchalantly dribbled in for an easy layup while Berger stood and watched. The big boy was so scared that coach Bob Jones had to bench him.

But Allen had 18 points and 17 rebounds, by anyone's calculations a championship performance in a championship game. The big boy was up for the final, and unlike his adversary, did not lose his poise.

Aanother thing that hurt Centralia, was the lack of rebounding on the part of Herb Williams in the first three quarters. The first time you see Williams, you are amazed at what a small part he plays in the Orphan attack. But, the guy is a great rebounder and defensive player. At least he was for nine quarters. Until the last quarter in the championship game, he did very little in the way of rebounding.

UNDOUBTEDLY THE MOST tragic sight in the tournament was a tearful Williams after the game. Herb had scored the go-ahead basket with less than a minute to play and loomed as the tourney hero when Centralia got the ball back after a bad Challenger pass.

But, Williams was trapped in the corner and had the ball taken away to set up the winning goal by Anthony Smedley. From where we sat, it looked like Williams had been fouled, but this is not an indictment of the officials. Our seats were closer to the moon than the floor.

Carver did not look particularly impressive at any time during the tournament. The feeling in Champaign was that they won the title on brute strength and the active mind of Hawkins.

CARVER WILL NOT GO down as a great champion, but there is little doubt that Hawkins belongs in that category as a coach. He took a bunch of tall kids who jump well, but do little else of championship caliber, and turned them into a state champion.

Moreover, in the last two years, he has been the leader in a movement that is going to change the style of basketball in the state of Illinois. The control game, advocated by Hawkins, was used by two of the other finalists this year, and was the talk of the tournament. Look for more of it in the future. It is the equalizer for the outmanned team.

weigh-ins of each boy will be mandatory next year on the day preceding the tourney.

TEAM champion South boasted six individual champions in 1963 with Jim Whitnell (77), Lee Brown (83), Brad Somers (125), Doug Fink (135), Bruce Weber (145), and Steve Zeisler (heavyweight).

Schulze's matmen picked up three runnerup positions in wrapping up an impressive title. Finishing second for South were Tom MacCarthy at 90 pounds, Bob Blackmann at 97, and Pat Martin at 155.

Other individual champs were Kenny Brown of Jack London (70), Mat Poizel of Jack London (90), Bruce Boult of Miner (97), Stan Rohner (105), Augie Trujillo of Dempster (112), Jerry Hawkinson (118), Chuck Less of Jack London (155), and Randy Gerstung of Jack London (165).

THERE WERE no repeaters among the individual champs. Brown, Poizel, Hawkinson, Less, and Zeisler registered pins in the title bouts.

Third place awards were taken by Tim Fielding (70), Wayne Crockett of Miner (77), Mike White of Dempster (83), Bob Verde of Miner (90), Bill Van Sky of Miner (105), Bill Strey of Grove (112), Jon Stull of South (118), Bob Wintz of Grove (125), Mark Mallett of Jack London (135), John Sires of Jack London (145), Mark Frankel of Grove (155), Joe Goffman (165), and Ray Vitha of Dempster (heavyweight).

The wrestling staffs of Prospect, Forest View, and Arlington High Schools assisted in running the tournament.

Braves Near Title

The Bravo Braves came one step closer to winning the Arlington Heights Park District's Classic basketball league as they beat the Pure Pilers in last week's feature contest.

The Braves took a four point lead at halftime and held the margin through the third period. They then picked up five more counters on the Pure Oilers to chalk up a 58-49 win.

Meyer's Dairy stayed in close contention and they edged Lynnwood in an over time battle 68-65. Quick, of Meyers Dairy hit for 33 points, while

Of Kroehler YMCA Camp

Jim Pollard Serves As Sports Director

Jim Pollard, a resident of Mount Prospect who was an All-American and All-Pro basketball player and former coach of the Chicago Packers, will serve as Sports Director for the first three-week session of the Kroehler YMCA Camp in Hayward, Wis.

Pollard will conduct the session that runs from June 16 to July 6.

The Kroehler YMCA represents more than three hundred thousand dollars invested in modern equipment with facilities.

The camp is located eight miles south of Hayward, two miles off Wisconsin 27.

KROEHLER OFFERS three three-week sessions and an eleven-day girls' camp to take care of 115 campers in dormitories. There will be 12 campers and a counselor to each cabin.

The camp is open to both boys and girls 10 years of age and older and will run for nine weeks from June 16 to August 17. There will be a breakdown of three periods (June 16 - July 6, July 7 - July 27, and July 28 - August 17) with the fees $125 per session, excluding transportation.

The girls' camp, directed by Mrs. Pollard, a former physical education teacher, will be held from August 18 to August 30 for $70.

Transportation round - trip with stops in suburban areas is $15.

These rates are in effect until April 15, 1963 only.

JIM POLLARD will head a diversified recreation program at Kroehler. Two Class X sailboats, three water ski boats, ten aluminum canoes, twelve new fibre-glass rowboats, two cement basketball courts, tetherball, trampoline, archery range, fishing, football, and swimming are only a part of the available facilities and activities.

A camper may select the instruction classes he or she desires. Recreational activities are volleyball, softball, fishing, swimming, famed "Water Olympics," campfires, movies, and other table games.

Over 30 girls and 30 boys from the northwest suburban area attended Kroehler last year. Among the campers selected to be hosts and hostesses at a recent gathering were Bill Busse, Harold Busch, Mike Tindall, and Ron DeHaven of Mount Prospect; Chris Ogier of Arlington Heights; Carolyn Norman of Itasca; Kathy Farleigh, Mary Busch, and Kathy Washburn of Mount Prospect; Roxanne Hanlon of Palatine; and Jane Miller of Elmhurst.

MRS. POLLARD, who will direct the girls camp at Kroehler, announced this week that there has been such a demand for horseback riding it will be added to the program. Crafts, cheerleading, modern jazz, ukelele, and folk singing are among special highlights for the girls in addition to the regular camp program.

Dick Mernitz, resident director, lives at Camp Kroehler the entire year and hosts hunters, ski trips, and vacationers.

Picture brochures are available at the Northwest Suburban YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Highway, Des Plaines.

Willingness to Learn, Fine Coaching Give Knight Fans 'Winner'

by BILL HALLS

There is a thing called coaching that is often overlooked in basketball.

It's easy to blame a coach when a team loses, but few people consider that a coach has anything to do with victory.

It's a peculiarity of Western Civilization.

Employes of great firms wonder uneasily when the company will collapse, knowing full well that the dullard at the helm is only one decision away from bankruptcy. Sons are continually amazed that their fathers are able to keep roof over head, considering that the "old man" is barely capable of coping with the simplest of problems.

SUCH IS the plight of the basketball coach.

It is refreshing, then, to consider the case of Prospect's Dick Kinneman, whose minions won 21 of 26 games this year. Before the season started, few observers would have given the Knights much better than a .500 season.

Indeed, only 19 points separated Prospect from such a fate. Eight of the Knights' 21 wins were decided by four points or less, and three of those by one point. Two victories came in overtime, one a 52-49 triple-overtime thriller over Maine East in the semi-finals of the Prospect Regional.

If Prospect had lost these eight games, and it was entirely possible, the season record would have been a mediocre 13 won, 13 lost.

THE DIFFERENCE, more often than not, was coaching. "This team made more progress than any group of boys I've ever coached," said Kinnema near season's end.

This is a high tribute, coming from any coach. It indicates a willingness to learn, a desire to win.

Every coach thinks he knows how to win. The difficult part is communication. Getting the players to do what is being taught; transmitting an idea into a workable scheme with the material at hand.

DICK KINNEMAN

KINNEMAN was able to accomplish the task, primarily because his team—after being told the best way to win—went out and won.

Prospect had no exceptional players. Only three, Dave White, Ron Moehling and Ron Koepke, show signs of future greatness. As a whole, the team lacked speed, size and scoring punch, all elements considered essential to winning.

And yet they won. They won because they learned to compensate for their weaknesses, and make maximum use of their advantages. They were cocky, but not overconfident.

As a team, Prospect scored 1,338 points, or 51.4 per game. Not much of an offense. But Knight opponents were held to 1,166 points for a 44.8 per game average, a new Prospect team record.

AT THE FOUL line, the Knights hit on 348 of 559 foul throws (62.4 per cent). Again, maximum use of an advantage.

Moehling led the team in scoring with 292 points for an 11.2 per game average. The slender junior also was tops at the foul line, sinking 58 of 84 attempts for a 69.4 percentage.

Koepke was the team's best shooter, hitting on 45 of 85 shots for a robust 53 per cent.

The rugged Jim Hogarty was the leading rebounder, averaging about eight rebounds per game.

WHITE WAS second in scoring with 258 points, and Ken Groh was third with 215 points. Both boys were right behind Moehling in the foul shooting race.

In four years at Prospect, Kinneman's teams have won 83 of 100 games for an .830 percentage. This year, the team was tied for second place in the Interim League standings with Maine West.

In tournament play, the Knights finished second in the Kankakee Christmas Tourney; won the St. Charles Holiday meet; and was runnerup to Maine West in the state regional contest.

White was named to the All-Interim League team with Hogarty, Moehling and Groh receiving special mention.

Whip Knights

Prospect was nosed out by four-tenths of a second in the final relay event Tuesday in dropping an Interim League indoor track meet to Proviso West, 51-49.

John Carsello, Tom Bremner, Ron Koepke and Jim Renner covered the mile event in 3:43.8, but it wasn't quite good enough to beat the Panther squad which took the conference title in the same event two weeks ago.

The Knights picked up five firsts in the meet, and broke a Prospect fieldhouse record in the 880-yard relay.

Larry Bogart, Dan Johnson, Renner and Carsello cracked the year-old 880 mark (1:40.1), chopping more than a full second off the record. The new record is 1:39 flat.

Mike Witters won the broad jump with a leap of 19-feet, three and one-quarter inches, and Dave Gobielle took the high jump with a five-foot, eight-inch jump.

Renner won the 50 yard dash in 5.7 seconds, and Bremner became a double winner by taking both the high (8.0) and low (7.3) hurdle events.

Proviso's frosh- soph team clobbered Prospect's underclassmen, 71-29. Ray Kick picked up two firsts for the Knights. He won both the high (8.5) and low (8.0) hurdles.

Gust Filantres picked up the only other Prospect first with a 4:54.9 clocking in the mile.

Bowling Clinic Slated

In the second of a series of entertainments planned to acquaint the women in the surrounding area with the new Thunderbird Bowl in Mount Prospect, a free Junior Bowling Clinic will be staged on April 2-3.

Chief Halftown, a full-blooded Seneca Indian chief who also is a standout bowler, will conduct the clinic.

Last week fifty area residents were the guests of the Thunderbird Bowl for a film on bowling and fashion show featuring the spring fashions from Lorraine-Anne Shop, 18 West Campbell, Arlington Heights.

champ and runnerup in the 100; Jack Buresh of Evanston, fifth in the state 100 and second in the 220; Bill Howerton of Downers Grove, champ in the West Suburban meet and fourth in the state furlong; Dick Ristau of Proviso East, Suburban League indoor titlist; Vince Serritella of Glenbard East, Interim League champ; and Terry Mitchell of Alton, a downstate flash.

Brooks and teammate Don Yokas will vie in the 50. Yokas finished third in the Naperville Relays.

OTHER PALATINE entries will be Ken Stahl and Bruce Moss in the hurdles; Jim Gow in the shot put; Stew Rogers, Bob Frost, Ron Frost, and either Jerry Kusek or Ken Leviska in the 16-lap relay; Bob Frost, Yokas or soph Paul Weber, Brooks, and Ron Frost in the sprint medley; and Rogers, Bob Frost, Brooks, and Ron Frost in the 8-lap relay.

A classy field of track standouts will shoot for individual honors at Oak Park with Bill Pritchett of Urbana, Greg Weichmann of Barrington, Brian Oldfield of Elgin, and Paul Economides of Alton expected to rule the shot put.

Economides has the best effort at 56-6¾, but this event is a definite toss-up. Oldfield finished fourth in the state last spring, and Weichmann is capable of a toss in excess of 57 feet.

IN THE BROAD jump five boys have bettered 22 feet, but Vernon Brooks of Chicago Phillips, fourth in the state as a junior, and Maurice Sykes of Proviso East are co-favorites. Each has hit 22-10 this year.

John Rupert of Bloom owns the best high jump of 6-3, and fifteen boys in the pole vault have cleared 12 feet. Bill stokes of Bloom, fifth in the state last year, has the best entry mark of 12-9.

In the mile run all 15 starters in Class A have marks of 4:38.1 or better. Jim Isaacson of Glenbard West, one of the state's top half-milers last spring, tried his hand at the mile last week and turned in a brilliant 4:22.0, the state's best indoors.

EXPECTED TO give Isaacson his stiffest competition will be Jan Nilsson of Chicago Senn, city league champ indoors with a 4:26.6; Charley Schulz of Evanston, state cross country titlist; John Schneider of Maine West, and Larry Wiecrorek of Proviso East.

In the Class B-C mile Gary Lynn of Herrin, victor at Oak Park last year in 4:39.1, and Rod Collins of Morton Township both have run close to 4:30.

Way Back When

The first trip by a Michigan State athletic team came in 1865 when the baseball club traveled 13 miles to Mason for a game.

Braves Hold Lead

With just two weeks of play remaining in the Arlington Heights Park District Classic basketball league, the Bravo Braves still hold a one game lead.

The Bravo Braves put together 96 points as they trounced Lynnwood 96-52.

Klehm's Nursery pulled an upset as they edged the Pure Oilers in an overtime tilt 68-67.

Meyer's Dairy stayed a close second with a 49-43 win over the Crows.

Swimming Records Don't Last

Swimming records don't last long. Take the case of Fred Schmidt, former New Trier High standout, who is now a star of the University of Indiana team.

Schmidt, swimming the 200 yard butterfly in the Amateur Athletic union's national indoor meet at New Haven, Conn., March 21, broke the United States record (1:57.3) formerly held by the Hoosier's Mike Troy, who set the mark in 1961.

Schmidt covered the distance in 1:55.2.

Almost simultaneously, Bill Jennison, a 17-year-old senior at Detroit's Cooley High, broke Schmidt's old national high school record in the 100 yard butterfly.

Jennison, who won the event in the Michigan High School Athletic Association meet March 16 at East Lansing, thrashed through the butterfly in :52.6, one-tenth of a second faster than Schmidt's old mark, set three years ago.

Colts Win Volleyball League

The Colts were crowned Champions of the Arlington Heights Park District Thursday mens volleyball league last week by virtue of their playoff win over the Spikers.

The Colts started off very slowly and the determined Spikers jumped to a 17-9 half time lead.

As the second half began the Colts took complete charge and ran an eleven point rally before the Spikers could score their first point in the second half.

The Colts added six more counters before time ran out to win 26-21.

Carver Coach Talks About Big Victory

'Best Surprise of All' Says Hawkins of Title

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., (UPI) — Carver basketball coach Larry Hawkins always knew he had a surprising band of players but Saturday's championship victory, he said, was "best surprise of all."

Hawkins said he gave his crew no special instructions before the game. "All I told my boys to try and finish in style. I guess they did ."

He said Carver's victory could be credited to its superior height and weight and a deepr bench.

"We lost several ball games in the season developing those boys," he said, "but it paid off tonight."

Did Hawkins have any worrisome moments during the game?

"Sure did," he said. "About 32 of them. We were lucky we won. Centralia is a wonderful ballclub.

BOB JONES, the young Centralia coach, looked at the floor while he talked in the Orphans' dressing room.

"The game was called loosely by the referees," he said. "If it had been in Southern Illinois, it would have been much tighter."

He said when the ball was stolen in the closing seconds, he felt it should have been a foul, on Carver's Anthony Smedley.

Jones said he felt Lanphier was the best team he played all year. "They had more poise," he said.

"THE GAME was played the way I thought Carver would play, except I didn't expect them to shift to a cock-eyed zone," Jones said.

Carver would have been third in the South Seven Conference behind Centralia and Harrisburg, Jones said.

Jones didn't feel that Carver's size wore his team down. "The height ruined us and the press."

"I ALSO KNOW what you fellows want me to say, but I'm not going to say it." None of the players talked to newsmen and oJnes kept the team in the dressing room for eight minutes before he came out to talk to reporters. He said some of the players cried in the dressing room.

Smedley said that in his scramble for the ball he hit it up in the air and grabbed it.

"I knew I could make it."

SMEDLEY A 5-7 sophomore had seen little action during the year. However, Coach Larry Hawkins said "I put him in there because I thought he might help in fighting for the ball."

Hawkins said he took Smedley out immediately after the shot because at that time felt he wanted a tall man in to help get any rebounds.

Joe Allen was asked "Is this the biggest moment of your life?" "One of them," he said. "When was the other?" "When I got here."

Seniors 1-2 in Scoring

Close, Brodnan Top Cardinal Five Again

by BOB FRISK

Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan, varsity basketball standouts for three years at Arlington High School with a combined output of more than 1500 points, finished 1-2 in individual scoring again this season for the Cardinals as they concluded their impressive prep careers.

Official statistics released this week revealed that Close, holder of the career scoring record at Arlington, dialed 309 points in the 1962-63 season in 21 games for a 14.7 standard.

CHUCK CLOSE

GARY BRODNAN

Brodnan collected 273 markers in 22 games, a 12.4 per game average, and topped the club in foul line success with a .674 percentage on 138 attempts.

CLOSE CONCLUDED his high school basketball career with 856 points, an Arlington High record. Chuck snapped the old mark of 783 established by George Bork.

Brodnan posted 663 points in his three-year stint with the varsity.

Both boys earned all-conference recognition in their prep careers.

ARLINGTON had five boys top 100 points during a 12-10 season. Ranking behind Close and Brodnan were juniors Dan Sherman (205), Paul Splittorff (191), and Greg Buczynski (114).

Over-all, twelve boys scored for Norm Patberg's Cardinals and 580 of those points will return next winter as Ted Wissen takes over the club.

Graduating seniors are Close, Brodnan, Bill Guilfoil, and Phil O'Connell.

IN CLAIMING 12 victories in 22 games Arlington knocked over such touted schoolboy quintets as Riverside-Brookfield, York, Elgin, and Palatine.

This marked only the fourth time in 17 years that an Arlington basketball team had been able to put together two straight winning seasons. The Cards were 16-9 in the 1961-62 campaign.

Close had the single game high with 29 against Barrington, and he finished in double figures in 17 of 21 games. Brodnan achieved a high of 23 against Barrington and York and was in double figures in 15 contests.

Dan Sherman also topped 20 on two occasions during the season with a high of 26 in the Cardinals' crushing victory over Riverside-Brookfield.

Arlington finished fifth in the West Suburban Conference with a 7-7 record, only one game shy of a third place slot.

IN LEAGUE scoring Close, Brodnan, and Sherman all ranked in the top 18. Close was sixth with 189, Brodnan seventh with 188, and Sherman 17th with 145.

In a nut-shell, it won't seem the same without Close and Brodnan around at Arlington High School, but there are some promising returnees with invaluable varsity experience to help brighten the varsity outlook for 1963-64.

Riverside and York, co-champs this past season, again should have a lot to say in West Suburban warfare with the Bulldogs, boasting three returning regulars, expected to rest alone at the top of the pack.

Next Week

Final basketball statistics for St. Viator's Lions will be published next week in the final wrapup of the 1962 - 63 cage season.

Mariani Directs Lions

St. Viator Prepares For Baseball Opener

Frank Mariani doesn't attempt to conceal his anxiety over starting another baseball season.

The personable St. Viator coach is approaching the forthcoming diamond campaign, his second at the new Arlington Heights school, with cautious optimism.

"We're still a young team," Frank related at the outset of the week, "but we'll do pretty well in our league. The boys played a lot of baseball last year and that experience can't help but benefit them this season."

MARIANI SENT his young charges out against more experienced competition last spring, including several varsity aggregations, and although the Lions dropped 17 games in 27 outings they showed definite signs of progress with each game.

In addition, the boys also engaged in extensive summer baseball programs under Mariani with almost 100 games from April through August.

The varsity Lions will kick off their 1963 schedule at Prospect High School on Saturday, April 6. St. Viator will meet Ridgewood of Norridge on April 10 in the home opener.

The addition of highly regarded freshman Joey Sanchez bolsters a pitching staff that includes sophs Jimmy Vidt, a southpaw, and Bill Ewald and junior Jeff Haiduke. Vidt absorbed eight reversals in 11 outings as a plebe but spotted a creditable 3.08 earned run average.

SANCHEZ COMES to Mariani's squad with impressive prehigh school credentials and only time will tell if the fast-balling right hander from Zion is ready for varsity baseball.

Working behind the plate will be sophs Tim Walinski and Jay Chaiser with Walinski turning in a nifty .320 plate mark as a frosh with the varsity. Chaiser did most of his catching last summer under Mariani's direction and showed real promise.

Vidt, when he's not pitching, and Mike Graczyk, another soph, are bidding at first base with Mike a .307 swinger in 1962. Graczyk also topped the club in runs batted in (14) and homers (2).

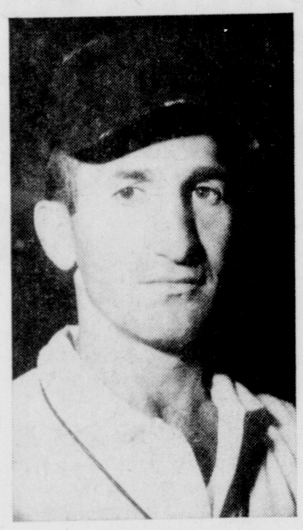
Charley Heinrich, who'll swing in the cleanup position, will get first crack at second base. Chuck hits the long ball and was slightly under .300 as a freshman.

ROUNDING OUT the infield will be Ron Bakalar at shortstop and either Walinski or Chaiser at third base. Bakalar and Heinrich will be co-captains of the varsity Lions.

In line for the outfield positions are Ron Rose, Don Knudson, Sanchez, and Haiduke. Rose posted a lofty .367 standard last season to top the club.

Mariani realizes his squad still may be a year or two away, but he can't help feeling that there are going to be some pleasant surprises.

How does he view the Chicagoland Prep league race?



FRANK MARIANI

"St. George looks like the team to beat right now, but it's still too early to tell."

Evanston Tourney

Blue Devils Bow In Cage Finals

The Arlington Heights Park District Blue Devils returned last weekend to Evanston to compete in the semi - final rounds of the Annual Evanston Sports Association Basketball Tournament.

After winning two games in the opening rounds the Blue Devils clashed with Wilmot in what turned out to be one of the top contests of the tournament. The game was close throughout and hard fought with Arlington coming out on top 45-38. Tom Lunstedt led the scoring with 14 points followed by Tim Empkie with 13 and Lockwood hit for 10.

Several hours later the Blue Devils were once again in action. This time against the Catholic All Stars of Evanston. However, Arlington had not quite recovered from the first game and had to surrender the championship to the All Stars by a score of 40-32.

Lockwood and Lunstedt led the Blue Devil effort with 9 and 8 points respectfully.

The Arlington Heights Park District team proudly brought home the second place trophy, a job well done in their first year in the tournament.

Gobielle Only 'Bright Spot' In Double Loss

Dave Gobielle's six-foot, one-inch effort in the high jump was the only bright spot for Prospect as the Knights bowed to Waukegan, 66-34, in a dual indoor track meet last week. Waukegan also took the frosh-soph clash, 60-20.

Frosh Track Meet

Evanston Heads North Shore Test

Evanston and New Trier easily outclassed the rest of the field in finishing 1-2 Saturday in the North Shore Freshman track meet.

The host Wildkits piled up 53½ points and New Trier 49 in the annual indoor cinder attraction. Highland Park posted 12½ markers for a distant third.

Area entries Arlington and Palatine scored eight and one-half and eight points respectively. Prospect failed to score.

CLAIMING Arlington's points were Steve Ewart with a second in the 50 yard dash, Phil Morris with a third in the mile run, and Paul Fiegan with a tie for fourth in the 440 yard dash.

Bob MacLea's second in the mile run was Palatine's top finish. Rick Ortmann placed third in the 880 yard run and Ron Smith was fifth in the 50 yard dash.

The Pirates' Bob Payne, victor in his first heat of the high hurdles and apparently certain to pick up some team points, tripped over a hurdle in the second heat and failed to qualify.

Seven records were established and one tied in the plebe meet.

NEW TRIER'S Bill Berkenfield cleared 5-7 in the high jump for a mark, and the Indians' John Davis covered the 880 in a snappy 2:10.2 for another standard.

Evanston's Roy Houston covered the 440 in :55.7, and New Trier's John Struggles, who tied a mark in the 60 yard high hurdles, set a new standard in the 60 yard lows with a :07.9 clocking.

Evanston's mile relay team took almost seven seconds off the meet record with a 3:46.8 effort.

Team points were as follows: Evanston (53½), New Trier (49), Highland Park (12½), Waukegan (12), Maine East (11), Glenbrook North (10), Niles West (10), Arlington (8½), Palatine (8), Niles East (4), and Maine West (1½).

If Track Finished

Falcon Thinclads Open April 9th...

If work on the pole vault, high jump and broad jump pits is completed by April 9, Forest View's track team will open the season at home with Ridgewood.

"Everything is in shape but the pits," said Coach Dick Ohl. "If it's not ready, we'll probably transfer the meet to Prospect or Arlington."

Ohl has had his largely inexperienced squad working out in the school's hallways and weight rooms for about three weeks. Lack of facilities prevented indoor competition, so he won't have much of a chance to find out what his team looks like until the Ridgewood meet.

Ohl has five boys who have had some experience at either Prospect or Arlington before coming to Forest View last fall.

Most notable, is Ray Goertz, a hulking junior who set a West Suburban Conference frosh-soph discuss record last spring while at Arlington. Goertz' record throw was 142 feet, 10 inches.

Scott Armstrong, Larry Bleichroth, Jerry Potter and Phil Valentino should also help. Armstrong ran the hurdles at Prospect. Bleichroth is a former Arlington hurdler, and Potter and Valentino are cross country veterans from Arlington.

Ohl will be assisted by Bill Beckman, Forest View athletic director; Bob Scott, and Rusty Dowell. Beckman will work with the weight men; Scott with the middle distance runners; and Dowell with the hurdlers.

World Series of Pro Tennis Set For Wheaton Gym

The World Series of Professional Tennis will appear at Wheaton College Centennial Gym on April 10.

Sponsored by a non-profit Wheaton tennis group, the full troupe of professional players will appear in one of 50 round-robin matches they are staging throughout the country. These matches will determine final pairing in a concluding series to decide the world's champion tennis player.

Recently-turned pro Rod Laver, Australia's battling red head, is one of the members. Ken Rosewall, currently leading in the standings, Earl Buchholz, Andres Gimeno, Barry MacKay and Luis Ayala are the other members of the six-man troupe.

ROSEWALL leads the pros at the time with 15 wins against only three losses. "Butch" Buchholz, one of the youngest players ever to turn pro, has fought his way into second place in the standings with a 10-won and 8-lost record.

Laver, the Australian Davis Cup hero and last year's "Grand Slam" winner, is even in his 18 matches. Andres Gimeno, flashy young Spanish player, has won eight while losing 10. Barry MacKay, former first-ranking American, has seven wins against 11 losses, and Chilean champion Luis Ayala is currently in last place with only five wins and 13 losses.

THE PROS WILL play four matches at Wheaton, three singles and one double. Each professional match consists of one, eight-game set. This means one player or team must win eight games with a lead of at least two games. If both reach seven games it means the set is deuced just as in amateur tennis and must be played until one side is two games ahead. Pairings for Wheaton have not been announced.

The matches will start at 8 p.m., April 10. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for students under 18.

WINNERS OF THE recent Northwest Suburban YMCA Class "A" doubles handball tournament were Richard Crag of Prospect Heights, left, and his partner, Brian Falconner of Des Plaines. The pair defeated Stanley Sitarz of Niles and Don Schmidt of Arlington Heights in the final match, 21-20 and 21-14. Walt Hadley of Des Plaines and Chuck McClellan of Mount Prospect finished third in a field of 56 teams by defeating Roger Tobin and Morton Greenberg, 21-5 and 21-14. Singles handball matches will continue the next two Sunday afternoons at the 'Y' to determine the best in three separate divisions.

Florida Report

Wally's Keeping Active

I wonder what Wally's doing?

That probably is a common question these days for friends of H. W. (Wally) Grace, Arlington High's Athletic Director for 17 years who retured last June.

Wally and his wife Lena are settled in a new home in St. Petersburg, Fla., and "enjoying their new life" according to Al Meyer of Arlington Heights, who recently returned from a visit there.

"Wally's selling tickets at the Al Lang Baseball field in St. Petersburg," Meyer related, "and will continue through spring training. He doesn't know exactly what his plans will be after that.

"Wally still enjoys reading the paper and hearing from the folks back home."

The Grace's address is 6142 27th Avenue North, St. Petersburg 10, Florida.

Rifle and Pistol Club Meeting Set

The April meeting of the Arlington Heights Rifle and Pistol club will be held Wednesday, April 3, at 8 p.m. at the North Firehouse, 704 N. State Road, Arlington Heights.

M. L. Goldin, 9th Naval District Small Arms Instructor and one of the leading 30 cal. Rifle and Pistol shots in this part of the country, will give a talk and demonstration on correct shooting positions and also the effects of weather on 30 cal. shooting.

On April 7, the Sunday following the meeting, will be the club's first outdoor shoot of the 1963 season. The event will be held at the Fox Falley Shooting Range, starting at 9:00 a.m. on the 200 yard Military Range. No target fee will be paid with the one dollar admission fee. Anyone interested in this shoot may receive necessary information at the April business meeting.

Club memberships are still open for any interested person, seventeen years of age or older.

Knights Whip Downers in Track Meet

Piling up seven firsts, Prospect easily outdistanced Downers Grove of the West Suburban League in a dual indoor track meet at Prospect High March 15.

Larry Bogart and George Morris got the Knights off to a flying start with respective wins in the high hurdles (7.9) and 50 yard dash (5.8)

Kent Taylor took the 440 in 56 flat, and Dave Gobielle tied for first in the high jump with a leap of 5' 10". John Zasadny won the pole vault with a jump of 11 feet, seven inches.

Prospect also won the 880 and mile relay events.

Downers faired better in the frosh-soph meet, winning, 57-43.

Prospect firsts were turned in by Drake Epple, broad jump; Larry Fisher, high jump; Gust Filantres, mile run; and Fisher again in the pole vault.

Bowling Clinic Slated

In the second of a series of entertainments planned to acquaint the women in the surrounding area with the new Thunderbird Bowl in Mount Prospect, a free Junior Bowling Clinic will be staged on April 2-3.

Chief Halftown, a full-blooded Seneca Indian chief who also is a standout bowler, will conduct the clinic.

Last week fifty area residents were the guests of the Thunderbird Bowl for a film on bowling and fashion show featuring the spring fashions from Lorraine-Anne Shop, 18 West Campbell, Arlington Heights.

A modern, fully automatic, completely equipped 36-lane bowling establishment, Thunderbird Bowl is located at 821 East Rand Road in Mount Prospect.

Bob Citron is the general manager and may be contacted at 392-0550.

Colts Defeat Falcons

With league play at an end the Arlington Heights Park District volleyball teams are now engaged in a single elimination tournament between the two leagues.

The tournament has been divided into two divisions, with the top placing teams from each league in division one and the lower placing teams in division two.

In the first round of division one the Colts, Thursday night league champs, defeated the Falcons 35-21. The Old Pros, Monday nights champs, took a forfeit win from the Strats. Klehm's Nursery knocked off the Old Men 40-21, and the Spikers trounced the Netters 44-8.

One game was played in division two, which was won by Able Electric 39-23 over the Waterman Pops.

King and Queen Mixed Doubles Tournament On

Rolling Meadows Bowl is holding its first annual King and Queens Mixed Doubles tournament with three games across six alleys on both March 30-31 and April 6-7.

Posted entries will be accepted until 11:30 p.m. Sunday, April 7, with $700 in prizes to be awarded based on 300 entries.

Approved by the Northwest Suburban Bowling Proprietors Association, the tournament opened last weekend.

All ABC and WIBC rules will apply, and all averages must be certified by league secretaries before prizes will be distributed. Eligible non-ABC members can qualify by paying $1.50 unattached fee for which ABC will issue unattached membership card.

Any questions pertaining to the tournament should be directed to Ethel Martin, CL 3-9282 or CL 9-4400. All entries should be addressed to Rolling Meadows Bowl, 3245 Kirchoff Road, Rolling Meadows, Ill.

Boosters Set Next Meeting

The Arlington High School Booster Club will hold its next meeting on Monday, April 8, it was announced this week. New officers will be elected for the 1963-64 school year.

For Arlington

Outdoor Opener Nears

An ambitious outdoor track schedule faces Arlington High School this spring with the varsity and frosh-soph Cardinals slated to get under way at home next Wednesday, April 3, against Glenbrook's Spartans.

Coach Russ Attis' varsity outfit will engage in eight dual meets in addition to the Lake Shore, Palatine Relays, Hinsdale Relays, West Suburban Conference meet, and district competition leading to the state finals.

Arlington also will run a separate frosh schedule with the plebes meeting Highland Park, Maine East, Notre Dame, and Glenbrook North in duals and then hooking up in an invitational on Tuesday, May 21.

Arlington will host the West Suburban meet this year on Saturday, May 25.

The schedule:

Wed., April 3, Glenbrook (H)
Fri., April 5, Niles East (T)
Tues., April 9, Palatine (T)
Thurs., April 11, Maine East (H)
Tues., April 16, Hinsdale (T)
Sat., April 20, Lake Shore Meet at Palatine
Mon., April 22, Highland Park (frosh) (T)
Tues., April 23, Downers Grove (T)
Fri., April 26 Maine E. (frosh) (T)
Sat., April 27, Palatine Relays
Tues., April 30, Barrington (T)
Sat., May 4, Hinsdale Relays
Tues., May 7, Notre Dame (T)
Sat., May 11, Distriet at Prospect
Tues., May 14, North Shore F-S at Maine East
Wed., May 15, Notre Dame (frosh) (H)
Fri., May 17, Glenbrook South (F-S) (H)
May 17-18, State Meet
Mon., May 20, Glenbrook North (frosh) (T)
Tues., May 21, Frosh Invitational Meet
Sat., May 25, Conference at Arlington

Volleyball Finals Set For Tonight

The Arlington Heights Park District Monday and Thursday volleyball leagues have completed the semi-final round of the annual single elimination tournament and are pointing toward the finals tonight (Thursday).

In the semi-final rounds the Colts, Thursday league champs, defeated Klehm's Nursery 31-25, while the Spikers eliminated the Monday night champion Old Pros 36-22.

The Colts and Spikers will meet tonight for the division one title.

In division two semi-final action, Able Electric coasted to a win over the Greens 38-27, and the Stags swamped the Reuter Rovers 31-15.

Able Electric and the Stags will also meet tonight for the division two title.

Dave Varnado Top Scorer, MVP at Beloit

Dave Varnado of Arlington Heights was the leading scorer and most valuable player on the Beloit College varsity basketball team in the 1962-63 season.

Varnado, a former prep standout at Arlington High, topped the Midwest Conference in scoring with a 22.2 average and was named to the first all-conference team.

Eight Vets, Two Transfers Anchor Aldrich's Knights

After two weeks of rain and mud, Prospect's varsity baseball team still hopes to get in a few solid workouts before the April 4 opener at Palatine High.

Coach Chuck Aldrich has eight lettermen and a couple of transfer students which provide experience in all but two positions. The question marks are second base and the outfield.

Senior lettermen Jim Hogarty and Hank LaRocco, along with junior Grant Gentry, form an experienced pitching staff which carried the Knights to a 7-9 Interim League record last season, and an over-all 7-12 mark.

OF THE THREE, LaRocco is considered the best. Aldrich feels Hogarty may come around if he can overcome a control problem.

Lettermen Bob Geller, Rich Beck and Chuck Halverson form the infield nucleus. Geller is the first base mainstay. Both Halverson and Beck are third sackers. All are seniors.

Ed Massoff, a transfer student from Niles East, figures to play shortstop.

Beck may eventually go to second base unless three underclassmen are able to handle the glove. Junior Mike Phillips is one candidate. Others, both sophomores, are Don Greco and Greg Kowal.

RON AUKAMP and Dave Leekley, both seniors and lettermen, should key the outfield. Al Koehler, a junior, leads the other candidates for the vacancy created by the graduation of all-league selection Mike Francek.

The catching problems appear to have been solved by the presence of Rick Severns, a senior transfer student from Louisiana. He will be backed by sophomore Rick Lytle.

CHUCK ALDRICH

Tennis Opener April 9th

Don Arseneau, in his first year as varsity Tennis coach, has three seniors back from last year's team which compiled an overall 8-10 record and finished fifth in the Interim League meet.

Heading the list is Lothar Hansen, number one singles player.

The Knight netmen open with East Leyden on April 9 at home.

Also back are Bob Gewecke, last year's number three singles man, and Scott Campbell, number one doubles man. Both are seniors.

Bob Leachelt, another senior, figures to help, and junior Scott Paris should be a mainstay.

Larry White, another junior, who was undefeated as a sophomore last season, suffered a bone infection as the result of an ice hockey injury this winter, and remains a doubtful participant. Areseneau is hoping White will recover in time for part of the season.

Neil Anderson will assist Arseneau with the coaching chores.

Fitzgerald New Prexy

Tom Fitzgerald will serve as president of the Narcosis Knights, the Northwest Suburban YMCA Skin and Scuba Diving Club, it was announced this week.

Fitzgerald was elected at a recent meeting. Other officers for the current season are Charles Forton, vice-president; Robert Shaffer, secretary; and Charles Cari, treasurer.

The club holds regular business meetings on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA, 300 E. Northwest Highway in Des Plaines.

Highland Rips Lieber To Take Classic Lead

Highland Motors shutout Lieber Bowlers Shop Saturday and came back Sunday to whip River-Rand Bowl in a makeup match to regain undisputed possession of first place in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

The Highland crew, paced by substitutes Dick Nickol and 15-year-old Al Haase from Rolling Meadows, racked up 3004 pins in whitewashing Lieber at Beverly Lanes. The pin total was the highest team series posted in Saturday's league action.

Nickol rolled a 651 series, including games of 221 and 237. Haase, a schoolboy phenomenon who has been averaging 195 in relief stints, posted his highest series this year with 637 pins. His high game was 243.

TOM KOUROS of Palatine added a 601 series for Highland.

Roy Papineau of Arlington Heights fired a blistering 672 series, including games of 245, 224 and 203, but had little support as Lieber slipped into a second place tie with Moyle Construction.

Papineau's effort earned him both high individual game and series laurels.

Frank Graff (600) of Palatine and Herb Lohman (598) of Lake Zurich helped Moyle to a 3-1 win over hapless Morton Pontiac, bowling with only four players. The loss dropped Morton into the league cellar.

Ernie Koche (631) of Roselle, Duke Nava (623), and Warren Walter (601), both of Arlington Heights, turned in a superb effort in defeat, but it wasn't enough to overcome the "full strength" Moyle attack.

MEANWHILE, James Stavros, behind a balanced attack, took four points from Stan's Standard, and River-Rand took three points from Pioneer Lanes.

Northbrook's Hec Healey and Ed Melton paced the Stavros win. Healey fired a 607 series, and Melton pitched in with 604. Buck Perkins of Barrington Woods paced Stan's with a 577 series.

Tony Sasso of Des Plaines powered River-Rand to victory with a 590 series. River-Rand posted the high individual game when it amassed 1022 pins in the first round.

Elmhurst's Bob Krisch paced the losers with a 586 series.

Kouros fired a 596 series to pace Highland's makeup win over River-Rand. Don Christensen of Arlington Heights led the losers with a 577 total.

Stan's Standard will host this week's action at Gunnell's Lanes in Mount Prospect.

Bogart Top Prep Hurdler

Prospect runners set two records and posted 19 points in finishing fourth in a 12-team field at the annual Interim League indoor track meet, March 16 at the Morton West fieldhouse.

Larry Bogart turned in the fastest time recorded by an Illinois schoolboy this year in winning the 60 yard high hurdles in 7.7 seconds.

THE OTHER record was produced by the Knight four-lap relay squad, made up of John Carsello, Dan Johnson, Jim Renner and Bogart.

The foursome covered the four-tenths of a mile course in 1:16.2 to set a league record.

Bremner also picked up a third in the 60 yard low hurdles, and a fifth in the highs.

High jumper Dave Gobielle produced the final Prospect points with a second place in the high jump.

BUT DESPITE the fine individual efforts in the hurdles and high jump, Proviso West's depth proved too much to overcome. The Panthers piled up 41 points, including three firsts, in retaining the league title won a year ago.

Glenbard East, largely through the efforts of sprinter Jim Serritella, who won the 50 yard dash as well as the low hurdles to become the meet's only double winner, finished second with 30 points. Morton West was third with 26 points.

Forest View, which is hampered by lack of a field house for practices, did not enter the meet.

Diving Course Opens April 5

A skin and scuba diving course for all persons 17 years of age and over is scheduled to begin at the Northwest Suburban YMCA April 5.

Upon completion of the 12 week Friday night course, members are eligible to join the Narcosis Nights, the Northwest Suburban YMCA skin and scuba diving club.

Gals' Leader Falls But So Does Steve's

The leaders stumbled but still gained ground Saturday in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league.

Although Moyle Construction dropped two of three outings with Ridge Motors, it didn't affect the pace-setters command of the situation in the gals' division.

Steve's Restaurant, runnerup for a good part of the second half, suffered through three straight reversals and skidded into a deadlock with Ridge Motors and Tommy Thomas' Casablanca, each of the clubs now owning identical 18½ - 17½ standards.

MORTON PONTIAC'S defending champs continued to have trouble and now stand 16½-19½ and River Rand, though flashing three big wins over Steve's, still has a long way to go before vacating the cellar.

Ridge Motors' 2-1 victory over Moyle Construction was an example of fine balance with the five gals bunched between 544 and 514. Maxine Moehling of Mount Prospect was high with her 544, and teammate Arlene Stohrer of Northbrook was right behind at 543.

Rounding out Ridge's total were Edith Wayne of Des Plaines (528), Rosemary Babich of North Chicago (515), and Donna Dubs of Arlington Heights (514).

ARLENE STOHRER fashioned the high game for the victors with a 210 that paced a 927 team total, the top effort of the evening's action at Hi-Way Recreation.

Fran Altergott of Mundelein was high for Moyle with a 567 on games of 169, 210, and 188. Shirley Schultz had a 216 game and 512 series.

River Rand's shocking 3-0 victory over Steve's Restaurant was highlighted by Hazel Steiger's booming 582 series. The Palatine kegler, who had the evening's top series, used games of 212, 192, and 178.

Teammate Ethel Juenger posted a 529.

IN THE FINAL action Saturday Tommy Thomas' Casablanca claimed a 2-1 victory over Morton Pontiac with Arlene Rein of Palatine collecting a 555 series. Winnie Lohse of Palatine was right behind at 547.

Joan Lindahl of Arlington Heights posted the only 500-plus effort for Morton Pontiac with a 519 that included a 188 high.

Coaches Honor 26 Wrestlers

Cards' Selleck, Varnado Named On West Suburban All-Star Squad

by BOB FRISK

Maine East and LaGrange, co-champions for 1962-63, each landed seven positions on the West Suburban Conference's all-star wrestling team announced recently by the league coaches.

Possessors of identical 6-0-1 conference standards, the Blue Demons and Lions clearly dominated an all-star team that included 26 schoolboy wrestlers representing seven schools.

Seven of the eight conference entries claimed positions on the coveted squad with only York failing to land a berth. Downers Grove picked up four slots and Arlington, Hinsdale, Glenbard West, and Riverside-Brookfield two each.

SENIOR HAL Selleck (180) and junior Jim Varnado (112) were the two Cardinals honored on the all-star team.

Eleven boys are repeaters from the 1961-62 aggregation in addition to Selleck who was named for the second year at 180. Other boys earning all-star honors again are La Grange's Bob Dietz, Jim Massarello, and Ovie Williams; Maine East's Ronn Johnson, Ted Dickson, and Jim Dernehl; Hinsdale's Gary Sinkular; Glenbard West's Larry Black and Dan Rahn; and Downers Grove's Will Radell.

La Grange and Maine tied for the varsity championship in West Suburban wrestling, Downers Grove ruled the sophomores, and Arlington and Hinsdale headed the frosh.

Background of the 1962-63 all-stars is as follows:

95 POUNDS—Bob Dietz (La Grange) posted a 26-1-1 season record and although finishing in the runnerup slot in the district, he went on to win the sectional and state titles. He had 14 pins to tie a school record and fashioned a two year record of 45-4-1. Second year on all-league team. An outstanding student.

Rick Jiloty (Maine East) was 10-3-1 for the season and he finished third in the district. Unbeaten in the conference, Rick battled La Grange's Dietz to a draw.

103 POUNDS— Wes Caine (Maine East) turned in a 14-3-2 season as a soph. He was second in the Palatine Invitational, third in the district, and 6-0-1 in the WSC. La Grange's Jim Massarello, a senior, was 5-1-1 in the league, 20-7-1 overall, district runnerup and sectional champ. He bowed in the state to champ Mike Gluck of Palatine.

112 POUNDS—Ronn Johnson (Maine East) posted a 7-0 conference record and stood 26-3 for the season. He copped district and sectional crowns and finished fourth in the state. This is his third year on the all-star team.

Arlington's Jim Varnado was 6-1 in the conference and 10-5 for the season. His only league loss was a 9-6 decision to Maine's Johnson. Jim had three pins during the season.

120 POUNDS—Ovie Williams (La Grange) is on the all-star squad for the third year. One of the finest wrestlers in La Grange history, Williams was 73-6 in three years, 26-1 this season. He won both district and sectional titles and finished second in the state tourney.

Gary Sinkular (Hinsdale), another reapeater, was 14-3-1 for the season and 6-1 in the league. He won the Hinsdale District but bowed in the first round of the Reavis Sectional.

127 POUNDS—Glenbard West's Larry Black earned all-star honors for the second straight season. He was 6-1 in the league at 127 after going unbeaten at 120 as a junior.

Riverside's Dan Opper, a sophomore, posted a 6-0-1 record in the conference.

133 POUNDS—Tom Newman (La Grange) was unbeaten in the conference and 22-1-2 for the season. He won district and sectional crowns with his only loss in the state quarter-finals.

Don Gage (Maine East) was 6-1 in the league and 15-5 overall with a Palatine Invitational title to his credit. Gage was injured in the district meet.

138 POUNDS—Ted Dickson (Maine East) earned his second all-star berth on the strength of a 6-1 league mark and 12-4 season record. He recovered from an early-season injury to claim a district title and finish second in the sectional.

Keith Strauss (Downers Grove), a junior, was a district champ and claimed a 5-1-1 West Suburban record.

145 POUNDS— La Grange's Rich Baum, a senior, stood 16-3 for the season and 7-0 in the league. Downers Grove's Jim Gustafson, a junior, registered a 19-2 record. Jim was also all-league in football.

154 POUNDS—Don Rahn of Glenbard West, a repeater, was 5-1 in the league. Riverside's Bob Nelson posted a 5-0-2 record in West Suburban mat action. Nelson was an all-conference halfback.

165 POUNDS—Don Moravec (Downers Grove) claimed a district championship and finished third in the sectional. He's only a junior. La Grange's Tom Spencer was 6-1 in the league, 11-7 for the season. One of the Lions' most improved wrestlers, Spencer took third in the district.

180 POUNDS—Maine East's Jim Dernehl was 6-0-1 in the conference and 23-4-1 for the season with nine pins. A two-time all-conference selection, Dernehl finished first in the district, second in the sectional, and second in the state finals. He came back to dump three men responsible for earlier reversals.

Arlington's Hal Selleck concluded a brilliant wrestling career with a third place in the state meet. Earning his second all-star berth, Selleck picked up 41 victories in 48 bouts in two seasons at 180 pounds. He made three straight trips to the state meet. Hal won two straight sectional titles. He was 5-2 in the league this past winter.

La Grange's Brian Bachman was a district champion and sectional runnerup, posting a 21-4-2 season mark and 6-0-1 league standard.

HEAVYWEIGHT — Downers Grove's Will Radell earned his second straight all-star slot. He won the district title and gained another trip to the state finals. Radell, an All-Stater in football, was unbeaten in dual meets over two years.

John Hillman (Maine East) was 5-2 in the league and 14-5-1 for the season. He was first in the district. Hillman was a "light heavyweight," working at 165 as a junior.

Hinsdale's John Ritenour completed his high school career with a 14-3 season mark. He was 5-1 in the league. Most valuable wrestler on the team, Ritenour also was an all-conference center on the league football champions.

Grid Clinic Slated for Northwestern

Three of Illinois' leading high school coaches will join Northwestern's gridiron staff in presenting the eighth annual Northwestern Football Coaching Clinic at McGaw hall, May 3-4.

The prep mentors who will lecture on their coaching specialties will be Evanston Township High School coach, Murney Lazier; New Trier High School coach, Walter Aschenbach, and Chicago Fenwick High School coach, John Jardine.

Also featured will be Northwestern head coach, Ara Parseghian, and staff members Alex Agase, Paul Shoults, Doc Urich and Tom Pagna. Parseghian, considered a master of strategy and team psychology, last year developed a spectacular passing attack for a team that much of the season was ranked No. 1 in the nation. One of the clinic highlights will be Parseghian's discussion of pass offense.

THE THREE HIGH school coaches represent three of the nation's most successful high school football programs. Lazier's teams have captured two Illinois state championships and four Suburban League titles in the past seven years, and over the past three seasons compiled a string of 26 straight triumphs.

Aschenbach, an exponent of the single wing, has guided New Trier football for 37 years and last year was named "Illinois Prep Coach of the Year."

In Jardine's four years at Fenwick High School, his teams have won a Chicago Prep title and two Catholic League crowns, while compiling a record of 38-4-1.

THE CLINIC will cover all basic techniques of football on the college and high school levels through lectures, films and demonstrations. Registration fee is $3, and should be sent to Stuart K. Holcomb, Athletic Director, Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill.

Opening session will begin at 9 a.m. Friday morning. The clinic will conclude Saturday afternoon with the annual Varsity-Old Timers football game that winds up Northwestern's spring practice.

Says Sen. Paul Simon

Moore's Death to Spur Move to Ban Pro Boxing

TROY, ILL., (UPI)—State Sen. Paul Simon said today that the death of boxer Davey Moore undoubtedly will spur moves to ban professional boxing.

Simon, Troy Democrat who has sponsored a measure pending before the Illinois Legislature to outlaw the professional sport in Illinois, said "It's tragic that someone has to die to make this possible."

"This particular death makes the headlines but the average small boxer who ends up with brain damage or is killed, we don't hear about," he said. "These are tragedies just as great as the Moore tragedy."

Simon introduced his bill in the state senate. Rep. Anthony Scariano, D-Park Forest, introduced a similar bill in the house. Neither have been heard before committees yet.

At the time they made their proposal last month, the two men termed pro boxing "a sport only in the sense that Nero's throwing Christians to the lions was a sport."

Quad to Open Net Schedule

Cardinals at Home April 6

Recognized as one of the leading tennis schools in the state, Arlington High will launch another rugged schedule on Saturday, April 6, with a quadrangular and will move into dual meet competition on the following Tuesday against always powerful New Trier.

Defending conference champs on both levels in the West Suburban, the Cardinals face 17 duals in 1963 against the roughest opponents in Illinois.

Coach Ken Schaller guided Arlington to a 16-4-1 dual meet record in varsity tennis last spring. The Cardinals finished 13-3 on a frosh-soph level.

The schedule:

Sunbeam Alpine/with Hard Top

How would you Rate the ALPINE?

Tom McCahill, America's top test driver, rates it "a truly great sports car." Here's what he said after his road test for April's Mechanix Illustrated. POWER: " . . . as fleet and maneuverable as a prime leopard." CONTROL: " . . . nothing short of sensational." STEERING: " . . . rack-and-pinion . . . amazingly quick." CONCLUSION: "I don't believe there is a sports car in the world that will give you quite as much for the money in big-time handling properties." Check out the red hot Alpine. Come in today for a road test. Compare your rating with MaCahill's.

Portrait Photos Can Brighten Blank Wall

There's no need to draw a blank when it comes to decorating a blank wall. One secret of success is to stand up at the next family pow-wow and suggest that everyone give Mother a portrait photograph for Mother's Day.

Then have the photographs framed to personalize the family room, den, living room or bedroom. Even the inside of the hall closet door makes a glamorous family gallery, as shown in the photograph above.

HERE ARE eight rules for hanging portrait photographs:

1. First choose frames to complement—not overpower — the subject. Today the trend is to frame photographs like oil paintings, especially if they are to hang in the more formal rooms of the house.

2. Think big. Be sure the photographs you hang are 8x10, 11x14 or larger. As one decorator puts it "Be sure you don't need a pair of binoculars to see them."

3. Direct color is big news. To be really fashionable, at least one of the photographs should be in color.

4. Spread the framed photographs on the floor to plan your arrangement. Move them around until the result looks good to you. Put paper under the photographs. Trace around them; then hold the paper on the wall as a pattern for driving nails.

5. If special lighting is required, strip lighting, lighted picture frames or spotlights in the ceilings are most satisfactory.

6. Relate the size and scale of the framed photographs to that of the room and furnishings. If your room is of kingly size, the photographs should be too.

7. STUDIO photographs look well hung alone, with snapshots or with other forms of art like sculpture or paintings. So suit yourself.

8. Be original in your arrangements. You can paint a family tree and decorate it with family photographs or, for a change, hang them on a room divider or screen.

Whatever your choice, the whole family will treasure the wall arrangement more each year. It's exactly for them because it is them.

A WALL ARRANGEMENT of portrait photographs can be an attractive decorating touch as well as a source of pleasure to all the family. (SF

Earn National Award

Praise Women's Pages

The ears of northwest suburban women may have been ringing last week, and with good reason — for they were the topics of daytime discussion leaders and evening bull sessions at the second annual seminar for women's page journalism at the University of Missouri.

The 4-day combination conference and workshop, sponsored by the J. C. Penney-University of Missouri Journalism Awards, was attended by women's editors from 36 states representing a population of nearly 5½ million and covering a circulation of 3 million.

THE SEMINAR was climaxed with an awards banquet March 21 when 13 winners, including Marianne Scott of Paddock Publications, were saluted in the 1962 national newspaper competition for best women's pages. Entries for the national competition were submitted in one of the three circulation classes for dailies, or in the weekly class. A special award was offered to women's editors in all classes.

Women the nation over, it would seem, present nearly identical club releases and picture requests to the newspaper. Strongly recommended and already in effect on most dailies is the elimination of club releases and other hum-drum, dull news. Mrs. Scott, who was in attendance at the conference, also noted that there is a trend among dailies to eliminate weddings and engagements to make room for the more important news, information, comment and guidance most useful to readers.

AS ONE OF the conference speakers, Maggie Savoy, women's editor of the Arizona Republic in Phoenix, commented. "Today, the greatest source of untapped strength in America is in the minds and intelligence and working drive of women."

She told the women's editors that the same brains that made Sputnik have given women at lease four extra hours a day, creating an unleashed power for better mothering, being a more companionable wife and for pitching in to help with community projects.

Inez Robb, columnist for United Features Syndicate, urged the editors to meet expanding horizons and reminded them that the elasticity of language is a precision tool available to all writers.

Other sessions covered typography, the use of pictures and depth reporting.

MRS. MARIANNE SCOTT, women's editor of Paddock Publications, Inc., is shown receiving her medallion and awards check at the third annual Honors Banquet for the J. C. Penney-University of Missouri Journalism Awards winners March 21. Presenting the award to Mrs. Scott, who won second place in Class IV (weeklies) for best women's pages in the 1962 competition, is Dean Earl F. English, director of the Missouri U. School of Journalism.

ON RETURNING from the conference, Mrs. Scott commented that although the dailies are following a trend of less club and cupid releases, she feels that the suburban newspaper must maintain its close, personal contact with the reader as well as provide leadership through professional, sophisticated reporting with an urban flavor.

"We in the suburbs seek to serve area women even further than the metropolitan press and other media. Our reporting is aimed at the heart of family living and we shall continue to reach the women on a community level," said Mrs. Scott.

"Paddock Publications' keen sense of community problems, and of what our women readers like and need, undoubtedly had much bearing on our newspapers earning one of the top awards in this national competition of more than 400 entries for women's page journalism," commented Charles Hayes, executive editor of the 14 suburban newspapers.

Survey Marriage Dreams

Youth Still Believes in 'Till Death Do Us Part'

Despite earlier marriages and rising divorce rates, most young Americans think marriage should "last a lifetime," according to Evelyn Millis Duvall, family life authority.

Dr. Duvall draws that conclusion from a survey of hte "marriage dreams" of some 3,500 teenagers in a dozen high schools throughout the country. In the April PTA Magazine, official publication of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, she points out:

"The evidence is that American youth believe in marriage. They want it to work, and they want to know how to make it work in their own lives. . . .

"More than 90 per cent of the girls (in grades eight through twelve, in urban industrial, suburban, and semi-rural communities selected for the inquiry) see marriage as a permanent relationship. Although the boys are somewhat more skeptical, at least 80 per cent in every school in the study hold that marriage should last through the life of the partners."

NOT THAT these young moderns want their marriages to be like those of their parents.

Less than half the students favored their parents' marriage as a model, perhaps because "Teen-agers generally are critical of their homes as they seek to emancipate themselves from dependence on their parents. Furthermore," Dr. Duvall notes, "these findings suggest that the dreams of youth are for stronger, happier homes than those in which many are growing up."

Her survey also refutes some critics of modern youth, Dr. Duvall believes.

—"The evidence is clear that modern youth are not unrealistically romantic. The older, more sophisticated boys and girls realize that other things besides love keep a marriage going. . . . Significantly fewer of the students in schools with family life courses think that love is everything; they have learned better."

—"GOING STEADY is reported from all communities, (but) a healthy 58 per cent of all the girls and 68 per cent of all the boys reply that they are not going steady."

—As to future plans, "the majority of teen-age boys look forward to going to college for four or more years" and consequently "expect to be past 21 when they marry."

Similarly, "51 per cent of all the girls in this study do not expect to marry before 21," though, Dr. Duvall comments, "chances are that some will, for rough half of all American girls now get married before their 20th birthday."

Do teen-agers acquire romantic notions of love and marriage from television, movies, or popular music?

Not according to these findings, the authority reports.

"THIS investigation turned up no evidence that the mass media significantly mold youth's dreams of love and marriage. The movies teen-agers enjoy, their favorite television programs (situation comedies, westerns, science-fiction shows), the records and books they mention most often are not closely related to their attitudes about themselves, either as they are now or as they dream of becoming."

Where, then, do young people get the stuff from which they "weave their own dreams"?

They credit parents with teaching them what they know about love and marriage.

"Second to parents . . . are friends of the young people's own age." With them they can "talk out their confusions, test their dreams, find themselves, and come to terms with reality."

You and Your Problems

Is Frequent Moving Hard on Children?

by DR. GERARD G. NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman,

My husband's company just notified him that he will be transferred to Philadelphia in May. The company will make all the arrangements for the move, so I'm not worried about that, but I am worried about the effect of such a move on our children. We have one child in first grade and one in third.

Won't it be hard for my children to change schools? I know they are going to be heartbroken about leaving our house and their friends, who live next door. I'm sure the neighborhood we move to will be different, and it will take us all some time to get used to a new city, new stores, etc.

DR. NEUMAN

If my husband continues with the company, he will be promoted to higher positions, but we know that there will be several transfers. Is it fair to our children to submit them to a total upheaval every few years?

Mrs. W.

Moving every few years has become a way of life for a great many American families. The old pattern of living in the same house and in the same town most of your life has become a thing of the past.

There have been many articles written about the effects of so much moving and breaking up of family and neighborhood ties, mostly expressing the idea that there are more and more emotional problems because of this. Of course, a move in itself does create problems, but we can only guess at any lasting effects it may have. We don't really know.

AN ATTEMPT was made recently to test out whether frequent moves actually do create emotional problems for children. Two groups of children from military families were studies — a group of emotionally disturbed military children and a group of military children making a normal adjustment. Far from expectations, the emotionally disturbed children had not had more moves than the normal children. In fact, both groups had moved about a great deal after the child's birth. So it would seem that frequent moves do not in themselves create emotional problems.

What was significant was the way the parents, particularly the mothers, felt about the moves. The mothers of the disturbed children were the ones who had had the most difficulty in accepting moving around so much, as well as in accepting the military way of life.

THE RESULTS of the study would seem to suggest that children can adjust to new circumstances and new communities if their parents feel right about the move and can give this feeling to their children. When parents are upset, children pick up their feelings.

A child's basic security comes first from within the family, and later from within himself. In a world of increasing mobility and change, this inner security becomes even more important.

Area Educator Is Council Speaker

A distinguished alumna of Kalamazoo College will be honored by the College's Women's Council at its annual Achievement Day April 6. The alumna is Miss Helen Winifred Appeldoorn, '29, Director of the Northwestern Suburban Special Education Organization with headquarters at Jack London High School in Wheeling.

As special guest, Miss Appeldoorn will be the main speaker at the luncheon. She is a nationally known educator and psychologist in the field of special education. In her present position, which she accepted last September, she directs, from Jack London High School, 10 school districts: Palatine, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Feehanville, Schaumburg, Mount Prospect, Elk Grove, Palatine High School and Arlington High

MISS APPELDOORN received her M.A. from Columbia University and did additional post-graduate work at Columbia, Wayne State University, and Ohio State University. From 1931-42 she taught in Kalamazoo public schools and from 1942-46 was school psychologist at Highland Park, Mich. She was an assistant professor of psychology at Ohio State University from 1946-49, and from 1949 until 1959, director of special education at Springfield, Ill.

Prior to her present position she was a research associate at the Institute for Research on Exceptional Children at the University of Illinois.

Listed in "Who's Who In American Women," Miss Appeldoorn is a member of the American Association on Mental Deficiency, the American Association on Mental Deficiency, the American and Illinois Psychological Associations and the International Council of Exceptional Children.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Back Home Again

I do love a vacation in winter and early spring. It's a real thrill to leave the ice and snow behind and go to the sun, surf and sand places. Unfortunately, one must come home again and there is where I run into two almost insurmountable problems.

MARY

The first problem is one of looks and style. I spend lots and lots of time on these vacations building myself a beautiful golden tan. Sometimes it's a little patchy in spots but to me it is a thing of beauty and a joy for as long as it lasts. Which isn't too long usually.

So what happens? I return home and am forced by weather, custom and public opinion to don long sleeves, long pants, long stockings and a long face. On occasion I have, out of pure desperation, worn shorts and gone barelegged to bowl right after my jaunt. I am greeted with peals of laughter and happy shouts of "We hate you" which does nothing for my ego.

The other problem is unpacking. When packing and dragging summer things out of their hiding places, I am gay. When I return home and start unpacking I am faced with a poser. Should I go to all the work of returning all the light stuff back to that miserable mess I call the attic? Or should I stuff it into that miserable mess I call my closet? Hoping that we will have an early spring and summer. Which we probably won't if I leave the summer clothes out.

Prudence prevents me from retiring the woolies quite yet. Laziness leans me toward leaving the closet jammed up. So, next to a heavy wool suit hangs a linen one. They aren't exactly compatible but never let it be said that I'm not ready for any contingency. At all times.

Randhurst Garden Show

All women's clubs in the Paddock area are being invited to submit entries in a table setting and floral arrangement show being held May 9, 10 and 11 at Randhurst. Held in conjunction with Mother's Day, the show will be held in the mall amid the tropical plants, fountains and sculpture.

Clubs participating are asked to call the Randhurst Corporation office, 259-0500 to reserve space and obtain details of the show.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Another Year...

Dear Peg:

St. Patrick's Days will come and St. Patrick's Days will go and I'll never see 35 again. Pat and I share the honors on that day — at least in the McArdle household — and like the good old saint, no one is going to know exactly how old I am from now on. I may never see 35 again, but I intend to see 36 for a long time! It's funny, though, as I approach it, 40 doesn't really sound very old. . .

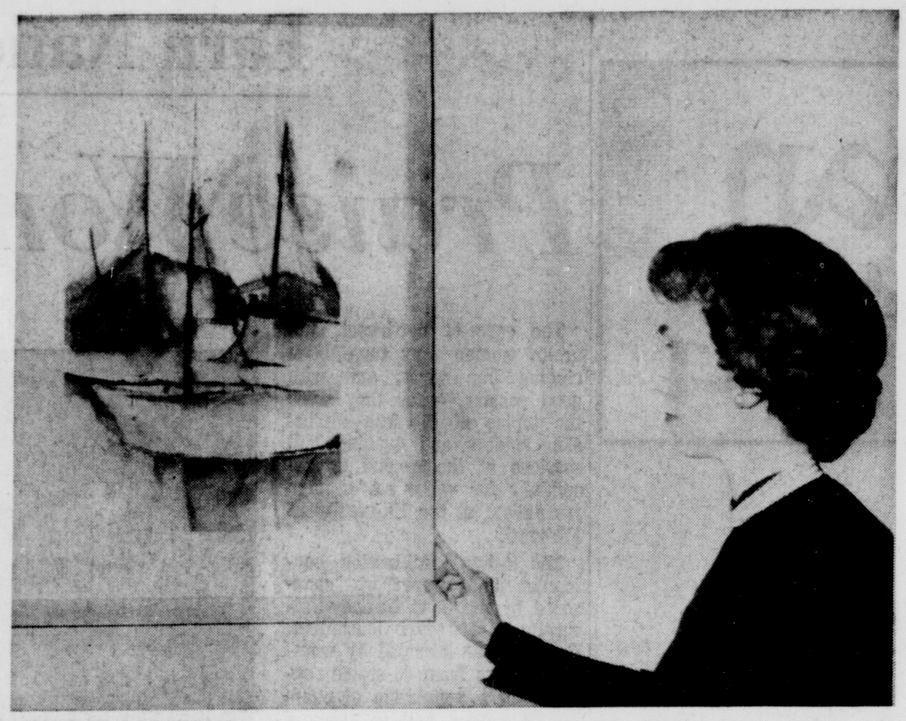
I think it was one of the nicest birthdays I ever celebrated. First of all, my Mother and favorite aunt arrived from Indianapolis Friday evening and for two days I caught up on all the news of my Hoosier aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews and what-have-you living in or around the capitol city — a veritable clan from county Marion. My two sweet visitors gave me a very nice little piece of paper which the lady at the dress shop was happy to take in exchange for a beautiful green satin sheath. I, in my green and the rest of the family in whatever clean clothes they had, went out for dinner Saturday night. And where else, but our favorite Tarney's. The lobster was delicious (so it should have been corn beef and cabbage — tradition can only go so far and I like lobster better).

Sunday morning was sung in sweetly to the tune of "Happy Birthday, dear Mama" by a chorus of five or more and various, thoughtful, little offerings were laid on our bed to be opened — as soon as my eyes were. There were bubble bath, stockings and hankies and a sweet kiss from each. I objected, however, to 36 spankings from each of the five, so we settled on one smack a piece.

While I was cooking breakfast, a lovely surprise came for me at the front door. The florist delivered an arrangement of green carnations, white mums and evergreens in a white porcelain, compote-type container. It was one of the prettiest bouquets I've ever seen and, of course, it was from my sweet husband, who also had included a message, much too sentimental to print.

The birthday dinner (again with apologies to St. Pat) was my favorite food — a good steak and a nice wine. The birthday cake was chocolate with one large candle — which fooled no one. . .

My love,
Patty



"HARBOR PATTERN," a water color painting by Carole Komarek, is admired by Mrs. Lowell Willis of Elk Grove Village, program chairman of Arlington Heights Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. Komarek, who is president of the Countryside Art Center, is one of several northwest suburban area artists whose works have been shown at regular meetings of the branch during the past two years. Clipped Wings Meet Tuesday

TWA Clipped Wings will meet on Tuesday at the Reserve Savings and Loan in Elmhurst. Plans for the annual membership tea to be held in April will be completed, after which a wig demonstration will be given.

All former TWA hostesses of the Paddock area are welcome, and regular members are invited to bring guests. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Easter Jellybean Breakfast

by Dolores Haugh

Soon that little ol' rabbit with the colored eggs will be lurking around and undoubtedly you would like to plan a "special" welcome for him. So, plan a jellybean Breakfast and no, you don't eat the Jellybeans. Not until later, that is. You may wish to use these party ideas for a luncheon, a child's birthday or for a theme for your church's Easter Breakfast but no matter how you use them they will add a colorful touch to the day.

INVITATIONS

Yes, even for the family it is fun to present them with an invitation. It is especially thoughtful for teenagers who might have "plans" and, of course, the smaller members are delighted to know there are very special plans afoot.

Cut jellybeans, about 3 inches long from construction or shelf paper in yellow, pink, green and purple. On the back simply state that there will be a Jellybean Breakfast on Easter morning and be sure to wear a smile. State the time and of course, be it another type of party you may want to add the following:

Jellybeans pink,
Some yellow, some green,
But the "mostest" of Jellybeans
You ever have seen,
Are waiting to greet you
Along side of your plate,
So just look below for the time, place and date.

Then state aforesaid information. If it is a birthday, ask that the packages be wrapped in jelly bean colors and as the guests arrive have him play Bunny and hide his birthday gift, leaving a Jellybean at a center focal point pointing the direction the hostess or host must go to find the hidden treasure.

MENU

For a breakfast, pancakes tinted pastel colors and elongated make a real hit with little effort. Served with hot butter and syrup, crisp bacon, cheery orange juice and finished off with lots of hot coffee and or milk it is sure to "hold" the family until your late dinner.

For a birthday or party menu, cool fruit juice, jello Easter eggs made by molding jello in egg shells which have been blown out, chilled and then peeled, plus hot yeast rolls made in the form of bunnies and an angel food cake bearing nests of tinted green coconut filled with tiny bird's eggs make it a meal to remember.

DECORATIONS

Spring colors of light pastels can be used for the background but yellow and green will be used here for tablecloth, napkins and china. Or you may use a deep blue with white china, yellow accents. Tie the napkins, paper or linen, with ribbon and set them inside the empty glasses for a little different touch. Around the glass on a cardboard circle, glue paper grass in a ring and set the glass in the center and then on the larger plate.

On top of the rolled napkin place a tiny fuzzy hen or baby yellow chick. For the centerpiece if you have any time at all, you can make a lovely flowered chicken by using Oasis and covering the entire body, head, neck, tail and wings with feather mums. A scarlet geranium makes the comb and fasten one under the beak which is a Brazil nut.

Add two black buttons with pins for the eyes and you have a real conversation piece to grace any table and if you treat the base according to directions it will last long enough for Easter and the week following. Place the hen in a bowl to retain the water and moisture and then surround it with grass and jellybeans.

ENTERTAINMENT

For the birthday party, a jellybean hunt, dropping jellybeans into a milk bottle, balancing jellybeans on a knife, and any other games can be adapted to the theme. Have each guest take home a bag decorated with paper or crayon-colored jellybeans and even the smallest child can color ovals. For favors small boxes of candy, or any Springtime game, jump rope or marbles, along with jellybean balloons will keep your children "hopping" for another Jellybean party. (S

'Common Market' Is Next Topic of DAR

The National Defense study group of Eli Skinner Chapter, NSDAR, will meet today, Thursday, at 9:30 a.m .in the home of the chairman, Mrs. John L. Oster, 937 N. Chestnut Street, Arlington Heights. Any woman interested in this timely topic is welcome to attend.

The group's topic is "The Common Market." Mrs. Oster is qualified to speak to this subject, having heard it discussed at the recent DAR State Conference. Dr. John Haramy was the speaker at one of the state dinners at the conference, his topic entitled, "Whither America."

MRS. OSTER has distinguished herself as first runner-up in the recent "Junior Member" contest conducted by the Illinois NSDAR. Mrs. Keith Buchanan of Monticello was the winner, her background in DAR dating to her experience as a member of Children of the American Revolution, an organization which Mrs. Oster is interested in sponsoring in Arlington Heights. Sorority Activities

Annual Founder's Day Banquet Heads Pi Beta Phi's Calendar

Wine and silver blue, the colors of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, will be used for decor when members of the Sorority's Arlington Heights Alumnae Club gather at Old Orchard Country Club next Wednesday evening, April 3, to pay tribute to the sorority's founding members at the annual Founders' Day Banquet.

It was on the campus of Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., in the year 1867, that 12 young women, with the desire to bind themselves in friendship and fellowship, banded together to form a sorority, which they then called I. C. Sorosis. Later the name was changed to Pi Beta Phi. The sorority is the oldest of the present day Greek letter sororities.

BESIDES THE traditional candle-lighting ceremony honoring the 12 founders, the post-banquet program will be highlighted with the showing of colorslides of the sorority's main philanthropic project — the Pi Beta Phi Settlement school.

The school, located in the Great Smokies, was founded 50 years ago to give vocational instruction as well as elementary and high school education to the mountain people of the area.

In conjunction with the school, Pi Beta Phi maintains an arrowcraft shop in Gatlinburg, Tenn., where handwoven items and other handcraft made by the mountain people in their homes, are sold. In addition to telling the history of the school, the slide collection features pictures of the school, the shop, and the mountain people at work. The slides were first shown at the Pi Beta Phi national convention in June, 1962, in Washington, D. C., to honor of school's 50th anniversary.

GUEST OF honor at the Founders' Day Banquet will be Mrs. Floyd M. Thorman of Winnetka, alumnae province president; banquet chairman is Mrs. Hoyt Mathews of Mount Prospect.

Assisting her are Mrs. Clarke M. Jackson, also of Mount Prospect; Mrs. Harrison Kennicott, Carpentersville; and Mrs. William F. Hannum and Mrs. Harold M. Whitacre Jr. of Arligton Heights. Mrs. John Otzen of Arlington Heights will preside.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

In attendance at the Illinois-Wisconsin province meeting of Alpha Chi Omega March 15-17 in Aurora were local Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club members-Mrs. Paul Heal of Palatine; Mrs. George Lesock, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Gordon Young and Mrs. Lowell Oelson.

On Monday, April 1 at 8:30 p.m. the area chapter will hold its regular monthly meet in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Thomas Ralph, 108 N. Yale.

In addition to holding the installation of officers for the coming year, the group will make toys for Clearbrook School. Alpha Chis interested in attending are asked to call Mrs. Lebsock at CL 5-4916.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Election of new officers for the 1962-63 season were an important part of the March 20, meeting of the Lambda Delta Chapter. Those elected were Mrs. James Aase, president; Mrs. Lester Turmen, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Erickson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. William Hemphill, treasurer.

"Sculpture" will be the program presented at the April 3 meeting — Mrs. Richard Erickson, Mrs. Arnot Croslin and Mrs. Marvin Wemkin will serve as hostesses.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Filling Easter baskets for children with cerebral palsy will head the April 2 meeting of Northwest Suburban Alumnae, Zeta Tau Alpha, when members meet in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. John Hartmann, 1122 Alfini Drive.

The Zeta Alumnae, a newly formed group, is inviting other Zetas in the area to monthly meetings. For additional information or transportation members may call 825-1017.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

In the "Easter Bunny" business last week were members of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club, Kappa Alpha Theta, who met at the home of Mrs. W. Daeschner in Arlington Heights to complete their bunny project for use at Illinois Research Hospital.

According to Mrs. Daeschner the colorful gifts will be placed on the children's breakfast trays for a special treat Easter morning. Lending a helping hand was Mrs. Norris Levis, district president, the group's special guest. (S

CHILDREN IN THE ORTHOPEDIC WARD at Illinois Research Hospital, Chicago, will have a double treat in store for them this Easter. In addition to the usual visit from the Mr. Rabbit, they will receive colorful bunnies in miniature from Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club, Kappa Alpha Theta. Among workers are Mrs. Earl Stiegemeier of Palatine; Mrs. N. K. Levis, Rockford, alumnae district president; Mrs. R. Holzkamp, Elk Grove Village; and Mrs. N. B. Stephens, Arlington Heights.

Exciting Tourist Fare

Greenfield Village Offers Glimpse of Colorful Past

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum reproduce the past — the Ford Motor Company's giant manufacturing plant, the "Rouge," epitomizes the modern age. Having seen the Village's street of old time shops, where products are made by hand, you will want to shift centuries rapidly and tour the Rouge to gain a graphic picture of the vast strides made in a comparatively short period of time in manufacturing methods.

The giant manufacturing plant on the banks of the Rouge river in Dearborn, Michigan, is the largest concentration of closely knit, integrated factories owned by one company in America.

THE ROUGE was the first and remains the only plant on the continent where raw iron ore is unloaded on the docks, smelted into iron, converted into steel and, within a matter of days, transformed into engines, frames, bodies, and finally, completed automobiles.

In area, the Rouge is one and a half miles long and more than a mile wide. In the teeming 1,200-acre strip of river bottomland is a miracle of manufacturing so vast and complex that few of the 36,700 men and women who work there daily have a full conception of its real magnitude. Statistics can give a hint of that magnitude, however. For example, three blast furnaces produce 4,000 tons of iron each day; the glass plant turns out a ribbon of glass 103 inches wide and nearly four miles long every 24 hours. The Village's glassblower of the 18th century could not have envisioned such a miracle of production even in his wildest dreams.

Ford has just announced plans to establish a new visitor reception center at its Central Office Building in Dearborn. The new center will replace the Ford Rotunda destroyed by fire last November. To be ready some time this spring the new center will serve as a starting point for free public tours of the Rouge manufacturing area and other company facilities in Dearborn.

BUSES, STAFFED by trained tour guides, carry visitors to the Rouge every half hour during the summer season, hourly during the remainder of the year.

The guides, graduates of an intensive course covering subjects from company history to the steel-making process, conduct visitors on a 90-minute tour of the engine plant, steel-making operations and the final assembly area.

If you plan an early spring trip to Dearborn inquire at the Lincoln-Mercury Division building at 3000 Schaefer Road. That building will serve as the starting point for tours until the new visitors' center is completed.

A SPRINGTIME tour of Greenfield Village, the Henry Ford Museum and the Ford plants could be a gala outing for troops of Boy and Girl Scouts, women's clubs and other organized groups. To generate interest and present a preview of what the group will see, why not show the two color-sound movies which are available free to groups. The films, "Greenfield Village - Where Yesterday Lives Today," (10 minutes) and "Henry Ford Museum, Panorama of the Past," (15 minutes) are fascinating entertainment in themselves and are sure to arouse in your group a desire to see the actual Village and Museum. To obtain the films write to: Audio-Visual Department, Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan, allowing at least three weeks before your planned date for the showing. One additional caution - during April and May, because of heavy demand for the films, use is restricted to those groups which are definitely planning to make the tours.

Dormitory facilities and inexpensive meal service are available only for groups of children (and their official escorts) through high school age. For such groups dormitory rooms are available at $1.25 per person per night; meals - breakfast, 50 cents; luncheon, $1.25; dinner, $1.65. For further information on such accommodations write to: Food Service, Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan.

ADULT GROUPS may wish to stay at Dearborn Inn, the perfectly delightful hotel where each room is beautifully furnished with reproductions of priceless antiques. Write directly to Dearborn Inn for information and rates for groups.

In planning your trip don't forget that the Village, the Museum and the Ford plant tour are among our country's most popular tourist attractions. Make your plans well in advance and avoid, if possible, weekends when, quite naturally, crowds are at their peak. (T

Give Half Fares To 'Better Halves'

So-called "better halves" will be honored by Eastern Air Lines.

This is the effective date for Eastern's new 50 per cent discount fare for wives accompanying their husbands in first-class airplane accommodations, bringing the cost of such transportation down to a level below that of day aircoach.

Subject to approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the airline's latest and biggest bargain extension of its familiar family plan will also permit half-fares in its first-class service for any accompanying children under the age of 22.

THE NEW discounts, which will run through the Spring and Summer months, will apply on all Eastern flights within the Continental United States and Canada, may be used for either one-way or round-trip flights, and are good on any day of the week except Sunday.

Present family plan discounts for first-class air travel amount to only 33⅓ per cent for the accompanying spouse, and are only good on flights departing between Monday noon and Thursday noon, and all day Saturday.

Under the new fare plan, a husband and wife will be able to fly round-trip, jet first class from Chicago to Miami, for example, for only $289.35 (not including tax). This is $96.45 under regular jet first-class fares, and $14.45 less than the cost of normal jet day coach. (T

Success Story

The world's first tomato sauce was created by a 16th Century Spanish chef who dared to combine what was then regarded as a very tart fruit with onions and olive oil, simmering the sauce to a puree.

Last year, Americans consumed over 600 million cans of "Spanish style" tomato sauce! Even canned tomato sauce tastes better when fresh fragrant Spanish olive oil is added to it, whether it is used as a base for spaghetti sauce or in other meat, fish or vegetable dishes. (SH

Condensation on Windows Points to High Humidity

Windows tha get "misty" during cold weather are like red flags, warning you that the humidity in your home is too high and should be reduced for the sake of comfort and the long life of your house.

A humidity level of 40 to 50 per cent is generally considered as ideal for comfort and health, according to Gordon W. Orbesen, heating and air conditioning specialist for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

"IN OLDER HOUSES it is often difficult to keep this much moisture in the air," he said. "On the other hand, in modern homes which are well insulated and tightly built to reduce drafts and save fuel, the balance often swings the other way and excessive humidity can become a problem which causes untold damage."

The gallons of water which we add to the air in everyday living — cooking, bathing and washing clothes, have no way to escape to the drier air outside.

BECAUSE GLASS is a vapor barrier, the moisture begins to collect on the window panes when the inside air becomes saturated. In the case of single-glazed windows, the air next to the glass is considerably cooler and therefore, has even less moisture carrying capacity than the rest of the air in the room.

As the water vapor seeks the drier air outdoors, Mr. Orbesen said, it may pass right into the walls and collect under the exterior paint, causing it to blister, or it may condense on the wall studs and siding, eventually causing decay.

"IF YOUR home is equipped with properly fitted storm sash or glazed with Thermopane insulating glass and the windows collect excessive moisture, the problem is even more acute since double-glazed Thermopane or windows equipped with storm sash collect condensation far less readily than do single pane windows," Mr. Orbesen stated.

TO HELP KEEP indoor humidity within reasonable limits, it is recommended that homemakers have clothes driers vented to the outdoors to carry off moisture from this prime source.

Open a window for a few minutes after a shower or bath, and do the same with the front door if downstairs windows start to steam up.

The resultant heat loss will be small and excessive humidity will pass quickly to the outdoors.

When cooking, or washing dishes, open the kitchen window a half inch or so at the top and if you hang washing to dry in the basement, leave one of the windows open a bit.

IF THESE NORMAL precautions are taken to carry excessive moisture outside and the problem of condensation still persists, it is a good idea to enlist the help of a competent builder or carpenter and have him check the roof, flashings and gutters for leaks.

Further relief can often be had by installing a vent fan in the kitchen and bathroom and insulating any crawl space under your home with a vapor-backed insulating material. (S

A Look of Spring

Cotton Print 'Drama' In Windows, Blinds

"The next time we move, it's going to be into a place with lots of windows."

That's the declaration made by every housewife living in an apartment or house with inadequate window space. When she finally moves into such a home, however, the tune often changes.

"What am I going to do about curtains and drapes for all these windows?" she moans.

BUDGET, patience, and matrimonial harmony can suffer when the woman of the house attacks the problems presented by windows that invariably are of different sizes in different rooms. Matching curtains to the color scheme, hiding unsightly radiators, and dealing with off-center windows are just a few of the problems she faces.

Imaginative use of cotton fabrics can solve most of these and make windows one of the most attractive features of a home.

Taking the lead from interior designers, many homemakers are using cotton fabrics laminated to vinyl-coated cotton window shades. The shades are durable and practical and a central color theme can be carried out by using prints or stripes that complement your primary colors.

IN A CHILD'S room solid colored shades can be enhanced by appliqueing cutouts to the shade, but if you want to cover the shade completely with a fabric, it's best to have your local shade shop do it for you. Almost any cotton fabric can be used, but you might take a sample to the shop to make sure.

The wide variety of colors and prints available in cotton makes it possible to carry out any theme. Screen prints of wildlife, for instance, are perfect for a man's den or study, and bright floral prints can set the mood for a woman's bedroom.

Flank these laminated shades with drapes coordinated in a solid color from the print, and the window is complete.

Other possibilities with cotton window shades are offered through the multitude of trimmings available. The bottom of the shade can be rounded, scalloped, or cut in a variety of shapes that can be enhanced by the imaginative use of trimmings. The shades, trimming, and side drapes can be combined in an interesting treatment.

For a narrow room with off-center windows, construct a walnut valance at the top of the windows all the way across the room and install a walnut ledge at the bottom. Have a favorite cotton stripe laminated to rounded shades and use wooden tassels at the bottom of the shade and across the bottom edge of the valance. From the ledge hang a coordinated cotton plaid as cafe curtains.

THIS SET-UP allows you to hang pictures or other articles in the portion of the wall without windows and to use the ledge for pottery, ash trays, or the like.

The cafe curtains are also a good means of hiding unsightly radiators or air conditioning units. Floor to ceiling drapes hung outside the cafe curtains allow the drapes to be open for light and air while the cafe curtains hide the portion of wall below the windows.

With an entire wall of windows, try installing a wooden frame that doesn't necessarily follow the casements of the windows. Hang cafe curtains along the bottom of the frame, and then install shades to fit the openings in the frame.

This allows you to dictate the width of shades rather than having it dictated by the size of the windows.

CARRYING THE laminations of cotton fabrics a step further, the Venetian Blind Institute reports that many designers are now laminating cotton fabrics to blinds. This treatment has proved particularly effective in sitting rooms and in the one room in the house that the housewife calls her own.

There are a number of cotton fabrics in a wide variety of prints and solids that can do multiple duty as upholstery and wall covering fabric, as draperies, and as fabric for lamination to blinds. Use of one fabric in this manner gives unity to a room, which can be made even more attractive by picking up colors from the print for accents.

Strips of fabric in a complementary color can be sewn over the venetian blind tapes, for instance.

ANOTHER treatment for a feminine bedroom is the use of a shutter arrangement at the window. Three-quarter length cafe curtains are installed below a row of shutters at the top of the window. The shutters are rectangular frames containing panels of the same fabric used in the cafe curtains. They can be hinged to open or installed permanently in a row across the top.

Ideas for window treatments are endless in number. Working with colorful, practical cottons, your only limitation is imagination. (S DECORATIVE BLINDS — Cotton fabrics find a new window use when laminated to blinds, according to the Venetian Blind Institute. For chair and blinds, deep and medium blue and brassy gold dominate the print used here by Elisabeth Draper. (S

Key to Low Cost Apartments Good Design, Say Architects

Two large groups of Americans are searching for low cost apartments which are not tenements or public housing. They want to pay their way, but still have enough left over after rent checks to live comfortably on rather limited incomes.

They are the ever increasing group of retired couples and the young marrieds, the crop of World War II babies just reaching adulthood.

SINCE THE majority of apartments are rentals, an ever growing number of investors are looking for apartment structures which can be built at lower cost so they can be profitably rented at rates within the reach of young marrieds and retired couples.

In the western states, some young architects believe they may have come up with a solution to the problem. They are designing two and three-story apartment buildings which are attractive, homelike, have an air of elegance and are spacious, yet still can be rented inexpensively.

In Portland, for example, architects Blair and Zaik have won architectural awards with their "Iron House" apartments at Lake Oswego, which have set the pace for low cost apartments that have high style.

THE SECRET to the low cost of these buildings is their basic frame which is wood. They can be built for around $10 a square foot, and the price would vary in different localities depending on the supply of good framing lumber such as Douglas fir or West Coast hemlock.

These apartments, using modern design, meet all fire and safety codes, point out Blair and Zaik.

They can be built so that they do not have that institutional look which so many high rise apartments seem to acquire.

IT IS POSSIBLE to produce an individual appearance for each of these apartments, the architects point out. For instance, in this type of design, each apartment can have its own enclosed lanai or patio for outdoor living during the warm summer months.

We use the warmth and texture of exposed cedar siding, point out the architects, to make these apartment structures look as nearly like an elegant home as possible. We have provided for spacious living rooms, compact kitchen and dining facilities.

Much of the secret of the success of these apartments is the ingenious use of space to get maximum usable footage.

By proper arrangement of these apartments on property, a good many living units can be built on every acre of land.

The real key to low cost, say Blair and Zaik, is in the original structural cost. By using sound design and wood frame the cost of these buildings can be materially reduced. (S

Bassett Hound Helps

Just a Tiny Splinter Brings 'Bifocal Blues'

by BETTY AINSLIE

It all started with the emptying of an innocent woven wastepaper basket.

A fairly snug trash container, it is made of straw with nasty little ends that have protruded from time to time into my hands.

This time a splinter, infinitesimal in size stuck into the fat and generous part of my thumb. Just a tiny piece, mind you — and here lies the trouble — if it had been a foot long and a yard wide I could have located it and bravely tweezed it out.

"I think I've a splinter in my thumb," I announced casually to Pop that night. "I can't see anything but I sure can feel it."

NOW OVER THE last few years I've been breaking in a pair of bifocals and have managed by a certain elderly tip of my head to read the price tags on the racks of dresses in the stores where we gals go shopping.

"Is that twenty-nine ninety-five, or thirty-nine ninety-five," my friends who wear their glasses in their purses will inquire—and I manage my sighting squarely down each side of my nose and rearing my head back to read the numbers on the tag.

But the splinter I couldn't see. Pop, whose 20-20 vision has slipped a bit since his arms have shortened up (so he says) couldn't see a thing at first glance either.

I was busy bathing my splinter in dishwater when he returned with a needle, alcohol, tweezers and a magnifying glass son no. 2 uses for his stamp collection.

HE PEERED and he probed with his glasses off and on. With the magnifying glass and without. We found the bit of wood finally. Well son no. 2 found it actually, but then he only needs glasses for distance.

Isn't it heck to get old? Shucks, mentally you may feel as quick and alert as a 20-year-old, but it is the body machinery that slips a cog or starts making itself felt after 40 that is so frustrating. Just to mention that you wear bifocals ages your mental outlook about 10 years. Especially if the effort to see through them has you stepping around a little line constantly.

Take the basement steps which I whizzed up and down, washbasket piled high with clothes and newspapers depending upon which way I was heading, I take them at a more cautious rate now, due to two reasons; one is bifocals and the other is the dog.

SHEBA LIKES the steps and spreads her ungainly Bassett length along one, usually the fourth from the top so a foot placed in the wrong spot and whoops! I don't know where I'd be but I'm certain Sheba would be among the missing.

So I make sure the dog is not descending, ascending or reclining when I trod the steps' treacherous length.

There are no bifocals made which will let the wearer float gracefully down a staircase. Give me more than two steps in the direction of China and I descend with chin resting on chest, my neck vertebra thusly being pushed out of place. Now I hold a handrail for support, not just touch it fleetingly with fingertips—I really hang on because steps have this habit of fluctuating a bit, a disturbing movement either slightly up or down depending upon how the glasses move.

Moving stairways are not much better except once on and anchored to the hand rail you're bound to get there and be nudged, none to gently, off at the bottom or top.

GLASSES are attractive these days, frame-wise that is. What with the Harlequin look, exaggerated slants and tilts, bejeweled and tinted metal and plastic, frames can actually add to a gal's charm. I'm just speaking about the sneaky glass they slip into those bewitching eye framers.

"The telephone book is the biggest help to my business," our eye doctor said as he adjusted with a series of clicks and snaps a gadget for testing eyes to my nose.

"After people call the wrong number a few times, mistaking the three for an eight they come in. Seems we get a lot of extra appointments right after the new phone book is released every year."

ACTUALLY I wouldn't be without them. Glasses I mean. Well in the first place I couldn't recognize my best friend at six paces without them. Anyway they do wonders in hiding circles or should I say, bags under the eyes and give you that wide awake alert look even if you do sorta doze behind their protection.

Bifocals, trifocals, all artificial aids to bolster the sagging eyesight of middle age. But I've an idea the phone companies are cooperating with the eye doctors since we've all been switched to digit dialing we don't have a chance. No letters now, the whole thing is numbers.

It isn't just the numbers that bother me though. Pop can see things clear as crystal at a distance. Things like the "antique" sign over a new shop so that he can increase the car speed so my nearsightedness can't see the possibilities of stopping until too late.

All works out though, I can read the fine print, so I can wisk a purchase out from under his nose before he can spot the price on the tag. (S

Traditions of Easter Have Ancient Origins

The customs and traditions of the Easter season are actually a strange mixture of early Christian ritual and ancient pagan beliefs.

Easter falls on April 14 this year. Officially, the date of Easter is the Sunday following the first full moon of Springtime — a formula dating back to the Old Testament.

When the Israelites were in bondage in Egypt, Moses led them forth by the light of the Spring's first full moon. This became the Passover Season for the Jews.

Jesus was celebrating the Feast of the Passover when he was seized and crucified. Early Christians established the date of Easter as a "movable feast" like the Passover. The two feasts were calculated on the same ancient lunar calendar so they would always occur only a few days apart.

EVEN BEFORE the Christians, the people of almost every recorded civilization had celebrated the wonder of Spring and the mystery of nature's rebirth at the time of Spring's first full moon.

The modern name for Easter comes from the Teutonic goddess of Spring and the moon, "Eostra." The Easter Bunny may also have been introduced by her worshippers.

Because the rabbit was born with both eyes open and because it usually chose the cover of night to forage for food, a parallel between the hare and the moon was soon drawn. To the early Christians, both were "open-eyed watchers of the night."

THIS STILL doesn't explain, however, how the rabbit was endowed with egg-laying powers —a point of contention for youngsters in any civilization.

According to legend, Eostra, for some reason known only to herself, changed her pet bird into a creature half-hen and half-hare. Both the rabbit—and generations of young egg-hunters—have been confused ever since.

The tradition of the Easter egg developed independently of the bunny, and only later were they linked in fable.

The ancient Persians claimed the world was hatched from an egg on the first day of Spring. At the vernal equinox, they celebrated their version of New Year's Eve by exchanging colored eggs as good luck charms.

THE EARLY Christians adopted the custom, consecrating eggs and staining them deep red, to symbolize the blood of Christ. During the Middle Ages, an Easter gift of colored eggs came to denote affection. Nobility exchanged artfully designed artificial eggs of silver, mother-of-pearl, and bronze.

But, colored eggs, no matter how hard-boiled, proved a bit impractical to send through the medieval mail system. Usually the recipient opened his gift package to find shattered good wishes. More practical minds in the 18th and 19th centuries began to exchange Easter cards.

By the end of the 19th century, the humorous cards had come into vogue. Whimsical bunnies and gaily-colored Easter eggs were standard designs for most every card, according to the Rust Craft greeting card company.

SINCE THE END of World War II, however, the trend has been back to the religious themes, says the firm. Today, typical cards incorporate traditional prayers and ancient legends into modern greetings for Easter time.

More than 450 million Easter cards will be mailed in the United States this year, according to Rust Craft's estimates.

Mount Prospect Juniors' Show To Feature Suburban Fashions

Spring and summer fashions especially selected for the suburban woman both at home and on vacation will be featured at the "Spring Bouquet of Fashions" to be presented Tuesday evening in Old Orchard Country Club by Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club. Fashions will be by Carson Pirie Scott and Company with special emphasis on the suburban woman's dual needs.

Mrs. Eugene Segin, general chairman of the event, explained: "So many times fashions in shows are lovely to look at but are impractical for the suburbanite with young children and a full schedule of errands and chores to do. We hope our show will be of real practical value in helping her plan this season's clothing purchases."

COMMENTARY will be by Mrs. Carol Hermann, fashion co-ordinator from Carson's, and styles will be modeled by club members. Among the models will be Mrs. Donald E. Bartlett, Mrs. Robert Basta, Mrs. Herman De Smidt, Mrs. Lawrence Gianneschi, Mrs. Joseph Heerens, Mrs. Fred Hendershott, Mrs. Charles Oberlin, Mrs. Jack Piper, Mrs. Leonard Willis and Mrs. Ernest Weber.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the scholarship fund of the Mount Prospect Juniors.

A dessert buffet of assorted cakes and coffee or tea will follow the show and is included in the price of the ticket. A cocktail hour from 7:30 to 8:30 preceding the show is optional.

Tickets can be obtained from members or by calling the ticket chairman, Mrs. Fred Hendershott, at CL 5-0849. (S

Both are graduates of Palatine High School. (S

Schaumburg Juniors Disburse Earnings to Philanthropies

Schaumburg Junior Woman's club voted recently to give $625 for local philanthropies and $80 to state and national federation projects. This brings the total donated this year to $1,174 according to Mrs. Earl Lind, philanthropies chairman of the club. Another $250 has been set aside in a community improvement fund for future use.

Mrs Lind stated that the Schaumburg club has made local donations of $150 each to the Schaumburg Township library, Campanelli school, Schaumburg Junior High, and the Northwest Mental Health Association. The money for Campanelli will be used for classroom tables requested by the principal, and library books will be purchased with the money given to the Junior High. The club also gave $25 to the Girl Scout Troop it sponsors for the purchase of a troop flag.

GENERAL federation projects receiving money were CARE, the medical ship, Hope, and Radio Free Europe. Donations to the Illinois Federation include money for cancer research, educational TV on Channel 11, Indian affairs, international relations, Lincoln Lodge for boys, Park Ridge School for Girls, occupational therapy scholarships, and the Puerto Rican project.

Earlier this year the club sold Halloween candy, earning $240 for the Brain Research Foundation, and held candle coffees which netted $222 for scholarships for teachers of exceptional children.

Mrs. Leonard B. Newendorp, club president, said that she was gratified to see the results of th eclub's work throughout the year. "We've had a varied program," she said, "and our philanthropy record is one of which we can be proud."

THE CLUB will hold elections for three offices at its April general meetin gto be held in the Pure Oil building April 1 at 8 p.m.

Candidates presented last month by the nominating committee are Joy Botts, second vice president; Dorothy Fox, recording secretary; and Joan Connell, corresponding secretary. Nominated from the floor were Nancy Hemstreet, second vice president; Clare Nelson, recording secretary; and Gerda Reuter, corresponding secretary.

Program for the evening will be a hat show with each member modeling an unusual hat she has created, according to Joan Connell, program chairman.(S

Mt. Prospect Woman's Club To Review 'First Ladies'

"Our First Ladies" will be the subject of the next program of the Mount Prospect Woman's Club, set for Tuesday in Mount Prospect Country Club at 1 p.m. Mrs. Paula Bishop, lecturer and book analyst, will display pictures and relate little-known or publicized stories about first ladies of our nation.

This is the second appearance of Mrs. Bishop before the club.

ELECTION OF officers for 1963-64 will be held following presentation of the slate by the nominating committee. Mrs. Vincent Sheridan will act as hostess for the social hour preceeding the meeting.

Mrs. Thomas McCormick, spring luncheon chairman, reminds members and guests that tickets are now available for the event, which is scheduled for Tuesday, April 23, at 1 p.m., in Old Orchard Country Club. In addition to the luncheon, a one-act play will be presented by Arlington Heights Village Theatre. The club's scholarship fund will benefit from this affair.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. McCormick, CL 5-1244, or any board member, or they may be obtained at the April 2 meeting. (S

Marie Grandt, Groom At Home in Wheeling

Four bridal attendants, attired in all-pink ensembles, complemented the former Marie Grandt of Wheeling in her Feb. 23 marriage to James Raupp of Prairie View. St. Joseph the Worker Church in Wheeling was the setting for the afternoon rites, as the bride, daughter of the Elmer Grandts, 46 E. Hintz Road, approached the flower-decked altar.

She was preceded by her sister, Blanche Schmidt of Oak Lawn, Lorraine Willney of Wheeling and Karen Grzesik of Arlington Heights, all as bridesmaids, and Barbara Hanigan of Far Rockaway, N. Y., as maid of honor. Their street length nylon sheer dresses of azalea pink were accented with matching headpieces and slippers. Each girl carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ivy.

A TRADITIONAL gown of white lace peau de soie was chosen by the bride for her wedding day. An alencon lace midriff accentuated the tiny waistline of the dress, which had a scooped neckline, three-quarter sleeves and a chapel train. Her 3-tiered fingertip illusion veil was attached to a jeweled headpiece, and the bride's bouquet was a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The groom, son of the Jake Raupps of Prairie View, had Robert Nick of Forest Lake as his best man for the double ring rites. Ushers were Norman Raupp of Palatine, Charles Willney of Wheeling and Allan Stahl of Buffalo Grove.

NORTHBROOK Legion Hall was the scene of the buffet supper served to 425 guests later in the day. For the festivities the bride's mother was attired in green satin brocade and the groom's mother in beige satin brocade. Each had a white orchid corsage.

Following a 2-week honeymoon in Phoenix, the newlyweds are now living in Wheeling at 567 Audrey Court.

The bride, an Arlington High School graduate, works for Parker-Hannifin in Des Plaines, and the groom at Meyer Material Co. in Wheeling. He is a graduate of Ela-Vernon High School. (Jenart PALATINE NEWLYWEDS, Mr. and Mrs. John DiFatta, are now residing at 320 N. Smith St. since their recent marriage in the local St. Theresa Church. The bride is the former Janet MacDonald, daughter of the A. J. MacDonalds, 298 N. Linden, and the groom's parents are the Nate DiFattas, 445 Shady Lane. The bridal couple, both graduates of Palatine High School, are employed in the area, the groom at Continental Baking Co. in Wheeling and the bride at Anthony's Pin Curl in Palatine. (S

Juniors' Entry Wins Second In Creative Writing Contest

"Jo Kokomo and the Ice Cream Show," a children's poem written by Mrs. Alfred J. Lane of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club, has won second place in the Seventh District Creative Writing Contest, according to Mrs. William Moore, club literature chairman. Certificate of award will be presented to Mrs. Lane at the district meeting on April 17, 1963.

Among other club activities, new members were greeted by the Executive Board and the Junior's Membership Committee Sunday, March 24, at an afternoon tea and reception in the Lauterburg and Oehler building. Mrs. Ronald Scheck, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, and her group attended a Day in Court session Wednesday in police magistrate court.

EVEN THOUGH the club year is drawing to a close, Chairman Mrs. Frank Regula and her Mexican Migrant Committee announce many projects to accomplish. Currently, club members are donating appliances that are still in good working condition to the needy families. In the past weeks, Fr. O'Roscoe of St. Rita Parish has sought a "second home" for a refrigerator, gas range and furniture. The committee hopes this program will continue through the Spring.

"Supplying a complete Easter dinner with ham and all the trimmings is another project our group is concentrating on this month," commented Mrs. Regula. "Once again we will seek the assistance of Fr. O'Roscoe, who will determine where our efforts will be put to the best use."

"The holidays in particular are times when the Mexican Migrant people are remembered by the committee. Thanksgiving, a complete dinner was given to a family, including a case of cereal, homemade breads and pies. Large Christmas stockings were made for 15 childen and each member supplied a child with this remembrance as well as good usable clothing, toys and games at her own personal expense," added Mrs. Regula.

ARLINGTON JUNIORS also provide funds for books and milk for 12 Mexican school children as another of its local philanthropies.

Mrs. Richard Impey announces final arrangements are being made for the club's last fund-raising project of the season, "Lulu's Gilded Speak," April 20 in Itasca Country Club when a gay evening of the roaring 20's, highlighted by a floor show, has been planned. (S

IN A RECENT CANDLELIGHT ceremony in Meadows Baptist Church, Rolling Meadows, the former Alice Katherine Arrasmith of Rolling Meadows became the bride of James Albert Burgin of Long Grove. The new Mrs. Burgin, daughter of the Leroy Arrasmiths, 3402 Sigwalt St., was attended by a large bridal party, all attired in sapphire blue ensembles and carrying white and yellow bouquets. The groom and his family, the Albert Burgins, are former Arlington Heights residents. The newlyweds are now living at 2205 Martin Lane, Rolling Meadows, while both are employed in the area.

Sherron Korbelik Is Ball Player's Bride

The former Sherron Korbelik of Long Grove and her bridegroom of March 2, Mike McCarthy of Prairie View, are awaiting word as to where they will be making their first home. The groom is presently in spring training with the Chicago White Sox baseball club and will be assigned to one of its farm teams.

The couple honeymooned for three weeks in Vero Beach, Fla., site of the training camp, and also toured Nassau in the Bahamas.

THE BRIDE IS now home with her parents, the James Korbeliks of Mardan Woods, waiting to join the groom on his first assignment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCarthy of Prairie View.

Both newlyweds are graduates of Ela-Vernon High School, and the bride then attended Grinnell College and eventually worked in the Arlington Heights National Bank prior to her marriage.

THE CEREMONY took place in Long Grove Community Church at 5 p.m. by candlelight. Rev. Alfred Williams officiated, and organist Harold Turner accompanied Mrs. Arthur Edmunds as she sang appropriate wedding selections. White candelabra entwined with white flowers and greens decorated the altar and center aisle of the sanctuary as the bride entered on the arm of her father. Her gown was of pure silk organza with a chantilly lace top. The sabrina neckline was accented with crystals and seed pearls, and the flowing skirt was enhanced with a redingote effect, completely banded with lace, and fell into a chapel train. The bride's silk illusion veil was held in place with a crown of pearls and borealis. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Six attendants preceded the bride to the altar, all gowned alike in aqua silk organza with accents of lace. The sheath dresses had lace bodices and bouffant overskirts banded in lace. Each girl wore an open crown pillbox hat with blusher veil and carried a bouquet of yellow plumaria.

MAID OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Karen Korbelik; bridesmaids were another sister, Mary Jo Korbelik, Georgeann Oswalt of Aberdeen, S. D., Karen Knigge of Lake Zurich and Mrs. Lillian Loch of Arlington Heights.

Laurie Dahlberg, 4½, of Long Grove was flower girl in a dress which was a miniature of the other attendants.

JACK KARBENS of Peoria served as best man, and ushers were John Hunsacker and William Luerssen, both of Lake Zurich, Steve Labue of Long Grove and John McCarthy, the groom's brother.

For the festivities the bride's mother was gowned in a powder blue sheath dress with matching jacket and accessories and had a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a yellow silk sheath dress and had a green orchid corsage.

Palatine Club Plans Election, Craft Show

Election of officers will be the main order of business for Palatine Woman's Club when members gather Tuesday afternoon in St. Paul United Church of Christ, Palatine.

The board will meet at 10 a.m.; the general membership will assemble at 12:30 for dessert and coffee, with the business session following at 1:30.

THE CLUB'S American Home and Garden Department will sponsor the program by displaying crafts made by the women and modeling fashions which they have created and made themselves. Those having clothes to model are asked to call Mrs. Nelson Lowry, FL 8-0712. Displays of craft articles should be at the church by 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Harry Tharp, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Bergo, Mrs. John Gage and Mrs. Louis Smith.

PRESIDENT Mrs. Arthur Wilbins has announced that volunteer services which the membership contributed during the past year numbers 2,534 hours. This total is comprised of the following: 1,924 hours of hospital volunteer work; 350 hours at Hines Hospital; 60 hours making cancer dressings; 200 hours sewing for hospitals.

Mrs. Charles Patten, ways and means chairman, is also reminding members that they can still turn in proceeds for the Rolling Dollar fund which supports the club's philanthropy projects. (S

Palatine Juniors Register Proud Record for 22 Years

This month the Junior Womans Club of Palatine marks the 22nd anniversary of its founding.

Always on the alert for newcomers in the fast-growing village of Palatine, the club is planning a membership tea Sunday in the home of Mrs. Robert Green, 139 N. Ashland Ave. More than 150 young matrons have been invited to attend, according to Mrs. Michael Varde, membership chairman.

ORGANIZED AS a service and social club, the Juniors' services have far exceeded their social activities. Not only do they participate regularly in volunteer work, but the club's philanthropic projects allocate a substantial contribution to local agencies year after year.

The annual Monte Carlo party, whose chairman this year was Mrs. San LaSusa, raised more than $1400. Allocations chairman Mrs. C. E. Neal and her committee have divided the amount into checks for various youth groups, local schools, nursing homes and Northwest Community Hospital. Between 1956 and 1962 the club's total contribution to the hospital was $2,657.

VOLUNTEER HOURS are balanced by a schedule of social functions, provided for this year by a style show sponsored by the Civics and Public Welfare Department under Mrs. Robert Stanat.

The club year begins in fall at a potluck supper with husbands as guests, followed later by Christmas and then spring banquets and an annual "fun" night. Mrs. Cyril Morris is president this year, guiding the many facets of club program.

Besides meeting twice monthly on Tuesday evenings, the club sponsors bowling, golf, bridge, hat making, sewing and other small groups for those who have time for more activities. (S

"SINGING IN THE RAIN" is just one of the many numbers on the program which the Palatine Juniors will present at Elgin State Hospital for inmates on April 2. The trio is, left to right, Mrs. Robert Gullett, this year's chairman of the visit, Mrs. Arthur Traulsen and Mrs. Fremont Keller. Once a year a committee from the club plans and presents a program there, providing refreshments and playing bingo with the women. Prizes are pieces of jewelry donated by the Juniors. (S

"HOLIDAY HOSTESSES" shown above bake and distribute cookies on special days to patients in local nursing homes and provide tray favors on other occasions. Committee members are, standing, Mrs. W. Honigman, Mrs. C. Morris and Mrs. Bruce Altergott, chairman of the hostesses. Seated are Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Robert Cramm and Mrs. Arthur Boehmer. The Palatine Juniors also give hours of occupational therapy at Plum Grove Nursing Home, and another service committee rolls cancer bandages, under direction of Mrs. Donald Zachman. (S HAVING FUN WHILE they work means getting much done for members of the committee making activity books and tray favors for hospital patients once a month. Children in the pediatrics ward look forward to the various articles made by these Juniors to while away long hours. Shown making clever puppets are, standing, Mrs. Sam LaSusa, chairman of activity books, and Mrs. Stan Knodle, chairman of tray favors; seated, Mrs. Robert Stanat and Mrs. Charles Skillman. (S

Dramatist to Entertain Arlington Heights Women

Jeanne Kallan, radio and TV artist, will present her dramatic interpretation of the Broadway show, "Little Me," by Patick Dennis for members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club when they meet at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 3, in Recreation Park Field House.

Mrs. Paul E. George, program chairman of the club, announced that Miss Kallan has appeared in summer stock, children's shows and has been acclaimed an outstanding talent by women's clubs for her solo dramatizations.

LATEST TV shows of Miss Kallan are the CBS "Repertoire Theatre" and "Route 66." She is currently director of the Children's Theatre for the Chicago Foundation of Theatre Arts. She plans to spend the summer touring Europe with a USA show.

Hostesses for the tea hour to follow the program will be Mrs. Everett M. Nelson, Mrs. Wendell L. Prunty and Mrs. H. A. Burnett, hospitality chairman.

Style Show, Lunch For Hatlen Women

"Easter Prelude" is the title which the Women's Organization of Hatlen Heights has given to its luncheon and fashion show set for Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in Old Orchard Country Club.

The Lorraine Anne Shops of Arlington Heights and Meadowdale will furnish Easter fashions which the Hatlen Heights women will model. Pre-teen and petite junior styles will also be shown.

MRS. GERALD Sheahen of the Lorraine Anne Shops will do the commentary. The models will have their hair done by Rex of Bensenville.

Proceeds of the event will go to Northwest Community Hospital.

Tickets are available by calling HE 7-4084 or HE 7-3770. (S

Serves as Red Cross Gray Lady

Joanne Andersen, 232 Washington Square, Elk Grove Village, has completed her training to serve as a Red Cross Gray Lady and will be assigned to V.A. Hines Hospital.

"A Gray Lady brings the vital 'medicine' of friendship, a piece of the outside world, to the hospitalized vet," said Miss Andersen. She writes letters, teaches in the hobby-shop, plays cards or "just plain talks" and performs a variety of other personal services.

"THE WORK of the Gray Lady is only one example of Red Cross community service. There are 17 different services provided by the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross to citizens of Cook and DuPage counties, by some 20,000 trained volunteers who successfully completed 12 hours of training to qualify as a Gray Lady," she concluded. (S

Week's Best Food Buys

For the market week of March 25-30 the University of Illinois reports the following: pork to be a better buy in most stores, and bacon available at bargain prices.

BEEF CONTINUES lower in cost, despite a supply cutback, and wholesale costs increase. Fresh perch is in better supply locally and the fresh produce outlook continues to improve.

New crop potatoes and sweetcorn are now dropping in price.

Chicago area food values include: meats, pork loin roasts, chops, steaks, bacon, picnics, beef rib and chuck roasts, ground beef, lamb leg roasts; poultry, large eggs, fryers, turkeys; produce, avocados, bananas, pears, grapes, asparagus, green beans, celery, tomatoes, broccoli and potatoes.(SH

Hearty Dessert

If the men in your family love to nibble cheese, introduce fruit and zesty American blue cheese as a regular dessert treat. This popular blue-marbled cheese makes wonderful eating with fruit or crackers.

The subtle, sharp salt-and-pepper flavor of this distinctive cheese makes it a favorite dessert offering for many families. Some homemakers prefer to serve a dessert cheese and coffee in the living room after the meal.

To present the full flavor and true character of American blue cheese at its best, serve it at room temperature. (SH

Deanna Carman Wed In Home Ceremony

A white canopy and white paper wedding bells were hung in the Arlington Heights home of the Frank Shaws at 24 S. Reuter March 16 for the marriage of their daughter, Deanna Dawn Carman, to Spec. E.4. Bobbie Jean Williams of the Arlington Heights Nike Site. The 7 p.m. service took place in candlelight with Pastor Bextrum officiating, and a recording of "Because" was played as the bride was given in marriage by Mr. Shaw.

For her marriage the bride chose a white, wool suit with royal blue satin shoes and hat. Her hat was trimmed with a nose veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses trimmed with tiny blue flowers.

Only attendant to the bride was her step-sister, Miss Sandy Shaw, who wore a blue silk shantung dress. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Williams of Glasgow, Ky., was attended by Robert Duthridge of the Nike Site.

THE SHAW home was also the scene of a buffet supper for the 55 wedding guests after which the newlyweds left on a 2-day wedding trip to Blanchard, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are now residing at 721 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

The new Mrs. Williams was graduated from Arlington High School in 1962 and her bridegroom is a graduate of the military police training school, now attached to the MP section of the Arlington Nike Site. (S

In Hands of Able Cook

Nutritious Fish Can Become Source of Perpetual Delight

"In the hands of an able cook, fish can become an inexhaustible source of perpetual delight." Thus spake the much-quoted French epicure, Brillat-Savarin, some 130 years ago and lovers of good food, then as now, are in complete agreement. He meant, of course, a skillfully seasoned fish.

With modern refrigeration and speedy transportation it is possible to get freshly-caught fish in almost every part of the country. Bright, bulging eyes; firm flesh; good, fresh odor are signs of fresh fish.

Cook fish gently, just enough so the flesh can be flaked easily when pierced with a fork. Beyond that it's seasoning which makes fish "an inexhaustible delight."

WHILE DOZENS of spices, spice blends and herbs are excellent with fish, the aromatic, pleasantly bitter flavor of oregano is especially intriguing. From the test kitchens of the American Spice Trade Association come the following recipes for fish, all seasoned subtly with oregano.

It doesn't take much of this richly flavored herb: a quarter teaspoon to a pound of fish or seafood is about right.

Oregano is a somewhat recent culinary discovery in the U.S.A. Up to the beginning of World War II it was used in such small quantities that nobody bothered to make a record of poundage sold. Since that time oregano has leaped, in a 5,200 per cent jump in sales, to the best-seller list.

The new appetite for foreign dishes — Italian, Mexican and South American — accounts for much of this increase. Creative cooks, too, have been discovering for themselves lots of other new ways of using oregano in favorite recipes for meats, cheese, eggs, vegetables.

BROILED MACKEREL

2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
1½ tablespoons fresh lemon juice
6 ready-to-cook fresh mackerel, about ¾ pound each

Combine oil, salt, black pepper, oregano leaves and lemon juice. Pour over fish and marinate 2 or more hours. Broil 17 minutes on each side, basting with marinade. Yield: six servings.

BROILED FISH STEAKS

2 pounds fish steaks (halibut or sword fish)
¼ cup olive or salad oil
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
½ teaspoon mint flakes
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

Have fish cut in slices 1-inch thick and wipe with a damp cloth. Combine oil, salt, oregano, mint flakes, black pepper and lemon juice. Mix well. Pour over fish, turning to make sure both sides are coated. Marinate 2 to 3 hours. Broil each side 7 minutes or until fish is flaky and browned, brushing once with marinade. Serve hot. Yield: six servings.

LOBSTER TAILS OREGANO

6 frozen lobster tails, ½ pound each
½ cup hot water
¼ teaspoon instant minced garlic
½ teaspoon basil leaves
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1 cup soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
6 tablespoons olive or salad oil

Prepare lobster tails for cooking as directed on the package. Place lobster in a baking pan shell side up. Add ½ cup water. Place under broiler rack 6 inches below source of heat with oven regulator set to 400 degrees. Broil 3 to 4 minutes.

Turn and broil an additional 12 minutes. Combine garlic, basil, oregano, parsley flakes, bread crumbs, Parmesan cheese, salt, and ground black pepper. Mix well and sprinkle over lobster tails. Pour one tablespoon oil over each. Return to broiler rack and broil 15 minutes or until lightly brown. Yield: six servings.

SCAMPI

½ pound (sticks) butter or margarine
¼ cup olive oil
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
¾ teaspoon basil leaves
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
¾ teaspoon garlic powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 pound large fresh shrimp

Melt butter or margarine. Add olive oil, parsley flakes, basil, oregano, garlic powder, salt and lemon juice. Peel and devein shrimp, leaving tails attached. Split down the inside lengthwise center, being careful not to cut through the shrimp. Spread open to simulate butterflies.

Place in a shallow baking dish, tail end up. Pour sauce over all. Bake in a preheated very hot oven (450 degrees) 5 minutes. Place under broiler 5 minutes or until browned. Yield: six servings. (SH

THE DELICATE FLAVOR of fish is enhanced delightfully with a pinch of oregano, in addition to the usual salt, pepper and lemon. (SH

Secretaries Entertain Bosses at 'Plantation Party'

MR. AND MRS. JAMES M. Buck of Arlington Heights were guests of Mr. Buck's secretary, Miss Virginia Darlington, March 20 when Park Plaines Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) held its Fourth Annual Executive Night in Old Orchard Country Club. Mr. Buck is with the Insurance Company of North America, Chicago. (S

Old Orchard Country Club was the setting for the Fourth Annual Executive night Wednesday Evening, March 20, when Park-Plaines Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) entertained their bosses and wives. "It's Plantation Party Time" was the theme and to put everyone in the southern mood, they were given a southern name for the evening.

F. H. Bingham, who resides in Evanston and is employed by Johns-Manville Sales Corp., was selected 1963 Boss of the Year. He was crowned with a southern colonel's hat by his secretary, Lillian Loster, and presented with a certificate and traveling trophy.

MISS SULIE Harand, national famous singing actress, wove her magic spedd on the group when she presented her review of the current Broadway musical, "Little Me," which stars Syd Caesar. Martin Rubenstein, pianist, who appears nightly at Chicago's night spot, "Mr. Kelly's," and is well known to television audiences, provided background music.

Lorraine Leseberg of Mardan Estates, and vice president of the Park - Plaines Chapter, served as program chairman for this affair. (S

Woman Criminologist, Club Speaker April 6

Prospect Heights Woman's Club will have as guest speaker for its regular luncheon meeting April 6, Lois Lundell Higgins, director of the Illinois Crime Prevention Bureau, who will speak on "Women's Role in Crime Prevention."

Dr. Higgins has received international acclaim for her accomplishments in the fieid of criminology, sociology and delinquency control. In April, 1954 the United States Congressional Record credited Dr. Higgins with "arousing the nation to the spreading dangers of the narcotic traffic. Last April she was appointed a special adviser to the "President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth crime" by the Chairman, Hon. Robert F. Kennedy.

The first training program for policewomen in Chicago was organized and developed by Dr. Higgins and she also taught criminology at Loyola University, and "Theories of Society," at Rosary College.

IN ADDITION to being author of many books, the most recent, "Policewoman's Manual," Mrs. Higgins has received numerous awards for civic efforts and accomplishments. Her articles on narcotics, crime prevention and control, juvenile crime, pornographic materials and police problems have appeared in many magazines and journals.

Besides the luncheon, the Woman's Club is preparing for its hat sale to be held in the Prospect Heights Shopping center, April 29 and 30. Hours of the sa' are 9:30 to 5:30 both days. (S

Rich, Chewy

Rich, Chewy Orange Blondies

Rich, chewy and delicious are new "Sunny Orange Blondies," so easy-to-make from nourishing packaged graham cracker crumbs. The brownie-like consistency plus an orange gumdrop for flavor treat surprise will make such a hit with coffee klatch friends that you'll want to make a second batch for the cookie-jar raiders. Here is the quick way to make them:

ORANGE BLONDIES

3 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
20 "orange section" gumdrops

In a bowl combine crumbs, egg, milk, lemon juice, salt and almond extract. Turn into greased 7 by 11 by 1½ inch pan, spreading evenly. Arrange orange gumdrops evenly and press into mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 35 minutes, or until firm to touch.

Cut while warm, allowing one gumdrop per piece. Yield: 20 blondies. (SH

Olives Glamorize Versatile Sauce

Versatile is the word for "Zippy Olive Sauce."

This heated-in-moments mixture of sour cream, handsome ripe olive wedges and lively seasonings may be served over green vegetables, or you may wish to spoon it over meat croquettes or poached or boiled fish. However you enjoy it, it's a sauce to enhance a favorite dish.

HEARTY RIPE olives give unique nut-like flavor and a glamorous look to many sauces, soups, vegetables, salads and sandwich fillings. And they are a "must," of course, on relish trays.

ZIPPY OLIVE SAUCE

2/3 cup ripe olives
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1/8 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Cut olives into wedges. Blend remaining ingredients in saucepan; add olives. Heat through. Serve over steamed fresh asparagus, broccoli or green beans or over ham or chicken croquettes or poached or boiled fish.

Makes about 1½ cups sauce.

Workshop to Eye Values Of Outdoors

A spring workshop in outdoor education will be held April 5 and 6 at Camp Reinberg, Palatine.

Plans for the conference were announced this week by Paul Wall, Camp Reinberg program director.

Purpose of the workshop is "to provide direct contact with the natural world to more clearly understand ecological concepts," according to Wall.

A complete program beginning at 5 p.m. on April 5 and ending at 4:15 p.m. on April 6 will include lectures and discussions" to teach techniques of incorporating natural concepts into a child's experience through outdoor education," he added.

Among discussion leaders for the workshop will be Robert Hockett, Cook County Forest Preserve naturalist; Paul W. Jung, outdoor education director for Palatine-Rolling Meadows School District 15; Sonia Vogl, expert on the out-of-doors and the mythological base of star study; Phyllis Wilson, principal of Brady School, Aurora, and author of books on school camping, mental health, and outdoor education; Dr. Phillip B. Whitford, professor of botany at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; and Dr. Paul A. Yambert, dean of the school of applied arts and science, Wisconsin State College.

An indoor program is planned in case of inclement weather. Further information on the workshop is available from the Camp Reinberg staff, FL 9-1795. (A-14

Nineteen Motorists Penalized by State

Nineteen area drivers were affected by action of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, according to a recent announcement. In the State of Illinois, 185 licenses have been revoked, 552 suspended, and 390 probationary permits have been issued.

Driving while intoxicated caused a Palatine resident, Julia Hansen, 2387 Big Oaks Road, to lose her license. Other revocations for three violations affected Reyes M. Aguero, 1720 E. Foundry, Mount Prospect, and George B. Sailor Jr., 1644 Waukegan Road, Roselle.

Having their licenses suspended for three violations were Clyde D. Hertlein, 823 N. Kaspar Ave., and Norval H. Nelson, 404 W. Thomas, both of Arlington Heights; and Palatine residents Michael F. Moudry, 24 N. Oak; Thomas P. Dengler, 314 S. Hale, and Carl W. Saalfeld, 352 Brentwood.

ALSO SUSPENDED for three violations were the licenses of Elaine E. Ankerberg, 615 S. Louis, and Stanley P. Szafran, 616 N. Main St., both of Mount Prospect; Robert D. Rowe, 404 Hill Court, Prospect Heights; Terry T. Curtis, Baily Motel, Addison; Claude F. Price, 148 W. Granville, Roselle; and Stuart A. Gordon, 924 Cedar Lane, Elk Grove Village.

Other suspensions involved Norman F. Hoerst, 195 Jefferson, Roselle; and Arthur L. Trull, 17 Army Trail, Addison. Both were for three violations.

Probationary permits went to Donald C. Capellani, 1929 S. State Road, and Anthony H. Mulvaney, 1121 N. Phelps Ave., both of Arlington Heights; Edwin A. Kaczor, 8 Ridgewood Road, Elk Grove Village; John R. Peterson, 211 Lonsdale Road, Prospect Heights; and Carl C. Dormal, 217 N. Owen St., Mount Prospect.

Donald C. Immekus, 215 E. Thorndale, Roselle, and Russell J. Schmidt, 3N440 Wood Dale, and Charles D. Venckus, 743 Mill Road, both of Addison, also received probationary permits. (A-14

Pet of Party Crowd Pairs With Avocado

The popular beefburger acquires a new partner—luscious California avocado—for party-pretty, palate-pleasing "Avocado Burgers."

WHETHER YOU are entertaining youngsters or adults, these hearty open-faced beefburgers with a well seasoned avocado-mayonnaise spread and topping of sliced avocado should receive a lusty welcome. Or serve them to the family with a bowl of soup for a quick and delicious supper.

Sliced, diced, mashed or eaten half-shell fashion, California avocados bring refreshing flavor, velvety-smooth texture and spring-like color to menus. Enjoy them often in sandwiches, dips and salads or as main dish garnishes.

AVOCADO BURGERS

2 California avocados
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
½ cup chopped dill pickle
2 pounds ground beef
Salt and pepper
8 French rolls

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds and skin. Save one avocado half for garnish; sprinkle with half of lemon juice. Mash remaining fruit; blend in mayonnaise, seasoned salt, pickle and remaining lemon juice. Chill.

Season beef with salt and pepper; shape 8 burgers to fit rolls. Broil or pan-fry. Split rolls into halves; butter if desired and heat. Place a burger on each of 8 halves. Top with avocado spread and avocado slices. Garnish accompanying roll halves with lettuce or tomato slices if desired. Makes eight servings. (SH

Former AAU Champion Shares Buffet Recipes

Mrs. Sam Rauworth In Culinary 'Swim'

by LOIS SEILER

A former champion swimmer today takes top honors for her culinary skills.

Mrs. Sam Rauworth of Palatine, the former Nancy Hanna, national AAU water ballet champion, is now the wife of a golf pro and mother of three active boys. She finds that cooking interesting meals for her family is a continual challenge, and accepts it readily by trying new recipes and experimenting on her own.

Like most good cooks, Mrs. Rauworth has found that by using a little imagination and ingenuity, sometimes just a pinch of this ingredient or a dash of that, wonders can be accomplished with ordinary food.

"Just the other day I decided to give buttered green beans a little zip and sprinkled them with garlic salt and parmesan cheese. You'd be surprised how flavorful they can be," Nancy Rauworth commented.

The Rauworths like to entertain family friends, including their children, for Sunday night supper. One of their favorite Buffet suppers for these occasions is designed to appeal to youngsters as well as adults. It features baked beans, frankfurters and cole slaw, with an appealing Jello pie for dessert. This is an effortless meal, with little last-minute fuss, and always makes a hit.

BUT NANCY Rauworth does a few things to make these perennial favorites just a little different. Her savory baked beans, for example, are made with canned beans and spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg for an interesting note.

And the jello, which is ageless in appeal, is turned into a baked coconut crust and garnished with whipped cream and orange segments for an attractive, festive touch.

This pie, by the way, is made using apricot juice, and has a delightfully tart flavor which makes it a particularly refreshing dessert.

In addition to her abilities both as an expert swimmer and a good cook, Mrs. Rauworth is very clever with her hands and artistically decorates candles at Christmas time and frames pictures with burlap, giving these as gifts to relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rauworth and their sons, Mike, 13, Bill, 10, and Andy, 6, live at 1315 Rosita in Palatine.

BAKED BEANS

2 1-pound jars B & M Baked Beans
1 cup sugar
¾ cup catsup
1 small onion, chopped
Dash of cinnamon
Dash of nutmeg

Combine ingredients and turn into a bean pot or casserole. Bake, uncovered, in a 350 degree oven for one hour. Serves 8.

JELLO PIE

Crust:
2 cups flaked coconut
2 tablespoons softened butter

Line a pie tin with butter. Press coconut into it and bake at 300 degrees until light brown, about 15 to 20 minutes.

Filling:
1 6-ounce package lemon jello
1 11-ounce can mandarin oranges
2 cups apricot juice
Whipped cream

Drain juice from mandarin oranges and combine with apricot juice. Add enough water to make three cups. Boil juices and pour over lemon jello. Stir until dissolved, and chill until sirupy. Fold in orange segments, saving some for garnish. Turn into pie shell and chill.

Decorate pie with small mounds of whipped cream and garnish with orange segments. Serves 6. (SH

Spanish Shrimp

Saffron rice, now available already seasoned and ready to cook, is delicious when served topped with shrimp flavored the Spanish way.

Saute shelled, deveined shrimp in a generous amount of Spanish olive oil, adding to the shrimp a little powdered fennel nel or dried tarragon, a dash of cayenne pepper (very light) and salt. Let a whole peeled garlic clove brown in the olive oil at the same time, but discard garlic.

Toss cooked rice with butter and minced parsley, pile on a platter, top with the sauteed shrimp. (SH

Chafing Dish Eggs Fine Lenten Fare

The Lenten season really begins a beautiful time of the year. Spring is on the way as thoughts turn to budding flowers, gentle winds, and sunny skies.

A wonderful way to capture these joyful feelings is with a favorite and informal Sunday brunch or supper. Even you can sit relaxed and join in when you depend on canned condensed soup for the buffet.

JUST FILL your prettiest chafing dish with luscious creamed eggs in a smooth, flavorsome sauce made with canned condensed cream of celery or mushroom soup.

Served over crisp toast cups, it makes a simple but elegant dish.

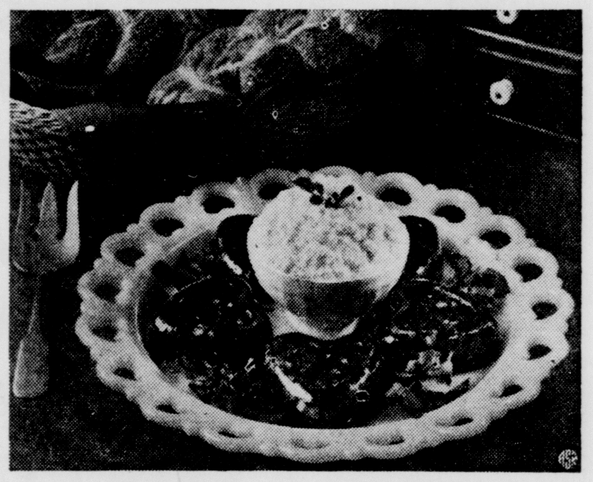
A tray of fresh fruit and a basket of warm doughnuts will complete the picture perfectly. Make sure there's plenty of good, hot coffee.

SPECIAL CREAMED EGGS

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1/3 to ½ cup milk
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
4 slices toast

In saucepan, blend soup and milk. Add eggs and pimiento. Heat, stirring now and then. Serve on toast. Makes four servings. (SH

Perky Beet Salad



Jellied and molded beet salad makes a tasty dish for luncheon or supper service. To make it, start with a one-pound jar of pickled beets and a package of lemon-flavored gelatin. Add seasonings. Chill and serve with a tangy cream cheese sour cream dressing. Here is the simple recipe as developed in the Borden Test Kitchen.

JELLIED BEET SALAD

2 cups (one 1-pound jar) sliced pickled beets
1 (3 ounce) package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/3 cup finely chopped celery
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
Salad greens
Creamed cottage cheese, optional*
Dash pepper

Drain liquid well from beets; reserve liquid. In a large mixing bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add beet liquid. Cool. Chill in refrigerator until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Into a medium-size mixing bowl, cut beet slices in small pieces.

Add celery, horseradish, vinegar and salt. Mix thoroughly. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into seven (5-ounce) custard cups or individual molds. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on salad greens.

*Serve with cottage cheese or Cream Cheese-Sour Cream Dressing.

CREAM CHEESE-SOUR CREAM DRESSING

1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
½ cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt

Place cream cheese in a bowl and let soften at room temperature. Add sour cream, salt and pepper. Beat until dressing is of a smooth consistency. Serve over salad. (SH

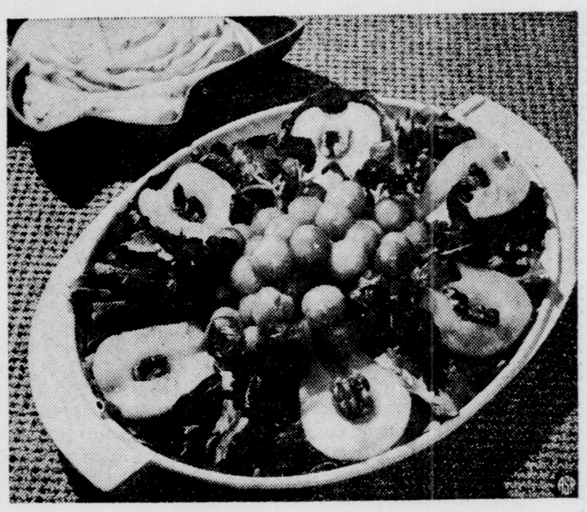
Zesty Sauce For Greens

A zesty sauce accented by American blue cheese will give tired wintertime vegetables a welcome lift. This sauce is recommended for fresh, frozen or canned green beans, broccoli and spinach.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter over low heat. Add 2 tablespoons flour and blend. Slowly add 1 cup milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in ¼ teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper, and ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese. Remove from heat at once.

Arrange hot, cooked vegetables in serving dish and pour sauce on top while it is still hot. (SH

Love That Salad!



High on the list of salad favorites is a fruit combination. Here are three choices that are all time favorites when served with Famous Fruit Salad Dressing. Quick, easy, delicious!

To make: Select and chill two canned fruits, line a platter or individual salad plates with crisp salad greens. Arrange fruits on greens and sprinkle with coarsely chopped nuts and serve with Famous Fruit Salad Dressing.

Try these canned fruit combinations:

Pear halves, White or dark sweet cherries
Peach halves, Fruit Cocktail
Apricot halves, Plums or prunes

DRESSING

1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon flour
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup canned pineapple juice
2 tablespoons canned lemon juice
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sugar, flour and egg yolk in a saucepan. Add fruit juices and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add celery seed. Cool. Stir in whipped cream just before serving. Makes about two cups. (SH

Acidity Aid

Olive oil is one of the foods that lowers gastric acidity, according to the authoritative "Nutrition in Health and Disease," a textbook in use in home economics schools and schools of nursing throughout the country.

The Spanish Olive Oil Institute points out that for those who suffer from "acid stomach," as this type of distress is commonly known, it is wise to make simple salad dressings of olive oil, vinegar, salt and bland-flavored herbs.

Many of the prepared dressings and dressing mixes contain such ingredients as spices, onion and garlic, which often contribute actively to gastric distress. (SH

Chef's Special

Chicago — The fine touch in a Lenten specialty — Sea Food Curry — by Chef Horst Latzel of La Salle Hotel is appreciated by Maureen Fitzharris, secretary in the hotel's executive offices. The Lenten entre is a delicious specialty and highly popular with guests of the Hotel's Le Chateaubriand Room.

An inside track on the culinary arts is one of the "fringe benefits" Maureen enjoys as a staff member of the hotel.

Any housewife eager to try her hand with this epicurean delight may request the recipe from Chef Latzel, merely addressing him at the La Salle Hotel, Chicago 2. (SH

BUYING A NEW REFRIGERATOR?

If you are, no doubt you will want to get rid of your old refrigerator.

The fastest, least expensive way for you to do this is to use a Paddock Publications Want Ad.

For as little as $2.00 you can place an ad for merchandise for sale which will appear in all fourteen of Paddock Publications.

Placing a Want Ad is easy. Simply pick up your telephone and dial CL 3-1520, ask for a Want Ad taker. The girl will be happy to assist you in wording your ad or answer any other questions that you might have.

Why not help pay for your new refrigerator by selling the old? You can do it when you use Paddock Publications Classified Ads.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Our women's club will have a prominent man as honored guest at a dinner soon, and we are planning to present him with a desk-set. Is it necessary for us to give his wife a gift also?

A. No; but it would be nice and thoughtful to place a corsage at her plate.

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

MUSIC BOX SQUARES

The first session of this newest area club will square off next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Music Box Ballroom near Addison. "Tib" Tibbetts of Palatine is the caller and he says that dancing will be at the enjoyable intermediate level that most dancers prefer.

Music Box Squares will dance the first and third Wednesday nights of every month, with a program nicely balanced by some round dancing between tips. The ballroom is described by Tibbetts as having a "square dancers' floor" and with excellent acoustis. It is located on Lake Street (Route 20), 1½ miles east of Route 53 and just west of Addison. Everyone is welcome to help open the Music Box.

Anyone interested in learning to dance is invited to join a beginners' class which will soon get under way. Information may be had by calling LA 9-3484 or CL 3-0776.

JAMBOREE

Swingin' Squares of Arlington Heights issue a "last call for Jamboree" to all area dancers. Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock Masters of Ceremony Bob Lewis and Dale Manson will launch the club's eighth annual Jamboree and seven fellow-callers plus a pair of round dance leaders will keep things swingin' until lights out at 11:30.

The roster of callers reads like the "Who's Who" of square dancing and includes Bill Shymkus, Chuck Broad, John Hendron, John Toth, Bill Clarke, Wally Paulsen and Don Finfrock. Carl and Marie Peterson will lead the rounds and between 'em all a crowd-pleasing program is guaranteed.

The Jamboree will be held in South Junior High School, 314 S. Highland, in Arlington Heights, a crowd-approved place where several jamborees of the past have enjoyed success. Bob Luebbe, Jamboree chairman, says, "Everybody come!"

TRIANGLE R

The squares in the Triangle really got around last Saturday night in the Randhurst Shopping Center mall when a new and unscheduled caller made his debut in this area. Jim Smith of Brookfield, by no means new to dancers in "South Suburbia," was a hurry-up substitute for Ed Hempel whose indefinite date with Wesleyan Memorial Hospital was suddenly and definitely last Saturday.

Teaming up with Jim was "Tib" Tibbetts, a young "oldtimer" to dancers hereabouts. Before the two squared 'em up for the last dance of the evening, a 2-foot-square get well card for the missing Hempel was signed by all the dancers.

COMING UP Saturday night, assuming they stay healthy, is the caller team of Russ Miller and Bob Kim. Miller is president of the Chicago Area Callers Association and well-known for his outstanding work with the association as well as for his fine calling talent. Kim, called "the only Korean square dance caller anywhere," always gets a warm welcome wherever he goes and another fine evening for square dancers is promised.

Bob Luebbe, mover and shaker behind the Triangle R scenes, urges dancers to "bring along some friends who are non-dancers and let them see for themselves how much fun it is." Convenient benches for sideline observers are throughout the spectacular mall.

GLENVIEW SQUARES CARNIVAL

A "strictly for fun and nonsense" carnival night will be held tomorrow night at 8:30 in Lyon School, Waukegan and Lake, Glenview. A club officer says, "Even our three top callers, Ed Hempel, Art Matthews and Jim Stewart, will be gone, gone, gone!"

It's a costume affair along the-zanier-the-better lines, but those not in the mood for such shenanigans are welcome to come as they are.

Tickets and information may be had by calling PArk 4-0521.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Diane Revnes, Virginia Baker, Debbie Deppen, Laura Baloy, and Donna Deppen have been filling the Fire Maker Requirement on community organization service by helping to prepare the newsletter of the Opportunity Council.

Wa Ta Ya Pi Camp Fire Group, fifth grade Lincoln, Westbrook and St. Raymond presented a play Friday afternoon, March 15, in the Lutheran Home in Arlington Heights, written by their leader, Mrs. W. S. Newsom Jr. After the play the girls were taken on a tour of the home. They were accompanied by the assistant leaders, Mrs. Robert Magill and Mrs. J. Passarelli, and one of the mothers, Mrs. Howard Foster.

All 10 of the girls were in the play: Mary Adams, Connie Foster, Christie Fox, Linda Kaiser, Christine Magill, Mary Newsom, Patricia Passarelli, Jacqueline Swider, Karen Sigfusson and Corinne Van Schaick.

Win Te Na Camp Fire Girls held a group ceremonial at the home of Carol Rogers. Theme chosen was "Honors and Beads." The girls received the beads they had earned over the last couple of months. These 11 girls have also completed 150 tray favors for Northwest Community Hospital.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

On Lincoln's Birthday Carl Schmidt, flight engineer for Trans-World Airlines, took the Wichaka Tawassi Camp Fire Group of Kensington School through O'Hare Airport. At the TWA Terminal the girls saw how the baggage is received from the planes. Two of the big interests were the weather report and time schedule machines. Mr. Schmidt arranged for the group to go through a Boeing 707 Jet and they were allowed to inspect the controls in the cockpit.

On the way home, Mr. Schmidt treated the girls to hot chocolate at Howard Johnson's in Des Plaines. The group was accompanied by its leaders, Mrs. William T. Barnard and Mrs. Howard Schueler.

Each of the 11 members of the To He-Cums Camp Fire Group invited one guest to their Sports and Games Party, held recently in the field house at Pioneer Park. After a short business meeting, the girls played games, followed by refreshments. Guardians Mrs. George Kendall and Mrs. Don Hodges were present at the party, which was a requirement towards Fire Makers Rank.

Candy will be delivered March 27 and the annual candy sale will get under way March 29. The girls will receive a nickel for each box sold. A special certificate is awarded each girl who sells at least 18 boxes, and to each girl who sells 50 boxes a sum of $2.50 will be given toward Day Camp or Camp Tiyalaka. It has been suggested that the girls wear their service costumes and special buttons while selling the candy. (B9

When we heard about a Method, which enables adults to read music (not colors or numbers) and play the organ in just 4 lessons, we knew that this was exactly what the people of our area had been waiting for. So we engaged a staff of teachers—fully accredited, of course—to bring you this Organ Workshop for Beginners.

THE FEE IS JUST $1.50 FOR 4 LESSONS—AND EVEN INCLUDES MUSIC.

And you can practice to your heart's content, by appointment—right here in the store—at no extra charge.

YOU CAN PRACTICE AT HOME BY RENTING AN ORGAN FOR $25 FOR 5 WEEKS.

This includes workshop tuition and will be applied in full to the purchase if you decide to keep the organ.

Just fill in this handy coupon today. Classes start the first week of April at 7:30 p.m. at Golf Mill Organ Studios—Northwest Corner Golf Mill Shopping Center:

Mr. Henri E. Voit, Manager, Golf Mill Organ Studios

Please enroll me in the Organ Workshop on one of the nights I have circled: Monday Tuesday Wednesday Thursday Friday
I understand that fees will be paid at the first class.

☐ I would like more information about renting an organ.
☐ Please send me literature about Thomas and Lowrey organs.

New!

If you can hear, but don't understand as you wish you could.

If you haven't been able to get the hearing help you need from a hearing aid.

If you have been told a hearing aid won't help you

This can be the answer to your problem.

Zenith
proudly announces its new, exclusive

Acoustic Modifier*
To Improve Hearing Aid Performance

PROVEN IN THE HEARING CLINIC OF ONE OF THE COUNTRY'S LEADING UNIVERSITIES

After testing the Acoustic Modifier, this famous university reported improvement in word understanding of as much as 38%. Dramatic proof that Zenith's Acoustic Modifier can give greatly increased hearing help. These outstanding results were reported officially in late 1962 at the American Speech and Hearing Association annual convention.

•Zenith believes this a significant development for those with a hearing problem. A Patent is pending at the U.S. Patent Office.

You must try the new Acoustic Modifier to fully appreciate its better hearing qualities. It can bring you new hearing comfort . . . relief from pressure in the ear if you presently wear a hearing aid . . . and most important of all, a new ability to now understand words and sounds that have been blurred or indistinct.

ALL OF THESE ADVANTAGES AT A LOW, LOW COST! Can be worn with most hearing aids and replaces conventional earmold. Only $20.00.
